Many Prominent Speakers Will Be Present at Hi-Y Congress This Week-end.

The University of North Carolina "Y" cabinets will dispatch fifteen visiting delegates to the annual Hi-Y congress which meets in Raleigh this week-end.

The Freshman Friendship Council will send the greatest number of representatives. They are: Butler French, Jack Dunn, Jack Tolson, David McIlhenny, Thomas C. Cofer, Jack Hamer, John Clark, and Jessie Parker. Ed Lanier, and Jim Steere, advisors to the group, will accompany them. From the second year men's cabinet the following men will go: Claude Freeman, Locke Sloope, Herbert Sutter, J. D. Winslow, and Jack Pool. Bill McKee, president of the "Y," and Harry F. Comer, general secretary of the "Y," will attend also.

Noted Citizens to Speak

A most brilliant group of speakers has been arranged for by the Gene Turner Hi-Y club of Raleigh, the host organization. John Park, publisher of the Raleigh Times, Honorable Josiah William Bailey, senator from North Carolina, Reverend Henry Ruark, of Rocky Mount, Reverend J. R. Farris, president of the Raleigh Ministerial Association, and Honorable O. Max Gardner, governor of North Carolina, will be the principal speakers. The final address to the congress will be made by Dr. Frank P. Graham, president of the University.

DEVELOPMENT OF DRAMA GROUP IS TRACED BY KOCH

Playmakers Director Believes
North Carolina Richest State
In Natural Talent.

Professor F. H. Koch, director of the Carolina Playmakers, lectured Sunday night on "Our Adventures in Playmaking," recalling the hardships undergone by the first members of the group which has now come into national prominence.

The speaker, by means of slides, traced the work of the Playmakers from the time when one of their sets supposed to represent a log cabin turned out more like a chocolate layer cake until the time when a group of them were received by Calvin Coolidge at the White House.

Poor Equipment

When he came here in 1918, stated Professor Koch, the shabby equipment possessed by the University testified to the neglect of the fine arts on the part of North Carolinians. Up until that time practically no effort at drama had been made in this state.

Great difficulty was encountered by the actors in the few home talent plays that had been attempted before his coming, the "stage" being a platform built over the first rows of seats in Memorial hall, and the players being forced to climb in the windows from the top floor of the Y. M. C. A. to reach the back of the stage.

SANDWICH BOYS WILL BE TAXED

Ordinance Requires Payment of Ten Dollars to Protect Merchants and Consumers.

The ten dollar per head tax on those selling edibles in the dormitory will be enforced as strictly as possible this year, stated W. E. Caldwell, town manager, yesterday.

The law providing for the tax, which is a local ordinance passed for the protection of local merchants as well as for the consumers of the food sold, was passed two years ago.

Allowed under the state law is a tax up to one hundred dollars a year per person, so the present tax may be considered as fairly lenient.

At the time the license for the sale of edibles is issued to those who wish to augment their incomes in that way, the food is inspected, to be sure that the food meets the requirements of the local health department. The source of sandwiches and other foodstuffs is investigated.

Europe's Destiny Depends On That Of Germany, Says Spann

University Professor Believes Military Civil War Would Have Ruined Germany; Glad to See That Movement Toward Fighting Is Now on Decline.

During the three months' that he spent abroad this summer doing private research, Dr. Meno Spann of the University German department was deeply impressed with the turbulent political situation in Germany, where the struggle for supremacy between National Socialists and Communists precipitated a governmental crisis some months ago.

Beneath the apparent surface of factional cross-currents, Dr. Spann believes there is a broader trend which in time will influence the entire continent of western Europe. "The destiny of Europe depends largely on the destiny of Germany," he stated. "Feverish excitement throughout the country shows that there is history in the making, and one only has to consider that as far as Communism is concerned, it is a question of Germany's decision of her future course as to whether Europe will follow her example."

Nazis vs. Communists

After witnessing the friction between the Nazis and the Communists government, Spann thinks that "the Hitler party may be criticized, but it has at least become one of historic importance already in its counterbalancing the Russian type of communism, which would be unsuited to the needs of the German people."

"One must keep in mind that the parties are not political in

NEW PLAYMAKER SHOW SELECTED

Try-outs for "Uncle Tom's Cabin," First Production of Year,
Are Set for October 10.

Uncle Tom's Cabin, by Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, will be the first presentation of the Carolina Playmakers, which is scheduled for November 4, 5 and 6. Because of its drama and its colorful scenic and costuming possibilities this play will take precedence over Philip Barry's Holiday, which has been under consideration but which will be postponed until later on in the season.

The classic of '60's will be done in the period scenery and costumes and with the exaggerated acting of that time.

For the convenience of those students wishing to tryout for this production, copies of the play will be found in the reading room at the library. Try-outs are scheduled for Monday, October 10, at 4:00 and 7:00 o'clock in the Playmakers theatre.

Every year the graduate club gives a series of social functions which are enjoyed by all graduate students, and this one is already being looked forward to with a great deal of interest.

Dan Kelly, speaker of the Phi, gave a talk in which he told the history of the assembly, its purpose, and the type of work it is doing now.

Charles Grandison Rose, Jr., president of the Senate, explained the difference between the societies. He said that the Di and Phi were not always at each others throats but worked together.

All those that wished to become members were told to be present at the meetings conducted last night. The Di meets on the second floor of New West and the Phi meets on the fourth floor of New East.

COMMITTEE FOR DANCES GATHERS TO MAKE PLANS

Tentative Dates for Several Important Dances During Year
Are Set at Meeting.

The University dance committee met last night in the Graham Memorial to discuss plans for the coming year. Dr. W. S. Bernard, faculty advisor for this new dance regulating body, made a talk to the members in which he clearly defined the duties of the organization.

These duties will be much the same as those formerly exercised by the executive committee of the German club. This new committee will set dates for dances of all dance organizations on the campus and will have the general supervision and regulation of these. It will also try all cases of drunken persons being on the dance floor and misconduct.

All University dance organizations wishing to have dates set for their dances are to see Dr. Bernard.

At this meeting tentative dates for several important dances were set and the rules and regulations of the body were gone over. It was explained that each organization shall determine whether freshmen are to be admitted to their dances.

UNIVERSITY GIVES CREDIT FOR MANY COURSES BY MAIL

Extension Department Will Offer Over One Hundred Correspondence Courses.

The University, through its extension division, is to offer more than one hundred courses by correspondence this year for the benefit of citizens who, for various reasons, chiefly financial will be unable to establish residence at some institution of learning, Russell M. Grumman, director of extension, announced yesterday.

"For a number of years the University, through its extension division has been conducting correspondence instruction for various groups of citizens, and for the past two years this method of instruction has been of particular value to high school graduates who for financial reasons, have found it impossible to attend college," Grumman said. "Since the correspondence courses offered by the University carry college credit these students have been enabled to make a beginning in their higher studies leading to a degree."

"Likewise, these courses aid college students in good standing to continue their education when they find it necessary for a time to leave the institutions of higher learning."

Count Toward Graduation

The University allows nine correspondence courses to be counted toward graduation. This represents a year of college work.

Practically all of the courses required of college freshmen are offered by correspondence. Instructors, all of whom are members of the University faculty, strive to give individual instruction and attention to their home study students. Text-books are supplemented by the loan of reading material from the University extension library.
