

STATE MUSICIANS TO PRACTICE FOR SYMPHONIC GROUP

North Carolina Symphony Orchestra Will Present Concert Saturday Night.

Approximately seventy musicians from sixteen cities and towns in North Carolina will gather here today and tomorrow to try out for the North Carolina Symphony orchestra. These musicians will register this evening and tomorrow, and also will practice this evening in Hill music hall from 8:30 till 10:30. Tomorrow the orchestra will rehearse from 10:00 o'clock until 12:30; from 2:30 till 5:00; and from 8:00 until 10:30 at night. Saturday morning it will rehearse from 10:00 o'clock until 12:30, and at this time the final selection of the personnel of the orchestra will be made.

The number of musicians finally selected will not number over fifty-five, and these will represent the very best musical talent in the state, ready to turn out a symphonic program the equal of any symphonic orchestra in this country, all-inclusive.

Concert Saturday Night

There will be a short rehearsal Saturday afternoon, and the final program in its excellence will be presented Saturday night in Hill hall.

Colonel Pratt has expressed gratification that so many sections of the state will be represented in the orchestra at its first concert.

The following cities and towns will be represented: Greensboro, Winston-Salem, Raleigh, Wilmington, Asheville, High Point, Charlotte, Shelby, (Continued on page three)

HENRY FEATURES MUSIC OF SOUTH IN DANCE TUNES

Former University of North Carolina Orchestra Leader Plays Here Tomorrow.

With the appearance of Tal Henry and his North Carolinians at the Junior-Senior dances tomorrow and Saturday Carolina students will hear typically southern renditions of harmonies and melody as offered by real southerners.

Henry and his youthful aggregation all hail from North Carolina, the band having been organized here at the University in 1923. The leader, Tal Henry, was born in Georgia, but was brought to the Old North State at an early age, where he was taught the intricacies of southern melodies by his musically-inclined mother.

He has kept his band together for eight years, having built up the group into one of the most outstanding musical groups in the country today. Featured in the earlier years only as fraternity and collegiate providers of music for the frolics of the younger generation, Tal Henry and his band made an enviable name for themselves. With their success along these lines, they branched out into farther reaching domination, that of radio broadcasting. Following their sensational success while broadcasting over WJZ of the National Broadcasting company, direct from the Hotel New Yorker, they made records for Victor.

University Glee Club Elects New Officers

At the meeting of the University glee club Tuesday evening, the following officers for the coming year were elected: Wofford Humphries, president; Harry Lee Knox, vice-president; and Bob Hunt, secretary. Bill Barfield, president; Loyd Swaim, vice-president; and Wofford Humphries, secretary were the retiring officers. The position of manager, now held by Kenneth Wilson, is filled by appointment by Professor Dyer.

SOCIETY SELECTS NEW OFFICERS AT MEETING TUESDAY

Bagby and Saville Address Elisha Mitchell Society at Final Meeting of This Year.

At the meeting of the Elisha Mitchell Scientific Society Tuesday in Philips hall, Dr. English Bagby of the psychology department and Dr. Thorndike Saville of the engineering school addressed the meeting. Officers for the next term were also elected as were members to the editorial committee which edits the Mitchell Journal.

Dr. English Bagby, speaking on "The Concept of 'Center of Difficulty'", reported on a slightly disordered personality. He outlined the symptoms of that particular disturbance which he called the "Center of Disturbance", and also showed the lines which that disturbance took towards melancholia and assimulation. He then sketched the treatment which he attempted.

North Carolina Flood

Dr. Thorndike Saville, who spoke on "The Great Flood of 1929 in North Carolina", described how measurements of the stream flow were taken, especially those of streams in flood. He also outlined the causes and effects of floods for different types of streams in this state.

The officers, elected at the meeting for the following year, were: Dr. E. T. Browne of the mathematics department, president; Dr. G. R. MacCarthy a member of the geology department, vice-president; and Dr. C. D. Beers of the zoology department, recording secretary; the permanent secretary being Dr. J. M. Bell of the chemistry department.

The members elected to the editorial committee were: Dr. W. C. Coker, Dr. H. V. Wilson and Dr. Otto Stuhlman. Dr. E. K. Plyler of the physics department was elected a member of the program committee.

Juniors Will Meet in Gerrard Tonight

The junior class of the University will meet in Gerrard hall tonight at 7:00 o'clock for the purpose of discussing the inclusion of photographers' fees for next year's Yackety Yack in the senior fees.

The plan is proposed to facilitate the work of the Yackety Yack staff and means the payment of fees into the class treasury rather than to the photographers as has been done in the past.

Graham Will Deliver Commencement Address

President Graham has accepted an invitation to deliver the commencement address at the Wagram high school on May 18.

TAL HENRY AND HIS CAROLINIANS

Pictured above is Tal Henry and his Carolinians, popular former University of North Carolina orchestra, who have been engaged to play for the annual Junior Prom and Senior Ball this week-end. First featured as a fraternity and college dance orchestra, Henry has branched out as a radio entertainer, broadcasting from the Hotel New Yorker and from the stages of well-known theatres, gaining acknowledgement as one of the leading bands in this country.

Students Form Famunism Group Ridiculing Campus Organizations

New Club Combines Fascism, Communism, and Socialism, Rejecting the Best Features of Each and Retaining the Worst; Name Derived from the Three "ism's."

Burlesquing the John Reed club, ridiculing the visit of Columbia students to Kentucky, and satirizing the reports of "isms" at the University, a brand new organization has been formed by Carolina students in which they "combine fascism, communism, and socialism, rejecting the best features of each and retaining the worst." They call themselves "Famunists," a name derived from the three "isms" they represent.

The constitution for the club reads simply, "Everything that's not in the Bible." The only by-law is, "You must not go to Kentucky." Its slogan is, "Down with everything that's up, and up with everything that's down."

Tri-Part Organization

According to information extorted from one of the leaders of the club, the organization is in three parts. The first division is the Bushwa contingent which advocates aestheticism in government. The second is called the Mushrosh group which is concerned with the extension and continuation of the entire group. The third is the Hominy division which is concerned with the "uplift of the laboring masses, particularly filling station attendants." The name for this division was derived from the customary question, "Hominy gallons?"

Scholarship Holders Asked for Renewals

Application blanks for renewal of scholarships now held by University students are available in the President's office. To have bearing on the renewal of scholarships they must be secured, filled out, and returned to the President's office prior to July 1, 1932. This applies to all types of scholarships.

Requisites for membership were declared to be secret, but upon a threat by the reporter to disclose names of some of the members it was declared that membership could be obtained by (1) blowing up some public building, or (2) by shooting a conservative professor or (3) by killing some member of the German club. To kill a member of the German club or a DAILY TAR HEEL reporter is considered more noble than any other feat, the head of the Bushwa contingent said.

Club Respects Proletariat

"Our ideal man is the night watchman or filling station attendant. We have no respect for anything higher," says a resolution passed by the Hominy group.

When asked about THE DAILY TAR HEEL one of the leaders from Steele dormitory said, "the paper up to present has a 100 per cent rating with us—all bad."

In extending the scope of the movement Famunist members said that they were doing some work at North Carolina College for Women, but failed to say how directly this work pertained to the actual organization. Several have been suspected of work around Spencer hall while another is known to have made a trip to Roanoke, presumably (Continued on page three)

Library Science School Visits State Libraries

The University library science school chartered a bus yesterday and started on a tour of the libraries of the state with all members of the school. Yesterday they visited both the school and town libraries of Greensboro, Winston-Salem, and High Point. Today they will visit libraries in Raleigh and Durham.

Freshmen Will Give Last Smoker Tonight

The last freshman smoker of the year will take place in Swain hall tonight at 9:00 o'clock. "Ad" Warren, former Tar Heel football star and boxer, now coach of boxing at Duke University, will be the speaker for the occasion.

Billy Stringfellow and his orchestra have been selected to furnish the music. In addition to the music by the orchestra there will be several selections given by a student artist.

LAW ASSOCIATION SPONSORS ANNUAL MEET TOMORROW

Three Speakers Will Address Lawyer's Banquet Given at Carolina Inn at 7:30.

The annual law school banquet, which is being sponsored by the law school association, will take place tomorrow evening at 7:30 in the ball room of the Carolina Inn.

J. H. Chadbourn, of the law school faculty, will be the toastmaster for the occasion, and three speakers have been invited to address the gathering. Assistant Attorney-General A. F. Seawell, H. G. Connor of Wilson, and C. W. Tillett, Jr. of Charlotte will be the visiting speakers, and there will also be speakers from each of the law school classes.

Impressive Invitation List

The law school association has invited all the former editors of the Law Review, 143 in number, to return for the affair, as well as all of the alumni of the law school who have graduated within the past two years. The entire Supreme Court of North Carolina has also been invited as guests of honor.

A varied program for the banquet consisting of comments, skits, comedy, songs, awards, and similar things in addition to the speeches, has been worked out by the program committee composed of Allen Langston, Archie Allen, Mac Gray, E. P. Dameron, Fred Hamrick, and Edwin Butler.

Council Establishes Scholarship Award

At the meeting of the interfraternity council Tuesday night it was definitely decided that the group should establish a scholarship to be given each year, and known as the interfraternity scholarship. This scholarship will be granted to some member of the rising sophomore class every year at awards night.

The one to whom the award is made will be selected by the council and by Dean Bradshaw, and the requirements other than that he must be a rising sophomore will be decided upon by the dean of the students also.

Rushing rules for next year were discussed by the council and changes were decided upon. These were submitted for action to the faculty yesterday afternoon, and will be returned to the council today.

Ph.D. Exam Tomorrow

The oral examination of Mr. Arthur Ladu for the degree of doctor of philosophy in the department of English will take place at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow in 112 Saunders. All members of the graduate faculty in the division of languages and literature are invited to be present.

STUDENT-FACULTY GROUP APPROVES NEW DANCE PLAN

Men Chosen from Organizations Sponsoring Festivities Will Regulate Affairs.

The joint student-faculty committee, which was formed to plan a more representative control of the student dances, met Tuesday night. The members of the faculty committee are: Dr. W. S. Bernard, Dean F. F. Bradshaw, Mrs. R. B. House, Dr. W. M. Dey, and Dr. R. E. Coker.

The student committee, which is composed of representatives from the organizations on the campus that give dances, including the German club, the Grail, the law school, the Interfraternity council, the three upper classes of the student body, the Graduate club, and the Phi Assembly, had met several times previous to last night and had formed a plan to be presented to the faculty group.

Propose New Committee

This plan, as presented to the joint meeting provided for a new student dance committee to regulate but not to give dances. This body is to work in conjunction with the faculty committee in carrying out the University regulations covering student dances and is to be responsible for maintaining the high standard of control that has characterized dances at Carolina in the past. The new body is to be composed of the following: three representatives from the German club, two from the Grail, one from the Graduate club, one from each of the three upper classes, and one member to be carried over each year from the retiring committee.
