

Carolina Swamps Undeclared State 13-0

Tar Heels Look Right For First Time This Season In Impressive Victory

Kay Thompson and Johnny Phipps Lead Team to Season's First Victory.

TWO FULL TEAMS USED

Coach Collins Runs in Two Complete Elevens to Crush Favored Techmen.

For the first time this season the Tar Heel victory banner rippled gaily over Kenan stadium yesterday afternoon as a fast, hard hitting Carolina eleven inflicted the first defeat upon North Carolina State college, 13-0, before a crowd of about 13,000 persons.

Coach Collins' players did everything right yesterday. That big blue wall held; the backs went places; the forward passing attack functioned beautifully; the blocking and kicking was almost spectacular; in fact, it was an almost unbeatable team that marched off the field yesterday after the final whistle.

The Technicians were outplayed in every department of the game and in comparison to the Tar Heels, were a slow, sluggish outfit, highly over-rated.

Second Team Starts

The large crowd was surprised when Coach Collins started his second team against the Raleigh aggregation, but the Tar Heel substitutes did yeomanlike service, holding a heavier State line to small, insignificant gains. The regulars went in near the close of the first period and played until the half, scoring the first touchdown just before the period ended.

In general, the first half was a punting duel with Woollen and Burnett of Carolina against Greason and McQuage of State, the Tar Heels punting to better advantage. Burnett's kicking in the second period was the highlight of the game. Time after time, the sophomore quarterback kicked out of bounds within State's ten yard line, thus putting the Engineers at a handicap, and forcing them to kick immediately.

First Quarter

Tatum, kicking off for Carolina, booted the ball to State's seventeen yard line where it was taken by McLawhorn and advanced to the forty-four yard marker. The visitors were held for three downs and Greason kicked to Carolina's fifteen yard line. Woollen, on the first down, kicked the ball to State's forty yard line. With Bailey and Cumiskey doing most of the ball carrying, State would rush for two downs and kick only to have the Tar Heels boot the ball right back.

When the regulars entered the game the same tactics were employed with State gradually losing ground on the exchange of kicks, most of the losses being due to Burnett's phenomenal punting.

Second Quarter

Late in the second period, the Tar Heels made two determined bids for a touchdown and were successful on the second attempt. After Burnett kicked out of bounds on State's six yard line, Greason, on the first down, kicked to his own forty-seven yard marker where Burnett ran it back to State's thirty-two. Phipps made five through right tackle. A pass, Phipps to Burnett, was completed and Burnett ran out on the six yard line. State held and the Tar Heels were only able to make five yards in three attempts. On the last

SIX PLAYERS WHO STARRED IN YESTERDAY'S BATTLE

High Spots

OF THE GAME
MORRIE LONG

Lean from previous Carolina defeats, the hungry, snarling Wolfpack from North Carolina State returned last night to its lair minus the choice victory morsel it expected from the Tar Heels. The unexpected elixir of life furnished to the situation by Chuck Collins' fighters gave the University its first taste of grid-iron triumph this season while at the same time handed State its sole loss of the current year. . . . Carolina showed the skeptical she can come back—and how.

Collins pulled some of the strategy he learned from his old coach, Knute Rockne, when he started his second team, let them kick on first down, and then instructed the Iron Men to play defensive ball—State's highly touted retinue of ball carriers wore themselves out attempting to puncture Carolina's line. . . and in the final session when the first team took the field again it had more drive and power than the State aggregation. Hats off to our smart coach and our plugging team. They have the stuff that counts.

Yes, sir. Burnett and Woollen certainly did some fine kicking for Carolina as did Greason and McQuage for State. Burnett must have a little reverse English on that left foot of his, the way he placed those punts on the two yard line. . . and the way Tommy Thompson, Johnny Daniels, McCaskill and Phipps drove into the line for numerous ten yard gains was a revelation for sore eyes. . . Hawkeye Barclay led to Carolina's first touchdown when he intercepted a pass deep in State's territory just after the Wolfpack had made a spectacular stand on her one foot marker by holding the Tar Heels for downs.

When asked how he thought next week's game would turn out, Salt, the Florida scout nonchalantly said, "Draw your own conclusions. Look at what State did to us just last week." . . . and Freddie Sington, former all-American at Alabama and now a Duke coach when questioned about the game said, "Looks like Carolina's hitting her stride—It'll be a tough game when Duke and Carolina meet." Which all goes to prove that no matter how poor a showing Carolina makes at certain stages of the season the adversaries always respect Chuck Collins' crew at the end of the year.

Did you notice that Roy Rex, State's beef trust, in five attempts picked up seven yards—that the two bands, directed by Major Price of State, and McCorkle of Carolina formed as colorful a spectacle as has been seen in Kenan stadium—that Bob Froneberger, a senior, playing his first game for Carolina after three years of trying, did some nice tackling. . . the hand Woollen got and the catcalls he received from the 13,000 spectators when he cavorted 69 yards down the side lines though the whistle had already blown—that Carolina needs a stretcher very badly—they're handy things and inexpensive.

SEVEN TEAMS IN FOOTBALL RACE YET UNDEFEATED

Five Fraternity and Two Dormitory Teams Keep Clean Slate Through Week.

Seven teams, five of them representing fraternities and two of them dormitories, came through the fourth week of intramural tag football play with undefeated records.

In the fraternity loop Beta Theta Pi, Chi Psi, Sigma Nu, and Zeta Psi are setting the pace with four wins apiece, while Alpha Tau Omega follows with three victories in three starts. Grimes and Lewis, which are tied for first place in the dormitory circuit, have each won all four of their games to date.

The past week saw Lambda Chi Alpha, Delta Kappa Epsilon, and Tau Epsilon Phi, among the fraternities, and Aycock, among the dormitories, suffer their initial setbacks of the current campaign.

Phi Delta Theta, which had failed to score a victory until that time, rose up and blasted Lambda Chi Alpha from its place among the elite when it gained a 4-3 victory on first downs after the regulation scoring system had decided the contest as a 6-6 draw.

Delta Kappa Epsilon lost out early in the week when it dropped a 5-2 decision to Phi Gamma Delta. Tau Epsilon Phi went down fighting before the barrage of long passes sent out by Sigma Nu's backs. The T. E. P. eleven was outclassed in scoring, but gained a draw, 8-8, in first downs.

The only dormitory outfit to drop from the unbeaten class during the week was Aycock, which fell before Lewis' superior running attack. The

CANZONERI MUST FIGHT PETROLLE

New York State Athletic Commission Orders Champion to Defend Crown November 4.

Tony Canzoneri, lightweight boxing champion, was ordered by the New York state athletic commission to defend his crown against Billy Petrolle in Madison Square Garden November 4.

The fighters had been matched for a battle in the garden but the fight was postponed until next Friday night after Petrolle underwent an operation for an elbow injury. Sammy Goldman, the title holder's manager called the fight off when he was informed by the Garden officials that it could not provide him with 500 seats that they had promised for the match. The commission decided the two fighters must meet under the terms of the contract, but that they could do nothing about the ticket troubles.

A deputy commissioner has been assigned to visit Petrolle Monday to see if the fighter will be able to make the 135-pound class by Friday. Petrolle has been fighting around 140 pounds.

DURHAM HIGH AND RALEIGH LEAD IN CLASS 'A' LEAGUE

Bull City Gridders Have Slight Lead Due to Capital City Team Having Tie.

Durham high school continued its march towards the class "A" football title in eastern Carolina. Yesterday the Bull City gridders defeated Wilmington, 32-0, in Durham. The winning team has not been scored on in conference games this year.

The western North Carolina class "A" race narrowed down a bit as a result of Thursday's and yesterday's games. Salisbury chalked up its second straight triumph at the expense of High Point, 12-0, ruining the latter team's chances as prior to this game it had been undefeated. Gastonia, with another scoreless tie, is virtually eliminated from being a dangerous leader. Last week, the same team was held to a similar no-score game with Greensboro.

The other class "A" game yesterday was between Raleigh and Rocky Mount. The former team won on home ground, 32-0. Its record, however, shows a tie game, leaving Durham as the only undefeated and untied team.

In the 3rd eastern district, class "B," Chapel Hill won the group one championship by beating Oxford orphanage here Friday, 14-6. Apex clinched the group two title by defeating Smithfield, 27-0. The two winners will play next week to decide the championship of the district.

Raines Deserves A Cake, Who'll Be The Donator?

Halfback for State Freshmen Certainly Merits Prize for 102 Yard Jaunt.

Cake races may come and go on throughout the eternal ages at this grand old University, but never will a boy run such a fine race and not even get a cake as did Raines, State freshman halfback, last Friday afternoon.

The long ballyhooed intramural cake race which started during the halves of the freshman game at the bell-tower was ending at the field house in Kenan stadium; the Tar Baby eleven was knocking at the State goal for the fourth time, trying to score. Only one yard was needed, but three tries at the line had availed naught. Phelps was called back to pass; it was a short flat zone pass—but lo, it was intercepted. A tiny mite had the ball under his arm and was gone.

It all happened that quickly. Nobody knew that the State yearlings had scored until the few State supporters went mad as they saw Raines stumble over the goal.

Carolina's first year men finally scored, not to be denied by a determined passing attack, but the cake race was won. Why hasn't somebody, somewhere given Raines a cake? The good Lord knows that he deserves one, and who among all the merchants in Chapel Hill is going to be first?

Duke Imps Beat Baby Deacons In Close Tilt

Duke's freshman football team took their second game in as many starts against Big Five yearling competition when they downed the Wake Forest first-year men 13 to 7 on the Duke field Friday afternoon.

The losers stopped Blue Devil marches toward their goal all afternoon, holding them time after time inside their twenty yard line. Ward, Duke halfback, counted for both of his team's touchdowns, one coming in the second period and one in the final quarter. Wake Forest scored their only marker in the last thirty seconds of play. Hatcher took the ball over on a twenty-five yard pass.
