Lindbergh Returns From Trip

Colonel Lindbergh returned yesterday from a mysterious twenty-four hour automobile trip. It was officially stated yesterday that Major Charles H. Schoeffel of the New Jersey state police arrived yesterday in Glasgow, Scotland, to interview the mother of the Lindbergh nurse, Betty Gow.

Mrs. Fosdick Commits Suicide

Mrs. Raymond Blaine Fosdick, sister-in-law of the Reverend Harry Emerson Fosdick, shot and killed herself and her two small children at her home in Montclair, N. J., yesterday. Mrs. Fosdick had been under the care of a physician for some time.

Fortescue-Massie Trial Begins

Mrs. Granville Fortescue, Lieut. Thomas H. Massie, E. J. Lord, and Albert O. Jones yesterday faced charges of second degree murder in Honolulu for the killing of Joseph Kahahawai, charged with assaulting Mrs. Massie, daughter of Mrs. Fortescue.

Ireland Doesn't Plan Independence

The Irish Free State government of Eamon de Valera was understood yesterday to contemplate no severance of the connection between England and Ireland in its proposal to abolish the oath of allegiance to England. It is thought by authorities that Ireland will reassert its intention to abolish the oath of allegiance and withhold payment of land annuities from the British government.

Pi-Yu Will Bar Chinese

Henry Pi-Yu's new regime in Manchuria will order officials of the Chinese government to keep out, according to a report yesterday from the Japanese consul at Changchun.

board, two positions on the debate council, and presidency and vice-presidency of the athletic association.

Election Tomorrow

The election for these offices will be in Graham Memorial tomorrow between the hours of 9:00 a. m. and 5:00 p. m. The poll there will be arranged, according to the student council which has charge of the election, so that a secret ballot may be cast. Registration will be accomplished at the two front doors of the building while the ballots will be cast in a portion of the building set aside for that purpose.

The newly elected officers will assume their duties officially April 20 following the formal induction. The members of the law school, medical school, and pharmacy school will hold a special election for their respective officers and representatives to the student council at a later date. The regular election of officers in the Woman's Association is scheduled for tomorrow in the association's room in Graham Memorial.

Chic Sale Has Lead Role In 'The Expert'

Charles 'Chic' Sale and Dickie Moore have leading roles in "The Expert," playing at the Carolina theatre today.

In this picture, Sale is the good-intentioned, but meddling old man who comes to the city to live with his son and daughter-in-law after a long lifetime in a small town. Strongly opinionated, he does not hesitate to tell everyone what should be done. He tells a group of club women they do not know how to rear children. He interferes with the cook. He knows all about "rasslin'" because he was town champion in his youth. He is misunderstood generally and fails to carry through his "reforms."

Appearing with Sale as a central figure of the story is Dickie Moore, portraying the waif befriended by "grandpa."

Professor Koch Announces Winners of Contests in Ninth Annual Event.

The ninth annual state dramatic festival came to a successful close Saturday night. Professor Frederick H. Koch announced winners in the various contests, and President Frank Graham presented awards.

In the final contest for original plays for community clubs and little theatres, the Seaboard Woman's club, staging Ca'line, won out over Seaboard Vacation Dramatic club.

Biltmore Junior College, presenting War Brides, defeated Spring Hope in the city school play production, and Paw Creek, with Highness, defeated St. Paul's in a similar contest for county high schools.

A Bit o' Gray, written by Kneale Morgan and directed by his father, Wilbur K. Morgan, won in the finals of the original plays contest for individual members over Emmie, put on by the Conway-Jackson players. The winning play was staged by Biltmore Junior College.

In the play production contest between little theatre and community club groups, Act II of The Torch Bearers, by the Little theatre of Charlotte won over the Wayne Community Players of Goldsboro.

Magnolia's Man, staged by the Rustic Revelers of Cary, was winner over the Saluda junior community players in the play production contest for junior community clubs.

In the contest for original plays for city high schools, The Understanding Heart, by Leonard Rapport of Biltmore Junior College, came out winner over plays by Ruth Taylor of Charlotte Central high school and Wellington Dunford of Reynolds high school, Winston-Salem.

Suppressed Desires, produced by Duke University students, defeated Lenoir-Rhyne, with The Wedding, in the contest for play production by senior colleges.

Winners in the above divisions were awarded bronze plaques which bore the signet of the Carolina Dramatic association. The name of the winner was engraved on a brass plate mounted on the plaque.

In the stage models contest, The Intruder, by Ethel Williams of Duke, took first place. H. C. Willis and Wade Adams, also of Duke, received honorable mention.

The scrap-book contest was won by Annie Laura Newsome of Durham high school. Honorable mention went to Catherine Bisanar of Lenoir-Rhyne College, and to Ada Whitmore of Durham high school. Charlotte high school was winner in the posters contest.

H. C. Willis of Duke University took first place in the costume designs contest, and the costume contest was won by Duke, with Paw Creek taking second and third. The award for make-up was won by Edith Wagg of Lenoir-Rhyne, second and third going to Annie Laura Newsome and C. B. Jackson of Durham high school.

that Penn started the shooting. The bandit denied that members of his group shot a tire on the Penn car, in which was seated Miss Anne Gordon Edmunds, who accompanied Penn and Rackley on the chase.

Rackley Runs

Johnson said that Penn advanced toward the bandits, disregarding order to stop, opened the door, and fired, while Rackley ran.

Thompson was driving their machine, Johnson stated, but after the shooting he fled. According to Johnson, Thompson went to Winston-Salem, but a trip to that city by Captain Lee Porter and Stanhope Lineberry of the Charlotte police force brought no results.

Frank Littlejohn, chief of detectives in Charlotte, and Detective Harry Joyner, who have gone to Greenville, South Carolina, on information produced by Johnson, have not reported as yet. Police are looking for Armstrong in Charlotte.

Johnson claimed that he and one of the other bandits lifted Penn, lying unconscious on the ground, into his own car after Rackley had fled.

Reports from the Duke University hospital yesterday afternoon stated that Penn was showing slight improvement, there being a drop in temperature, and hope that he would live was held out.

Girls vote for PIPES
(for men!)

ASK any girl you know to name her favorite smoke—for men! Ten to one she'll say a pipe!

She's discovered—trust her bright little eyes—that it's the BIG men, on the campus and off, who welcome the mental stimulation and relaxation they get from this real man's smoke.

And if she's very wise in the ways of smokers, she'll go one better than that. She'll tell you the men who know, smoke Edgeworth!

No two ways about it, you do get a doubly satisfying smoke when you fill up your pipe with this famous old blend. It's a happy combination of choice burleys—cut long to give you a cool, slow-burning smoke. And its mellow flavor and rich aromahavemade Edgeworth the favorite pipe tobacco on 42 out of 50 campuses.

Help yourself to a pipeful next time someone pulls Edgeworth out of his pocket. Pick up the familiar blue tin yourself at any good tobacco stand. Or for a special free sample packet write to Larus & Bro. Co., 105 S. 22d St., Richmond, Va.
