

SCHOLARSHIPS TO FOREIGN SCHOOLS ARE ANNOUNCED

Overseas Educational Institute Has Made Available Several Full Scholarships.

Announcement of a number of full scholarship awards for study abroad during 1933-34, has been made by the Overseas Educational Institute. These facilities are for secondary school, undergraduate and graduate college students for study in connection with its schools in France, Germany, and England.

The methods to be employed in determining the candidates are: review of previous academic record, responsible references, examination in either a modern language or American history and civics, and personal interview.

The scholarship awards provide for the students' living and travel expenses as well as for university study. They are financed by private contributions and by funds diverted for this purpose from the operating budget of the institute. The services of a number of noted professors at the Sorbonne in Paris, at Bonn University in Germany, and at Oxford and Cambridge Universities in England have been secured.

have long had in mind, and preserve my vigor to a happy old age."

Dr. Collier Cobb will continue his lectures on human geography and will teach one graduate class in geology. Dr. Prouty received his B.S. and M.S. degrees from the University of Syracuse, and his doctor's degree at Johns Hopkins, was associate professor of geology at the University of Alabama from 1908 to 1911, and professor of geology and head of the department of geology from 1911 to 1919. He was made professor of stratigraphical geology at the University in 1919. Monday he was made head of the department of geology by the action of the trustees. He has published a number of articles in the Alabama Geological Survey bulletins, combined with reports and maps of geological interest of Maryland, Alabama, and West Virginia. Besides the articles he has published many others in scientific journals and papers.

COUCH WRITES ARTICLE FOR BOTANY JOURNAL

Dr. Couch of the botany department, recently wrote an article on plant reproduction for the American Journal of Botany.

In this article, an active study was made of water fungi, which grows on aquatic animals. These fungi, though lowly plants, have a very complex method of reproduction.

The influence of environmental factors was reported. Reproduction takes place at a very low temperature, but at a high temperature no reproduction was found. Although light had no effect on the plants, the acid concentration was a vital factor—they reproduce in acidity, but not in alkalinity. Dr. Couch also discussed the actual process of fertilization.

A. B. Seniors

Seniors in the college of liberal arts whose names begin with the letters "D" through "G" will report to Dean A. W. Hobbs today to make their applications for a degree.

Guess Again

Here is a scene from one of the greatest moving pictures ever produced. D. W. Griffith directed and produced it in 1915. It was truly one of the milestones in cinema history. If you can recall the production from which the above scene was taken, bring your solution to the office of THE DAILY TAR HEEL after 10:30 this morning. The first three persons bringing in correct answers will be awarded guest tickets to the Carolina theatre tomorrow.

This is the second of the series of three pictures appearing in the latest contest of moviedom suggested by Ernst Lubitsch's "Trouble in Paradise," the newest milestone in the cinema industry. It will play at the Carolina theatre tomorrow.

The solution to yesterday's picture was "Queen Elizabeth." Those persons winning theatre tickets for the first three correct solutions were Elmer Oettinger, Jim Craighill, and Carl Thompson.

that the council hopes to mobilize the leadership of these states for the advancement of mutual interests and to encourage the development of future leaders from the youth of the present and rising generation. It also expects to bring about cooperation among the states and to balance the budgets of the communities and states of this section.

Another proposal is to balance the flow of money to and from these states, converting the present devastating adverse balance of trade into one favorable to the prosperity of the region and the increased buying power of its people.

It is also planned that the council shall aid in rebuilding the south's rural life along sounder and more self-sufficient lines.

FORMER PLAYMAKER MEN HAVE PROFESSIONAL JOBS

Three of the Carolina Playmakers who graduated from the University last year now have jobs on the professional stage.

Harold Baumstone has a part in the production of The Dark Hours, by Don Marquis which opened on Broadway Monday.

Johnnie Schon is playing a small part in the Theatre Guild production of The Good Earth, and Whitner Bissell is playing small parts in Eva Le Gallienne's Civic Repertory company.

These three men all took part in the Commencement play last June when the Playmakers presented The Butter and Egg Man and were prominently identified with the Playmakers.

Eight in Infirmary

Publications To Revel In Bloody Battle Tuesday

Teams Expected to Be in Prime Shape After Second Postponement of Fracas.

The now widely ballyhooed Yackety-Buc vs. Tar-Mag football game, postponed three times, has again been moved back several days. In view of the fact that this grid contest extraordinary, if played this week, would draw hundreds from the intramural finals, it has been agreed upon by the four editors to postpone the contest until Monday or Tuesday of next week.

Meanwhile negotiations are being carried forward by Coach Albright to obtain either Riddick field or Duke stadium to seat the cheering thousands for the memorable grid classic. If these fail, an effort to secure the Yankee stadium will be made, and if this fails, somebody is sure to be pretty sore.

The game will be played on one of the intramural athletic fields at 4:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon.

University Will Open Bowling Alleys Soon

The bowling alleys that have been in the process of building since the beginning of the current school year will be ready for play Monday. This form of recreation has been wanted for the University for some time, but lacked the space until President Graham suggested the store room under the porch of Graham Memorial.

Bids from several manufacturers of bowling equipment were received and rejected because of the expensiveness of such a project. However the buildings department became interested and made a thorough study of bowling alleys, resulting in the two well-constructed alleys in the basement of Graham Memorial.

For the present only rubber banded duck pins will be used on the alleys. These pins have proved very popular wherever they have been used.

The alleys will be formally opened soon after the Thanksgiving holidays with a short program. It is planned to have Dr. and Mrs. Frank Graham open one alley and have the president of the student body, Haywood Weeks, and president of the woman's association, Mary Frances Parker, to open the other.

The alleys will be in charge of three self-help students who have, as yet, not been selected. The cost of the use of the alleys will be ten cents per game.

SPANN ADDRESSES DEBATING GROUP

Dr. Meno Spann, of the German department, spoke on "Nationalism," at the regular meeting of the debate group last Monday night.

Dr. Spann outlined two conceptions of nationalism. These were the chauvinistic conception, characterized by France, Italy, and the United States, and the German conception, which seeks growth and advancement.

Professor W. A. Olsen presided during the period of discussion which followed Dr. Spann's talk. This was a part of the preparation for the tryouts for the debate with the University of Dublin, on the subject, "Resolved: That nationalism is a bar to peace and progress." Tryouts will be conducted after the Thanksgiving holidays.

COMMITTEE ON DOGWOOD FESTIVAL MAKES PLANS

The committee for arranging the first annual Dogwood Festival here April 22, 1933, met yesterday in Gerrard hall.

The program committee presented a tentative program which provided for festivities to last one day. A scale of admissions to the festival was also proposed. No direct action was taken on the report. Means of raising the necessary funds to underwrite the festival were also discussed.

The main features of the program will be various industrial exhibitions, demonstrations of Cherokee Indian games and dances, and an exhibition of English folk dancing.

FROSH COUNCIL HEARS NEW HONOR PROPOSAL

Almost four score freshmen turned out last Monday night for the freshman friendship council meeting in Gerrard hall.

The meeting was featured by a discussion on the honor system, as recently proposed. E. C. Daniel, Jr., led the group. No definite conclusions were reached, but the majority of the group got it pretty well settled in their minds as to the purpose of the proposed project. Jesse Parker, president of the organization, led the devotionals.

DYER GOES TO SALISBURY TO ORGANIZE FESTIVAL

Professor Harold S. Dyer, of the music department, will leave for Salisbury this afternoon to organize an inter-choir choral festival which is being sponsored by the Mozart music club. Preparations for the Christmas festival will be begun.

Professor Dyer will attempt to interest the organization in joining the annual state festival which will take place in Raleigh early in the spring, under his direction.

Yackety Yack Meeting

There will be an important meeting of the advertising department of the Yackety Yack today at 2:00 o'clock in the office of the publication. All people wishing to try out for the department will please be present.

LEADERS OF FALL GERMANS CHOSEN

Charlie Boulanger's Orchestra Here for Four Dances During Week-End.

At the sophomore German dance Friday night in the Tin Can, the figure will be led by Jack May, who will have as his partner Miss Louise Galloway of Winston-Salem, while his two assistants will be Frank Hargrave with Miss Sarah Elizabeth Phillips, of Lincolnton; and J. C. Steele with Miss Nancy O'Hanlon, of Winston-Salem. The fall German on Saturday night will be led by Louis Skinner, who is having as his partner Miss Corinne Mosley, of Farmville, Va. The first assistant is Bob Mebane who is having Miss Dorothy Harper of Wilson, as his partner, while Miss Ruth O'Brien of Durham will accompany the second assistant, William O'Brien.

The set of dances for the coming week-end includes two on Friday and two on Saturday, with Charlie Boulanger and his orchestra playing at the complete set. This orchestra is only able to make this engagement for the German club by coming directly from Bridgeport, Conn., where they are at present busy making records.

Members of the German club and all those interested in joining the club should see Milton Barber at the Zeta Psi house to secure tickets for the dances. The series opens Friday with an afternoon dance from 4:30 until 6:15 followed by a dance that evening from 9:30 until 1:00. Saturday's dances include one preceding the Duke game from 11:30 until 1:15 and the dance Saturday night from 9:00 until 12:00.

Sentiment In Regard To Change In Honor System Greatly Varied

Junior, Commerce: "I think that the student who cheats invariably busts the course, but if he is able to reach the sophomore and junior years, his courses become more diverse and individual. Then he has no incentive to cheat. In fact he could not cheat in some specialized commerce and accounting courses."

Senior, Pharmacy: "The major portion of cheating in the pharmacy school is done by freshmen. Here, I believe the student council has its most efficient arm, for cheating is reported (as far as I know) by the professors to the student councilman from the school. There is a lack of honor among the freshmen of the school, but this is replaced by fear of detection that in most cases becomes of great importance before the sophomore year. I favor more of a faculty proctor system."

Freshman, Liberal Arts: "The frequent accusation made that the violation of the honor system is a 'hang-over' from prep school is untrue. I believe that prep schools where the honor system is in force send men to college ready to uphold the spirit of the system wherever they find it. The appeal must be made to group spirit coordinated by individual honor. The new honor code, as I see it, merely typifies the old system more expressly in the class room and does not seek to force monitoring upon the committee."
