DR. MCKIE MAKES TALK
Membership in Order Based on Leadership, Fellowship, Scholarship, and Character.

Seven new members were inducted into Tau Beta Pi, national honorary engineering fraternity, last night at the tapping ceremonies in the physics lecture room in Phillips hall.

The pledges, chosen by their scholarship, character, social standing, capacity for leadership, personal appearance, and congeniality with other students, are as follows: George W. Gorham, Jr., Rocky Mount; Leonard C. Surprenant, Springfield, Mass.; John A. Preston, Lewisburg, W. Va.; and Edward Brenner, Hendersonville, seniors; and Floyd D. Higby, Sterling, Ill.; Paul R. Hayes, Greensboro; and Frederick E. Culvern, Asheville, juniors.

Dr. McKie Speaks

Dr. George McKie of the English department was the speaker of the evening. His subject was "Is the Engineer Human?" His address was most enthusiastically received by the audience.

Following the speech the active members donned black robes and hoods for the tapping process. Lights were put out and the new men were tapped and then escorted to the stage. After the induction ceremony the pledges were introduced to the audience.

LOCAL LIBRARY IS MADE CENTER BY RESEARCH GROUP

University Library Has Charge Of Collecting Government Documents for State.

The University library was designated this week by the Social Science Research Council, as the official government documents' center for North Carolina. This council has named an important library in each state to preserve and collect complete sets of the public documents and related material originating within the state.

The University library was selected because it already possesses the most comprehensive collection in existence of Caroliniana, including both official and unofficial documents. These are found in the North Carolina Room and the Rural Social Economics library.

Though the collection of this type of material for research purposes by libraries in the past, has generally been a matter of chance, social scientists are beginning to realize its importance and to arrange for its preservation.

Scientific Society Considers Programs

The first meeting of the North Carolina chapter of Sigma Xi, national honorary scientific society, will take place Tuesday, November 15. Following a supper for the members, Dr. Archibald Henderson will speak.

A meeting of the executive committee took place this week, and the chief business was the consideration of the kind of programs to be presented the coming year.

Sigma Xi was formed for the purpose of promoting research in pure science. It is strictly honorary and membership is restricted entirely to those who have made some definite contribution in a particular science.

FORREST TO READ HIS LATEST PLAY FOR PLAYMAKERS

Eminent English Actor Has Had Varied Experiences in Many Countries.

Belford Forrest, well-known English actor, playwright, and director, has accepted an invitation from the Carolina Playmakers to read his latest play, How It All Began, at the Playmakers theatre Sunday evening, November 6.

Forrest has had a wide and interesting career in the theatres of both England and America. His first engagements were with a small English stock company, which he joined immediately after his graduation from Trinity college, Dublin, thirty years ago. He later acted in small parts with the great English actress Ellen Terry, and was for many years a member of the famous stock company of Osmond Tearle, father of Conway Tearle. With Tearle, Forrest played all over the British Isles and in South Africa. In the latter country he had many exciting adventures incident upon the Boer troubles. In his London experiences, Forrest once turned down a part in one of Bernard Shaw's earlier plays, because Shaw was then an unknown upstart beneath the notice of a self-respecting actor.

Lost Sheep is the best known of Forrest's plays. It had a brilliant run on Broadway two seasons ago, and discovered the young actress, Sydney Fox, now starring in the movies. The play which he is to read November 6 is concerned with the founding of the first professional theatre in London by Burbage, and will be of particular interest to Shakespearean students and scholars. The reading will begin at 8:30, and the public is invited to attend.

Regarding Students' Attitude Toward The Football Team

AN EDITORIAL

With three overwhelming defeats against the football team and only two ties, members of the student body are becoming somewhat down-hearted as to the team's chances for the remainder of the season. They are pessimistically pointing to the fact that Carolina will do well to keep from finishing the year in the Big Five cellar position. And some are even going so far as to predict that unless some super-natural forces intervene the Tar Heels will not register a single victory on the entire schedule.

But these gloomy pessimists are forgetting several important factors which have entered into making the season thus far appear so unsuccessful for the Collins' eleven. When the fact is considered that in the last four games the team has faced without question some of the best teams in the South, the record is not as bad as it would first appear.

And even though the scores give the impression that the team was completely out-classed in three of the contests, a tabulation of the total number of first downs in all the games will indicate that nothing is further from true. As a matter of actual count Carolina led its opponents in first downs 51 to 25. True this record does not place the University team in the win column. But it is conclusive evidence that the Tar Heels were not as badly trounced as one would be led to believe after glancing at the actual scores.

THE DAILY TAR HEEL does not intend to be a Pollyanna going around trying to make everyone happy and gay about the team. Nor is this intended to be a pep talk to the student body. But the TAR HEEL realizes the fact that many of the student body have not actually faced the facts in this matter squarely and have been unjustifiably disgruntled over the Tar Heels' showing thus far. And as a result they have not given the team the backing to which it is rightfully entitled.

So far as material is concerned this year's squad is as good, if not better, than any of those of the last several seasons. But no matter how good the squad may be, it can not be expected to achieve any sort of success when it is encountered on all sides by the scoffs and sneers from pessimistic students.

The team got off to a bad start by not living up to the pre-game predictions and giving Wake Forest the usual licking. Consequently a great many of the one-time supporters have tended to take the critical and pessimistic attitude toward the team. They were not satisfied to broadcast their feelings to their individual friends but have taken it upon themselves to condemn the members of the team to their faces. They intimate that Carolina this year has no team at all. And as proof of this statement these would-be football sages are pointing to the fact that the team continues to meet defeat after defeat.

But these persons seem to for-

UNIVERSITY BACKS WOMEN STUDENTS' ATHLETIC EVENTS

University Officials Support Division of Physical Education for Women.

Under the direction of Miss Gladys Angel of the University extension division, a definite athletic program will be inaugurated this afternoon on the athletic field behind President Frank Graham's house. This is the first time in the history of the University that any arrangements have been made for the participation of co-eds in athletics.

Efforts are being made for the women graduates of the University to be eligible for membership in the American Association

Republican Candidate Has Big Lead Over Roosevelt

Albright Makes Talk On Graham Memorial

Mayne Albright, manager of Graham Memorial, was the featured speaker at the freshman assembly yesterday morning. He spoke on the topic "Graham Memorial and Its Purposes," saying that the building offers a place for entertainment, and encourages entertainments previously not enjoyed on the campus. Continuing, he said that a building of this type must grow gradually into the life of the campus; and as the students have come to know the building and appreciate it, it has expanded, so that at times conditions are rather crowded.

Reverend A. S. Lawrence conducted the devotional exercises.

CLARK ATTACKED BY E. E. ERICSON IN ADDRESS HERE

Socialist Group Is Told That the Party Is Gaining Prominence in This State.

Dr. E. E. Ericson of the department of English told Socialists assembled in Gerrard hall Wednesday night that the rise of both the Socialist party and its candidate for the presidency, Norman Thomas, in this state has been due largely to the reaction against biased and unfair criticism of the party and its leader.

Sketching briefly the uphill struggle of the Socialist party in this state against anti-radical movements, the speaker charged that David Clark, editor of the Southern Textile Bulletin, succeeded in having Carl Taylor of State college discharged, ostensibly on the grounds of economy, but actually for radicalism. He stated that Clark offered financial inducement to persons in Chapel Hill who would give him information as to professors here connected with radical movements.

Says Attacks Aid Party

He indicated that the election board's antagonism toward putting the Socialist candidate's name on the ballot making it necessary to have ten thousand names signed to a petition supporting the Socialist party, spurred the party to activity and stimulated state-wide interest in Socialism. It was further suggested that the ill-founded attacks of Clark on Thomas, charging that he advocated atheism, communism, and free love, brought the latter many audiences who came to scoff and remained to pray.

"Many indications," stated Dr. Ericson, "point to a fuller appreciation of the Socialist party as an intellectual and social influence and to an awakening to the worth of Norman Thomas. The result of the straw ballot conducted by the DAILY TAR HEEL bears this out, as do many requests for Socialist literature from throughout the state." It was stated that the great mass of people are gaining a clearer view of Socialism—that workers

SOLID SOUTH STANDS PAT

Roosevelt Leads by 5,028 Votes In South; Thomas Is Ahead In Five Institutions.

(Special wire to the DAILY TAR HEEL) Princeton, N. J., Oct. 27.—Herbert Hoover, Republican candidate for re-nomination, polled ten thousand votes more than his nearest competitor, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic nominee, to win the Daily Princetonian nation-wide campus presidential poll, returns finally tabulated here last night-revealed.

Final Count

The final count: Hoover, 28,180; Roosevelt, 17,712; Thomas, 10,490; and Foster, 715.

More than fifty thousand students in forty-six colleges, selected from nearly every state in the union, voted through their college newspapers. Results were sent in to the Princetonian and made public together with the returns from this university late last night.

Solid South Predicted

If the returns from nine large southern universities are any criterion, the south will again be solid this November. At the universities of Arkansas, Florida, Kentucky, Texas, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee and Virginia Military Institute and Vanderbilt university, Hoover polled but 1,136 votes while Roosevelt polled 6,164.

Ohio, Yale, Princeton, Harvard, Smith, Cornell, Massachusetts Tech and Northwestern contributed the largest number of votes to the Hoover majority. Though polling a high vote on some campuses where in most instances he exceeded those of
