At the Monday meeting the students assembled will, likewise, give official sanction to a petition to be sent to the appropriation committee of the legislature, and another to the state press.

The meeting is sponsored entirely by student leaders on the campus in the hope of demonstrating to the members of the legislature the interest that the student body has in any action they might take toward slashing the University's budget for the coming year, as well as those of the other state educational institutions.

Plans for Transportation

CEMENT MARKER WILL BE PUT AT BASE OF TOWER

Latest Construction on Campus Is Part of National Triangular Measurement System.

Students and professors walking across the campus yesterday were surprised to find that a huge steel tower was being placed in the center of the campus, between South building and the library. Little groups of students stopped all during the day to inquire about this atrocity, but moved slowly on, much relieved when they were told that it would be removed in a few days.

This tower is being erected by the United States Coast and Geodetic Survey as a part of the triangular system used in mapping the country. Two other similar towers have been placed in this vicinity, one at Duke University and the other at Hillsboro. The exact distance between these towers was determined by a group of army engineers who came through here several weeks ago. These engineers worked with steel tapes and obtained the measurement with an error of only a small fraction of an inch.

Lights Will Form Triangle
An automobile headlight will be placed in the top of the tower and for several nights will be directed toward the other stations nearby. Observers will measure the angles between these stations to the fraction of a second, and in this manner a triangle will be formed. After serving its purpose here the tower will be moved to another location.

The purpose of these measurements is to furnish a base to which future surveys and boundaries will be anchored. Similar triangles are being formed all over the country with the latitude and longitude accurately figured, and these points will serve as permanent fixed bases to which all land marks will be "tied." A concrete marker will be placed in the spot now occupied by the tower.

DR. HARRY CHASE RESIGNS POST AT ILLINOIS SCHOOL

Ex-President of University Accepts Chancellorship at New York University.

Dr. Harry Woodburn Chase, former president of the University of North Carolina, and the immediate predecessor of President Frank Graham, resigns his post today as president of the University of Illinois to become chancellor of New York University.

Although expressing regrets at leaving the University of Illinois, Dr. Chase said: "The chancellorship of New York University seems to me to present a distinctive and challenging opportunity and I have felt that I should accept it. New York University is carrying through a program of service to the metropolitan area which makes it, to me, one of the most interesting educational institutions in the country."

Starts New Schools

Under Chase's administration at the University of Illinois a college of fine and applied arts and a school of physical welfare were added to the University, disciplinary powers were vested in the university senate, and an economy program was carried through which cut down the operating costs of the school by twenty-two per cent for the current biennium.

Chase is a graduate of Dartmouth College and Clark University. He came to the University of North Carolina as professor of the philosophy of education in 1910. Following the death of Dr. Edward Kidder Graham in 1918, Chase became acting-president of the University. Serving in this capacity, he carried out Graham's reconstruction program so successfully that the board of trustees appointed him president of the University in 1920. From 1920 to 1930 under Chase's administration the University experienced the greatest decade of material growth in its history.

Chase left Chapel Hill in 1930, to become president of the University of Illinois, which office he has held for the past two years. Dr. Chase's resignation will be effective at the end of the scholastic year, or "as soon after as may be expedient."

TRUSTEES DEFER ACTION IN FILLING VICE-PRESIDENCY

Board Passes Resolution to Have Five Members Appear at Appropriations Hearing.

Dr. Louis Round Wilson, librarian at the University of Chicago and formerly at the University, was nominated for the position by a special committee of the board but the executive committee suggested that the election be put off.

The board authorized Dr. Frank Graham, president of the Greater University, to make "temporary provision" for the conduct of the Chapel Hill unit pending the election of a vice-president.

Reports Heard

Dr. Frank Graham, Dr. E. C. Brooks, vice-president of State College at Raleigh, and Dr. J. I. Foust, vice-president of the College of Women at Greensboro, made their annual reports to the board of trustees, on the condition of their respective units of the Greater University.

The University budget was discussed and a resolution was passed stating that the Governor, J. C. B. Ehringhaus, who is ex-officio chairman of the board, appoint five of the board to appear, with the president and the two vice-presidents, before the joint appropriations committee of the legislature. The date of the hearing before this committee has not been definitely announced, but it is expected to take place next week.

FETZER BEMOANS STUDENT CONDUCT AT STATE MATCH

Director of Athletics Speaks to Freshman Y Cabinet Urging Better Sportsmanship.

Speaking before the freshman friendship council Monday night, Coach Bob Fetzer deplored the unsportsmanlike conduct of University fans at the U. N. C.-State boxing meet last Saturday, and urged that all members of the group use their influence in curbing a possible recurrence of the performance.

"The University," said Coach Fetzer, "has always prided itself on its sportsmanship. Cases of complaints by visiting teams of Carolina's lack of sporting qualities have been exceedingly rare. It is up to everyone on the campus to cooperate in re-establishing here that same spirit of good sportsmanship which so obviously was disregarded last Saturday."

Olympic Sportsmanship

Coach Fetzer cited instances of real sportsmanship that occurred last summer at the Olympic games at Los Angeles, where he was a spectator. The complete lack of underhand methods and the strict compliance with the Olympic oath was marvelous, said the University athletic director. He went on further to say that the fact that spectators disagree with the decision of the referee does not call for any vocal manifestation on their part.
