Barbers Contribute

The managers of the two barber shops of the village, the Carolina and the University, have announced that ten per cent of today's receipts will be given to the student loan fund. While these shops are under separate managements, their heads are co-operating with each other in making this effort to assist in the loan fund drive.

AUDITING BOARD WILL BE VOTED ON BY STUDENTS

man's association, debate council, law association, and student entertainment series will automatically come under the jurisdiction of this board. Other activities which require fees from members, but which are not of a compulsory nature, such as the German club and the interfraternity council, will be invited but not compelled to have their books audited. The activities of the auditing board will encourage careful bookkeeping, eliminate student dishonesty, and allow a readjustment at the beginning of each new administration if such seems desirable by the reports as published.

Modification Or Repeal Favored by Two-Thirds Of Minnesota Students

"heavy" drinkers, for convenience in analyzing the results. Those who drank less than that we'll call 'occasional' drinkers. "These classes voted in this fashion: Eleven 'heavy' men drinkers were for enforcement, twenty for modification, and 156 for repeal. A total of twenty-nine women 'heavy' drinkers voted for repeal; six for modification; three for enforcement of the existing laws. A total of 378 male 'occasional' drinkers asked repeal; 382, modification; 228, prohibition as it stands. Women 'occasional' drinkers voted as follows: fifty-four, repeal; sixty-five, light wines and beer; twenty-two, enforcement. "Ninety-two men tee-totalers and forty-eight women abstainers voted for repeal. Ninety-six male tee-totalers wanted modification, 416 enforcement. Fifty-four women abstainers were for modification and 260 for enforcement.

"The Literary Digest polling throughout the entire state of Minnesota showed about forty per cent in favor of repeal, thirty per cent for enforcement, and thirty per cent modification. This was out of a total of 126,418 votes. "Of course, the questions will always be brought up as the validity of a questionnaire such as ours. I believe our results are fairly representative of the actual thought at the school. The ballots were printed in The Minnesota Daily, and as each person cast his ballot at a booth in the post office in the administration building, his or her name was checked in a University address book. I know of one or two cases where reputed 'soaks' marked their ballots as total abstainers. They were—abstainers from use of water, except externally."

LITTLE THEATRE GROUP ORGANIZED IN HILLSBORO

Professor Frederick H. Koch and Mrs. Karl Fussler were in Hillsboro last week to attend a meeting for the organization of a little theatre group there. A group of townspeople interested in the drama met for informal discussion in the studio of Clemet Strudwick. An organization committee was formed to carry the work forward, and Mrs. Strudwick was asked to act as president. A play committee was also selected to consider a play for their first production.

NEW CHECK-OUT POLICY ADOPTED AT SWAIN HALL

Swain hall has adopted a new refund system which allows its boarders to check-out for as few as three meals at a time and still receive a cash refund for the meals missed while away. This new policy went into effect yesterday morning. The system just abandoned, which allowed a refund only on six meals, had been in effect for eleven years, having been originated in 1921.

Koch Makes Addresses At Oxford and Raleigh

Professor Frederick H. Koch, director of the Carolina Playmakers, spoke to the Woman's club of Oxford Friday night. He used "Hamlet" as the theme of his address. Last night he discussed various phases of little theatre work before the Little Theatre of Raleigh.

Bells Commemorate Conference Opening

Students yesterday morning at 11:00 o'clock were surprised to hear the chimes of Patterson-Morehead Memorial bell tower pealing in the midst of class hours. But bells and chimes throughout the nation and in many lands were ringing at the same time in answer to a plea of Jane Addams, of the Women's International League of peace promoters, who wish to commemorate the opening of the disarmament conference of all nations formally convened yesterday morning at Geneva.

In a letter to the administrative office of the University it was requested "that every church, temple, mosque, meeting-house, and school throughout the whole world speak out with the clear sound of bells for joy that the disarmament conference is finally called and as a sign to governments everywhere that all people are keeping watch." The letter also stated that more than 30,000,000 signatures for disarmament from forty countries, including Japan, are in Geneva.

Stringfield Talks on Work of Music Group

In an informal talk to a small audience interested in folk music yesterday afternoon in the Choral rehearsal room of the Hill Music hall, Lamar Stringfield told of the work done by the Institute of Folk Music here at the University. He discussed the purposes of the organization and its work in preserving old traditional folk ballads, encouraging composers to write works based on such music, and bringing talented young composers to the attention of the public.

Grumman and Koch Give Talks

Russell M. Grumman, director of the extension division, and Professor Frederick H. Koch, director of the Carolina Playmakers, were guests at a meeting of the Little Theatre group of Raleigh last night at the Women's club there. Professor Koch addressed the gathering on various phases of little theatre production, while Grumman talked on the activities of the state dramatic association.

Over One Hundred Register For Law

Registration in the law school for the second semester was completed Monday with the enrollment of 103 students, a slight increase over the number enrolled a year ago, ninety-five men being registered for the second semester last year. The first classes for the new term met yesterday morning. Four men in the school, J. G. Adams, Asheville; E. L. Curlee, Burlington; W. H. Covington, Raeford; and H. B. Campbell, Waynesville, finished their work with the final examinations. In addition to these, there will be twenty-three other students to receive their degrees in June.

NEGRO PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGES OF THEFT

Entering a plea of guilty to a series of thefts of small amounts of money from the University library since the summer of 1930, Charlie Sanford, colored janitor, was given a jail sentence of eighteen months in the Saturday session of recorder's court. Frank Norwood, whom Sanford unsuccessfully tried to implicate, was adjudged not guilty by Judge Hinshaw.

Sophomores Will Discuss For Loan Fund Measures

Know Your University

and teas are sponsored which go far toward strengthening friendly relationships. Being democratic, they tend to coordinate all elements prevalent in the University. The organization especially urges all its members to cooperate with other campus organizations in those phases of college life which express the individuality and personality of the school, such as publications, dramatic presentations, and literary contributions. Mrs. Stacy, who has remained in the capacity of advisor since the creation of that office in 1919, has identified herself with the work of the association and has done much to maintain the noble aspirations and high ideals of the organization. She has expressed the hope that the association may broaden in the future and contribute something more constructive to women both of the University and of the state.

James Montgomery Flagg says the depression has hit the studios so hard that the yes-men merely nod.
