MUSICIANS ARRIVE TO PRACTICE FOR SYMPHONY GROUP

Percy Grainger Will Conduct
Fifty Piece Orchestra in Local Concerts.

Percy Grainger, noted pianist and composer, and fifty selected musicians will arrive here this morning to begin rehearsals for the North Carolina Symphony concerts to be presented in Durham Thursday night and Memorial hall Friday night.

Grainger has obtained the distinction of being one of the few people in the world to be nationally recognized in the triple capacity of artist, composer, and conductor. In concerts at New York, Washington, and other large cities, he has appeared in only two of his three roles; and for the first time in his life, he will appear in this triple capacity in the Durham and Chapel Hill concerts.

Stringfield's Work

Lamar Stringfield, conductor of the North Carolina Symphony, appeared before Hans Kindler's National Symphony as guest conductor a few weeks ago, and conducted his From the Southern Mountains suite, a composition that won the Pulitzer prize for its composer.

While he was there, the National Symphony read the latest symphonic work of Stringfield's, and Hans Kindler requested that his orchestra be allowed the first performance. Stringfield declined this honor, and is giving North Carolina the first opportunity of hearing what, in his own words, is "that of his works which most approaches being a masterpiece." He will conduct the North Carolina symphony in this composition which is a distinctly American folk legend told through the medium of the symphony. It will be played.

EX-PRESIDENT OF CHILE TO ADDRESS RELATIONS GROUP

Dr. Davila Will Lecture on Western Hemisphere Politics Before New Club.

A former president of Chile and one-time ambassador to the United States, Dr. Carlos Davila will speak before the newly-formed International Relations club sometime in the near future. Dr. Davila is a distinguished lecturer and authority on general world problems and particularly on the relations of the governments and peoples of North and South America. Arriving Monday, Chile's former president will remain in Chapel Hill for sometime and will make a series of public lectures.

The International Relations club, which has been organized within the last two weeks mainly through the work of Professor K. C. Frazer, has outlined its program for the entire year. There will be a series of meetings on current international affairs. Among the subjects to be discussed are the Manchurian situation, war debts, tariffs, and disarmament.

Information Service

A high light of the club will be the information service which it will place at the disposal of its members. There will be a mimeographed bulletin furnished fort-

SCENE FROM TONIGHT'S SHOW

Here's a scene from George B. Shaw's satiric comedy, "Arms and the Man." G. B.'s brilliant work will be interpreted by the Jitney Players' troupe tonight at 8:30 o'clock in the Playmakers theatre. Alice Keating Cheney, head of the company, has assembled a strong cast for these two dramatically appealing works.

Doris Kenyon Believes Southern Audiences Are Most Appreciative

Attractive Movie Actress and Concert Singer Interviewed By Daily Tar Heel.

A charming beauty, whose following of collegiate autograph seekers always runs into hundreds, and who likes scrambled eggs for a midnight lunch, is Doris Kenyon. Singing before a small audience at Duke University Monday night for the second time in succeeding years, the attractive moving picture actress again captured Duke theatregoers with her clever musical impersonations. Before her performance, she told TAR HEEL reporters that she had rather sing in the south than any where else because southern audiences are more appreciative.

Doris Kenyon, who was Mrs. Milton Sills before the death of her husband three years ago, was a favorite in silent films. Last year she told TAR HEEL reporters that she had turned temporarily to the stage to overcome her grief for her husband. Monday night she explained that she had become so attached to her work that from now on she intends to make at least a six weeks' tour every year. Miss Kenyon goes to New York from Duke, and thence to New Orleans for an engagement.

Will Make Singing Picture

In the spring Miss Kenyon will return to Hollywood to make her first singing picture which will be with Lawrence Tibbet. The "singies," she thinks, have improved vastly in the past year. Singing pictures of the pioneering period of talking pictures lacked the construction and technique found today. These pictures had to improve, she observes, since low patronage indicated that the public would not tolerate them.

As for her choice of audiences in her present work, Miss Kenyon likes the southern theatre because the people are far more enthusiastic over a performance than the theatregoers of New England, who, she says, are coldly reserved. Audiences of the west, she finds, are too critical. It is difficult to give one's best to an unappreciative audience, she explains.

Distinctive Personality

Miss Kenyon probably has

PLANS FOR NEW SOUTH DISCUSSED BY "Y" CABINETS

All Groups Study for Southern Student-Faculty Conference in Atlanta.

A study and discussion of the New South and its problems, social, economic, and political, was in order Monday night for the junior-senior cabinet. Leonard Hutchison led the discussion, which was a preparatory discourse for the Southern student-faculty conference which will meet in Atlanta, December 28-31. The "Y" cabinets will be represented at the meeting.

The sophomore cabinet meeting consisted of an informal discussion of the changes in the honor system. Announcements regarding the negro football game and the advisability of sending a delegate from their group to the Atlanta conference constituted the meeting of the freshmen friendship council.

Bill McKee, president of the "Y," announced that Professor L. M. Brooks, of the sociology department, would lead the discussion next week at the junior-senior cabinet meeting. A continuance of the discussion of the south will be in order.

Try-outs For Debate With Dublin Monday

Try-outs for the debate with the University of Dublin were postponed last Monday night at the regular meeting of the debate group, until next Monday night at 9:00 o'clock, in 214 Graham Memorial. Don Seawell will debate the Dublin side of the question.

Instead of conducting try-outs at the last meeting, as was scheduled, a round-table discussion was conducted on the subject of Nationalism.

The University will meet the University of Dublin here, Thursday, December 15. The Carolina debaters will take the negative side of the resolution, Resolved: That nationalism is a bar to peace and-or progress.

Phi Mu Alpha Meeting

The local chapter of Phi Mu Alpha will meet this morning at 10:30 o'clock in Hill music building. A full attendance is urged.

DR. WALTER TOY RESIGNS POST AS FACULTY OFFICER

Colleagues Adopt Resolution Expressing Admiration; House Is Appointed Successor.

Dr. Walter Dallam Toy, secretary of the University faculty for forty-three years, has resigned that position and Robert Burton House, executive secretary of the University, has been named his successor.

Dr. Toy, who celebrated his seventy-eighth birthday November 13, last, came to the University forty-seven years ago, in 1885. After serving about fifteen years as professor of both German and French, he relinquished the French department, but continued as head of the department of German.

Resolution Adopted

Dr. Toy's colleagues on the University faculty have adopted a resolution expressing to him their admiration and affection.

The resolution follows:

"The important office of secretary of the faculty, which concerns itself with a record of our activities, you have filled to the great satisfaction and delight of all of us since May, 1889. For forty-three years, serving in this capacity you have had the opportunity of noting in a most interesting and accurate fashion our thoughts, our resolutions, counter-resolutions and substitutions. It has been your privilege and our good fortune to have you chronicle the deliberations of our faculty through the administrations of Presidents Battle, Winston, Alderman, Venable, and E. K. Graham; the chairmanship of the faculty under Mr. M. H. Stacy, and again during the administrations of Presidents Chase and F. P. Graham. The intimate history of the University has, in a sense, been written by you, almost since its re-opening in 1875. Such a record will prove of infinite value to future historians. Serving in this capacity, your secretaryship has been not merely that of a scribe. You have made it a most delightful part of our meetings and have enabled us to anticipate our gatherings with a certain pleasure.

"With these thoughts in mind the faculty of the University desires to express to you its gratitude and very deep appreciation for your years of kindly service. We would go further, and attempt to make you feel not only this appreciation, but a love for you which came and abides through your fitness and your gentleness, your poise and your understanding."

PLAYMAKERS TO TRY OUT FOR EXPERIMENTAL PLAYS

Try-outs for the next bill of experimental plays will be conducted tomorrow afternoon at 4:00 o'clock in the Playmakers theatre. About twenty parts will be available in the six or more new plays to be presented December 14, and all interested are urged to come to the try-outs.

This bill of experimental productions is not to be confused with the bill of four, original, one-act plays which is to be presented by the Carolina Playmakers as their second public presentation of the season December 8, 9, and 10. These experimental plays are entirely new and are presented to an invited audience.

Tar Heel To Find Student Opinion On Selection Of Vice-President

Resigns Post

LOCAL RED CROSS COMPLETES DRIVE

Six Hundred New Members Are Added to Local Chapter; Students Contribute $100.

Completing a successful membership drive covering a period of two weeks, the local chapter of the American Red Cross acquired 625 new members and a large number of contributions in produce, clothes and fuel. Although they failed to reach the local fixed quota by 150, they exceeded the quota set by the national chapter by twenty-five.

The success of this project begun on Armistice Day, which was led by Colonel Joseph Hyde Pratt, was a result of intensive canvassing of Chapel Hill and Carrboro by a number of members of the local organization. A number of talks asking for contributions were made in the Carolina theatre by prominent members of the society.

Of the quota, sixty of the new members are students and contributions from this source amounted to $100. Irving Boyle was in charge of contributions from fraternity members; Bill Medford, the dormitories and Elizabeth Moore, Spencer hall, the Chi Omega, and Pi Beta Phi houses.

A request has been sent in to the national chapter by Colonel Pratt for about 5,000 more yards of goods and a large quantity of clothing to be distributed among the poor people of the county. This is approximately half as much as has already been given away.

FIELD ARTILLERY SCHOOL MEETS HERE TOMORROW

The next session of the 316th Field Artillery troop school will convene in Davie hall, tomorrow evening, at 7:30 o'clock.

This is a part of the general headquarters order being issued by Captain Dan B. Floyd, field artillery instructor, from the office of the executive officer in Raleigh.

Socialist Club Meeting

The Socialist club will meet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in 210 Graham Memorial. Arnold Williams will be speaker for the evening. All persons interested in socialism are cordially invited to attend.

STRAW BALLOTS WILL BE CAST FOR UNIVERSITY HEAD

Polls Set Up in Y. M. C. A. and Graham Memorial; Voting to Last Until Saturday.

In order to determine student opinion on the question of a successor of President Frank P. Graham to head the University here, THE DAILY TAR HEEL will conduct a straw vote beginning today and lasting through Saturday.

The ballots will be printed in the TAR HEEL, and ballot boxes will be placed in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A. building and in the lobby of Graham Memorial. All students, graduate or undergraduate, are eligible to participate in the vote.

A number of persons have been proposed for the post but no great movements to promote candidates are apparent. Several faculty members and several men who have left the University within the past three years are suggested.

Though little local opinion has been expressed on the possibilities of any one candidate, it is indicated that only persons who are at present connected with the University or who have been associated with it recently will be the choice of the trustees.

The selection of a head of the University, whose official title will be vice-president of the Greater University of North Carolina, is one of the phases of the consolidation of the three leading state-supported institutions of North Carolina.

Under the scheme of consolidation there are three vice-presidents, each of whom heads one of the three divisions of the Greater University. Dr. E. C. Brooks was appointed head of State College and Dr. Julius I.
