STATE DRAMATIC FESTIVAL WILL BE HERE NEXT WEEK

Mary Louise Hoffman and W. R. Wunsch Will Be Speakers At Annual Event.

The ninth annual drama festival and state tournament of the Carolina Dramatic association will take place at the Playmakers theatre March 31, April 1 and 2.

Among the speakers to be present for the occasion are Mary Louise Hoffman, president of the Thalian association of Wilmington, W. R. Wunsch of Rollins college, Winter Park, Florida, and Dr. Archibald Henderson of the University, who will deliver a lecture on "George Bernard Shaw Today." Professor Frederick H. Koch will address the group on the National Conference on Dramatic Art. Contests Begin Thursday

Preliminary contests will begin Thursday afternoon, and finals will open Thursday night with a contest of original plays in community clubs. Thursday night final contests in play production among city schools will take place.

A sectional meeting concerned with various phases of theatre work is set for Friday morning when a makeup contest will be conducted. The final contests will continue Friday afternoon with competition of play production among county schools. An original play will be offered at this time by the St. Augustine college for negroes.

A costume review will take place Saturday morning and a meeting for the purpose of electing new officers. Competition in original plays of city high schools and a contest in productions by junior community groups is set for Saturday. The festival will come to a close Saturday night with the final contests in play production among senior colleges and a guest performance of an original Florida folk play directed by W. R. Wunsch, former member of the Carolina Playmakers.

PITT WILL MEET LOCAL DEBATERS NEXT WEDNESDAY

Wilkinson and Lacy Will Uphold Negative Side of Pi Kappa Delta Question.

The University debaters will meet representatives of the University of Pittsburg in Gerrard hall next Wednesday at 8:30 p. m. Carolina, upholding the negative, will be represented by John Wilkinson and Dan Lacy. They will meet Butterbach and Bracken of Pitt.

The question for the engagement is the Pi Kappa Delta question—Resolved: That congress should pass legislation providing for a centralized control of industry. This subject is being used by forensic contestants throughout the country this year and the subject of centralized control is of particular interest at present since it has been advocated by many leading industrialists and has attracted much comment pro and con. The advisability of enacting such a scheme was investigated by a governmental committee headed by Senator Lafollette and discussion on the measure is now one of the big contests pending.

HAMPTON QUARTET WILL APPEAR HERE TUESDAY

A quartet of South African singers will give a concert of native songs in the lounge of Graham Memorial Tuesday at 8:00 p. m.

The members of this negro quartet are at present students at Hampton Institute. Their leader, R. T. Caluza, brought them to London sometime ago where they made phonographic records of the Zulu folk songs. The singers will appear in native costumes and play native instruments.

COLLEGE EDITOR OFFERS WAY TO AID UNEMPLOYED

Black Suggests That College Students Contribute One Penny With Every Meal.

By College News Service
New Orleans, March 23.—A comprehensive program whereby college students may cooperate in giving unemployment relief this week was proposed by Temple Houston Black, editor of The Maroon at Loyola University of the South.

He announced that he would immediately communicate with other college and university publications throughout the country, setting forth the following plan:

"That in every cafeteria (or lunch room) in every university of the country there be placed on the cashier's desk a 'mite box,' in which each student will be asked to contribute one cent for each meal he or she eats in the lunchroom. The returns that are garnered in this way are to be turned over to the local welfare committee in the city in which the university (or college) is located, and the money will be distributed by this organization."

Editor Black said he was inspired to urge this program as a reply to charges that college students do not think and do not concern themselves with other than purely campus problems. The response which greets The Maroon's plan, he believes, will be the answer to these charges.

Columbia Graduate Plans To Publish Paper In Braille

Bernard Krebs, 20-year-old New York university journalism student, who has been sightless since the age of nine years, plans to publish a daily paper after graduating from school. The paper would be printed on Braille presses so that the nation's 64,000 blind may keep in touch with current news of the world.

Provided Krebs' plans materialize, the plant is to be located at some central city, such as Chicago or St. Louis, to facilitate rapid mailing to the subscribers. Should the paper be subsidized, subscriptions are to be free.

Special articles of interest to the blind and current events would comprise the major portion of the newspaper's contents.

SIXTY PER CENT OF MEN AT COLUMBIA EMPLOYED

Ten years from now the entire undergraduate body of Columbia college will be self-supporting, according to Nicholas McDowell McKnight, retiring secretary of appointments in a report made recently to Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president. At the present time sixty per cent of the students are employed in some sort of outside work.

Judge Nat Townsend Is Executive Advisor To Former Grid Comrade

University Trustee, Former All-Southern Football Star, and Business Manager of Tar Heel, Has Served State in Legislature and on the Bench.

When Governor Gardner appointed Judge N. A. Townsend executive advisor to succeed Odus Mull, he was calling on a man with whom he had played football at the University. The executive advisor, in addition to having been a superior court judge and business man has been a trustee of the University for several years.

Judge Townsend was picked on the all-southern football team of 1904. His name is among the business managers of THE TAR HEEL, a position he held in 1905. He was again honored during his senior year, becoming president of his class.

After his graduation, he came back to the University to study law and at the same time serve as instructor in French. Passing the bar, he started practicing in Dunn. There he was elected mayor and in 1923 became president of the First National Bank of the town.

He was sent to the legislature where he served four terms as a representative from Harnett county. Governor MacLean made him a member of the Budget commission and later appointed him a special judge. When Gardner succeeded MacLean to the governorship he made Townsend his executive advisor. In 1929 he resigned but was reappointed in 1931 upon the withdrawal of his successor, Mull.

Judge Townsend is known all over the state as "Nat" Townsend. He got this nick-name, so the story goes, from an old negro washerwoman, when he was attending school at Oak Ridge. On young Townsend's laundry bag were the initials "N. A. T." One morning his washerwoman, calling for his clothes and finding him absent, said to his roommate, "Tell Mr. Nat I will be back in a little while and for him to have his clothes ready when I get back." When Townsend came in, his roommate greeted him with "Good morning, Mr. Nat," and from that day to this he has been known as "Nat."

Series Of Pictures Put In Howell Hall

The rooms and halls of the Howell hall of pharmacy have been decorated this week with twenty-eight portraits of famous druggists of the state.

These pictures are all of uniform size, two by three feet, and give a cross-section of the drug life of this state for the past century. Among the most prominent men are William H. Green of Wilmington, who was president of the first board of pharmacy; E. M. Nadal of Wilson, the co-ordinator of the North Carolina Pharmaceutical Association; S. J. Hinsdale of Fayetteville, a famous druggist in the era after the Civil war; and E. V. Zoeller, who has been president of the North Carolina Board of Pharmacy for the past thirty-eight years.

X-RAY CLASS MAY BE FORMED THIS SPRING

Members of the class taking physics are organizing a course in X-Ray technique, principally for premedical students. All students interested in the course are requested to register for it by 12:00 o'clock today.

The class will meet Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at 12:00 o'clock, while laboratory periods will be Tuesday and Thursday from 2:00 o'clock to 5:00 o'clock. Fee for the laboratory work is fifteen dollars, due to the high cost of X-Ray films.

D.A.R. DENOUNCES KILPATRICK FOR ANTI-WAR TALK

President Butler Accused of Harboring Professor of "Un-American And Dangerous Teaching."

By College News Service

New York, March 23.—Editorial commentators this week probably would suggest that President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia university was between the devil and the well-known deep sea were they not fearful of libelling the parties thus personified.

The first salvo was fired with machine-gun vengeance by the Daughters of the American Revolution, represented by Mrs. Evaline W. Northrop, a member of the Committee on National Defense. She accused President Butler of harboring a faculty member responsible for "un-American and dangerous teaching."

Militarism Denounced

She was referring to Professor William H. Kilpatrick of the Columbia university Teachers college, who in a recent address described D. A. R. members as "professional patriots," denounced military training in schools as "morally vicious," and assailed the custom of saluting the flag as a subtle means of keeping the war instinct alive.

To Mrs. Northrop's protest, which set forth that "such doctrines as these must give great joy to the ever-active Communist citizens of this country," President Butler replied:

"I invite your attention to the fact that a university is the carefully protected home of freedom of thought and freedom of speech, that its object is to seek and proclaim the truth as a scholar may find it, subject only to the limitations set by good manners and by good morals. Professor Kilpatrick is an American gentleman and scholar of high standing and deservedly wide influence. His associates in the University take pride in his service and his reputation."

Hardly was this stinging rebuke off the typewriter than a new explosion rent the academic atmosphere.

Butler Called Fascist

"Nicholas Murray Butler, the president of this university—a liberal so-called, a progressive—is a Fascist by nature. His purpose is to establish a Fascist dictatorship in this country. . . ."

Thus spoke—page Mrs. Northrop quick!—Israel Amter, New York Communist organizer, before the Social Problems club at the university.

President Butler did not reply to Amter.

Meanwhile, the editorialists re-surveyed the battle ground and decided that the famous Columbia prexy hadn't been "put on the spot," after all. He was simply the innocent bystander who got shot.

APRIL 6 IS DATE SET FOR ANNUAL SPRING ELECTIONS

Nominations for Campus Offices Will be Made in Gerrard Two Days Before.

Campus elections will take place Wednesday, April 6. In accordance with a recent decision of the student council, the general elections shall fall, until the date is changed in future years, on the third Wednesday after spring holidays unless unforeseen circumstances require a change. Any such change should of course be announced ahead of time. This fixed date will end the usual uncertainty and should end talk of a juggling of election dates to suit the needs of "machines."

Nomination for all campus offices will be made two days prior to the election date. Monday, April 4th, then, at assembly period there will be a mass meeting of the student body at which men will be nominated for all campus offices: president of the student body; vice-president of the student body; editor of THE DAILY TAR HEEL; editor of Carolina Magazine; editor of Yachety Yack; president of Athletic Council; vice-president of Athletic Council; two members of the debate council; a senior representative on P. U. Board; a junior representative on P. U. Board, and a representative-at-large on the P. U. Board; a cheer leader. These comprise the full list of campus officers, i.e., those voted upon by every member of the student body who cares to cast his vote. The Y. M. C. A. selects its own officers this year for the first time.

The senior class ('33), the junior class ('34), and the sophomore class ('35), that is to say the rising classes, will meet at a specified time to make their nominations and each will nominate

THREE STUDENTS INJURED IN FEUD OVER KIDNAPING

Reprisal of Kidnaping Missouri Co-ed May End in Death for One.

Three engineering students of the University of Missouri were injured yesterday when shot by a fellow student who had helped "abduct" a Missouri co-ed. The feud was the bloody culmination of a rivalry of long standing between the schools of law and engineering, a rivalry that developed from innocent pranks to pistol play.

Frank Luckey of Columbia was in a critical condition from a bullet wound in the stomach. Burnis Frederick of Union Star, who admitted he fired the shots, also was taken to a hospital suffering a possible fracture of the skull, inflicted, he said, by a group of students who attacked him near the campus just before the shooting.

Last Saturday afternoon Miss Mary Butterfield of Kansas City who was to have been crowned St. Pat's queen at the engineering school's dance, was "kidnaped" as she was leaving her sorority house and was held captive until almost midnight, when she was returned to the campus too late for her coronation as queen.
