Independence for Philippines
Freedom for the Philippines was granted by congress yesterday in Washington, the senate voting to override President Hoover's veto of the Independence bill. The house last Friday voted 274 to 94 to override the veto, more than the margin required, and the senate vote yesterday was 66 to 26.

Ehringhaus Takes Stand
The budget message of Governor Ehringhaus, disagreeing in several points with the recommendations of the state advisory budget commission but demanding every possible economy in state government, caused varied comment by legislators in Raleigh yesterday.

Insult to Become Son of Greece
Samuel Insull, whose American passport recently was annulled by the United States government, has applied for Greek citizenship.

No Peace in Near East
The Japanese have resumed their attack from the air on Chinese defenders of Northeastern Jehol, bombing the winter trenches with such good effect, military leaders reported, that the Chinese volunteer concentration at Tungliao was broken up yesterday.

Nu-Phi Delta Chi game, which was won by Theta Kappa Nu, 33-12. Myers and Berry added four points each to the winners' total, while Barham excelled for the pharmacists with six.

Carr and Mitchell House battled to determine which was to break into the winning column, with the lawyers coming out on top, 29-24, in a hotly contested game. James Bailey scored eight points for Carr, but Andrews, who scored only seven, was his team's outstanding player. Lovett and Robinson scored eight and six points respectively for Mitchell House.

Independents won from Old West and Zeta Psi scored over Sigma Phi Sigma, a hitherto undefeated quintet, by virtue of forfeits.

Intramural games listed for this afternoon are as follows: 3:45—1. Swain Hall vs. Steele. 2. Delta Kappa Epsilon vs. Sigma Phi Epsilon. 3. Sigma Chi vs. Phi Gamma Delta. 4:45—1. Aycock vs. Grimes. 2. Zeta Beta Tau vs. Phi Sigma Kappa. 3. Everett vs. New Dorms.

Staff Smoker Friday

Meeting in a social gathering for the first time this year, the editorial and business staffs of the DAILY TAR HEEL will conduct a smoker Friday night in Graham Memorial.

An interesting program has been arranged and refreshments will be served.

Following the affair, the staff will be entertained at a special showing at the Carolina theatre through the courtesy of E. Carington Smith, manager of the theatre.

Co-ed Tea

Miss Elizabeth Phillips and Mary Byrd Perrow will be hostesses at the regular weekly tea in Spencer hall today from 4:30 to 6:00 o'clock.

Soph Council to Meet

The executive council of the sophomore class will meet in the Y building tomorrow evening at 7:30 p. m.

SALON ENSEMBLE
TO PLAY TONIGHT

Group Appears at Carolina Inn Before North Carolina Press Association.

The Carolina Salon Ensemble will make its fourth campus appearance at the Carolina Inn before the convention of the North Carolina Press Association. Thor Johnson will conduct the group.

The purpose of the program is to present a group of musical selections by North Carolina composers and based on native North Carolina themes. The feature numbers will be Lamar Stringfield's Cripple Creek, which is based on an old banjo breakdown of Anglo-Saxon origin preserved by the people of western North Carolina, and his setting of the folk tune Pretty Polly which he has titled After Midnight. This last selection was originally written for violoncello solo with piano but has been orchestrated by the composer especially for performance by the salon ensemble. Herbert Hazelman's popular Danse Moronique will also be played.

thing happened here last year when Dave Stoops, Penn State bantam, got off the floor to knock out Cliff Glover and failed to realize the fact until told about it after the fight. Another certain person told us that.

Vergil Weathers scored 12 points against Wake Forest, which in itself means nothing. But it adds proof to the claim that Verg is one of the best "pinch" players Carolina has. Last year he played his best basketball in the Southern Conference tournament where the stakes were high. Saturday he did the same thing. When a really strong opponent showed up, he came through not solely with high score honors but brilliant floor work, which was of greater importance.

A high scorer, especially one consciously so, is not always the most valuable man on a team. No one likes to see one of these birds who try to hog all the shots, who bang away at the basket from any old position rather than pass to someone else merely because he wants to be sure that his individual point score is higher than anyone else's.

There were indications that something of the sort was about to break out on the White Phantoms when the boys were rolling through their easy games, but now that the tough ones are coming along, that should disappear. It's a lot more pleasant to be a cog in a winning machine than high point man on a losing one.

Jack Glace's contortions Friday night brought plenty of laughs, but we like him. True, Jason doesn't look a great deal like a ballet dancer but he gets things done and that's what counts. In the past Carolina has had a lot of basketball players with too much form and not enough ability. Therefore, it's a bit refreshing to watch Glace untangle himself, fumble around slightly, and sink the ball for the same two points that would have been rung up had he performed the feat more gracefully. He is aggressive, a fighter, and he'll come along all right. Don't worry about that.

Elected First-Vice-President

Dr. Hubert B. Haywood, elected last month to be first vice-president of the Central Alumni Association, has been physician at various times to nearly every institution in Raleigh. Among these are State College, St. Mary's School, Peace Junior College, State School for the Blind, and the State Hospital for the Insane. In addition he has built up a large private practice to which he now devotes most of his time.

As a student at the University, Dr. Haywood was a member of the scrub football team and of various class teams, an editor both of the Yackety Yack and Carolina Magazine, and in his junior year was tapped for membership in Golden Fleece. He was graduated a Ph.B., a degree not now given.

Following his graduation at Chapel Hill he entered the medical school of the University of Pennsylvania, from which he received his M.D. in 1909. Later he did post-graduate work at the University of Edinburgh in Scotland.

A son, Hubert B. Haywood, Jr., is a member of the present freshman class in the University.

Co-Starred In Show

Eleanora Duse, the famous tragedienne of a generation ago, had the most exquisite and expressive hands of any other woman. Zasu Pitts, one of the screen's most popular comedienne, possesses hands equally as expressive, which by their movements can portray emotions far more effectively than the words and actions of most other players.

Today, she is co-starred with Slim Summerville at the Carolina theatre in the Universal comedy, "They Just Had to Get Married." The supporting cast includes Roland Young, Verree Teasdale, and Fifi D'Orsay.

"Y" Committee to Meet

There will be a meeting of the constitutional committee of the Y. M. C. A. in the junior-senior cabinet room of the "Y" this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock. L. L. Hutchison, chairman, has asked that all members be present.

Sigma Xi Dines

Sigma Xi, scientific society, gave a joint dinner last night with the new Duke chapter at the Duke union. The society later took an inspection tour, conducted by Dean Davison, through the new Duke hospital.

Smoker Postponed

Due to the basketball game with State tonight the smoker for the men of Old West, scheduled also for tonight, has been postponed until 8:00 tomorrow evening.
