

Rain May Block Plans Laid For Opening Of 1932 World's Series

Yankees and Cubs, Pennant Winners in Respective Leagues, Meet Today in New York.

CHICAGO TO START BUSH

Lefty Gomez or Charley Ruffing Expected to Oppose Lanky Windy City Pitcher.

Jupe Pluvius may toss a monkey wrench into the plans for a gala world's series opening game today at the Yankee stadium when the Yankees, American league champions, meet the Chicago Cubs, pennant winners in the National league. A heavy rainfall came down last night in New York and it was predicted by the weather man that the rain would continue this morning and afternoon. If that is the case, the first two games will be played Thursday and Friday in New York, and the third contest in Chicago Sunday.

Two special cars, filled with Cub ball players and their wives, arrived in Gotham early Monday morning and Manager Charley Grimm has been sending his regulars through two work-outs daily at the Yank park.

Yank Starter Doubtful

Neither Grimm nor Manager Joe McCarthy of the Yankees have made pitching plans further than the opening ball game and even then the starting hurler for the New York team is undecided upon.

Guy Bush, lanky right handed hurler from Mississippi, has been named the Cubs' best bet in the first game while the choice of the Yankees lies between Lefty Gomez or Charley Ruffing.

The 1932 classic has put several men in unusual positions concerning the Yankees and the Cubs. For one thing, the Yankee pilot, McCarthy, managed the Bruins in 1929 when Chicago played the Athletics in the post season series. Incidentally, McCarthy is the only manager having led two teams of both leagues to the pennant.

Ruth in Tenth Series

Mark Koenig, new shortstop for the Chicago club, played three world's series as a member of the Yankees. Nor is Koenig the only member of the 1928 Yankees now on the Cub payroll, Charley O'Leary having been the late Miller Huggins' chief lieutenant.

Two records will also fall this year. Babe Ruth, slugger de luxe, will participate in his tenth world's series as a player, serving seven under the colors of the Yankees and three with the Boston Red Sox.

Charley O'Leary will also take a share in his tenth classic as a coach.

Math Seminar Today

The first meeting of the mathematics seminar will take place this afternoon at 3:00 o'clock in Phillips hall. This meeting will be an informal gathering and will consist of a symposium on elementary methods of teaching mathematics.

EXTRA POLICE TO HELP IN HANDLING CROWD SATURDAY

Special arrangements to care for the traffic problem and to facilitate the seating of the crowd at the Vanderbilt game here Saturday were made known by Coach George Shepard yesterday.

About twenty extra policemen and a dozen state highway officers will be stationed in Chapel Hill in addition to a score of students to regulate and direct the traffic. Shepard has also designated a group of forty students as ushers in the stadium. To relieve the usual congestion resulting from parking cars, the use of Emerson field and the intramural field will be provided for this purpose.

Baseball Manager Try-outs

All freshmen who wish to try out for assistant managers of baseball are requested to report to Manager Taylor at the intramural field between 3:00 and 4:00 o'clock this afternoon.

PLAYMAKERS TO PRESENT COMEDY TO START YEAR

Two Bills in Winter

During the winter quarter two bills will be offered, a revival of a period costume play in elaborate production, and another bill of original plays. Under consideration for the revival are Pinero's Trelawney of the Wells, a Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera, Goldoni's The Mistress of the Inn and others. The bill of original plays will probably consist of three new plays from the playwriting classes.

In the spring a bill of studio plays will be presented by Sam Selden's class in directing, including a dozen or more plays, both professionally written and new plays by University students. The final offering will be a Forest theatre production. Last year a Forest theatre show was tentatively announced, but proved impracticable and was replaced by The Butter and Egg Man. However, the summer production of Alcestis in the stadium proved to be so popular that the present program definitely calls for an outdoor performance in the spring, and Shakespeare's comedy, A Midsummer Night's Dream, with Mendelssohn's music, will probably be chosen to close the year.

To Repeat 1932 Feature

During the spring quarter the Playmakers plan to repeat the new feature introduced last year by the performance of Cinderella by the Junior Playmakers of Chapel Hill. Harry Davis is working on his dramatization of the oriental fairy story, "Ali Baba and the Forty Thieves," for the Juniors' second bill.

Each quarter there will be a number of experimental productions of new plays, put on by young playwrights and production students. The Twelfth Night Revel and Annual Caper will also be celebrated, following the Christmas recess, and at the end of the year, respectively.

To Make Tours

A revival of the Playmakers touring activities is in prospect for this season. A Thanksgiving tour out of the state is practically assured, and it is also

TWENTY-FIVE OUT FOR PRACTICE IN CROSS-COUNTRY

Sullivan Twins Are Pace-Setters For Candidates Working Under Ranson.

Nearly a quarter of a hundred ambitious boys are working out daily with Coach Dale Ranson for positions on the Carolina cross-country squad, defending Southern Conference champs.

Coach Ranson seemed fairly well pleased with the prospects for this year's bunion outfit, but he declined to say what he thought the locals' prospects were for clinching their sixth Southern Conference pennant.

Sullivans Look Good

The Sullivan twins, Louis and Henry, have been the pace-setters in the early workouts. Captain Bob Hubbard is also looking in fine condition. Other likely looking prospects thus far are Joe Pratt and J. E. Waldrop.

A tough schedule has been arranged for the tracksters with such heavy opposition as Florida and Duke. The southern meet comes on November 19 here in Chapel Hill.

The complete list of men out for the squad is as follows: T. L. Cordle, T. H. Curlee, G. S. Donnell, J. B. Farr, W. C. Finch, J. J. Goldman, W. R. Groover, H. W. Gwyn, F. J. Haywood, T. A. Henson, Capt. R. B. Hubbard, C. A. Jensen, D. S. Kimrey, E. E. McRae, O. Morton, J. H. Pratt, J. S. Queen, B. Roden, H. S. Sullivan, L. G. Sullivan, J. E. Waldrop, N. J. Williams, H. W. Williamson, H. Willey.

MARLENE DIETRICH AT LOCAL THEATRE TODAY

Featuring today at the Carolina theatre is "Blonde Venus," starring Marlene Dietrich. This is the fifth picture for the German actress, who has previously taken the leading role in "The Blue Angel," "Morocco," "Dis-honored," and "Shanghai Express."

While still in her teens, Miss Dietrich joined Max Reinhardt's world-famous school of drama. Her first stage part was in the German version of "Broadway" which was followed by a musical comedy engagement.

Josef von Sternberg, American director assigned to make a picture for UFA, German producers in Berlin, saw her in a musical show and immediately picked her for the feminine lead in the film, "The Blue Angel."

planned to make a number of short week-end or over-night trips in the state.

Monday evening, October 3, at 7:30 o'clock, Professor Koch will lecture on "Our Adventures in Playmaking," showing a number of slides of early Playmaker activities, thus beginning a series of special lectures and Sunday night play-readings which the Playmakers will sponsor again this year. Each month there will be a Sunday evening reading of some particularly interesting play by a playwright or well-known theatre artist. The Taming of the Shrew, read by Professor Koch, will be the first of these, on Sunday evening, October 9.

Season tickets for the six big performances of the current season may be secured from the Alfred Williams company, the Book Exchange, the Playmakers theatre, and student salesmen on the campus.

INTRAMURAL TAG FOOTBALL SEASON TO OPEN MONDAY

All Students Except Varsity and Freshman Players Eligible To Play on Teams.

Herman Schnell, new head of the intramural department, has announced that the intramural season will be officially opened Monday afternoon with tag football. The department has been working all week getting teams entered from the dormitories and fraternities. While any group wishing to form an independent team will have to see Schnell in the intramural office between 2:00 and 5:00 o'clock.

Anyone will be eligible to play unless he has won his varsity football numeral or is a member of the freshman or varsity squad. A man will be allowed to play for any team he chooses but will not be able to change clubs after the start of the season. An exception is made in the case of a freshman being pledged by a fraternity he may change from a dorm to the frat he pledged.

Best House Title-Holder

Best House, in the dormitory league, and Sigma Nu in the frat loop, finished the season in first places in their respective leagues. Sigma Nu took its title only after an extra game was played, ending the season in a tie with Phi Gamma Delta. In the post-season contest Sigma Nu won by a one touchdown margin, which was tallied in the closing minutes of play.

Best House on the other hand took its title easily, winning all its games by shut-outs. The playoff found Best House still keeping its record clean by downing Sigma Nu 12 to 0. Both scores came as a result of long passes.

Another close race in the fraternity league is in prospect, as hardly any of the teams have been hurt by the loss of men. The dormitory flag chase promises to be much closer than last year, as Best House will be hardest hit by losses. The last year's champions lose Paul Edwards through graduation, and Jones, who is a member of the varsity football squad. Both men were star performers on their team. Most of the other teams will be intact from last season.

A schedule for the first week will be made after all clubs have been entered. This schedule will probably be printed in the Sunday issue of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

sophomore and freshman groups will be announced later in the week in the DAILY TAR HEEL.

Any men interested in working on any of these committees are requested to see the chairmen this week.

All chairmen are asked to communicate with Bill McKee either today or tomorrow to outline the full program of their work for the year.

ATTENTION GIVEN BATTERY MEN IN FALL WORKOUTS

Coach Bunn Hearn concentrated his attention upon the work of his battery men throughout the second fall baseball drill yesterday afternoon, as Griffith is the only veteran pitcher available to the squad this year and the vacant catcher's berth left by the graduation of Pattisall must be filled.

The performance of Joyner, a sophomore moundsman, was particularly impressive. Mills and Spiers, freshmen, are showing unusual speed and consistent control in their offerings from the box and the hurling of Stern and Hutchison, both yearlings, was also pleasing to the jovial mentor. Among the catchers are Parker, Strayhorn and Mathewson, all with varsity experience, vieing for the regular assignment.

Coach Hearn topped off the session with a fast and strenuous workout for the infielders, many of whom exhibited mid-season form, having seen activity on the diamond during the summer. Weather permitting, a practice game will comprise the program for today.

of elementary education, and an advanced course for school principals, while Mrs. Grace P. Woodman will teach classes in Asheville, Waynesville, Canton, and Marshall. Her courses will be: public school music, music appreciation, and sight singing and ear training.

Miss Gladys Angel, assistant professor of health and physical education, who has charge of this phase of instruction for the extension department, has a charge of courses in physical and health education and folk dancing and pageantry at Whiteville, Wilmington, Clinton, and Buies Creek. Other classes may be formed at a later date in Wadesboro, Albemarle, Henderson, Hillsboro, Southern Pines, Hendersonville, and Warrenton, according to Grumman.

Coach Collins Continues Stiff Pace for Squad in Attempt to Find Best Combination.

FIRST TEAM IS SHIFTED

New Backfield Shows Woollen, Quarter; Croom and Phipps At Half; Lassiter, Full.

Driving his charges at the same furious pace that he set Monday, Coach Collins put his men through the most spirited scrimmage of the current campaign yesterday on Emerson field. In an effort to produce the offensive spark that was so sadly lacking against Wake Forest he had his first two teams scrimmage for over an hour determined to discover a combination that would click against the Vanderbilt Commodores this Saturday.

The work of the two teams on the muddy field was encouraging to the coaches as both elevens showed marked improvement in offense. The blocking of the backs and the linemen as well as better and the runner was able to slip through for nice gains. There still is room for improvement in the taking out of secondary men. In the scrimmage yesterday the defensive team's secondary made a good portion of the tackles and were many times just bumped out of the play rather than being out on the ground.

Coach Collins shifted his first team backfield yesterday in an effort to get more offensive drive. This new backfield showed Charlie Woollen at quarterback, Haines Lassiter at fullback, and John Phipps and Bill Croom at the halves. This quartet answered Coach Collins' call for drive time and again with neat plunges. Lassiter ran with his old drive and Phipps and Croom were both driving hard. Stuart Chandler was again on the sidelines watching the scrimmage. In his place, Woollen showed up well returning punts with a new drive.

The rest of the first team was made-up of: Cozart and Walker, ends; Hodges and Smith, tackles; Barclay and Newcombe, guards; and Underwood, center. On the second team were Frankel and Brandt, ends; Collins and Tatum, tackles; Kahn and Philpot, guards; and McIver, center. In the backfield for this team were: Jones, quarterback; McCaskill, fullback; and Hubbard and Burnett, halves.
