

Carolina Expects To Face Stiff Test In Tilt With State Tonight

White Phantoms Will Play Third Big Five Contest Against Red Terrors.

DOUBLE BILL IN TIN CAN

State Team Regarded as Impressive Despite Unsuccessful Northern Invasion.

The Carolina quintet encounters a third Big Five opponent and a second Southern Conference team tonight when it meets the Red Terrors from N. C. State in the Tin Can at 8:30 o'clock. The frosh teams meet at 7:30 in the opener of the double bill.

The White Phantoms have a record of two wins in the Big Five race and they have conquered their only conference foe, V. P. I. Their unbeaten string is up for another stiff test tonight as State will present a strong and speedy outfit.

The Red Terrors have not played any Big Five members but they looked equally as impressive as the Tar Heels against V. P. I. Though they were set back on their northern trip, the State boys reversed their form and against Furman and the Gobblers sounded a warning that has been heard and respected all over the state.

Team Works Hard

Coach Bo Shepard had his men working hard on their defense against the shifty State attack yesterday and are set to bid fair for their third Big Five victory and their fifth of the season. Coach Shepard was pleased with the work of Earle Beale at center against Wake Forest and has been using him with the second combination. He plans to start Captain Hines and Weathers at forwards, Brandt at center, and Aitken and McCachren at guards.

Coach Sermon of State will have Johnson and Jay as forwards, Beaghen center, with Captain Clark and Nelms at guards. Jay and Beaghen are sophomores while the other three men are veterans. Jay is the flash who has been doing most of State's scoring this season.

TAR BABY QUINT WILL MEET STATE

Frosh Play Wolflets Here Tonight at 7:30; State Engages In First Big Five Game.

With a decisive victory over Wake Forest's yearling team in their opening contest, Carolina's Tar Baby basketball team is all set to meet the first year team from State in the Tin Can tonight at 7:30.

Both Bill Rankin and Murray Kanner, centers who were absent for the game with the Baby Deacons, are back out and ready to go. Rankin has been in the infirmary for the last week but is fully recovered and will probably start at center. Frank Orr and Kanner will be held in reserve in case Rankin is unable to go the full route.

The rest of the starting team will be the same that played most of the contest last Saturday. Melvin Nelson, who has sixteen points to his credit for the first game, and Bill Moore will hold down the two forwards. Jim McCachren and Red Phelps are slated to start at the guard positions.

In their only contest of the year so far, State's freshmen ran wild over Jim Magner's Mt. Pleasant team. This will be the first start for State yearlings against Fig Five and they will be out to take it.

You can trust majorities as a rule. If they aren't right, they soon cease to be majorities.—

Tin Can Tales

by MARLING SPIKE

The election of Marty Levinson as captain of the Carolina boxing team last Saturday night comes as a well earned tribute to one of the most colorful fighters this institution has ever had. Levinson has done much to make the ring game popular here and wherever he fights there are sure to be at least a portion of the crowd on hand for no other purpose but to see him in action.

Marty lost one bout his freshman year, three as a sophomore, and one last year, and all of them were close. His record speaks for itself. Saturday night Marty started off his final year of intercollegiate competition with a knockout in exactly one minute. Not bad!

Levinson's captaincy will mean a great deal to the team and to Marty. Watch those boys go from now on. Their 6-2 win over V. P. I. was anything but displeasing and the team will improve as the season progresses.

A certain person tells us that Max Frucht, Tar Baby featherweight, won a four round decision over Campbell although somewhat out on his feet from the second round on. The same

MAT TEAMS TAKE LIGHT WORKOUTS

Varsity and Yearling Squads Will Meet in Gerrard Hall Tonight at 7:30 O'clock.

Carolina's varsity and freshman wrestling teams took light work-outs yesterday as Coach Quinlan offered his mat proteges a brief respite following their disastrous invasion of the State Wolfpack's lair, in Raleigh.

The Tar Heels' wrestling mentor was disappointed in his charges' showing against State, but is expecting his men will do better work against the V. P. I. Gobblers who come to Chapel Hill Saturday afternoon.

Although the Tar Heels did not do any hard work yesterday afternoon, the grappling candidates got a load of conditioning exercises in their opening calisthenic drills. These were followed by some light work on the mat.

May Change Line-up

The Carolina mat mentor may juggle his line-up in the meet Saturday with several new faces appearing on both his freshman and varsity teams, unless marked improvement in spirit and work is shown by some of the men now out.

Coach Quinlan has called a meeting of both varsity and yearling wrestling squads in Gerrard hall tonight, with the time of the gathering set for 7:30 o'clock.

It was definitely announced by the Tar Heel wrestling coach yesterday that Carolina will send a team representation to

Veteran Track Coach Voices Plea For True Carolina Sportsmanship

Bob Fetzter Points Out Duty of Students Towards Visiting Teams During Winter.

Coach Bob Fetzter, "grand old man of Carolina athletics" and veteran builder of winning track teams, yesterday made a plea for true Carolina sportsmanship at winter athletic events. His statement follows:

"Sportsmanship is the Golden Rule applied to athletics; it is that ideal practiced in athletic contests which insures fair play; it is that indefinable something which pervades athletics, lifting it from the plane of a sordid struggle for physical supremacy to a contest where fair play, respect of the rights of others and a spirit of gallant competition outweigh mere victory; it is an opportunity to cling to an ideal in an age when civilization is calling on the schools to help hold up its tottering ideals.

"Sportsmanship is not limited either to the contestants. Its development and practice are just as noticeable and essential among the student body and the general public who witness the contest. Because of their superior advantages and backgrounds, and the fact that the student body is really the host to all visiting teams, it is their responsibility and duty to crystallize this sentiment of real sportsmanship, to exemplify it in their own behavior, and so create an atmosphere that will pervade the whole audience.

"Again, the display or the lack of display of sportsmanship

VICTORY FAILS TO IMPRESS MENTOR

Boxing Coach Has Charges Hard at Work in Preparation for Meet With N. C. State.

Coach Rowe, not as much impressed with his boxing team's victory over V. P. I. Saturday as the spectators were, sent the boys right back to work Monday and he has had them at it ever since.

"State," he said, "has a strong team and will give us much tougher opposition than V. P. I. did. My boys will have to work hard right up until the gong rings to be in shape. And the meets with Duke, Virginia, and Penn State, which are not far off, will be even tougher."

Apparently the boys realize the truth of Coach Rowe's words, for they have been working doubly hard ever since Monday.

is more noticeable during the winter sports season than at any other time, on account of the smallness and compactness of the crowds and the proximity of spectators and contestants. The slightest indiscretion in conduct at an indoor contest is magnified and may easily be mistaken for gross rudeness. At the same time the indoor season offers us the best opportunity to exemplify and practice our high code of sportsmanship, and the University of North Carolina will have no better chance to show its hospitality and respect for the visiting teams who are its guests."

PHI KAPPA SIGMA LOSES FAST TILT TO PI KAPPA PHI

Cecil Longest Amasses Twenty-Two Points to Set New Intramural Record.

A new fraternity scoring mark for an individual intramural player was set yesterday as Cecil Longest, of Theta Kappa Nu, amassed twenty-two points in his team's victory over Phi Delta Chi.

In the most exciting contest of the intramural program yesterday, Pi Kappa Phi won a nip and tuck battle from Phi Kappa Sigma, 19-18. With thirty seconds to play the score was 16-15 in favor of Pi Kappa Phi. Reid, of Phi Kappa Sigma, sank a spectacular goal at this point to put his team in the lead, but Pendelton countered with a basket which passed through the ring with one second remaining, giving the victory to Pi Kappa Phi. Poole, of the winners, led the scorers with ten points, while Dossenbach with nine, and Reid with six, were the high men on the losing outfit.

T. E. P. Wins Again

Tau Epsilon Phi continued on its way undefeated by downing Theta Chi, 28-19, in a slow game. Kanner, T. E. P.'s center, accounted for thirteen of his team's points. Jacobs, his teammate, added five more, while Kelly stood out for Theta Chi with seven points.

Cecil Longest's scoring was the feature of the Theta Kappa

People know it..

"Chesterfields taste Better"

WE HAVE been telling the public for a good many years that Chesterfields taste better. They satisfy!

That wouldn't mean a thing if smokers found out that it wasn't so. Nobody can fool the people very long.

But a great many smokers have smoked Chesterfields for a long time, and they know that they taste right. And so they say to their friends, "If you want a cigarette that really tastes better, try Chesterfields!"

Chesterfields taste better because they are made of mild tobaccos that have been aged for two years. And there is just enough Turkish in them... but not too much.

We are sure that you, too, will enjoy their Mildness and Better Taste.
