ARTIST LECTURES ON ETCHING AND ENGRAVING HERE

John Taylor Arms Completes Engraving Process to Illustrate Talk Tuesday.

John Taylor Arms, prominent American etcher, presented a comprehensive lecture Tuesday night in Hill Music auditorium on "The Making of an Etching." The program was brought here by Mrs. Katherine Pendleton Arrington of Warrenton.

Arms, who is the president of the Society of American Etchers, formed the complete process of making an etching. He drew his work on a copper plate and printed the piece, for his audience. Arms was forced to work hurriedly in order to complete his work, since the ordinary time employed in etching-making by great artists is often several weeks. His finished product, however, was a beautiful creation of three hours' work and was enthusiastically applauded at the conclusion of the program.

The noted etcher was able to give a brief description of the different kinds of engraving during a slight intermission in the process. He explained the various differences between regular linear etchings, dry points, mezzotints, and aquatints, and displayed examples of each type of art.

Dr. J. P. Harland of the archaeology department introduced the lecturer.

SECRETARIES OF ALUMNI CLUBS TO MEET IN DURHAM

Alumni Officers of Six States Will Convene for Discussions February 24-25.

Alumni secretaries in district three of the American Alumni Council will attend a conference at the Washington Duke Hotel, Durham, February 24-25. J. Maryon Saunders, alumni secretary of the University is director of this division which comprises six southern states.

Among subjects to be discussed informally at the convention are alumni records, funds, and magazines, mailing lists, work with classes and reunions, work with local clubs, financing of alumni offices, preparing students for alumni-hood, and the induction of graduates into alumni associations.

Dwive to Be Toastmaster
Henry R. Dwive, director of public relations and alumni affairs at Duke University, will act as toastmaster at an informal dinner in the Duke union, Friday night, February 24. President W. P. Few of Duke will speak. Concerts on the Duke carillon and pipe organ will be given for conference visitors before and after the evening program.

Saturday will include the discussion meeting and a message from the American council by Miss Clara Byrd of the Woman's College. A campus inspection trip to Chapel Hill will take place Saturday afternoon.

Last year the conference took place at Rollins College, Winter Park, Florida. Alabama, Georgia, North and South Carolina, Florida, and Virginia are states in the third district.

DI APPROVES LOW RENT TO ASSIST SELF-HELP

A bill stipulating that Graham dormitory should be rented to self-help students at reduced rates until such a time when the University shall need it for tenants paying the regular rates was overwhelmingly passed by the Dialectic Senate Tuesday night.

Three amendments to the constitution proposed at a previous meeting were not voted on because of absence of the proposer. Action on the pending bills will be taken next week.

CHIH MENG WILL LEAD DISCUSSIONS HERE NEXT WEEK

Prominent Chinese Will Offer Series of Lectures on Sino-Japanese Problems.

Dr. Chih Meng, associate director of the China Institute in America, who will conduct a series of lectures and forum discussions on Sino-Japanese problems at the University beginning February 21, is recognized as one of the leading present-day authorities on Chinese problems.

Dr. Meng is being brought to the University by the local Y. M. C. A. through the China Institute, the purpose of which is to promote educational and cultural relations between China and the United States.

The Meng family came originally from Shantung, the birthplace of Meng-Tze (Mencius), 372-289 B.C., the foremost of China's political philosophers. Dr. Meng's grandfather and father were government officials, and their positions took them to Manchuria, where he lived for a number of years.

Visited Student Centers
When the Nationalist party unified the country in 1927, Meng travelled extensively in China, visiting the different student centers and making first-hand study of the social conditions. In 1928 he was invited by the student federations of Europe to visit the different student centers and lecture on the conditions in China and the aspirations of the Nationalist movement.

Meng is author of the book China Speaks on the Conflict Between China and Japan, which was published by the MacMillan company in April 1932. Meng has lectured extensively in this country, recent lectures having been given at the Institute of Politics, Williamston, Massachusetts, and at meetings of the Foreign Policy Association.

Dr. Chase Has Had Wide Experience As President Of Three Universities

Former Head of University Knows Private New England School, Small Specialized Institution, Southern, Mid-Western, And Now Metropolitan University.

In his twenty busy years of pedagogy, Dr. Harry Woodburn Chase, recently chosen to head huge New York University, has been affiliated with a number of institutions which appear to be typical of American educational centers. From the president's office at the University, oldest state institution in the country, he went to the University of Illinois, typical of the large mid-western colleges which have developed in the last sixty years. Rounding out the cycle, it is at present a privately endowed school which claims him as chief administrator.

Dr. Chase may be said to have been associated in his career with virtually all the varied extant types of higher educational organizations. Obtaining his A.B. degree at Dartmouth, he was there acquainted with the personality of an aristocratic private New England school. Clark University, where he secured his doctorate, has long been an example of the small institution which thrives on specialization.

Southern Tradition Here

While in Chapel Hill, as professor and president, Dr. Chase encountered the southern educational tradition, vastly different in method and approach from the systems to which he had been previously exposed. During his term of chief executive, the student body was comprised

Acce to Lead Devotional

The morning devotional service in Memorial hall will be conducted by John Acce today at 10:30 o'clock. Selections by Walter Patterson, organist, will conclude the service.

GITHENS WILL DELIVER LECTURE TO RADIO FANS

There will be a meeting at 7:30 o'clock in 206 Phillips hall of all students and townspeople interested in amateur radio operation of an experimental nature. Sherwood Githens, a graduate student in physics, will deliver an illustrated lecture on "Wave-forms characteristic of vacuum tube oscillators." The lecture will contain results of research in the physics department. Immediately following the lecture there will be code practice for anyone interested.

MISS CHAPPELL WILL LEAD OPEN FORUM TONIGHT

Well-Known Student of Industrial Struggles to Speak on "Breaking Breadlines."

Dr. Winifred L. Chappell, secretary of the Methodist federation for social service, who has been an investigator of many of the most important industrial struggles in the United States, will speak here tonight on the sixth Open Forum discussion. Her topic is "Breaking the Breadlines." Miss Chappell has become well known as co-editor with Professor Harry F. Ward of the Social Service Bulletin.

Prior to 1922, Miss Chappell was an instructor of social science at the Chicago Training School for Missions. In this work she made a close study of the effect of industrial conditions upon the social, moral, and religious life of the skilled and unskilled workers of Chicago. For some time she was chairman of the Labor Committee of the Woman Church Federation of Chicago. In 1926 she made a study of the historical strike of the Passaic textile workers for the Christian Century. Later she made a detailed study of the New York garment industry for the World Tomorrow.

Long Experience as Speaker

Miss Chappell has had a long and varied experience on the speaking platform and with forum groups. She has written for many church and lay publications, contributed a chapter to a book for church youth, Social Adventure, and edited An American Pilgrimage, excerpts of letters written by Grace Scribner.

Miss Chappell's participation in the lecture series here will bring to the discussion the informed attitude of an alert, sympathetic woman who has seen much of the injustice of irregular American industry and has devoted her life to the fight for justice in the economic field, as well as the political field.

Dr. Stanbury Will Preach Here Sunday

Dr. W. A. Stanbury, pastor of the Duke Memorial Methodist church in Durham and former pastor of the Methodist church in Chapel Hill, will preach in Chapel Hill Sunday morning.

Dr. Stanbury teaches a course on "Worship" in the Duke School of Religion, has been one of the leading ministers in the North Carolina conference of the Methodist church, and is president of the board of Christian education in the North Carolina conference and therefore has a particular interest in the work of the church among the students at Chapel Hill.

PRESIDENT-ELECT ESCAPES FIRE OF WOULD-BE KILLER

Four Members of Roosevelt's Party at City Reception in Miami Wounded.

President-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt was fired at five times shortly after 10:30 o'clock last night by a political fanatic while speaking at a city reception for him in Bay Front Park in Miami, Florida. None of the shots wounded him, but Mayor Anton Cermak of Chicago, in Roosevelt's car, was reported to be seriously injured by the shots which took effect in his back.

The president-elect was perfectly composed after the firing, waving his hand at the crowd of twenty-five thousand who had gathered for the city's welcome for him.

Others Injured
Mrs. Cermak, William Sinit of the state department, and Mayor R. B. Gautier of Miami were also injured by the shots.

This is said to be the first attempt on the life of a president-elect in the history of the nation.

The would-be assassin was arrested immediately after the shooting and is now held in the Dade county jail.

With the report of the shooting came the announcement that Roosevelt's northern trip has been indefinitely postponed.

ORGANISTS WILL MEET AT RESORT FOR CONVENTION

Nelson O. Kennedy, University Musician and Dean of Organ Guild, Will Attend.

The North Carolina chapter of the American Guild of organists will meet in Pinehurst Saturday afternoon, February 25, in the first mid-winter convention of the organization.

Professor Nelson O. Kennedy, University instructor in music and dean of the North Carolina guild, will attend as representative from this section.

The meet has been arranged by Frederick S. Smith, sub-dean of the guild, in an attempt to establish a precedent of two meetings each year.

The guild convened in Chapel Hill last spring and will meet here again in March. In connection with this year's meet the group will sponsor a contest for student organists of the state.

An organ recital, arranged in connection with the Pinehurst meet, will be presented by Professor Leslie P. Spelman, director of music at Meredith College. Dr. H. Augustine Smith of Boston University will address the convention.

The purpose of the mid-winter convention is to emphasize social activities in the association of American organists. Delegates are expected from all over the state.

Buccaneer Staff to Meet

The business staff of the Carolina Buccaneer will convene this evening at 7:00 o'clock in the offices of the publication.

Members of the business and editorial staffs of the Buccaneer who have not paid banquet fees are expected to do so at once.
