INVITATIONS SENT OUT FOR LIBRARY CONFERENCE HERE

Meeting April 7-8 Sponsored by American and Southeastern Library Associations.

President Frank P. Graham last week issued invitations for a library conference to be conducted at the University April 7-8. The conference is being sponsored by the American Library Association and the Southeastern Library Association.

The library will be considered in its relation to the other agencies of the community and in its governmental aspects, with a view to discovering how it supplements the activities of the other agencies. At the same time plans will be discussed by which present facilities can be extended. From a recent survey of libraries in the southern region it has been found that two-thirds of the people in the south are without access to local public library service.

The list to whom invitations were sent includes newspaper editors, civic organizations, women's organizations, welfare agencies, college and university presidents, representatives of educational foundations, public school men, representatives of church boards, agricultural extension workers, librarians and library trustees.

There will be four sessions with a dinner Friday evening. Leaders of the sessions will be Louis Brownlow, director, Public Administration Clearing House, Chicago; Wilson Gee, director, Institute of Research of the Social Sciences, University of Virginia, Charlottesville, Virginia; Belsion Y. Landis, executive secretary, American Country Life Conference, New York.

History And Government Study Aimed To Aid Broad Education

Increased Student Interest Accounted for Through Connection of Courses With Contemporary Problems in Political Science, Government Economy, and Cultural Development.

(EDITOR'S NOTE: THE DAILY TAR HEEL continues today its series of departmental surveys with the intention of presenting student opinion on courses listed in the University catalogue, as a guide to students about to register for the spring quarter. Opinions offered in this series are not necessarily those of THE DAILY TAR HEEL.)

History and government as taught at the University aim to meet the needs of both students who desire only a general knowledge of the subject and those who require detailed information. "It must, therefore," explained Professor R. D. W. Connor in stating the purposes of history and government department of which he is head, "include in its offerings both general survey courses and detailed courses." Dr. Connor is convinced that history and government are so closely inter-related that his views here presented may be taken as of both subjects.

Quoting from a great English historian, he describes one purpose of history as acquiring the ability "to enable one to read the morning newspaper with intelligence, that is, understand the world in which he lives and moves and has being."

To this view Dr. Connor adds, "Historical studies have, also, important cultural values. Properly pursued they should broaden a man's outlook, cultivate in him the habit of taking the all-around, long view perspectives of contemporary problems and situations, and, like the study of literature furnish him with re-

WINDSOR SPEAKS IN ASSEMBLY ON DEBT PAYMENTS

World Traveler Addresses Freshmen And Sophomores on International Economics.

Philip B. Windsor, world traveler, graduate of Cornell, and authority on international affairs, yesterday spoke to the freshmen and sophomores at assembly on "International Economics."

Windsor presented the fact that the fundamental economic law in international relations is that obligations arising from war debts can be repaid, in the long run, only by goods and services. According to Windsor, gold is misused when international debts are repaid with it. Along with this fundamental principle, Windsor gave two corollaries. The capacity of debtor nations to pay debts is equal to the excess of its exports over its imports. Windsor's second point was that the capacity of the creditor nation to receive payment is equal to excess of imports over exports.

Windsor closed his talk by emphasizing the fact that all talk about United States' debtors spending money on armaments is all very foolish because the money used to pay for armaments is the nation's own paper currency and not gold, which is the currency used for paying off international debts.

PLANS MADE FOR NEW SQUARE AND WALK ON CAMPUS

Preliminary Surveys Taken for Walk From Student Union to Battle-Vance-Pettigrew.

Workmen of the buildings department were yesterday morning making preliminary surveys for the construction of a walk from Graham Memorial to Battle-Vance-Pettigrew dormitories and to the gate opposite the post office.

Plans drawn up by H. D. Carter of Atwood and Weeks, University architects, include a new walk from the union building, a fifty-foot circle between Graham Memorial and the three dormitories, and the re-laying of another walk.

These plans have been submitted to the grounds committee and members have expressed their approbation. P. L. Burch of the buildings department is at present making an estimate on the project which is expected to cost around $1,000.

The proposed circle will be placed at the intersection of two diagonal paths in the court between the union building and the three dormitories. A straight path will be laid from the front of the union building across the campus through the circle to the dormitories. To be in harmony with the landscape scheme of the campus, the diagonal path coming out at the Franklin street gate near Graham Memorial will have to be re-laid.

PRESS OFFICIALS ASK RETRACTION BY DAVID CLARK

Editorial Statements in Southern Textile Bulletin Questioned by W. T. Couch.

A complete retraction for statements in his editorial in the Southern Textile Bulletin of February 23 containing disparaging information concerning the activities of the University of North Carolina Press has been demanded from David Clark, long-time journalistic antagonist of the University, by officials of the press through W. T. Couch, director, it was learned here yesterday.

Attacking the recent volume by Columbus Andrews Administrative County Government in South Carolina, Clark declared in an editorial head "Their Usual Meddling" that the "taxpayers of North Carolina paid for printing the volume and that they are even now contributing approximately $25,000 per year for printing and publicity at the University of North Carolina, much of which is for the purpose of spreading socialistic and communistic doctrines."

South Carolina Pays

From entries in the journal of the University Press dated January 7 shown to a representative of THE DAILY TAR HEEL, it was fully shown that the volume Administrative County Government in South Carolina was actually paid for by the state of South Carolina. Correspondence with Dr. S. M. Derrick, a member of the University of South Carolina faculty and from the secretary to Governor Ira Blackwood, all filed in the Press offices, substantiated the statement that the state of South Carolina paid for the
