Famous Colored Choral Group to Be Brought Here by Local Y. M. C. A. Tomorrow.

The Sedalia Singers, colored choral group from the Alice Freeman Palmer Institute near Greensboro, will appear in Memorial hall, Sunday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. This event is being sponsored by the campus Y. M. C. A. as a part of their interracial program.

"Y" officials have announced that there would be no admission charged, but a silver offering will be taken up in order to defray the traveling expenses of the organization.

Receive Praise

The North Carolina colored singers have received some very flattering comments from the newspapers in cities all over the nation in which they have appeared. The Boston Herald said: "Songs chanted in the hills, echoed in the valleys, stirring in the cotton fields, always on the lips the song, and in the song the plaintiveness. This idea was never more beautifully expressed than by the Sedalia Singers' group at Symphony hall last night."

Alma Gluck and Frieda Hempel, famous Metropolitan Opera stars commended the singers highly. Miss Hempel, after a visit to the school, said: "I have never been so thrilled in all my life. Your singing of Swing Low, Sweet Chariot, made me want to cry."

Carolina Dormitory Club To Be Arbitrator In Student Problem

Complex and Important Problems in University Will Be Handled By Organization Composed of Dormitory Presidents; Control of Student Conduct One of Problems.

Who shall have control of student conduct in the University dormitories? To whom shall the residents of the dormitories appeal when seeking adjustments necessary to their comfort and well-being? It was the complexity and importance of these problems that led ten years ago to an attempt at their solution by the organization of the Carolina dormitory club.

As in the case of the solution of the majority of social problems at the University, the formation of this club resulted from the direct demands of the students themselves. The organization, which is composed of the presidents of all campus dormitories, was a natural outgrowth of student responsibility for the conduct of the residents of the University living quarters.

Regulates Dormitory Order

The principal achievement of the club has been the regulation and maintenance of order in the dormitories. The actual control of the situation is placed in the hands of the president of each individual building.

This council receives authority directly from the student council to place on immediate probation any student who violates dormitory regulations. These include the principles of gentlemanliness expounded in the Campus Code and the pursuance of a normal neighborly life. Violation of such probation results in an appeal to the student council for the removal of the offenders.

DR. FRASER TALKS ON DISARMAMENT

Half of Total Revenue of World Used for Upkeep of Military Forces, Professor Says.

"One half of the total revenue of the nations of the world is spent for the upkeep of war materials and armaments," declared Dr. K. C. Fraser of the history department yesterday before the student assembly in a speech on the subject of disarming the world.

"Great Britain maintains a great cruiser fleet for her vast colonial empire; the United States bears the burden of a large battleship fleet for communication between the mainland, Honolulu, and Manila; and France is armed to the teeth for the sake of protection," he affirmed.

Continuing he said that the problem of disarming fifty-five nations, each with different interests to consider, was a very difficult one to say the least; and he also mentioned the fact that

INTERFRATERNITY COUNCIL CONVENES

Red Cross Drive Inaugurated And Discussion of Rushing Complaints Heard.

An effort to improve the present regulations for rushing season was made last night at a meeting of the Interfraternity council. All fraternities were asked to hand in notes on any complaints they had concerning the regulations as they now stand, and if possible to include any suggestions they may have for improving the faulty rules.

A Red Cross drive was also started at the meeting. It was announced that at the next meeting the fraternities will be given Red Cross cards so that if any members decided to join, they easily could.

A further discussion was held on co-operative buying for the fraternities. It is believed that the lodges can economize a great deal if they buy together in large quantities, and thereby get much cheaper prices.

Students And Faculty Recommend Gravel Walk To Graham Memorial

Although Report of Union Forum Committee and Statements by Faculty Ground Experts Favor New Path, All Oppose Paths Worn Elsewhere Across Campus.

That which has been a campus habit has become an official necessity. A drive by the Union Forum for elimination of paths across the campus has caused students and officials to express a desire for a gravel walk connecting Graham Memorial and the entrance to the campus beside Battle on Franklin street. The new walk would do away with the path which has marred the approach to Graham Memorial since the building was opened last year.

The grounds committee of the Union Forum reported recently that it was in favor of such a walk, but that it would continue requesting students not to walk on the grass. The committee, appointed to consider measures to induce students to refrain from creating unsightly paths across the campus, deplored the fact that short-cuts detrimental to the grass are used despite an extensive system of gravel walks. A walk to Graham Memorial, however, was considered imperative.

Lack Funds for New Walk

According to Dr. W. C. Coker, chairman of the faculty committee on grounds, it will be some time before the grounds department will have funds to construct a new walk even if plans to do so are adopted. The matter of a new walk to facilitate access to the union building was discussed last year after its completion, but on account of low finances no concrete proposal was acted upon.

NO ADMISSION TO BE CHARGED FOR BOETHIUS TALK

Famous Archaeologist Will Deliver Illustrated Lecture in Memorial Hall Tuesday.

According to arrangements made yesterday by the Student Entertainment committee, the illustrated lecture to be presented here Tuesday night by Axel Boethius, widely known archaeologist, will be open to the public without charge. This announcement was made by Dean A. W. Hobbs, chairman of the group.

The lecture was originally scheduled as an affair requiring tickets. As it was felt that comparatively few students are willing to pay admission to an entertainment of this type and as little expense is incurred in bringing the lecturer here, the committee decided to make the change.

Students who hold pass books will not be required to bring them for admission to the lecture, which will be the second feature of the series of entertainments sponsored by the Student Entertainment committee.

Boethius, who will speak on the study of archaeology, is recognized as one of the outstanding men in the field today. He is now in America at the invitation of the Archaeological Institute of America and, while here, will deliver a series of lectures on Roman domestic architecture and the problems of the small town of Rome in ancient times.

Students And Faculty Recommend Gravel Walk To Graham Memorial

ings department, asserted hearty approval of the recommended walk. However, he strongly objects to the other paths that criss-cross the campus irrespective of the walk-way system. "I am glad the students have taken the matter into their own hands," he said, "because they can do more about it than anyone else."

"We need a gravel walk between Battle building and Graham Memorial," stated R. B. House, secretary of the University, "but there is no excuse for the path between Battle and Old East. It is unsightly and should not be there." As a remedy the secretary calls for an appeal to the better natures of the students. "We have done it before," he asserted, "and it has voluntarily been stopped."

E. C. Daniel, president of the Union Forum and vice-president of the student body, is also of the opinion that a walk should be constructed between Graham Memorial and Battle. He disfavours the other paths, stating that "not really many paces are saved by taking the paths. The paths worn on the new campus to the library should certainly not be there."

The problem of keeping students off the grass is one of the oldest in school, observed Dr. Coker. For thirty years, he remarked, grounds committees have striven to prevent students from wearing just such a path as now lies diagonally across the campus from Franklin street to Old East.
