REPRESENTATIVES DISCUSS CAMPUS DANCE SITUATION

Plans Made for Formation of
New Committee to Control
Social Affairs.

At the invitation of the president of the student body, the four officers of the German club, three representatives of the Phi assembly, and representatives of the junior and senior classes met on the second floor of the Graham Memorial building from 8:30 to past 10:00 o'clock Tuesday evening for the purpose of arranging a compromise new committee to control dancing.

The four officers of the German club spoke at length of the efficiency of the German club and criticized THE DAILY TAR HEEL for adverse publicity given the German club. John Wilkinson, a representative of the Phi assembly, vigorously defended the right of the student body to have a democratic committee whose greater loyalty would be rendered the entire student body, and which would be responsible to it.

Discuss New Committee

The discussion, then turned to a consideration of a new committee to be based on appointment by the student council from the German club, the Grail, the senior, junior, and sophomore classes, and the graduate school. It was finally agreed by the group that the German club should have three members of the committee, the Grail two, and the other four groups one each, and after the first year that another member of the old committee be held over, thus giving the German club four members the first year.

STATE INSURANCE FOR UNEMPLOYED IS DEBATE TOPIC

Two Hundred Teams Have Entered
High School Debating
Contest.

Two hundred high schools have enrolled for participation in the twentieth annual debating contest of the high school debating union of North Carolina, it was announced yesterday by Secretary E. R. Rankin.

Resolved: That the United States should adopt a system of compulsory unemployment insurance is the query which will be discussed in all of the debates.

The triangular debates will take place April 1 and the final contest for the Aycock Memorial Cup is set for April 14 and 15 at the University. Other events besides the debating contest in the University annual high school week program April 14 and 15 will be the annual inter-scholastic track meet and tennis tournament.

The high school debating union is conducted under the joint auspices of the Philanthropic and Dialectic societies and the University extension division. Participation in the state-wide debates is open to all schools of a secondary nature in the state.

The high school debating leagues of thirty-two states will also discuss the question of compulsory unemployment insurance in their contests this spring.

SOCIOLOGICAL GROUP HAS ANNUAL BANQUET

The local chapter of Alpha Kappa Delta, national honorary sociological fraternity, had its annual banquet in Graham Memorial Tuesday night. The invited guests included professors in the departments of sociology at Duke, North Carolina State, and North Carolina college. Doctors Johnson and Davis of Greensboro, Dr. Hamilton of Raleigh, and Doctors Ellwood and Jensen from Duke were present.

Ellwood spoke on scholarship in the social sciences; Johnson discussed the work in sociology at North Carolina college; and Dr. Odum of the sociology department gave a talk on the late Franklin H. Giddings, one of the most famous sociologists of the time. Other guests made a few remarks as they were introduced.

FOURTH CONCERT IS PRESENTED BY MUSIC INSTITUTE

Compositions by Johnson, Hazelman, Allen, and Smith Played
Yesterday Afternoon.

The fourth laboratory concert of the institute of folk music was given at 4:00 o'clock yesterday in the Hill music hall. The program was divided into two parts, semi-classical and laboratory.

The first part of the program, which consisted of music by living composers with the exception of Loeillet, was composed entirely of flute music, which was played by Lamar Stringfield, with the assistance of Miss Adeline McCall, pianist.

Local Composers

The last half of the program, the music written under the direction of the folk music institute, was made up of chamber music, all of which was written since the first of the year. The composers were present and received ovations from the audience when their compositions had been played. Two of them, Thor Johnson and Herbert Hazelman, are only nineteen years old and students in the University. The others were Mrs. Rosie C. Allen, a teacher of string instruments in the public schools of Deland, Florida, who is, at present, studying at the University, and Frederick Stanley Smith, dean of music at Lenoir-Rhyne college in this state, who is on leave of absence and studying orchestration and composition here.

Lamar Stringfield, commenting on the value of these concerts, said, "Of course, much that is written here will be bad, but the idea of having facilities for the interpretation of their compositions will spur the composers on to write good music. Much credit should be given to Earl Wolslage, Thor Johnson, Herbert Hazelman, Walter King, and Carl Plaster, the boys who played the laboratory music. They received no scholastic credit either for composing or playing in the concert."

International Relations Club

The international relations club will meet tomorrow night at 8:00 o'clock in room 212 of Graham Memorial. The topic for the discussion will be "The League of Nations and the Sino-Japanese situation."

It is expected that a return debate with South Carolina will be one of a series of engagements in which the team will take part on its southern trip.

Haywood Parker Is Both Supporter And Champion Of Carolina Students

Asheville Lawyer, Member of Board of Trustees Since 1911, Has Advocated Extensive Building Program, and Continuation of Liberal Policies.

Since his graduation forty-five years ago, Haywood Parker has maintained a close personal relationship with the University. His knowledge of student thought and campus activity at the present time is surpassed by none of his colleagues on the board of trustees. Through the medium of the campus publications, Parker, a constant reader of THE DAILY TAR HEEL, has been in contact with the opinion of the student body. He has received an even more intimate insight into campus life from his visits to Chapel Hill and from his children who have attended the University.

Parker is one of the most popular attorneys in the state, possessing a wide practice in western North Carolina. He has served on several committees of the state bar association. Besides his partnership in The Asheville Citizen-Times, Parker has been interested in civic problems as well as engaged in various church and charitable undertakings.

Becoming a member of the board of trustees in 1911, he has been able to impart to that body the desires and aims of the student body. Throughout his two decades as a trustee, he has displayed a desire for the education of the entire state population. When the evolution struggle was at its height, Parker fought against imposing fixed religious

CHANGE MADE IN DESIGN OF SETS FOR NEW PLAYS

In the production of The Common Gift, by Elwyn de Graffenried, The Loyal Venture, by Wilkeson O'Connell, and Bloomers, by Jo Norwood, tonight at 8:30 o'clock, the Playmakers will try something new in the way of scenery. The old style realistic scenery always seen on the Playmakers stage will give place to impressionistic sets for these three plays.

Director Sam Selden has tried impressionistic scenery once to a lesser degree in his production of Saturday's Children last fall. The sets to be used tonight are the type used in the second act of Saturday's Children.

Instead of making scenery to picture in minute detail the time and locality represented in the play, Selden has made his sets suggestive of the spirit of the plays. Bare details of the essentials of the sets attractively painted in outstanding colors will be thrown against the black cyclorama as a background.

Along with the novel changes in style of sets, Mrs. Harry Davis and Mrs. J. M. Valentine have designed special costumes of brilliant colors to harmonize with the scenery.

NEW DEMOCRATIC DANCE GROUP IS FAVORED BY DI

Jule McMichael Elected President of Society for Spring Quarter.

At its executive session Tuesday night the Di Senate concluded its business for the present quarter, elected officers for the ensuing spring quarter, and then proceeded to a discussion of the resolution adopted by the Phi Assembly in its special session last week declaring that the German club is inconsistent with the democratic principles of the University.

A considerable majority of the members of the Di were in favor of the action taken by the Phi, there being but three dissenting votes.

Undemocratic System

The arbitrary actions of the German club, its exclusiveness, and especially the undemocratic system through which the club exerts its powers were criticised, and a plan was offered for the formation of a dance committee to assume the German club's authority in regulating dances on the Hill.

When the resolution that the senate express its opposition to the present powers of the German club by concurring with the action of the Assembly came to a vote, it was adopted with three dissenting votes. The senate also voted that a committee be appointed to convey the feelings of the senate to President Graham.

New Officers

The officers elected for the spring quarter are as follows: president, Jule McMichael; president pro-tempore, Bill McKee; clerk, W. R. Eddleman; sergeant-at-arms, Howard Lyons, critic, B. G. Gentry. Senator McBride Fleming-Jones, who had been elected president for the spring quarter, handed in his resignation, which was accepted by the society.

Convocation of Student Body Is Called to Discuss Problem
Of Enforcement.

10:00 IN MEMORIAL HALL

"Observations on the Honor System" will be the topic of an address by President Frank Graham at a University convocation this morning from 10:00 to 11:00 o'clock in Memorial hall. Nine-thirty classes will be cut short one-half hour in order that members of the faculty, as well as students, may have the opportunity to hear the address.

The honor system, as outlined by the student council, is the basis of student life at the University. Mutual confidence in student honor replaces any system of espionage. The honor system deals with but three offenses—cheating, stealing, lying.

Violations

The system requires that a student shall, in all relations of student life, act honorably. It further requires that he shall investigate and report all violations which come to his attention. Any student who fails to report evidences of guilt is himself guilty of a breach of honor.

Reports

Breaches of honor are reported by students to their own tribunal—the student council. If an accused student denies his guilt, he has the privilege of demanding that the accuser appear against him before the council. Reports may be turned in by signed statements to the student government office, or in person to any member of the council.

Penalties

Breaches of honor are held to

IRISH PLAY WILL BE GIVEN FIRST PRODUCTION HERE

"The Far-Off" Hills by Lennox
Robinson Has Never Been Presented in America.

When the Irish Players present Lennox Robinson's The Far-Off Hills in Memorial hall Monday evening, March 21, it will be the first production of this famous Irish play in America.

The Abbey theatre, Dublin, in which these players act, is the national theatre of the Irish Free State. It will not send out a "second company," hence when the Irish Players come to America, the Abbey theatre is closed. For that reason the Abbey Players have not been on tour in America since they won wide fame in 1913 and 1914.

Robinson Is Director

Personally conducting the players is Lennox Robinson, noted author, poet, and dramatist. In addition to writing such plays as The Whiteheaded Boy and The Big House, Robinson has acted as manager and director of the Abbey theatre and has sustained the high repute of that playhouse.

Coming in advance of his company, the director will speak here March 8 on "The Story of the Abbey Theatre." This address will be included among the student entertainments and students must present their student entertainment tickets to gain admission.
