CAROLINA SYMPHONY
SUNDAY
HILL MUSIC HALL

NUMBER 68

IRISH TEAM WILL DEBATE CAROLINA AT EIGHT TONIGHT

John Wilkinson and A. S. Kaplan To Uphold Negative Against Debaters From Dublin.

The Irish debaters of the University of Dublin will meet representatives of the University, in Gerrard hall, tonight at 8:00 o'clock.

John Wilkinson and A. S. Kaplan will represent the University. They will uphold the negative side of the question, "Resolved: That Nationalism is a bar to peace and or progress." Representatives of the University of Dublin are James J. Auchmuty, B.A., of Longford, Ireland; and Garrett E. Gill, B.A., LL.B., of the city of Dublin.

Carolina conducts one foreign debate each year. Last year's foreign encounter was with Oxford. This is the first time that the University has debated the University of Dublin.

The Irish debaters are touring America and are debating some of the leading universities and colleges of the country. They debated the University of Georgia last Monday night; and after spending Thursday night in Chapel Hill, they will conclude their tour Friday night, in a debate with George Washington University, in Washington, D.C.

The National Student Federation of America is sponsoring this series of Irish debates in America this fall.

PROFESSORS WILL GO TO LANGUAGE MEETING AT YALE

Several Members of Faculty to Read Papers at Conclave During Holidays.

A number of University professors from both the Romance language and English departments will attend the forty-ninth annual meeting of the Modern Language Association of America at New Haven, Conn., December 29, 30, and 31.

Yale University is the host to the meeting this year, which is the convention of all the sections of the Modern Language Association, the southern division of which met in Atlanta during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Six University professors will read papers on various specialized subjects. Dr. Ralph S. Boggs will read a paper on "The Halfchick Tale in Spain and France," Dr. Sterling Stoude-mire will speak on "The Popularity of Solis's Refundiciones de Siglo de Oro Plays," Dr. W. S. Wiley will read a paper on "Translations of Ovid in the French Renaissance," and Dr. N. B. Adams will speak on "The Year 1837 in the Theatres of Madrid." All of the professors mentioned are of the Romance language department.

Dr. George R. Coffman will speak on "Old Age From Horace to Chaucer: Some Literary Affinities and Adventures of an Idea," which in concerned with an account of the experiences of a passage from the writings of Horace in its changes at the hands of writers through the middle ages. Dr. Coffman will also discuss the use of this passage in Chaucer's Canterbury

Shaw-Henderson Fete Planned For January

A Shaw-Henderson festival is being planned by the Carolina Playmakers as their first offering for the next quarter. Dr. Archibald Henderson head of the mathematics department, will give a public lecture, "George Bernard Shaw, The Man And His Work," January 29, at 8:30 o'clock in the Playmakers theatre.

In the same week, February 2, 3, and 4, the Carolina Playmakers will present You Never Can Tell, one of Shaw's "pleasant plays." This drama, a satire on domestic relations, has been called one of Shaw's most popular pleasantries, and will be the Playmakers third public presentation of the season.

DANCE GROUP MAY CHOOSE BETWEEN LOWN AND WEEMS

Two Famous Orchestras Under Consideration for Spring Junior-Senior Dances.

With plans for having either Bert Lown or Ted Weems providing the music unsettled, the main features of the junior-senior dance set next spring were announced yesterday. Scheduled for Friday and Saturday, May 12 and 13, the social activities will climax the program of senior week, a traditional institution here at the University.

The series of dances will be comprised of the junior prom, Friday night from 9:00 until 1:00 o'clock, the junior-senior tea dance to be given Saturday afternoon from 4:00 until 6:00 o'clock, and the final dance of the group, the senior ball, scheduled to last from 9:00 o'clock to midnight Saturday. This affair will be the last dance before the finals to be given at the close of the term.

The planning of the week-end is being handled by the committee composed of the senior and junior class committees headed by Bill McKee. Guests of the seniors and juniors are expected to come from many parts, including Sweet Briar, St. Mary's, Woman's College and others.

RECENT VISITOR DONATES BOOKS TO LOCAL SCHOOLS

Miss Helen Ferris, library editor of the Literary Guild of New York, in appreciation of the treatment she received while visiting Chapel Hill last week, sent a large box of books to Miss Marks of the education department.

These books were distributed to the Carrboro school library, the children's library of the Chapel Hill graded schools, and to the colored school library, which libraries Miss Ferris visited during her stay here.

The donation will be made part of a special program at the graded school.

Season tickets, obtainable at one dollar, will be good for all of the series.

Monster Cow Needed To Fill Swain Hall's Daily Milk Pail

Statistics Compiled by Manager Obie Harmon Reveal That About 130 Gallons of Milk Are Used Daily at Campus Commons to Feed Casseine Hungry Students.

Twice during the past week a handsome cow grazed nonchalantly on the campus near Graham Memorial, totally impervious to the outraged looks on the faces of campus denizens.

Perhaps it was the sight of "Bossie" on the campus that led a Swain-fed freshman to ask a waiter at the commons: "Tell me, does this dining room keep its own cow back out here somewhere?"

If Swain hall management did keep a cow for such a purpose, it would have to be a mighty big cow—much larger than the one grazing near Graham Memorial this week.

In fact, if such were the case, Robert L. Ripley, genial compiler of "Believe It Or Not," would have given the animal national prominence as the "proud giver of 130 gallons of milk daily."

Big Milk Drinkers

But the drinking of that much milk is no impossibility to the students fed at Swain hall. The University dining room has actually used 130 gallons of milk per day, according to figures compiled by Manager Obie Harmon.

His figures show that between the opening of school in September and the last day of November the management served its diners with 7,578 gallons of sweet milk and 1,373 gallons of buttermilk. The sweet milk purchased by the dining room is "grade A pasteurized" and has a butter fat content of 4.2 per cent.

This milk was served on tables at Swain hall for drinking purposes, for use with cereals, and for use in coffee and cocoa.

Weight Increases

In observing the tremendous amount of milk that had been consumed in a short while, Manager Harmon also became interested in the reports that certain freshmen employed in Swain

REV. TOM WRIGHT WILL LEAVE HILL FOR NEW POSITION

Assistant Pastor of Chapel of Cross Offered Position as Secretary of College Work for Church.

Rev. Tom Wright, assistant rector of the Chapel of the Cross, and closely connected with University life has announced that he will probably have to leave Chapel Hill to accept a new position offered by the National Council of the Episcopal church. An offer to serve as acting secretary for college work is now being considered by Wright.

Wright graduated from Sewanee in 1926, and, following his graduation, he took the regular three year theological course at Virginia Theological Seminary, finishing in 1929. At the seminary Wright was president of the student body.

Following the completion of his work at V. T. S., Wright was assigned by the National Council to help with various duties in the fourth Province, which includes the district south of the Mason-Dixon line and east of the Mississippi. His new work will consist mainly in bringing before the people of the church the activities of college work and the need for financial support.

University Symphony's First Program Sunday

The University Symphony orchestra will appear for the first time this year in Hill Music hall, Sunday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock, presenting four major works from the symphonic field.

The program will open with the Egmont Overture by Beethoven, followed by Tschaikowsky's Nutcracker Suite, commemorating the Christmas season.

The orchestra will then play the Spanish Caprice of Rimsky-Korsakoff and will conclude the concert with the Siegfried Idylle by Wagner.

As is customary with all concerts given in Hill Music hall, no admission will be charged and the public is invited to attend.
