

NORTH CAROLINA CLUB WILL BEGIN YEAR'S PROGRAM

Professor Coates Will Deliver Address at First Meeting On "Public Affairs."

The North Carolina club will convene for its first meeting Monday, October 31, at 7:30 o'clock in the library room of the rural social economics department. Professor Albert Coates, of the law school, outlining the plan of his Institute of Government, will give the first of a series of talks on public affairs in North Carolina, the topic around which the program of the North Carolina club centers this year.

The program last year dealt with taxation in North Carolina, and the sixteen papers presented before the club are being printed by the University press. The compilation will shortly be available for distribution.

Was Organized in 1914

Monday night's meeting inaugurates the nineteenth year of active service of this organization. It was started by Dr. E. C. Branson in the fall of 1914, and each year since that time the club has adapted some central theme of vital concern to the state and around this theme has developed its year's program. Each year the papers presented before the group have been published in the form of year-books which have been widely circulated over the state, and have been instrumental in bringing about improved economic, social and civic conditions throughout the state. Although most of the research is carried on by students, it has been the custom of the organization to have speakers who are prominent in social, civic, and economic circles.

The club exists to afford a means to become better acquainted with conditions and problems in North Carolina and to present a method whereby these conditions may be bettered.

Membership in the group, which meets bi-weekly during the school year, is open to everyone who is in sympathy with and interested in its programs.

Concerted Action Supports Drive For Better Cheering

Prominent Alumni, Faculty Members, and Students Feel Need for Reorganization of Group Similar to "Cheerios"; Mass Meeting Convened in Memorial Hall Tuesday.

Convinced that the fighting spirit of Carolina is not dead but has been merely dormant for the last few years, prominent alumni, faculty members and students are banding together in an effort to revive the Carolina "pep" of the past.

Much comment has been evoked on all sides for the past two or three years and especially this year by the apparent lack of spirit on the part of the student body. This has led to individual efforts on the part of persons interested in the University.

Will Reorganize Cheerios

The first step in the organized effort, starting last week, will be the remoulding of the once-famous "Cheerios." All students wishing to co-operate in this movement will gather in Memorial hall Tuesday at 7:00 o'clock to discuss plans for the

HILL'S PORTRAIT BY NOTED ARTIST GIFT TO LIBRARY

John Sprunt Hill, prominent alumnus of the University, presented a valuable portrait of himself to the University library this week. This portrait, which was painted by P. A. de Lazio, has been hung in the North Carolina room.

De Lazio is a famous portrait painter of world wide fame. He has studied in Munich and Paris under Liexenmayer and Lefebvre and has spent most of his life painting European royalty. He came to this country primarily to paint a portrait of Edison. However, Edison died before it could be completed, and it was at this time that Hill secured de Lazio's services.

The best known works of de Lazio are portraits of King Edward VII, Queen Alexandra, ex-Kaiser Wilhelm, ex-President Roosevelt, and Signor Mussolini. The University is fortunate to receive such a portrait.

Phi Assembly Will Discuss Three Bills

The Phi assembly will hold a regular meeting Tuesday night at 7:00 o'clock in the assembly hall on the fourth floor of New East building.

The bills that will be discussed are: Resolved: That the property of churches should be taxed and that minister's sons should be compelled to pay tuition at the University. Resolved: That the Phi assembly go on record as favoring the proposed amendments to the constitution which will be voted on in the general election in November. Resolved: That city-county consolidation be effected when it is possible in North Carolina.

H. M. BURLAGE GOES TO WASHINGTON MEETING

Dr. H. M. Burlage of the school of pharmacy will present a paper on "The Assay of Santonin" at a session of the annual meeting of the Association of Agricultural Chemists in Washington, D. C., tomorrow, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Dr. Burlage, who is an associate referee on drugs, will be accompanied by Mrs. Burlage.

Sedalia Singers Will Give Negro Spiritual Concert This Afternoon

Negro Singers From Palmer Memorial Institute Have Attracted Favorable Comment From Many Critics for Their Interpretations of Folk Songs of Their Race.

The Sedalia Singers will appear this afternoon in Memorial hall at 4:30 o'clock in a concert sponsored by the three cabinets of the University Y. M. C. A. Their program will be composed chiefly of negro spirituals for which they have won much favorable comment from newspapers in cities all over the nation where they have appeared.

The entire student body and townspeople are cordially invited to attend. Admission to these concerts is usually one dollar or more but Dr. Charlotte Brown, the manager, is giving the University audience this program without charge, hoping to cultivate friends who will give willingly to the cause which the singers represent, the support of the splendid Negro school at Sedalia founded by her and maintained by her efforts for the past thirty years. A free-will offering will be taken to defray traveling expenses.

Sedalia Is Near Greensboro
The singers come from the Palmer Memorial Institute at Sedalia, ten miles east of Greensboro. The National Theatre in Greensboro presents these singers annually in a public recital in their theatre, presenting them this year at the evening show on Thursday, October 27th. Dean W. C. Jackson of the school of public administration has been one of the patrons and sponsors

DR. COFFMAN HOST AT RECEPTION FOR DEPARTMENT MEN

English Head Entertains Faculty and Graduate Students in His Department.

Dr. George R. Coffman, head of the English department, was host to the faculty and graduate students of his department at an informal reception in the lounge of Smith building Friday night.

Dr. Coffman first made some necessary announcements concerning departmental work, and spoke briefly on the ideals of the English department. He urged the graduate students to make full use of the facilities the University offers so as to maintain the high standard of scholarly work which has been done in the past.

He further stated that although our library is not as complete as that of Harvard or the University of Chicago, he believes that there is a closer and more beneficial contact between the graduate students and the faculty directors of the research.

Plan Future Meetings

Following this the graduate students entered into a general discussion of several proposed plans for later meetings to promote social contacts and to permit discussion of matters of interest to English students. This was followed by a discussion of humor in which both students and faculty joined.

Refreshments were served from 8:00 to 10:30. The Hal-lowe'en motif was used effectively in decorating the tables on which the refreshments were served.

for this annual program and recommends them to us on the Hill very highly.

The program follows:

The invocation: He shall have Dominion by Wilson which will be rendered by the mixed quartette.

Group I: Soon Ah will be done wid de Troubles of de Worl' a traditional piece, and By the Waters of Babylon, by Coleridge Taylor.

Group II (the male octette): I shall not be Moved and Good News, two traditional renditions.

Group III (the girl's octette): I Got Heaven in my View and You better let that Liar alone, two traditional works, and a spiritual rhythm, Swing Low, Sweet Chariot which is to be interpreted by Lillian Crawford.

Group IV: I Heard of a City called Heaven, composed by Hall Johnson, and Trees (with humming chorus) which will be rendered by Miss Amy Bailey, a soprano.

Group V: Walk Together, Children and O, Southland both of which are arrangements by Hall Johnson. Miss Bailey will sing the latter as a solo.

Group VI (community spirituals interpreted by Dr. Charlotte Hawkins Brown, the manager, with J. C. Austin as a tenor soloist): I couldn't Hear Nobody Pray, Goin' to Build Right on that Shore, and Trampin'.

HEADS OF CAMPUS POLITICAL GROUPS WILL GIVE VIEWS

Next Week's Assemblies Will Be Turned Over to Students Upholding National Parties.

Pursuant to resolutions passed in the Di senate and Phi assembly, the leaders of the local student political organizations will have an opportunity to carry their several cases to the student body next week in assembly. With the rising tide of political thought and emotion, election being only a few days off, these student programs should be interesting to all students.

The Young Democrats will start Tuesday morning. Wednesday is devoted to the deans of the several undergraduate schools. Thursday the Young Republicans will present their case, and Friday the Young Socialists will have their say-so. A thorough and painstaking search by the president of the Phi failed to unearth a "Young Communist."

Rose Will Preside Friday

Speaker Dan Kelly of the Phi will preside Tuesday and Thursday mornings, while President Charles Rose will preside Friday morning. Hamilton Hobgood will represent the Young Democrats; John Wilkinson, the Young Republicans; Ben Proctor, the Young Socialists. Proctor is at present in a Burlington hospital with a fractured skull incurred in an automobile accident. In case he cannot be present, Alton Lawrence has promised that the Young Socialists will be represented.

It should be noted that all these speakers are bona fide students registered in the University.

LIBRARY RECEIVES CONFEDERATE AND GREEK VOLUMES

The University library was the recipient this week of two valuable collections, one from Mr. William R. Howard of Baltimore and the other from Mrs. George W. Lay of Chapel Hill.

Mr. Howard's donation was a collection of over a hundred volumes on the Confederacy and was made through Dr. J. D. de Roulac Hamilton, who is in charge of the collection of literature relating to the south. It is a valuable addition to the library and contains a number of rare books.

The gift of Mrs. Lay was a collection of more than a hundred Greek books. It belonged to her husband, the late Dr. George Lay, who was a Greek scholar, and includes a number of minor Greek authors not represented in the library before. Both of these donations will be added to the general collections.

Di Senate Will Debate Minimum Wage Next

The Dialectic society will conduct its regular meeting Tuesday night at 7:00 o'clock in the senate hall in New West.

Bills on the calendar for discussion are: Resolved: That the Di senate go on record as favoring the classification of taxation in North Carolina.

Resolved: That the Di senate go on record as favoring the ruling of Secretary of Labor Doak prohibiting foreign students in the vacation or partime periods during the regular scholastic year.

Resolved: That the United States should adopt a minimum wage law.

Resolved: That the Di senate go on record as opposing the the Grundy Tariff Measure.

Children's Books Reviewed

Miss Nora Beust, of the school of Library Science, was asked this week to review children's books for the Progressive Education Magazine. She has recently compiled a list of outstanding books for children for the "Bulletin" of the State Parent Teachers' Association.

Union Forum Represents Carolina Student Opinion

Method of Selection of Members Assures Every Student of Voice in Campus Affairs; Board Formed to Advise Graham Memorial Management But Has Assumed Other Duties.

Although the original purpose of the Union Forum was to select from its ranks three students to serve on the board of directors of Graham Memorial, the organization has proven so representative of the student body that it is now functioning as an advisory group to the student council.

The Forum was founded last year by Mayne Albright, then president of the student body and now manager of Graham Memorial. He served as the first president of the new association, but due to excessive duties this year Haywood Weeks has turned the executive office over to E. C. Daniel, vice-president of the student body.

Every Student Represented

It is the system of electing members to the Forum that makes it the most representative body on the campus. One

DR. WEATHERFORD Y. M. C. A. LEADER TO PREACH TODAY

President of 'Y' Graduate School At Nashville Is Guest of Local Organization.

The University of North Carolina Young Men's Christian Association will be host this weekend to Dr. Willis Duke Weatherford, president of the Y. M. C. A. Graduate School in Nashville, Tennessee, and for many years one of the most active "Y" workers in the south.

Dr. Weatherford will be the guest of the three "Y" cabinets during his sojourn here, and all of his appearances will be sponsored by the local association. He will be available for private conferences with any students so desiring. He has acquired a wide reputation as one of the most competent advisors to young men anywhere in the country.

Will Speak in Church

Dr. Weatherford's main appearance of his stay here will be this morning at 11:00 o'clock in the University Methodist church in a sermon to the Y. M. C. A. assembly, the congregation, and the general public. The subject of his sermon has not been announced yet. The Methodist church was chosen on account of its large seating capacity and its central location.

Dr. Weatherford will make several other appearances here over the week-end. He will address a joint assembly of the Y. M. C. A. cabinets, all young people's church societies, and the evening congregation in the Baptist church tonight at 7:45 p. m. The general public is also cordially invited to attend the gathering.

At 8:30 a. m. tomorrow morning he will talk to Professor Guy B. Johnson's class on the subject of "The Negro." Several other classes in the University will also have the privilege of hearing him during the day.

During the remainder of Monday morning and afternoon Dr. Weatherford will welcome any students desirous of personal interviews with him. These will be scheduled.

At a joint gathering of the Y
