

FRESHMAN TEAM SWAMPS LITTLE DEACONS 11 TO 4

Tar Babies Take Advantage of All Hits and Convert Them Into Runs by Heady Play.

Making every hit count and showing smart work on the bases, Carolina's freshman baseball team won their fifth Big Five contest in six starts, downing the Wake Forest yearlings 11 to 4. Both teams had eight hits but all the Tar Babies' blows resulted in runs, while Wake Forest hits were scattered over six frames by Childers.

The Baby Deacons started the scoring in the opening frame, getting two runs on two hits and a walk. Abernathy tripled and Gold next man up walked and stole second. After two were down, Moore came through with a single, driving in both markers.

Carolina Takes Lead

Carolina took the lead in the third and fourth frames with three runs. Childers got the first one as a result of a hit, a stolen base and a wild throw over second. Mauney crossed the plate in the same inning, after walking and stealing second, when Moore dropped Berry's long fly. The third marker was made by Hinkle on a hit, a Deacon error, and Broyhill's sacrifice.

The count was tied in the fifth by Wong of Wake Forest on a single, a stolen base, and Abernathy's two base knock. Further scoring was stopped by a double play, Broyhill to Rand. The Tar Babies cinched the win in the seventh and eighth innings with four in each frame. Broyhill, Childers, and Rand's singles, three errors, and a walk netted the markers in the seventh while blows by Childers and Strayhorn, Rand's sacrifice, a hit by pitched ball, and McLaurin's home run down the left field side line accounted for the rest of the score. Wake Forest made their last run in the eighth on a walk and Moore's double.

Childers, in the box for the Tar Babies struck out ten men and also led his team's hitting with three singles out of four trips to the plate. Broyhill with one bingle out of two trips and McLaurin with a home run were the other Carolina batting stars.

NET TEAM BEATS WAKE FOREST FOR UNDEFEATED YEAR

Claimants to National Tennis Title Chalk Up Forty-Ninth Consecutive Victory.

The Tar Heel tennis team completed its second undefeated season yesterday by beating Wake Forest here to the tune of 9-0 for its forty-ninth straight win.

None of the members of the team had any great difficulty in winning their matches though Vernon, Wake Forest's number one man, pushed Grant of Carolina in the second set of their match.

The Tar Heels were minus the services of Lenoir Wright, number three player, who was in the infirmary yesterday.

Summaries: Singles—Grant, Carolina, defeated Vernon, 6-1, 6-4; Hines, Carolina, defeated Fletcher, 6-1, 6-1; Shuford, Carolina, defeated Glenn, 6-0, 6-0; Abels, Carolina, defeated Hutchins, 6-0, 6-1; Morgan, Carolina, defeated Owen, 6-0, 6-0; Dillard, Carolina, defeated Buxton, 6-2, 6-2.

Doubles—Grant and Abels defeated Fletcher and Vernon, 6-4, 6-0; Dillard and Morgan defeated Owen and Hutchins, 6-0, 6-0; Dixon and Minor defeated Glenn and Buxton, 6-2, 6-2.

Golf Squad Elects O'Brien New Captain

At a meeting of the University golf team Monday, William O'Brien was elected captain of the team for the 1933 season. O'Brien was a member of the freshman team in 1930 and has been on the varsity every year since then.

The team this year, which has just closed a very successful season, was composed of Joe Adams, captain, William O'Brien, captain-elect, Alan Smith, and Al Brown. This combination swept aside all opposition in dual matches, but they placed a close second to the strong Duke team in the state championship tournament at Sedgewood. They won from Duke, however, in two dual meets to get a measure of revenge.

The crowning accomplishment, however, came when Captain Adams led the team to Carolina's first southern conference golf championship. Alan Smith, sophomore star, also won individual honors in the annual Dogwood tournament at Sedgewood.

Hoover Wins Straw Vote

In a straw ballot held at the University of Hawaii to determine the presidential candidates most favored by the students and faculty members, Herbert Hoover received 111 votes, Franklin D. Roosevelt 103, and Alfred E. Smith 70. John N. Garner received 30 votes, Calvin Coolidge 25, and Newton D. Baker 17.

A few votes were cast for William E. Borah, Charles G. Dawes, William H. Murray, Albert Ritchie, Norman Thomas, William Z. Foster, Hiram Johnson and Will Rogers. The Democrat candidates received twenty-five per cent more votes than the Republicans.

By LEONARD HORWIN

"The largest percentage of college men and women in Olympic history will be entering the swimming and diving events in 1932. "Swimming and diving—a feature of the modern Olympiads since their inception in 1896, but until a few years ago looked upon as the sport of tramp athletes, have within the last six years, approximately, been flooded with collegiate entries. For today, the swimming and diving events have become a synonym for the development of perfect rhythm and poise—of coordinated, all-around strength."

Dapper, sun-bronzed Fred Cahy, coach of the American Olympic diving team, was explaining to us the fine points of the game. Just a few feet away, as we lolled on the promenade of the beautiful Ambassador Hotel swimming plunge, curly-headed Farid Simaika of the University of California at Los Angeles, American high-diving champ in 1930, but the representative of Egypt in the Games and one of her prime hopes, punctuated Fred's remarks from time to time with the poetic grace of his diving.

Swim of Swims

In an ancient day, Leander of Abydos became enamored of Hero, beautiful priestess of Venus who lived at a swimming distance across the Hellespont from Leander's Grecian bungalow. Impetuous Leander did a nightly marathon swim across, directed by the flaming torch Hero set out for him; but one night, alas, a storm came up, hiding the rays of the torch, so that Leander drowned. Hero, by the way, committed suicide.

Leander drowned for one or more of three reasons—too little light, too much chill, or too little reserve strength.

Had he saved his swimming activities for the Xth Olympiad of 1932, he could have developed that reserve strength by daily swims in the warm waters of the Pacific washing the sun-baked beaches of Southern California, or by swims in the artificial surroundings of scores of country clubs rising where once only the lowly hut or humble mission stood, or by cold-water swims in myriad tiny mountain lakes in the vicinity.

And what would be his pleasure to find the just-completed $110,000 Olympic Swimming Stadium in beautiful Exposition Park, center of the Xth Olympiad, equipped with a heating plant and under-water lights.

The scene of the swimming, diving, and water polo events from August 6 to 13th of 1932 will house 10,000 spectators, and is provided with 65 dressing rooms and a concrete pool of 50x20 meters.

GRIMES TO PLAY SIGMA NU TODAY IN CHAMPIONSHIP

Aycock Downed 5 to 2 to Give Dormitory Championship To Grimes Team.

Grimes scored three times in the first inning to cinch the dormitory league intramural baseball title, downing Aycock 5 to 2. Colyer and Unger led off with base blows in the last of the first inning. After one was down Watson hit safely and the rally was completed with two more base knocks. Watson, on the mound for Grimes, pitched great ball, allowing only three hits. Both of Aycock's runs came in the final frame as a result of poor fielding. Fuller and Colyer drove in the winners' score in the third and fourth frames. Houchman, Fuller, and Watson hit hardest for Grimes, while in the field Colyer played the most consistent ball. For Aycock, Cox and Efland were the stars both on defense and offense.

Score by innings:
Aycock ..... 000 000 2-2
Grimes ..... 301 100 0-5

Grimes vs. Sigma Nu

This afternoon will close the intramural season when Grimes meets Sigma Nu, winners of the fraternity crown, in a battle which is to decide the championship of the campus. Both teams have a well balanced bunch of players and a close game should result. Watson, winning pitcher in Aycock's victory yesterday, will be opposed in the box by Byerly, who has twirled stellar ball in all of Sigma Nu's games.

TAR HEELS WILL MIX WITH STATE NINE TOMORROW

Carolina Will Seek Vengeance For One-Run Victory Gained By Wolfpack Team.

The Carolina baseball team will meet N. C. State in its final game of the year here tomorrow afternoon at 4:00 o'clock.

The Wolfpack took its first game from the Tar Heels by a late rally and a one-run margin. The Carolina team will be out to atone for that loss, and also to make up for the poor game they played against Wake Forest Monday.

Hinton on Mound

George Hinton, one of Carolina's best pitchers, will be on the mound, and in all likelihood will oppose Lanning, State ace.

Hinton has lost only one game this year, and that was when he went into the game in a crucial pinch in a relief role. He won five and lost only one last year, and is considered one of the best pitchers Carolina has had in several seasons.

The Tar Heels out-hit Wake Forest Monday, but couldn't bunch their blows to count runs, and couldn't play jam-up ball when Wake Forest hits meant runs.

Coach Bunn Hearn, who has developed a good team and who has been working the boys hard all season, has called for action tomorrow, and the Tar Heels will be out to close their season in good style.
