

RHODES AWARDS APPLICATIONS TO BE IN BY OCT. 15

Competition for Scholarships to Oxford Will Be Carried On in All States.

Candidates for this year's selection of Rhodes scholars must file their applications before October 15 with either Dean A. W. Hobbs, chairman of the local committee, or C. P. Spruill, member of the state committee.

The applicant must be in his junior year of college, and must be an unmarried male citizen of the United States, between the ages of nineteen and twenty-five. Candidates can apply either in the state in which he lives or in the one in which he has received two years of higher education.

Eight Districts

The competition for the scholarship will be in every state in the union, the forty-eight states being divided into eight districts of six states each. Each state community may nominate two men to appear before a district committee which will select from the twelve candidates the best four men whom it deems most representative.

All the scholarships are tenable at the University of Oxford. An appointment is made for two years in the first instance, but a scholar may remain for a third year upon presentation of a plan of study for that period satisfactory to his college and to the Rhodes trustees.

A Rhodes scholar may either postpone his third year, returning to Oxford for it after a period of work in the United States or, in a special case, may spend his third year in graduate work in some university in Great Britain or in Europe.

State elections are scheduled December 10, and the district committees will meet a few days later. Applications are due now.

George T. Winston

The late Dr. George Tayloe Winston, president of the University from 1891 to 1896. Dr. Winston, who was also president of State College and the University of Texas, died here last August.

Graduate Club Has Cosmopolitan Group

Evidencing the trend of the University of North Carolina's enrolling many students from other states and countries, the Graduate club has affiliated with it this year students from South Africa, Kentucky and Oregon. While the majority of the men connected with the Graduate club are North Carolina students, more men from other parts are applying for enrollment each year. J. H. Kirk, the student from South Africa, is a research worker in sociology and is coming to Chapel Hill through the Commonwealth Research Fund.

As a result of elections last spring Mitchell P. Wells was named president of the Graduate club.

Yackety Yack Pictures

Juniors and seniors are urged to keep their appointments for Yackety Yack pictures, as it is desired that all pictures be taken by this fall.

George Tayloe Winston, Former President Here, Was Benefactor

Educational Leader Did Much to Advance Cause of Education in South; Also Head of State College and University of Texas During His Career.

By J. J. Sugarman, Jr.

The death of George Tayloe Winston, former president of the University, closed a career which began on the decks of a battleship and closed in the presidential chair of a great university. Constitutionally unfitted for a sea-faring life, Dr. Winston turned from the navy at an early age and subsequently devoted his life to higher education in the south.

Heads Three Colleges

The man who was to hold the unique record of having been president of three colleges, North Carolina, Texas, and North Carolina State started his college career in 1866. Shortly after his admittance, the University was forced to close its doors for five years during the Reconstruction.

It was then that Winston essayed a naval position. Securing from President Andrew Johnson an appointment to Annapolis, he made one of the finest records ever attained there up to the time of his graduation.

Naval Officer

Practical experience in the navy proved a different story. The young midshipman was so deathly sick on his maiden voyage that the ship's doctor did not expect him to live. Accordingly, he resigned from the navy and went to Cornell university where he took post-graduate work and then became an instructor.

Once installed in the field of education, his interests naturally turned back to North Carolina, so that when the University was re-opened in 1875 he returned to assume the post of assistant professor of Latin and German.

Elected President

A year after he became a member of the University faculty Dr. Winston was promoted to a full professorship in Latin and soon proved himself one of the outstanding men in Chapel Hill. In 1891, when President Battle retired, the trustees selected Dr. Winston by a unanimous election. His formal inauguration took place on October 14, 1891.

In his history of the University Dr. Battle remarked of Dr. Winston at the time of his inauguration, "He was a distinguished student and afterward a thorough and enlightened professor. His labors in the Summer school and his presidency of the State Teachers Association

KOCH TO DELIVER OPENING LECTURE OF DRAMA SEASON

Carolina Playmakers Will Present Phillip Barry's "Holiday" as Initial Play.

With an illustrated lecture October 3, on "Our Adventures in Playmaking," Professor F. H. Koch of the English drama department will open the season of the Carolina Playmakers. After the lecture, which will be a summary of the past achievements of the Carolina Playmakers, there will be a meeting of the students who are interested in the drama.

October 9, Professor Koch will give his annual reading of Shakespeare, and he has chosen for his reading this year the famous comedy The Taming of the Shrew. The first production of the year will be an American comedy. The one now being given most consideration is Phillip Barry's famous play, Holiday. The tryouts for this are scheduled for October 10, the production will be presented November 3, 4, 5.

Following this production there will be two more readings. The first will be an author's reading November 13. During the Thanksgiving season the playmakers will tour north to present some of their productions.

The first bill of original plays, written by Carolina students in the dramatic class, is December 8, 9, 10. Professor Koch will give a reading of Dicken's A Christmas Carol December 11, 12, ending the activities of the Playmakers for the fall quarter.

NEW METHODS TO BE USED IN WORK ON YACKETY YACK

Members of Year Book Staff Expect to End Photography Work Next Month.

The plan to be used this year in obtaining junior and senior pictures for the Yackety Yack is a radical departure from the former arrangement in that, by class vote, the photographer's fees are paid from class dues rather than by the individual student, affording convenience both to students and members of year book staff.

In conjunction with this plan, many Yackety Yack appointments were made at registration Thursday, and about one hundred of these have been filled since that time.

It is expected that by the new system and early start, the staff will eliminate many poor features of the old plan and be able to finish photography work by the end of October.

Co-operation of all upper-classmen is urged, and for their convenience, lists of those having appointments on that day will be published in THE DAILY TAR HEEL. In case students have lost appointment cards, duplicates may be obtained at Wooten-Moulton's.

Thus far, appointments have been made only for this week, but the staff plans to get in touch with those who have not been reached and make arrangements for sittings.

The editor has announced that there are several vacancies on the editorial staff, which will be organized about October 8.

INCREASE OF 700 VOLUMES IN LAW SCHOOL LIBRARY

Gifts by Alumni and Exchanges With Other Universities Main Sources.

Recent check-ups on books in the law school library show that the library contains at present 24,700 volumes, which is an increase of 700 volumes over the number there last year. This increase was made possible through gifts by prominent alumni, through the building up of certain sections, and through exchanges with other universities, mainly the University of Ohio.

In the special section on state statutes and compilations an increase was caused by the receipt of new reports and new volumes. The section on special reports made an increase by the purchase of new reports, mainly on aviation and compensation.

By writing to all the state departments, as the insurance, corporation, and industrial commissions, the library was able to obtain much material concerning the laws and reports of each body. Part of this material was in book form and the rest was in pamphlets.

Another increase in library material for the law school was made possible by a gift of fifty dollars, which was donated by the law school association. At the close of last year this association gave part of its balance to the law school library, and with this a five volume set of Wigmore on Evidence and a set of periodical shelves were purchased.

SIGMA DELTA IS PETITIONING FOR COUNCIL MEMBER

Request Is Tabled by Group for Investigation; Is Only Local Organization on Campus.

The Sigma Delta fraternity, the sole local social fraternity on the campus, has petitioned the inter-fraternity council for representation on this body. Sigma Delta has always voluntarily observed the rules for fraternities made by the council, although its members are not represented in the group. Each year Sigma Delta posts the $100 bond required by the council under rushing regulations.

At a meeting of the council Friday night, a representative of Sigma Delta appeared and placed his case before the council for its consideration. The council will report on the case in the near future.

Nine Years Old

Sigma Delta has been on the campus for nine years and is second oldest petitioner to Delta Upsilon, national fraternity, in the country. Up to this time it has never had a representative on the inter-fraternity council.

The request was tabled until the council can thoroughly investigate the facts of the case and the matter can be brought before individual fraternities.

Co-ed Council Meets

Last night the Pan-Hellenic council of the Woman's Association met at 7:00 o'clock to determine rushing regulation for this year. These regulations will appear in Tuesday's issue of THE DAILY TAR HEEL.

Phi Assembly Will Meet Tuesday Night

Officers of the Phi Assembly will convene for the opening meeting of the fall quarter on Tuesday night at 8:00 o'clock in New East building for the purpose of discussing plans for the coming academic year. At that time Dan Kelly, president of the Phi Assembly, will deliver the inaugural address followed by the discussion of new bills, among which, is the bill, "Resolved that the Phi Assembly go on record as favoring the immediate payment of the soldiers' bonus."

The officers of the Phi Assembly for the fall quarter include Dan Kelly, president; Donald Seawell, sergeant-at-arms; J. D. Winslow, reading clerk; J. P. Temple, treasurer; Leonard L. Hutchison, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee; K. Wharton Young and A. L. Hodges, members of the Ways and Means Committee; and Leonard L. Hutchison, reporter.

Crockford Carries On Naval Research Work

Dr. H. D. Crockford of the chemistry department spent two months of his summer vacation in Washington, D. C., working in the naval research laboratory on one phase of the submarine storage battery. He has worked there for the past three summers and will continue his work here this winter. While in Washington, Dr. Crockford came in contact with Dr. R. D. Norton, a recent graduate of the chemistry department, who is conducting special research work on fuel oils there in Washington.

New Men on Staff

At THE DAILY TAR HEEL tryouts Friday afternoon, twenty-eight men tried out for the staff. All of these students have been assigned temporary beats and are now at work on the paper.

President And Executive Body To Control Greater University

First Steps Being Taken Towards Consolidation of State Institutions of Higher Learning; Committee Recommends Transfer of State College From Raleigh to Chapel Hill.

In adopting the recommendations of the investigating commission, the board of trustees of the Greater University of North Carolina in their meeting last July took the first step towards the consolidation of the three state institutions of higher learning. The commission, acting upon the report of Dr. George A. Works, chairman of the survey committee, unanimously recommended the findings of the committee and directed that they be transmitted to the board of trustees of the University.

The board of trustees, meeting with the governor, with but few changes adopted the recommendations of the commission. The first changes towards consolidation are scheduled to begin during this academic year.

Several Changes Adopted

Several drastic changes are among those adopted by the board. Power has been granted to the Presidential Directorate, a triumvirate consisting of the presidents of the three institutions which will control the Greater University pending the inauguration of the president, to make a study of the curricula and abolish such courses as may

RUSHING SEASON GETS UNDER WAY THIS AFTERNOON

Freshmen to Visit Fraternity Houses Upon Invitation Beginning at 2:00 P. M.

The interfraternity council met Friday night to make final plans for the rushing season, which is to begin at 2:00 o'clock this afternoon. The council has been delivering invitations from the various fraternities to freshmen since Thursday night, and the last ones were given out last night.

All men who received invitations will be required to visit each house to which they have been invited during the first two days of rushing, and at this time they will make dates for future visits.

Irvin Boyle and Alec Webb, president and secretary-treasurer, respectively, of the interfraternity council, will be in Graham Memorial from 2:00 until 4:00 o'clock to direct freshmen to the houses.

This period of rushing will extend over a period of twelve days, after which there will be another period of silence until the day that bids are distributed at Memorial hall.

Dollar Fee for Bids

Following the example of the fraternities in many other schools, the council decided to charge a fee of one dollar to be paid by each freshman who receives a bid on bidding day. This is to defray the expenses which the council will incur during rushing season.

Because many freshmen to whom the fraternities wished to send invitations were not listed in the freshman directory, it was decided that each fraternity would be allowed to find out the addresses of these from the men that visit them Sunday and to deliver invitations to them Sunday night.

be deemed unnecessary. Several courses of study have been removed from one institution and transferred to another.

Under the present plan, the executive duties of the University will rest in the hands of the president together with an executive committee of the board of trustees. The president, who has not yet been elected, is to go in office not later than July 1, 1933. Immediately beneath the president will be a head for each of the three institutions.

Committee of Twelve

The executive committee is to be composed of twelve members elected by the board and from their number. It is planned that they shall be so appointed that the terms of three members shall expire each two years. The governor will remain as ex-officio chairman of the committee in addition to the regular twelve. The committee shall meet at least four times during each year, and shall be given full power to act for the board.

It is also the plan of the board to eliminate as many of the superfluous courses and departments as possible. Beginning with the session of 1933 the con-
