

DR. RONDTHALER GIVES LIFE STORY OF FOUNDER OF Y

Salem College President Is Principal Speaker at Y. M. C. A. Anniversary Program.

Dr. Howard Rondthaler, president of Salem college, delivered the principal address of the Y. M. C. A. anniversary program yesterday morning in Memorial hall. The speaker traced the history of the Y. M. C. A. from the time of its origin in 1844 up to the present.

George Williams, the founder of this world wide organization for boys and young men, was born on an obscure farm in west England in the year 1821. At the age of eighteen he went to London as a draper's apprentice. The apprentices had to keep very long hours in their work and had no time or facilities for recreation or amusement. He conceived the idea of organizing a club for the apprentices with the purpose of giving them Christian diversion. The club grew rapidly and the members, after disregarding many proposed names, decided on the one that we know today—The Young Men's Christian Association. Within six years the Y. M. C. A. had four branches—the first in Montreal, Canada, the second in Boston, the third in Philadelphia, Penn., and the fourth in Charleston, S. C.

For the accomplishment of providing a club primarily for the working class of boy and young man he was knighted by Queen Victoria. Upon his death he was buried in Westminster Abbey, among England's most famous soldiers and statesmen.

Dr. Rondthaler stated that Sir George Williams was the only man in England to be born a private citizen, live as a private citizen, and after death be buried among the famous.

Judge Lenient On Bumping Fines Charging Twelve Cost Of Court

Anti-Hitch-Hiking Law, in Effect Five Years, Does Not Prevent Soliciting Rides But Forbids Standing in Streets For Such a Purpose.

Not a single fine has been imposed for violation of the anti-bumping ordinance passed five years ago. In reviewing the operation of the regulation, C. P. Hinshaw, judge of the local recorder's court, estimated that the number of arrests did not exceed twelve. Seven of these were made early this year on offenders, ignorant of the ordinance. The usual court procedure has been a warning and the payment of costs of court.

The city ordinance making it unlawful for a person to solicit automobile rides within certain areas of the streets of Chapel Hill was effected by the board of aldermen in 1927. The enactment of this bill, intended to cure students of the strange malady, R. B. House, University secretary terms "Thumbiness," came as a result of the excessive annoyance caused motorists by students seeking free rides.

Precarious Conditions

The situation was considered dangerous for both driver and pedestrian, for the hitch-hikers insisted on mobbing the streets and congesting traffic at corners. There is no record, however, of the death of a student or even the contraction of an injury while seeking a ride in

BOY SCOUT SEMINAR TO BRING EXECUTIVES HERE

The first Boy Scout executive seminar of the year will be held in Chapel Hill December 1-2, according to an announcement made today by Dr. H. D. Meyer of the department of sociology. This meeting will bring to Chapel Hill all the Boy Scout executives of North Carolina.

According to the preliminary announcements, the theme of the seminar will be "Indian Life in North Carolina." The Boy Scout fraternity, Alpha Phi Omega, will participate in the seminar and the initiation banquet which will be a part of the program.

GRAHAM ACCEPTS ECONOMIC BOARD VICE-PRESIDENCY

President Will Call Discussion Meeting of State Leaders in November at Charlotte.

President Frank P. Graham has accepted an appointment to serve as temporary vice-president for the North Carolina division of the Southeastern economic council, according to an announcement made Thursday by Hugh MacRae of Wilmington, president of the council. President Graham accepted the appointment at the request of the council.

Sometime during the first two weeks in November, a statewide meeting will be called in Charlotte by President Prahm in the interests of the work of the council, Mr. MacRae said.

Leaders in all lines of life in the state, covering business, industry, agriculture, and social fields will join President Graham for the meeting.

Old Geology 5 Test

A test in place geography will be given this morning at 9:30 o'clock in room 106 Bingham for the benefit of those students who have tentative credit for geology 5, now called economics 11.

GRAHAM MEETS WITH ALDERMEN

Aldermen Consider Establishment of Bowling Alleys and Pool Rooms Here.

At the monthly board of aldermen's meeting this week, President Frank P. Graham and committees appointed to investigate the matter discussed the proposition of permitting pool rooms and bowling alleys to be established in Chapel Hill.

According to City Manager John L. Caldwell, there is an old ordinance prohibiting the operation of pool rooms, bowling alleys, and all gambling devices within five miles of the University, without permission of the president of the University.

It was contended, on the other hand, that since pool tables are now in use in Graham Memorial and bowling alleys are under construction, city officials should be allowed to grant permits for the operation of these devices in the town. When the meeting adjourned, the matter had not been definitely decided upon.

STATE TEACHERS TO ASSEMBLE FOR ANNUAL MEETING

Three University Faculty Members to Deliver Addresses At Greensboro.

The tenth annual North Carolina teachers convention meeting in Greensboro October 21-22 will have three speakers from the University of North Carolina. Dean D. D. Carroll will address the commerce students, Dr. J. C. Lyons the French teachers, and Dr. W. C. Jackson, will discuss the newly begun school of public administration.

There will be three general sessions, two Friday and one Saturday, and twenty departmental sessions. About 1,500 teachers and superintendents are expected to attend these sessions which are scheduled to convene in the auditorium of the Greensboro senior high school.

During the Friday sessions Clyde A. Erwin, president of the State educational association; Mrs. John K. Norton, National Educational Association; Dr. Frank H. Hickman, Duke; and Mrs. Blanch Prebble will speak to the assembled body. Saturday, Dr. B. H. Van Ott, Virginia state supervisor of industrial education; and Dr. Edwin H. Reeder, Columbia university, will make the principal addresses. All departmental work will be under the supervision of capable speakers and teachers.

CITY HEALTH OFFICER MAKES MONTHLY REPORT

Five births and no deaths were included in the vital statistics report for the month of September, made by Dr. S. A. Nathan, city health officer, at the meeting of the board of aldermen this week.

Of the five births reported in Chapel Hill for September, according to Dr. Nathan, two were white children and three were colored.

Diseases reported in the county during September included two cases of scarlet fever and one case of diptheria at Hillsboro, and one case of pellagra in the rural district adjoining Chapel Hill.

SOPHOMORES SET DATE FOR DANCE

Executive Committee of Class Decides Hop Will Take Place November 5.

November 5 was the tentative date set by the executive committee of the Class of 1935 for the annual Sophomore Hop in the Tin Can. This decision was reached at the annual meeting in the Y. M. C. A. Wednesday night.

William Sadler was appointed chairman of the decoration committee by President George C. Franklin. Harold Bennett was chosen chairman of the committee on invitations. The committee decided to hold the nomination and election of the dance leaders soon.

The affair is limited to members of the sophomore class.

Members of the executive committee who attended the meeting included: Julien D. Winslow, chairman; Goodwin May, Foster Thorpe, Chapin Litten, Clifton R. Faucette, H. K. Bennett, William Sadler, Robert Blount, James Lothien, and Abbott L. Dibblee.

UNIVERSITY PRESS PRINTS TWO NEW BOOKS THIS WEEK

"Liberalism in the South" and "The Era of Muckrakers" Deal With Social Conditions.

The University of North Carolina Press has announced the publication of two important new books. Liberalism in the South, is the title of the book which is scheduled to appear Monday. The Era of the Muckrakers by C. C. Regier was issued Thursday.

Liberalism in the South, by a young southern author, Virginius Vabney, is a "survey of the liberal movement in the fields of politics, education, race relations, religion, industry, literature, journalism, and women's rights from the time of Jefferson to the present in the Southern States." Liberalism is defined as a doctrine which has as its center principles of dignity and the worth of the individual. The author honestly and fearlessly applies this doctrine to the problems of the South.

The author, Virginius Vabney, is a young Virginian of unusual ability. He is a lineal descendant of the first president of the original Phi Beta Kappa chapter at Washington Jefferson college. He himself, a Phi Beta Kappa member, graduated from the University of Virginia in 1920, having completed the

ALUMNI REPRESENT U.N.C. AT COLLEGE CEREMONIES

Reverend William Trabus Steele, '17, of Brentwood, Tennessee, was the University representative at the ninetieth anniversary of the founding of Cumberland University Thursday and Friday at Lebanon, Tennessee.

At the dedication of the Mary Reed library at the University of Denver, October 28, W. M. Bond, '07, of Denver, Colorado, will act as this University's representative, while Harry Leslie Dillon, '30, will perform the same service at the exercises at Linfield College, McMinnville, Oregon. Dillon is a member of the faculty at Linfield college.

N. C. PRESS ASSOCIATION MEETS HERE OCTOBER 29

The North Carolina press association has selected Chapel Hill as the place for its meeting October 29, according to an announcement given out yesterday. The press association when it convenes here will discuss plans for the mid-winter newspaper institute. The local committee arranging plans for this convention consists of Professor Oscar Coffin, head of journalism department, R. W. Madry, news bureau, Louis Graves, editor of the Chapel Hill Weekly, and R. M. Grumman, extension department.

CHRISCO CHOSEN TO STUDY WATER SUPPLY OF STATE

Conservation Department of Water Resources and Engineering Gives Scholarship.

More specific knowledge of the supply of water in North Carolina for industrial uses is to be sought through studies to be made by a fellowship student here, according to an announcement made by Col. J. W. Harrelson, director of the department of conservation and development.

A fellowship in chemical engineering, Director Harrelson said, has been awarded to H. F. Chrisco, a graduate in chemical engineering and a resident of Badin. The selection has been approved by President Frank Graham, and the fellowship is being extended through the conservation department's division of water resources and engineering here.

Seven in Infirmary

Seven students were confined to the University infirmary yesterday. J. G. Beard, Evelyn Holloman, B. M. Kahn, Eleanor Lockhart, Peggy Ann Hanir, Brasel Lanier, and W. A. Shearhouse were the students.

Archibald Henderson's Biography Of Shaw Will Be Released Today

Head of Mathematics Department Has Distinguished Himself in Field of Literature by Works on Shaw; Present Book to Be Most Complete Biography of Shaw Published.

Dr. Archibald Henderson's definite biography of the great comic dramatist, George Bernard Shaw: Playboy and Prophet, will appear before the public today.

This date will mark an important event in the literary history of Chapel Hill, for it is at that time that one of the University's loyal and brilliant faculty members will establish beyond question his eminence in the field of great contemporary literary production.

This new work is more comprehensive and complete than any biography of Shakespeare, and the celebrated subject has been treated with the same seriousness and comprehensiveness that would have been accorded to Shakespeare, were he living at this time.

Early Books Helped Shaw

As is the case with Boswell and Dr. Johnson, it is doubtful whether Dr. Henderson's first biography made Bernard Shaw or whether the biography of Bernard Shaw made Dr. Henderson. In this connection Shaw recently commented, "Professor Henderson's first biography in 1911 did me a signal service . . . I became an individual where I had not even

MEN TRYING FOR RHODES AWARDS TO APPLY TODAY

Candidates Must File Applications With Dean Hobbs Or C. P. Spruill.

Applications of candidates for Rhodes scholarships must be filed with either Dean A. W. Hobbs, chairman of the local committee, or C. P. Spruill, member of the state committee by today. State selections are scheduled for December 10, and district committee meetings will take place a few days later.

A candidate for the scholarship, which allows two years of study at Oxford, must be an unmarried male citizen of the United States between the ages of nineteen and twenty-five. He may apply either in his native state or in the state in which he has had two years of higher education. There are eight districts in the United States, each comprising six states. Two candidates from each state are selected to appear before a district committee, which will choose from the twelve men the four that seem best suited and most representative.

A scholar may remain a third year in Oxford upon presentation of a plan of study for that period satisfactory to his school and to the Rhodes trustees. He may then postpone his third year in order to have a period of work in the United States, or, in a special case, may spend his third year in graduate work in some university in Great Britain or in Europe.

The stipend of a Rhodes scholarship is fixed at 400 lbs. a year. A student is not restricted in his choice of subjects.

Qualities that are considered in the candidates include: literary and scholastic attainments, moral characteristics, leadership, and physical vigor.

been a species." Although this is the eighth book to be published by Dr. Henderson dealing either wholly or in part with Bernard Shaw, it is an entirely new work and is quite independent of the earlier volumes.

The book is especially remarkable when one considers that it covers in detail seventy-six active years of the life of a dramatist who has had some forty-two plays produced in practically every corner of the globe.

As the possessor of the most complete collection of Shaviana in existence and as a friend of his subject for more than a quarter of a century, Dr. Henderson is particularly well qualified to be Shaw's biographer. However, it is a critical biography, and although Shaw read the proofs, his corrections pertained to factual matters and were not intended or allowed to influence the biographer's point of view.

Dr. Henderson's long friendship with Shaw began in rather an unusual way. While studying for his Ph.D. degree at Chicago, he happened to witness one of Shaw's plays. The playwright's brilliance, originality and keen insight into human nature in
