

Varsity Looks Good Defensively Against Frosh In Duke's Clothing

First Team and Freshmen Battle Long in Fierce Scrimmage Yesterday.

STUART CHANDLER STARS

Veteran Shows New Offensive Drive and Speed in Clicking Off Nice Gains.

For the second straight day the varsity engaged the frosh in a long, hard scrimmage as the first team battled a Tar Baby eleven employing the Duke defense and offense yesterday.

Yesterday, as Tuesday, the varsity offense was weak, the team finding it hard to penetrate the frosh line using the Duke defense. Defensively the Tar Heels were stronger than they were Tuesday and stopped the Duke attack completely.

Chandler Shows Class

Stuart Chandler stood out for his work in the backfield. Good on defense all season, Chandler gave notice yesterday that he is going places Saturday against the Blue Devils as he clicked off several beautiful runs from scrimmage. Chandler showed his old drive and seemed speedier and shiftier than ever yesterday.

Trainer Chuck Quinlan announced that he would have everyone ready to go Saturday. Bill Croom who was injured in the Davidson game will be back in there as his leg injury has healed. George Barclay's knee is rounding into shape and he will be ready for service also. It is doubtful still whether George will be used against the Blue Devils, but Quinlan said he would be ready to go.

Word received from the Duke camp last night stated that the Duke team had recovered from its upset defeat at the hand of State and was working with new determination to defeat the Tar Heels.

CAROLINA HOST TO SOUTHERN CROSS COUNTRY RUNNERS

Team Entries Announced for Ninth Conference Meet Here This Saturday.

Team entries in the ninth annual Southern Conference meet here this Saturday were announced yesterday by local officials in the hill and dale event.

Carolina, Florida, Tennessee, V. M. I., and Duke have entered teams, while Washington and Lee and Ole Miss have two and one entries apiece. It is possible, however, that late applications will be received from Georgia and Georgia Tech.

Favorites

Although Duke and Tennessee rank as top-heavy favorites to take the team title, several members of the U. N. C. club are slated to give much better performances than against Duke last Saturday. The Devils took the Chapel Hill boys in to the tune of a 17-41 tally card.

The race will begin next Saturday morning sharp at 11:15 o'clock. The race is open to Southern Conference institutions only. Each team may enter ten men, eight of whom may start the race, five of whom must finish. The initial five men of each club to cross the finish

I Only Heard

By Morrie Long

According to comparative scores Wallace Wade's potent aggregation is 53 points better than the Tar Heels while Chuck Collins' up and coming retinue of stars appear 19 points stronger than the Blue Devils—That is if you figure Duke beat Maryland 34 to 0, and Vanderbilt licked the same crew 13 to 0. This makes Duke 21 points stronger than the Commodores. And since Vandy swamped Carolina by some 32 points Duke is 53 points ahead of the Tar Heels. On the other hand, Carolina took State by 13 points while the Blue Devils lost by 6 which makes the Tar Heels some 19 points better than Duke. Which all proves comparative scores are a lot of hooley.

Did you know that Bill Cerney, assistant football coach, was the fifth horseman to the famous four horsemen of Notre Dame—that Cerney and Chuck Collins both are owners of gold footballs emblematic of national champions of 1924—that Wilmer Hines won the Tennessee, South Carolina, and Carolinas tennis championships this summer and was runner-up to Frankie Parker in the Kentucky state play—that Nick Laney, Duke's stellar halfback, is a crooner for a campus orchestra and also peddles papers in the morning to defer his expenses—that Lou Little of Columbia is reputed to be the highest paid coach in the business with an estimated salary of $17,000.—that there have been 24 football deaths this year as compared to 50 of last season—that Vanderbilt and Tulane severed athletics relations because of the un-sportsmanship tactics employed by New Orleans fans—that Carolina has filled her stadium twice, once with Virginia in 1928 and again with Georgia in 1929.

From Texas comes the story, about two football teams who were keen rivals. With the count deadlocked in the fourth session, one team fumbled on its 12-yard line and the ball was recovered by its opponents. Realizing that there was but thirty seconds left to play, a placekick was tried. The ball was kicked and by the looks of things it was going to break the tie, but a Texan with a lot of hard earned cash on the outcome of the game changed the complex of the battle by calmly pulling out his .45 revolver and cold-cocking the ball just as it was about to go over the cross-bars. The referee awarded the game to the place-kicking team.

line will count in the team score. Individual entries are being accepted this year.

The University of North Carolina Athletic Association will award a plaque to the team winning the race. The initial seven members of the winning team will receive gold track shoes. Medals will be awarded to the first fifteen men to cross the finish line. The first five in will get gold medals, the second five, silver medals; and the third five, bronze medals.

This Pair May Puncture Duke Hopes

George Brandt, left, and Bill Collins, right, two Tar Heels who have shown steady improvement in their play this year. Collins plays tackle and Brandt holds down an end position. The Blue Devils will find the going rough if they plan to run over these babies.

DEVILS AND TAR HEELS PREPARING FOR TOUGH GAME HERE SATURDAY

Wademen Look Better on Paper, But Tar Heels Have Upset Dope In Previous Contests When Duke Was Favored; Game Will Decide State Championship.

Probably the greatest football team in Duke history will move on Chapel Hill Saturday, in the Blue Devils' annual attempt to win a football game from Carolina. This year Duke has a good chance to realize its ambition and knows it.

Duke has come through a rather stiff schedule with five wins in eight games and a .500 standing in the Southern Conference. Wake Forest and Davidson have been downed in non-Conference games, the only ones played by the Blue Devils this season.

Devils Lead on Paper

On paper Duke stands to win Saturday's game in spite of a disappointing 6-0 loss to a rejuvenated State College team last Saturday, but a team's past record doesn't mean a great deal when the Tar Heels and Blue Devils mix. There have been times in the past when Duke was doped an easy winner, but each time the Tar Heels have risen and continued their superiority with dazzling wins.

In 1927, Duke came to the end of the season with a string of victories over highly rated northern teams and was a strong favorite to break into the win column, but Carolina, with Steve Furches leading the way, ran wild on Hanes field, Durham, and came home with a startling 18-0 victory. The following year the pre-game situation was much the same and the Tar Heels rallied in the last half to emerge with a 14-7 win. So this year, in spite of Duke's Laney, Crawford, Rossiter, and Mason, it's anybody's game.

Crawford Line Star

Freddy Crawford, at left tackle, has been a tower of strength all season and has been mentioned prominently as a candidate for all-southern honors while Dunlap at center and Andrews at guard have played excellently.

Werner, a former all-state guard who has been handicapped with injuries the past two seasons will pair with Andrews at guard, but an injury to Porreca may cause Duke to call on another right tackle. Rogers, James, and Rossiter give the Blue Devils plenty of strength at the end posts, and Rossiter ranks as one of the state's best punters.

Laney and Mason have been the most brilliant backfield performers, but Bob Cox, a sophomore fullback, stole the show until put out of the game by an injury in mid-season. Artie Ershler, a hefty fullback who can block with the best of them, has been playing regularly of late and will probably get the call against Carolina. Ken Abbott will likely hold down the other backfield berth with John Brownlee, who has been handicapped by injuries, in reserve.

Blue Devils' Record

In eight games the Blue Devils have rolled up 133 points against 40. A 13-0 win over Davidson opened the season and was followed by a 44-0 defeat of V. M. I. Then came Auburn and the Plainsmen took advantage of early Duke mistakes to finish on the long end of an 18-7 score. Maryland was swamped 34-0 and Wake Forest went down 9-0.

The Tennessee game found Duke at its best and the Vols had a hard day of it before Breezy Wynn booted a field goal with three minutes to play and gave Major Neyland's band a 16-13 victory.

Kentucky was taken after a hard struggle, but last week the Devils slumped and were powerless to do anything against State in one of the year's most important games.

Betas Meet Zeta Psi Today In Big Tussle

Representatives of Alpha Tau Omega, Beta Theta Pi, and Zeta Psi met yesterday in the Tin Can to toss for the bye in the fraternity league play-offs. A. T. O. won this advantage, and will meet the winner of this afternoon's contest between the Betas and the Zetas tomorrow.

Today's game, which will start at 4:00 o'clock, is expected to draw a big crowd.

Other intramural games scheduled to start at 4:30 are: Field 2: Theta Kappa Nu vs. Theta Chi. Field 3: Manly vs. New Dorms.

Wrestlers Open Intramural Tournament With Fast Bouts

Laney, Versatile Duke Back, Takes Morning Cropper

Blue Devil Grid Flash Garners Stumped Toe Rather Than Early Worm in Spill.

Many old sages and sports savants may wag their heads and say that the early bird always gets the worm, but Duke fans will maintain otherwise.

Nick Laney, conceded by leading sports scribes not only in the state but in the south as one of the finest punters for miles around, has not punted a single time this year until Saturday's State game. It is true that Rossiter has borne the brunt of the Duke kicking, but some fans maintain that Laney can even do better than Rossiter at booting 'em.

Laney is a self-help student, working his way through the Methodist University. Many fair co-eds throughout the state will tell you of Nick's thrilling crooning, for he does the vocals in a college orchestra and is darn good, as crooners go.

Also Carries Milk

Another one of Nick's jobs is carrying milk early in the morning, and therein hangs the thread of our tale. While the Duke campus is getting its best sleep, Laney is carrying milk to the professors' door steps. On one of his morning rounds, Nick, the crooning half-back, stumped his toe, and broke the nail off the big digit on his kicking foot. Although Laney is not hampered from making his touchdown jaunts, his lame foot is still unfit for the punting role.

Does the "early bird always get the worm?"

S. A. E. CONQUERS DEKE TEAM 6-0

Lambda Chis, Phi Deltis, and K. A.'s Score Other Wins In Yesterday's Play.

None of the games in yesterday's intramural tag football play were of championship calibre, for all the leaders marked time in preparation for the fraternity league play-offs today and tomorrow and the campus championship game next Tuesday.

Delta Kappa Epsilon staged a fiercely contested game against Sigma Alpha Epsilon, with the latter coming from behind in the second half to gain the decision, 6-0.

D. K. E. rolled up a commanding 7-4 lead in first downs in the first half, by virtue of short but effective passes. S. A. E. was powerless to break up these plays which never threatened to score, but continued to amass first downs.

In the second half, S. A. E. staged a rally, and, after tying

(Continued on last page)

Preliminary Bouts Held Yesterday Show Large Number Of Fast Falls.

FINALS SET FOR TONIGHT

Big Crowd Expected to Witness Finals in Tin Can At 8:00 O'clock.

The annual fall intramural wrestling tournament opened yesterday with a series of matches that provided both thrills and entertainment for those who saw them.

An unusually large number of men entered the tournament, although there were no men entered in the unlimited division. Most of the contestants are inexperienced in any sort of wrestling matches.

Many of the falls were made in remarkably short times. In the 126-pound division Kornigay looked good, but Beebe and Kellenberger are two experienced men who are yet to be put out of the tourney. Kornigay took a time decision of 5:55 from Hupman of Steele. Kellenberger had a 5:30 time advantage over Snowden of Kappa Alpha. Parker who represented A. T. O. took a time decision over his fraternity brother Northrop.

Most of the really fast falls occurred in the 135-pound division. In another all A. T. O. match, Webb took a fall from the novice Crowell in 25 seconds. Roberts pinned the shoulders of Teer to the mat in 20 seconds. Both men represented the Betas. Rogers of the Chi Psis showed excellent promise in defeating Connors of Lewis.

The bouts in the 145-pound class gave evidence that whoever wins the title in that division will have to plow his way through a series of hard matches. Blackwood, who is trying for a varsity berth held Ryan's shoulders to the mat after 1:30 of hard grappling. In a whirlwind bout, J. Miller of Best House felled H. Miller of the A. T. O.'s in 20 seconds. In a bout that was full of thrills, Pennington pinned Hornaday to the mat in six minutes.

Spencer and Owlick won their bouts in the 165-pound class.

Shipman wrestling for Best House took a fast fall from Biggs of A. T. O. in 25 seconds. Robertson of A. T. O. felled Resler of Lewis dorm in an overtime match.

Percy Idol and Don Conklin, varsity wrestlers, refereed the bouts. Hiller also of the varsity was head time keeper. The semi-finals and finals will be run off this afternoon and tonight. Finals are set for 8:00 o'clock tonight.

Squads To Meet

Coaches Rowe and Quinlan request that the varsity and freshman boxing and wrestling squads meet in Gerrard hall tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

THE TALK OF THE CAMPUS

LIPMAN'S

Made-to-Measure Suits and Topcoats at $17.50 and up

What an Assortment and How They Fit!

Tuxedos for Rent

COME

TONIGHT

COME

Junior Class Smoker

Charles (Chuck) Collins University of North Carolina

Wallace Wade Duke University

JACK WARDLAW'S ORCHESTRA

9:00 O'CLOCK

SWAIN HALL