

Official Student Ballot For Vice-President Today

FACULTY TO MAKE NOMINATIONS FOR VICE-PRESIDENT

Professors' Choice Will Speed Up Work of Trustees' Board in Selecting Carolina Head.

The faculty of the University is attempting to expedite the work of the trustees' committee which will meet here Monday to consult with the faculty on the selection of the vice-president of the Greater University of North Carolina to head the branch here.

At the suggestion of Dr. H. V. Wilson, head of the zoology department, every member of the faculty wishing to make a nomination for the vice-presidency may make it in writing and turn it in to the committee.

Time a Factor

Dr. Wilson, in making the suggestion, pointed out that there are over ninety professors in the University, and if five minutes were allotted for an interview with each, the committee would spend seven and one-half hours. Such interviews, he said, would hardly do more than register a nomination.

The letters of nomination, addressed to the trustees' committee, will be turned in to R. B. House, executive secretary of the University, before Monday.

The committee of the Board of Trustees to confer with the faculty on the selection of the vice-president will meet in President Graham's office at 10:30 Monday morning.

DR. DAVILA SEES BRIGHT FUTURE IN AMERICAN PEACE

Ex-President of Chile, Brought Here by Carnegie Endowment, Traces Peace Efforts.

Addressing about two hundred and fifty students and members of the faculty last night in Gerrard hall, Dr. Carlos Davila, ex-president of Chile and former ambassador to the United States, outlined the history of the various peace movements and attempts towards peaceful solution of differences that have been organized in the Americas.

In introducing Dr. Davila, Dean Pierson told of the purpose of the Carnegie Endowment for international peace through the auspices of which Dr. Davila is at the University. The Carnegie Endowment is trying to multiply and strengthen the ties between countries by the scholarly understanding of their differences and troubles.

Resume of Peace Efforts

Dr. Davila prefaced the body of his talk, entitled "Quest for Peace in the Western Hemisphere," with a summary of the leading international attempts at peaceful solution of disputes and arbitration of international difficulties, including the Kellogg pact, the League of Nations pact, the Hague conferences, and the Pan-American conferences.

Continuing Dr. Davila remarked that there have been more than 250 treaties of arbitration for the settlement by

Regarding The Need For Representative Student Straw Ballot

—AN EDITORIAL—

To those who bewail the obvious lack of student expression in matters of paramount importance to the welfare of the University, the heartless and ineffective response to THE DAILY TAR HEEL vice-presidential poll early this week is a matter for wholesale discontent. Desiring to elicit the true opinion of undergraduates in a poll which might have some effect on the committee responsible for the selection of the vice-president to head this division of the Greater University, all efforts to receive a truly intelligent response have been fruitless.

Evading the sincere motives of this publication in conducting such a poll, many sought to make a joke of the whole venture, and many ridiculous and utterly insane ballots were cast which served to cloak the poll in a supercilious light. Hardly more than one hundred students cast their preferences in a manner that should befit a literate American undergraduate. The results were surprising and disastrous to the motivation of the poll.

With this in mind THE DAILY TAR HEEL launches a second poll

this morning, conducted under special representatives of the student council. Balloting will be done in a strictly orthodox method, and each voter will be required to proceed in the manner utilized in spring elections.

The responsibility of the success of the new poll rests directly upon the student body. A man must be chosen to represent the Chapel Hill branch of the Greater University whose past record and potential abilities will make him eligible to carry on the fruitful efforts of his astute predecessor. THE DAILY TAR HEEL, of course, finds no fault in the ultimate selection of the previous poll, but seeks only to decry the procedure and attitude assumed by voters who failed to realize the seriousness of the situation.

The student body of the University is entirely within its rights in demanding that it be given an opportunity to express its preference in a sane and open minded manner. THE DAILY TAR HEEL, feeling that its birthright as a true organ of student opinion cannot be denied, hereby offers this opportunity to the student body.—D.C.S.

MONTHLY REVIEW WILL BE ISSUED BY FRESHMAN CLASS

Material for New Publication to Be Selected From Work Submitted by Class.

Beginning with January, 1933, a paper, tentatively titled the Freshman News Review will be issued once a month until the close of the spring quarter. The Freshman News Review will contain about twenty-two hundred words an issue, selected from the written work submitted to the English department.

Each instructor in freshman English will select from the month's work (in the case of the January issue, from the work of the first quarter) a few themes, essays or articles submitted to him as a part of the regular English work, and will turn them in to the editorial committee, composed of M. P. Wells, J. W. Scott, George F. Horner, and Dr. Harry K. Russell. The editorial committee will select the articles, themes, or essays from the papers submitted to them for use in the publication.

The idea for this paper for the freshman English department here originated with Dr. A. P. Hudson, head of the freshman English department, who used the system with considerable success at the University of Mississippi, founding a paper of this sort which is still in active existence.

It is expected that such a publication will stimulate a great deal of interest in English work, as it will give students an opportunity of seeing what is being done by other students with virtually the same material, and will be an incentive to more careful work on the part of students who are anxious to have their work published. In addition to this, class discussion and

MANY UNIVERSITY ALUMNI TO MEET HERE TOMORROW

Dr. Graham to Address Representatives of Sixty Local Alumni Associations.

More than 500 alumni of the University have been invited here tomorrow night for the annual General Assembly of the University Alumni Association, which will begin with a supper at 6:30 o'clock in Graham Memorial.

Representatives of sixty local alumni clubs and fifty permanent class organizations are included among those expected. Many other prominent alumni, including trustees, state officials, and leading business men, have been invited to attend. Many have indicated their intentions of being present.

President Frank P. Graham will be the principal speaker at the gathering, which will have as its central theme a consideration of the University's situation as the institution faces a new biennium. K. P. Lewis of Durham will preside over the meeting as president of the Alumni Association.

In addition to the address of President Graham, the usual business of the Alumni Assembly will also be conducted Friday evening, rather than having the business session on Saturday morning as in past years.

Nominations for officers of the association for 1933 will be made and two nominees for each alumni office will be presented by mail ballot to the membership of the association immediately following the assembly.

These offices include the president, first and second vice-presidents, who will serve terms of one year each, and an alumni representative on the University athletic council, who will serve a three-year term.

REGISTRATION TO BEGIN NEXT WEEK

Registration for Upperclassmen And Professional Schools to Start Next Monday.

Registration for the winter quarter of all students except freshmen and sophomores will take place next Monday, December 12, and continue through noon Saturday, December 17, in the offices of the respective deans. The two lower classes and all new students will not register until January 3. Classes for the winter quarter will start Wednesday, January 4.

All students who register must receive permits from the registrar's office before registration. Juniors and seniors who have majors must see the heads of the major departments for directions before going to register.

Alphabetical Arrangement

For those who register before the Christmas holidays, the upperclassmen, the following alphabetical arrangement will be carried out: students with names beginning with "A" through "C" on Monday; "D" through "H," Tuesday; "I" through "O," Wednesday; "P" through "S," Thursday; and "T" through "Z," Friday. Students who are unable to get permits or cannot register on these days for other important reasons will do so Saturday morning.

For the benefit of those who are in doubt as to their class standing, juniors are defined as students who had passed 15 courses at the opening of the fall quarter.

GRAHAM EXPLAINS BUDGET PLANS TO JOHNSTON ALUMNI

New Officers Named at Meeting Are J. D. Barbour, President, and G. A. Martin, Secretary.

Dr. Frank P. Graham and J. Maryon Saunders, alumni secretary of the University, attended the meeting of the Johnston county alumni association Tuesday night in Smithfield. One hundred and sixteen members were present at this meeting which was their annual gathering for the election of officers. Dr. Graham was the principal speaker of the evening.

He spoke to the alumni on the biennial request of the University for financial support as presented to the budget commission of the legislature. He stressed the fact that the current budget of the University is twenty-two and a half per cent less than that for 1928-29. This, he explained, contrary to the impression given out by the state papers in their reports on that subject. While it is true that the request for '33-34 is somewhat in excess of the amount obtained for this biennium, that amount was cut forty-three per cent smaller than the budget of the '28-'29 period.

The new officers of the Johnston county association are: J. Dwight Barbour, president, and Grover A. Martin, secretary.

Newman Club Meeting

The Newman club will hold an important meeting tonight at 7:30 o'clock in room 215 Graham Memorial.

Student Council To Have Charge Of Voting Polls

Editorial Staff To Meet This Afternoon

Members of the editorial staff of THE DAILY TAR HEEL will gather this afternoon in the offices of the publication for the final business meeting of the quarter. All members of the staff are required to attend the meetings of their respective divisions.

The editorial board will conduct its meeting at 2:30 o'clock, city editors, and desk men will gather at 3:00 o'clock, while reporters will meet at 3:30 o'clock.

COUNCIL TO SEEK STUDENT SUPPORT FOR LECTURE SET

Student Expression Group Plans To Start Series on Political Questions January 12.

With plans for the contemplated winter lecture series of the Council for Student Expression rapidly nearing completion, efforts will be made this week by the executive committee of the organization to obtain student and faculty subscriptions to the season series, planned to begin January 12.

Advance literature on the eight lecturers and their topics will be distributed before the end of the fall quarter, and it is hoped that sufficient interest will be aroused to dispose of a limited number of season tickets before the holidays.

A tentative list of speakers from industrial, political and economic ranks in the state has been presented and will be definitely agreed upon within a few days. At present, twenty-eight prominent authorities in these fields are under consideration, since the objective of the Council is to present both sides of the eight controversial topics in an open forum discussion. Speakers, supplied by the League for Industrial Democracy, will include the following authorities: Powers Hapgood, Dr. John H. Gray, Harry Laidler, Ernest Greuning, Gordon Ward, Winnifred Chappel, Hubert C. Herring and Norman Thomas. The series will extend through the first week in March.

NEGRO WORKMAN KILLED IN GRAVEL LODGE NEAR TOWN

A Chapel Hill negro, Guy Snipes, and George Davis, Chapel Hill white man, were caught in a cave-in yesterday morning in the gravel pit on the north-east edge of Chapel Hill. They were rushed to the Duke hospital, but the doctors were unable to save the life of the negro, who was suffering from internal injuries. Davis suffered head lacerations, concussion of the brain and a possible fracture of the skull. Hospital attaches reported his condition as critical.

Both men were employed by the town of Chapel Hill and were engaged in removing gravel from the pit to be used in construction work.

Names Receiving More Than Five Votes in Previous Straw Vote Are on Ballot.

TAR HEEL SPONSORS VOTE

Student Paper Feels That Campus Opinion Will Influence Trustee Selection.

In an attempt to find the serious and candid expression of the students as to their choice for the vice-president of the Greater University here at Chapel Hill, THE DAILY TAR HEEL with the co-operation of the Student Council is sponsoring today, tomorrow, and Saturday, a second straw ballot.

The names of those persons who received more than five votes in the first ballot will appear on a printed form as nominations, while a blank space will be left for those not appearing on the ballot.

The poll will be conducted at the Y. M. C. A. in the same manner as the student elections each year, with some person officially appointed by the Student Council holding the poll during the day from 9:00 to 5:00 o'clock.

First Ballot Unrepresentative

Because of the fact that the first ballot conducted on this matter was too small to represent the actual opinion of the entire body, the TAR HEEL has deemed it necessary to carry on this second vote.

Likewise, it was brought out through an investigation that several votes which were disre-

VAN HECKE NOTES PLANNED CHANGES OF CONSTITUTION

Dean of Law School Addresses North Carolina Club on Proposed Revisions in Laws.

Dean M. T. Van Hecke of the law school spoke at the meeting of the North Carolina club, Tuesday night on the subject of the proposed revisions of the state constitution, criticizing and pointing out the probable effects of the revisions.

General characteristics of the revised constitution were given by Van Hecke to be these: the state legislation is to be unusually free from binding details and rigid dictates of the constitution, the chief check on its action being the governor's veto; a more centralized control of state affairs will be established; and a shorter ballot will be used in state elections.

History of Constitution

Dean Van Hecke also traced the history of constitutional revisions in the state from the constitution of 1868, which he stated as being thrust upon the state by "carpet-baggers" and northerners who were little concerned with the best interests of the state, to the present revision.

In conclusion Van Hecke pointed out that the state legislation has adequate power to enact all important measures, and that it should not be unduly hampered by the governor's veto, which will be much more effective than before.
