LENNOX ROBINSON IS PRODUCER AND AUTHOR OF PLAYS

Director of Abbey Theatre Will Be Here Tuesday With Irish Players.

The development of the drama in Ireland and the growth of Ireland's famous national theatre will be the theme of the special address to be offered here next Tuesday by Lennox Robinson, director of the Abbey theatre, Dublin, and author of many well-known plays that have been seen in all parts of America.

Robinson will be brought here by the Student Entertainment Committee and will speak in the Playmakers theatre. Because of the appearance of the Irish Players from the Abbey theatre, Dublin, here March 21, Robinson's address will have added interest.

Author of Successful Plays

Robinson is regarded by most critics as the most important of the younger Irish dramatists, ranking with Sean O'Casey, George Shiels, St. John Ervine, and T. C. Murray. He is author of The Whiteheaded Boy, The Lost Leader, The Big House, The Dreamers, The Round Table, Crabbed Youth and Age, Never the Time or the Place, The Far-Off Hills which will be presented here, and many others.

Noted Producer

Besides being a playwright and actor of distinction, he is also Ireland's foremost producer of plays at the present time. He is the manager and producer of the famous Abbey theatre, Dublin, the "mother of the little theatre movement of the world." In this post, which he has held since 1917, he has produced several hundred plays, among them many that have become outstanding successes after he had given them their premiere.

RADIO RECEPTION OF OPERA TODAY IN CHORAL ROOM

Music Department Will Tune in on
"Manon" This Afternoon at 3:30 O'clock.

Grace Moore and Beniamino Gigli will sing the leading roles in the operatic version of Prevost's famous love story of the court of Louis XV.

Miss Moore is one of the foremost American sopranos in operatic repertory. Her debut several years ago at the Metropolitan was hailed as a milestone in the development of native vocal talent.

Gigli is perhaps the most outstanding tenor in the operatic and concert worlds. Deems Taylor, renowned American critic and composer, will describe and interpret the opera.

KNOW YOUR UNIVERSITY

(EDITOR'S NOTE: In the same vein in which a survey of University courses was presented before the holidays, the Daily Tar Heel continues with this issue a comprehensive summary of campus institutions with the idea of causing every citizen of the University to become better acquainted with the policies and systems of operation of his service organizations.)

UNIVERSITY BUILDINGS DEPARTMENT

The University buildings department is carpenter, janitor, gardener, plumber, and electrician for the entire campus. Performing most of the manual labor connected with the upkeep of University property, it relieves the student body of many household problems by its janitor and repair service in the dormitories and by its trucking and construction work.

The care of the dormitories and classroom buildings is a chief function of the department. A staff of approximately fifty janitors is employed to tend these buildings. Except for the stadiums and athletic fields, the upkeep of all University buildings and property is under the supervision of the department.

Small Mill Maintained

A small mill is maintained for the repair work on University property. Equipped with all necessary paraphernalia, it is in the mill that dormitory furniture is repaired, and cabinets, chairs, and tables for the library and other buildings are constructed. The department owns two key-bit machines with which are cut all keys used for University property. According to P. L. Burch, superintendent of buildings, few keys are lost during regular college sessions but the girls who occupy the dormitories during summer school seem to be incapable of keeping their keys for any length of time. Spencer hall has charge of the keys for co-eds.

Care of Grounds

The care of the University grounds is another important function of the buildings department. The arboretum is a particular point of pride with the force of five men which is responsible for the maintenance of the grounds. In addition to this famous garden, the duties of this force include freeing the campus of refuse, cutting the grass, and tending to the trees and shrubs. This work continues throughout the whole year, gardening sometimes being supplanted by shoveling snow. Recently the trees on the campus were fertilized by the department, and at present the grounds around Graham Memorial are being beautified and planted with grass and shrubs.

Handles, Woodwork, Etc.

In its woodwork, plumbing, and painting activities the department employs some eighty men, and often utilizes the part-time services of students. The ability of the buildings department to accomplish large-scale work is shown by the fact that Carr dormitory, Smith building, Pharmacy building, and the executive mansion have been remodeled by the University plant. It has also constructed much of the furniture used in the library and recitation halls. No work other than University commissions is performed at the buildings department.

Well-Equipped Supply Room

An adequate supply room is an integral part of the plant. Everything from bolts to boilers is stored there and meted out to the various departments as they require hardware supplies. The students' chief contact with this division is procuring new electric light bulbs and other room equipment.

The present buildings department is a result of the construction program instituted on the campus twelve years ago. Before that time a small maintenance force served the purpose, but with the expansion of the University, an efficiently organized department was a necessity.

Hinsdale Opposed To Crippling Schools By Stringent Economy

Raleigh Man, Loyal Democrat and Trustee of the University,
Announces His Candidacy for State Senate on Platform
Favoring Selected Commodity Sales Tax.

Standing upon his record in the 1931 legislature, John W. Hinsdale of Raleigh recently announced his candidacy for the state senate to succeed himself.

In his statement concerning his candidacy Senator Hinsdale, who was the author of the selected commodity sales tax bill which was defeated by one vote in the senate after once having been adopted by both houses of the legislature, expressed his faith in the measure and pledged himself to present it again in the next session of the general assembly. Pointing to the present state deficit, he said that his vote against the 1931 revenue bill was justified.

Stands for Economy

Stating his platform, Senator Hinsdale declared, "I stand for economy in the administration of state government and in the management of the schools, but I am opposed to any economy that will cripple the usefulness of the schools." He expressed his opposition to a general sales tax and to the short ballot.

Hinsdale was graduated from the University in 1906 with a Ph.B. degree, and in 1901 he began his practice of law. Attaining wide recognition as a lawyer and in politics, he served as city attorney for Raleigh from 1921 until his appointment as county attorney in 1930. After straightening out the affairs of the county administration, he was elected in 1931 to the state senate.

An ardent Democrat, Hinsdale has always been true to his party and its principles. During the presidential campaigns of 1928, he was active in support of the party nominee and in his denunciation of the anti-Smith movement among the Democrats. He condemned the political bosses for the selection of potential gubernatorial candidates sometimes as much as ten or twelve years ahead.

Is Loyal

The loyalty to his party has been shown continually towards the University. As a trustee he has been an active proponent of the institution's progress and well-being. He has also been active in Raleigh community activities, serving for several terms as president of the Capitol club.

McLENDON MAY LEAD CAMPAIGN FOR EHRINGHAUS

Alumnus and Former Mayor of Chapel Hill Has Been Offered Responsible Post.

Major Lennox Polk McLendon, prominent alumnus and former mayor of Chapel Hill, has been offered the post of manager of the campaign of J. C. B. Ehringhaus for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination.

Though Major McLendon has made no public announcement of his acceptance, his associates feel confident that he will take the proffered position.

Formerly solicitor of Durham county, McLendon has gained prominence through his activities as a lawyer and through his ability to speak. He is considered one of the most talented speakers in the state.

He has served several terms in the general assembly, and is a veteran of the World War, having been battery commander of the 113th field artillery.

HENDERSON GIVES LIFE SKETCH OF SOCIALIST SHAW

Mathematics Department Head
Entertains Assembly With Talk on English Scholar.

"I want you to think of George Bernard Shaw as a man who has lived one of the most colorful, variegated lives of any man in our modern era," declared Dr. Archibald Henderson in his assembly talk yesterday morning.

"He has been novelist, music, art, and drama critic; during the war he was the most widely read playwright; and today he is the most famous Socialist. His thinking has influenced the thought of the world more than any man's has since Tolstoy.

"What is life but a series of inspired follies?" Dr. Henderson quoted from one of Shaw's plays. Many people said that Einstein's theory was folly because it tore down a scientific structure which had existed for two hundred years, explained the speaker. In the same manner, he said, many people regarded Woodrow Wilson's League of Nations and Lindbergh's flight across the Atlantic until they began to call them "inspired follies."

Dr. Henderson claimed that it was the same sort of inspired folly which prompted him to write the biography of George Bernard Shaw. "I wrote him a letter telling him of my desire and received, after an anxious wait, a postcard requesting my photograph. Now the photographs of men which used appear in the TAR HEEL pictured me either as a boot-legger or a hi-jacker. However, I went to a photographer and asked him, 'Do you think you could photograph me as the potential biographer of the greatest living'"

WEST WILL READ PLAY BY BESIER SUNDAY EVENING

Duke Professor Will Conduct
Regular Monthly Reading
In Playmakers Theatre.

The director of dramatics at Duke, Professor A. W. West, will read Rudolph Besier's The Barretts of Wimpole Street tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock in the Playmakers theatre as the regular play reading for the month. Last year the Duke director read Eugene O'Neill's Marco's Millions to a Playmaker audience.

The Barretts of Wimpole Street has been produced widely in this country and in England. For more than a year Katherine Cornell has played the leading role on Broadway and on tour.

In this play, Besier has given a dramatic account of the courtship of Robert Browning for Elizabeth Barrett before they were married. When the play was produced in London the Barrett family objected on the grounds that the character of the girl's father was absolutely untrue and reproachable. New York critics went so far as to say that the author has made incestuous insinuations in the dialogue of the father to his daughter.

John Reed Club

There will be no meeting of the John Reed club tonight.
