

Tar Heels Swamped By Vandy In Scoring Fray

"Dixie" Roberts' All-Round Good Playing Helps Vandy Pile Up 39 to 7 Victory.

CROOM GETS ONLY CAROLINA MARKER

Pass from Phipps to 4-Yard Line Gives Tar Heels First Score Of Current Season.

A noticeable lack of pass defense and offense gave the Vanderbilt Commodores a 39-7 victory over Carolina in Kenan stadium yesterday afternoon before a crowd of approximately 13,000 people. Plays from the line of scrimmage gave the Tar Heels nineteen first downs to the Vandy total of seven.

With the exception of Phipps at left half and Thompson at right half, the Heels' starting line-up was the same as that used against Wake Forest last Saturday. Vanderbilt started their first team, but practically every player on the squad saw action before the game was over.

Passing Game Unexpected

The game turned out to be an aerial display, much to the surprise of the fans who came expecting the heavier Vanderbilt line to keep the play on the ground. Although completing eight passes in the final quarter, the Tar Heel passing attack was hampered by having eight passes intercepted, several of which put the Commodores in scoring position.

Acting-captain "Dixie" Roberts won the toss from Acting-captain Stuart Chandler and elected the east goal. Underwood kicked to Roberts to open the game. Taking the ball on his own 6-yard line, Roberts returned it to the 46, Thompson nabbing him in a clear field. On the second play, Roberts fumbled, Underwood recovering. The Tar Heels' joy was short-lived, however, as Roberts intercepted Phipps' pass. Roberts made a first down, and culminated the drive with a 30-yard pass to Henderson on the 6-yard line, the Vandy signal caller carrying it over. Beasley's kick was good and the rout was on.

In the remaining part of the first quarter, Vandy was unable to score, although threatening several times.

Second Quarter

Beginning the second period, Carolina punted, failing to make the necessary yardage for first down. Burton was tackled by three Carolina players behind the line of scrimmage, but got away for fifteen yards, Walker making the tackle in an open field. Vandy was penalized for crawling, but on the following play Burton made a pretty falling catch of Henderson's pass to the 9-yard line. On the fourth down Roberts made it a touchdown by a foot. Beasley's kick was bad. Score, 13-0.

Vanderbilt's third touchdown came when Roberts on a cut-back off left tackle went seventy-five yards for a touchdown, passing the Tar Heel safety man, Woollen, without any trouble. Newcombe blocked Beasley's try for extra point. Score, 19-0. Beasley kicked short to Brandt who carried the ball to the 45-yard line. White to Daniels made it a first down. White made ten. Vandy offsidcs gave Carolina a much needed five yards. Another pass, White to Daniels, carried the ball to the ten. White went oftackle to the five, where the gun put an end to the Tar Heels' first threat.

Third Quarter

Opening the second half, Beasley kicked to Chandler. Henderson intercepted a Carolina pass on the Blue and White 45-yard line. On the first play, a long pass, Roberts to Henderson,

OF THE GAMES

Carolina fans, while disappointed, had a chance to witness the performance of several players who will be considered prominently for all-southern honors this fall. Leyendecker, Talley, and Gracey are three linemen who made practically all of the all-star selections last year. "Dixie" Roberts and Henderson are slated to make strong bids for backfield berths also.

Roberts went through the Carolina team as if he were on an unoccupied field on his 75-yard jaunt for a touchdown. When he passed the Carolina safety man, it looked as if the "Dixie Flyer" was passing through a small town. Roberts even forgot to blow his whistle.

Vandy's starting line-up outweighed the Tar Heels eleven pounds. The Commodores combined a 192-pound line with a backfield averaging 175 for their weight advantage.

One part of the game that seemed peculiar was the fact that Carolina made nineteen first downs to Vandy's seven. However, the Cubs out-hit the Yanks, but nevertheless they are still three games behind.

Carolina's passes seemed to be aimed in the general direction of a Vandy back practically every time. Roberts carried his 182 pounds lightly. The Vandy speedster is one of the fastest backs ever to grace Kenan stadium. He certainly lived up to his name yesterday.

The writer had the opportunity of seeing his first attempted drop kick yesterday. However, we still have to see successful attempt.

A glaring need of the Tar Heels is a reserve quarterback. Young Woollen's ability seems limited to punting, but he sure can get those away.

Bill Collins, younger brother of the Carolina coach, showed up well in yesterday's game, playing steady ball although he was not spectacular. Gordon McIver looked good at center also. The young Tar Heel broke through once to nail "Dixie" Roberts behind the line of scrimmage. Something that doesn't happen to that young man every day.

We happened to be sitting next to a Tulane scout, who came over to see Vanderbilt in action. He expressed the opinion that Vandy had a fair team. Vandy's scores came, not on straight football, but on errors by the Heels.

Tom White, Brandt, and Johnny Daniels showed up well in the backfield. White to Daniels looks like a good passing combination. Which reminds us that Stuart Chandler did some fine passing in the closing minutes. Easily the most versatile back on the squad, he seems to have an all-state berth cinched.

Right now it looks as if it will be a long time before the Tar Heels take a game. Georgia, Tennessee, Tech, State, Duke, and Florida are not easy meat for anybody and Davidson and Virginia may spring a surprise.

RUTH AND GEHRIG HIT TWO HOMERS IN YANK TRIUMPH

Cuyler and Hartnett Also Hit Circuit for Cubs; New York Wins 7 to 5.

Led by Bambino Babe and Columbia Lou, the Yanks swept the Cubs into submission for the third straight time yesterday at Wrigley field, Chicago by the score of 7-5. Ruth and Gehrig led a home run procession with two circuit clouts apiece while Kiki Cuyler and Gabby Hartnett were also slamming one each. Root and Pipgras were the starting hurlers and a crowd of 50,000 including Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt watched the third slaughter of the series begin.

The Cubs yanked Root in the fifth inning with one out when he seemed to lose his effectiveness, allowing Ruth and Gehrig to hit successive homeruns. George Pipgras pitched fine ball all the way but was removed in favor of Pennock when Charley Grimm sent the dangerous Koenig in to hit for Tinning with Jorges on first.

Jorges, Cuyler Lead Hitters

Jorges and Cuyler were the hitting stars of the game each collecting three safeties. Jorges had a double and two singles while Kiki had a double and single with his homer. For the Yanks Chapman joined Gehrig and Ruth with two hits. Young Jorges also led in miscues with two bobbles. Herman and Hartnett each contributed an error to the Cub list while Lazzeri made the only Yank slip.

Ruth hit his home runs in the first and fifth innings, and his last was the fifteenth he has collected in world series competition. Gehrig did his clouting in the third and fifth stanzas.

The American league champions started the game off with a bang scoring three runs in the opening inning. Combs grounded to Jorges but the youngster threw wild to first and Combs stopped at second. Sewell was walked and both runners came home on Ruth's circuit smash into the right field bleachers. The Cubs were game though and scored one run in their half of the inning on a walk to Herman, and a double by Cuyler which scored Herman. The second inning saw each team fail to score.

Scoring in Third

In the third the Yanks pushed over a run when Gehrig smashed out his first homer but the Cubs scored two and almost tied the game with Cuyler's home run and Charley Grimm's hit which lashed through Chapman's legs and scored Moore from first.

The Cubs knotted the count in the next stanza when Jorges doubled, and scored when Lazzeri fumbled English's drive. The Yanks took the lead again in the fifth when Ruth and Gehrig both hit home runs in succession.

The Ruth-Gehrig act ended the scoring until the last inning when each team pushed another tally over. The Yanks scored when Hartnett muffed Lazzeri's fly and both Lazzeri and Dickey were safe as Herman dropped the catcher's fly in short left field. With two runners on base, Ben Chapman slashed a double scoring Lazzeri and leaving Dickey on third where he died as Pipgras fanned for the fifth time, a new world series record.

With their last chance before them and two runs behind, the Cubs began a desperate attempt. Hartnett led off with a home run into the left field bleachers. Jorges next up got his third hit of the game, a single to left. With the tying run on first Manager Grimm sent the vet-

LEAD TAR HEEL BACKS

GURNEAU LOST TO STATE FOR YEAR

Star Athlete Finds Difficulty Making Scholastic Requirements at State College.

The poor scholastic standing of Sam Gurneau has robbed State college of one of its most important athletic figures this year, for the Superior, Wisconsin, boy has been unable to return to school for his senior year.

Gurneau earned seven monograms at State during his sophomore and junior years, starring in basketball and track, as well as on the gridiron. In his two years of competition with the varsity track outfit, he gained a first and a second place among individual performers at the state meets. As a freshman he captured the conference discus record with a toss of 137 ft. 10 1-2 in.

Carolina enthusiasts may remember Gurneau's 65-yard run for a touchdown against the Tar Heels two years ago when he played in the backfield. Last year he held down an end position.

Chapel Hill Wins Over Rocky Mount by 13 to 0

The Chapel Hill high school football team defeated Rocky Mount 13-0 in a fast moving game Friday afternoon.

In the first quarter Chapel Hill scored by a long march down the field and completed a pass for the extra point. The rest of that quarter was an exchange of punts. The second quarter began another march for the locals that was halted by the half with the ball on the five yard line. The half opened with Rigsbee making a thirty-five yard gain before he was finally downed. This was followed by a series of short gains and Partin plunged over. The try for the extra point was incomplete. The game ended with the Rocky Mount boys trying desperately to cross the goal line.

For the locals Rigsbee and Partin played nice games and Russ for Rocky Mount was a consistent gainer.

eran Koenig in to hit for Tinning. Fearful of Koenig's hitting, McCarthy called on Herb Pennock, a portsider to retire Koenig. This switch in pitchers changed Cub strategy and Hemsley hit for Tinning instead of Mark. With a golden opportunity, Hemsley fanned, swinging at one of Pennock's tantalizing low curves. Herman next up, hit to Pennock who tossed him out at first. English ended the game hitting to Gehrig who made the out unassisted.

TAR HEELS MEET TENNESSEE VOLTS NEXT SATURDAY

Travel to Knoxville to Tackle Second Conference Favorite In Third Game of Season.

ANCIENT SERIES IS CLOSE

Tennessee Has Won Five Games, Carolina Has Taken Four, With One Scoreless Tie.

The University of North Carolina will battle their second Southern Conference favorite in a row when the Tar Heels go out to Knoxville Saturday to play Tennessee's Volunteers a game which has a background that should make it a top-notch.

The Neyland-coached Vols have been scaling the heights of southern football more regularly than any other conference team for several years but the stubborn Tar Heels have fought them to 7-9 and 0-7 scores these last two years, and they will be out to win Saturday.

Tennessee has been too much for the Tar Heels in the four games played during the last half dozen years, but Carolina held the upper hand in the old days. So that the rivalry stands almost even.

The two institutions have met on the gridiron ten times at scattered intervals since 1893, with the series showing five victories for Tennessee, four wins for Carolina and one scoreless tie in 1919.

The Tar Heels will shoot the works Saturday in an effort to upset the conference favorites and to tie the ancient rivalry up again.

Both squads will be expecting and preparing for tough contests, for both are well fortified with lettermen and veterans who remember last year's epochal Carolina-Tennessee game in Kenan Stadium.

Johnny Branch was out, but the Tar Heels just played the harder. The stubborn forwards were tackling like demons, and the all-American McEver was smothered and the all-American guard Hickman battered until he had to be removed from the game early in the second half.

Tennessee outgained the Tar Heels, but the Carolina ball carriers showed their mettle, too. Every Tennessee threat was silenced except one and the Tar Heels might have won one of those scoreless ties and moral victories, had not a substitute quarterback fumbled a Tennessee punt on the 25-yard line and given the Vols their one big chance.

The 1930 game which Tennessee won 9-7 was another corker. The unforgettable Bobby Dodd generalled them into
