

STAFF PROTESTS YEAR SUSPENSION OF NEWS EDITOR

Authorized Publishing of Tactless
But Truthful Story Causes
Action From Council.

The entire managing board and all associate editors of the daily newspaper at McGill University in Montreal, Canada, have resigned as a protest against the action of the student council of that school in suspending news editor Ernest Crown.

Beer Story

The cause of the suspension was a news story entitled "Beer Infuses Students With Care-Free Jollity." The story reported the actions of a group of students who went to visit a Montreal brewery. The beer was plentiful, and after the visit the students were shown into the barroom where the facilities were placed at their disposal. The final report of the Chemical Industries Club which conducted the inspection of the brewery was, "the machinery and brewing apparatus in Dawes' Brewery were the best; the minority were of the opinion that Dawes' ale was good ale, but still would like to see the Black Horse."

The day after this story was printed the issue of the paper in which it appeared was tacked on the bulletin board with the following notice on it: "No more publicity on beer drinking students."

Punish Responsible Person

The student council at its last meeting decided that the person responsible for the story should be suspended for the college year. Inasmuch as News Editor Crown had read the story before it was sent to the printer, it was decided to lift the responsibility from the reporter.

The sentiment of the student leaders is that the student council is making a mountain out of a molehill. In an editorial the resigning staff speaks of the story as being, "at its worst, tactless, but essentially truthful." This protest is based on the fact that the man suspended had worked for four years on the paper. The editorial closes with the statement, "The decision of the editorial board had been carefully considered and will stand until the council sees fit to reinstate the news editor."

Don Shoemaker, chairman of the DAILY TAR HEEL editorial board, commented on the original story in his column Our Times in the issue of Saturday, December 3.

Two New Courses Will Be Given This Winter

It was announced yesterday by A. W. Hobbs, dean of the school of liberal arts, that two new courses will be available for the students in the school of liberal arts.

The first is Comparative Literature, an intensive study of "Lessing and Schiller," which is to be taught by Dr. E. C. Metzenthin. The time for the class is tentatively set at 4:00 o'clock in the afternoon and the class will be conducted five times a week. This course was offered in previous catalogs, but it is to be considered a new course because of the different treatment of the subject matter. Students intending to take this course are advised to see the instructor at room 115 Saunders before this vacation period; graduates and undergraduates will be allowed to register in this subject.

The second is geology 57, a study of the geography of North America, which will be conducted five times a week, and is open to sophomores, juniors and seniors. K. R. Byerly will be the instructor.

World News Bulletins

Senate Speeding Action

The senate judiciary committee at its first meeting yesterday referred all prohibition repeal legislation to a sub-committee heard by Senator Blaine (Rep., Wis.), a foe of national prohibition.

Relief Bill Up in House

Plunging directly into issues which must be settled if an extra session is to be avoided, congress yesterday wrestled with the troublesome problems of prohibition, farm relief, and appropriations.

Roosevelt Works on State

Franklin D. Roosevelt's attention yesterday was upon New York state's Republican legislature which was to consider his proposals in behalf of "drastic" reorganization in the New York City government.

Indian Flier Held for Murder

Edward de Larm, Yaqui Indian aviator who two years ago became the hero of a South American republic for his daring exploits, yesterday at Long Beach, Cal., found himself playing a leading role in the investigation of the mysterious slaying of Captain Walter Wanderwell, globe-trotting adventurer.

WILMER HINES WAS RE-cently obtained to referee a co-ed basketball battle. Wilmer had a pair of clean white linen pants and the girls said he looked "rite cute." The game had been going for a while when three of the girls collided and all sprawled to the ground. Hines rushed up from the other end of the court where he had been eyeing some frail and said, "Any casualties, girls?" Mercy me, Wilmer, how tender and educated you are becoming. The game went on into the last quarter when some roughness was overlooked and one of the girls lost her temper. She ran up to the referee and shouted, "Listen here, Hines, you don't know a damn thing about basketball, you haven't called a foul all this game."

CAROLINA FOOTBALL PLAY-ers have taken to almost unbelievable activities. Tom White has a habit of building fires in box bushes at a certain woman's college in Virginia. George Barclay has left the narrow path and taken it upon himself to try and further Carolina football posterity, saying "To hell with basketball, Dave McCachren is taking care of that." Then Ralph "Jelly" Gardner became an astronomer over the week-end and gazed at the stars from a new observatory which is located on the outskirts of Raleigh. Jelly said the mist bothered the heavenly actions but that he saw enough.

Erratum

The management of The Daily Tar Heel wishes to correct any belief that might be prevalent on the campus as a result of a remark made in Sunday morning's "Ink Well" column that there was any stuffing of the ballot box in either of the recent straw polls for Vice-President.

Several votes for various candidates were at the time disregarded in the first vote. But an investigation later revealed that all of these had been officially cast and should have been tabulated. In the second poll each student was required to register his vote, and the counting of the ballots was entirely in the hands of the student council.

Committee Nominates Dr. Louis R. Wilson For Vice-Presidency

carry out the mandate of the 1931 legislature providing for consolidation of the state institutions of higher learning.

Acceptance Not Sure

The committee announced that it had not communicated with Dr. Wilson and did not know whether he would accept if elected at the next meeting of the full board January 14.

The committee spent a full day and part of the evening yesterday interviewing members of the faculty and receiving written nominations from them.

Reports from these interviews indicate that over seventy-five per cent of the full professors who participated in the interviews were strongly in favor of Dr. Wilson. It was also stated that faculty opinions on the selection of a head for the University had never been so unified except in the choice of Dr. Graham.

The committee which made the selection was composed of former Governor Angus W. McLean, chairman; Hon. Josephus Daniels, Arthur M. Dixon, and Judge John J. Parker.

An Important Call

Dr. Wilson is recognized as one of the outstanding librarians of the country, his call to head the graduate library school at the University of Chicago being one of the highest that can come to a librarian.

He was known here as a busy builder whose hand had been in all important University activities for decades and whose individual constructive influences had made to bloom and prosper several enterprises of major proportions.

Organized Extension Division

In this line Dr. Wilson organized the University extension division and was its first director, 1912-21. He assisted in securing funds for and helped to organize the University Press, becoming its first director, 1922-1932. He was instrumental in securing a grant from the Carnegie Corporation and organizing the library school, of which he was the first head.

He assisted in the founding and was the first editor, 1912-24, of The Alumni Review; a member of the committee to draw up the constitution for re-organization of the Alumni Association in 1912; executive secretary of the Alumni Loyalty Fund Council until recently.

Activities in State

He is accredited as being the person who wrote a memorandum to President Chase in 1920 which was largely instrumental in setting in motion the movement which resulted in the legislation in 1921 for what became known as the $20,000,000 program for the educational and charitable institutions of the state. He served with President Graham as the University's other representative on the Consolidation Commission of the state's higher institutions.

Dr. Wilson's thirty-one years as librarian were brilliant, the institution expanding from 32,000 volumes to 235,000 volumes, outgrowing two buildings, and now being quartered in the present $625,000 structure.

He has also received much recognition in library circles, and has been a member of the Advisory Board of Editors of the Journal of Adult Education.

Scientific Society to Meet

There will be a meeting of the Elisha Mitchell Society, local scientific organization, tonight in Phillips hall at 7:30 o'clock. The program will consist of addresses by H. N. Jenks and Dr. H. V. Wilson.

Brooks Arose From Public School Ranks To Present Position

dismissed. An investigation conducted by the committee on academic freedom and tenure of the American Association of University professors reported that the determining factor in the dismissal was the personal tension that existed between President Brooks and Doctor Taylor. The official reason given was that a lack of funds necessitated the curtailment of that department.

When Louis H. Wilson, editor of the Technician, weekly State College paper, was expelled in the spring of 1932, a similar furor was created. Wilson had criticized Governor Gardner and President Brooks in his column. The feeling was prevalent that had Wilson been an ordinary student and not editor of the paper, he would have been reinstated despite the reason given out that he had failed to pass the required amount of courses.

His Numerous Works

The newly-appointed vice-president's published works make an imposing number. In character with his profession most of them deal with academic subjects. The Story of Cotton and the Development of the Cotton States and Our Dual Government are two examples of the textbooks for high schools Brooks has had published. Brooks has also been active in the Democratic party activities in the state. In 1916, he wrote a book on Woodrow Wilson's first presidential term.

Brooks is the recipient of the degree of Litt.D. from Davidson, 1918, and has received the degree of LL.D. from Trinity in 1919 and the University in 1920.

"NO MORE ORCHIDS" TO BE SHOW AT CAROLINA

Carole Lombard stars in today's presentation at the Carolina theatre, Columbia's "No More Orchids." Lyle Talbot, who had a prominent part in "Three on a Match," has the leading male role. He portrays an alert young lawyer with whom Miss Lombard is in love, but whom her wealthy old grandfather dislikes. The latter refuses to lend money to her father, whose bank is in financial trouble, unless she marries a Prince. He thinks this marriage would make a proper match with royalty. The supporting cast includes Ruthelma Stevens, Jameson Thomas, Allen Vincent, Ed J. Le Stain, and Arthur Houseman.

NUMBER CHANGES DUE TO ADDITIONAL STATIONS

The change in numbers in the new telephone directory was caused through the numbers of pay stations and private residences being in the same number block, resulting in an inefficient and confusing system, according to J. S. Bennett of the University service plants.

In Chapel Hill six years ago there were only six pay stations while today there are thirty-six of them. At first, numbers in the same range caused no trouble, but the increase in the number of pay stations made the situation more complex. With the numbers of the residences which were one time in the pay station block changed the operator will no longer have to look in the directory for the pay station number to avoid mistakes.

DEAN ANNOUNCES REGISTRATION FOR TECHNICAL SCHOOL

Students transferring from engineering to other departments must obtain a permit from Dean Baity. This permit and the permit from the registrar's office must be presented to the dean of that school for acceptance and registration before December 17. Students transferring from other departments to the school of engineering must obtain a transfer from their present dean and present it with the permit from the registrar's office to Dean Baity, for acceptance and instruction as to registration, before December 21.

Payment is due on January 3. The student is able to save time by sending a check or money order together with his bill during the holiday period. The bill will be received and returned. For those students who are unable to do this a schedule for payment has been arranged which all students must follow:

- Jan. 3 names beginning A-B.
- Jan. 4 names beginning C-D.
- Jan. 5 names beginning E-F-G.
- Jan. 6 names beginning H-I-J.
- Jan. 7 names beginning K-L.
- Jan. 9 names beginning M-N-O.
- Jan. 10 names beginning P-Q-R.
- Jan. 11 names beginning S.
- Jan. 12 names beginning T-U-V.
- Jan. 13 names beginning W-Z.

Failure to pay or make proper arrangements during this period will result in a $5.00 fee for delay. Any student, resident in the fall quarter, who fails to register during the registration period will be charged $5.00 and placed on class probation. No excuses will be accepted.

BRADFORD BISSELL WILL LECTURE AT BOOK SHOP

Bradford Bissell, graduate student, will speak this afternoon at the weekly Bull's Head "get-together" in the "Y" at 4:30 o'clock.

The subject of Bissell's address will be "Java," which Bissell has visited and with which he is quite familiar. Bissell will display several examples of Javanese batik work. Phoebe Barr will demonstrate the native Javanese costume, the sarong. Everyone is invited to attend.

SECOND STUDENT GROUP WILL REGISTER TODAY

Juniors, seniors, and graduate students whose names begin with "D" through "H" will register today at the registrar's office. Students with names beginning with "A" through "C" registered yesterday. A similar plan will be carried out through the week.

Freshmen and new students do not register until Saturday through Wednesday, December 17-21.

University Women to Meet

The Association of University Women will conduct its regular meeting tonight in the Episcopal parish house at 8:00 o'clock.

A schoolboy wrote that the lord chancellor of England sits on the cabinet. He was probably thinking of the premier of Italy, who sits down on his cabinet hard and frequent.—Nashville Banner.

ORATOR WILL BE PICKED TOMORROW

Try-outs to Choose University
Representative Will Take Place Tomorrow.

The speaker who will represent the University at Raleigh in January in the fifth annual oratorical contest will be chosen tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock in Gerrard hall.

Contestants for the honor of representing the University will speak on "Public Education in North Carolina—Its Past and Future," both in Gerrard hall tomorrow, and at Raleigh January 20, 1933.

The American Legion, in sponsoring the fifth contest for the promotion of Americanism and patriotism in North Carolina, is offering four prizes, amounting to a hundred and sixty-five dollars, to the winners of the state contest.

Of the nine entries who will compete in Gerrard hall tomorrow, two have already distinguished themselves in public speaking at the University—L. H. Fountain, winner of the Mary D. Wright memorial medal this year, and E. E. Griffin, winner of the Legion contest last year.

Dr. George McKie of the English department and the faculty committee on debating is in charge of the local contest. It will be judged by members of the faculty committee on debating.
