

MANDAMUS SUIT TO BE RESUMED COMING TUESDAY

Dr. Wilson Testifies That Durham Negro Did Not Show Proper Entrance Credits.

The mandamus hearing of Dr. Thomas J. Wilson, Jr., registrar of the University, to show cause why Thomas R. Hottel, Durham Negro should not be admitted into the local pharmacy school, was continued by Judge M. V. Barnhill in the Durham county superior court yesterday.

Judge Barnhill ordered a recess yesterday afternoon after several witnesses had been examined. The hearing, which was continued from Friday afternoon until yesterday, will be resumed Tuesday when arguments will be presented. Judge Barnhill's decision will follow.

Dr. Wilson Testifies
Dr. Wilson testified that Hottel had exhibited in his application for entrance to the school of pharmacy no qualifications other than his record at the Hill Park high school in Durham. In addition, he failed to present a record of his work at North Carolina College for Negroes, which the plaintiff's counsel admitted.

Dr. Wilson, against whom the suit is brought as official of the University, is represented by Attorney-General Dennis G. (Continued on page three)

DAVIDSON GROUP COMES HERE ON DEPUTATION TRIP

Team Headed by Brown and Thompson to Lead Three Discussions Today.

A special deputation group of twelve cabinet members from the Davidson College Y. M. C. A. arrived here last night to visit the local "Y" organization over the week-end.

The team is composed of Paul F. Brown, president of the Davidson "Y," W. M. Thompson, newly elected president for next year, Tom Phifer, Charlie Moore, Francis Scott, Bob Orr, Sam Wiley, Bob Coit, Rufus Morrow, Ed McNair, Jake Mackorell, and E. L. Powell.

This morning the Davidson group will take charge of the student Bible class at the Presbyterian church at 10:00 o'clock. Morrow will teach the class. At 11:00 o'clock Rev. Ronald Tamblin will preach a special short sermon addressed to the cabinet membership of both Davidson and Carolina.

Discussion Meeting
This afternoon at 2:00 o'clock in the parlor of the Presbyterian church there will be a discussion meeting concerned with reports of the various departments and phases of the work of the Carolina Y. M. C. A.

Tonight at 7:00 o'clock in the Presbyterian church Sunday school room the Davidson team will have charge of the regular student forum, with Brown leading and Thompson speaking. McNair and Orr will furnish special music for the meetings.

The meeting tonight will take the place of the regular Monday night Y. M. C. A. cabinet session. All members of both cabinets are urged to meet the members of the Davidson team and take part in the program.

Poems Of North Carolina Negro Among Earliest Works Of Race

'Y' Will Nominate
All Cabinets Will Meet Tomorrow to Name Officers for Next Year.

A meeting of all members of the Young Men's Christian Association has been called for 7:00 o'clock tomorrow night in Gerrard hall to consider a revised constitution and to nominate officers for next year.

This meeting is called not only for cabinet members and officers but also for all members of the local "Y." The student forum meeting to be conducted by the Davidson deputation team tonight at 7:00 o'clock in the Presbyterian church Sunday school room will take the place of the regular Y. M. C. A. cabinet meetings.

Senate Will Discuss Inflation Of Currency

Three bills of state and national interest will be discussed Tuesday night by the Di senate. The bills are:

Resolved: That the Di senate go on record as favoring that the state of North Carolina manufacture fertilizer and sell it to the farmers at cost.

Resolved: That all public utilities be owned and controlled by the federal government.

Resolved: That the best and most effective method which congress could adopt to remove the depression and stimulate business is to inflate the currency.

NO ASSEMBLY MONDAY; MILLER TO SPEAK FRIDAY

The regular student assembly will not meet Monday as usual, but will meet Friday of this week. Dr. Julian Miller of the Charlotte Observer will speak. Freshman attendance will be checked and all others are invited to attend.

COMMITTEE WILL REPORT TUESDAY

Senate Appropriations Group Does Not Tamper With Figure for University.

Leaving appropriations to the Greater University of North Carolina up to the body itself, the appropriations committee of the senate will report a greatly altered budget supply bill into the upper division for consideration Tuesday morning.

While it took eight days for the house to evolve an appropriations bill for the next biennium, the senate committee took three hours Friday to raise every item, cut in the house sessions except allotments for the Greater University, back to figures contained in the joint appropriations committee's bill. The house made fifty-four cuts in the committee's bill, and the senate group has restored fifty-three of them to the original figures.

The fifty-fourth was not even considered. Friday Senator Clement, chairman of the committee, took the position that nothing the committee would do would stop the fight to give the University more money. The figure as it now stands is $760,240 for the Greater University, or approximately $390,000 for the Chapel Hill division.

George Horton First Wrote in Chapel Hill and, After Civil War, in Philadelphia.

There is one Carolina poet who never got his just renown. When speaking of the men of letters who have lived in Chapel Hill in the past, no one ever rushes forward to tell of him. A poet who could not distinguish one verse scheme from another, a writer of short stories who, at one time, could not distinguish one word from another—that was George Horton, Negro, one-time resident of this university town, whose works show the soul of a true literary man, a true artist.

George Horton forerunner of Langston Hughes, Countee Cullen, and other gifted poets of his race was born in 1798 in Chatham county, on the property of one James Horton. As a farm hand he was not of much use to his employer, spending all his spare time wrapped in deep reverie. It is said that he once heard some verses that were published in an old Carolina Magazine, and he became fired with a zeal to go to the place where these were written. The next we hear of him he was tramping the dusty streets of Chapel Hill seeking employment.

Turns to Poetry
Hard put to find means to support himself he turned to the Muse of poetry, invoking her aid in the struggle to keep body and soul together, just as many of the seekers after the (Continued on last page)

DATE OF SKINNER PORTRAYAL HERE MOVED UP A DAY

"Wives of Henry VIII" Will Be Presented Tuesday, April 11, Instead of Wednesday.

The Wives of Henry VIII, creative performance of Cornelia Otis Skinner, famous American actress, which will be performed in Memorial hall as the seventh in the series of student entertainments, will be presented April 11. Miss Skinner was originally scheduled to appear here Wednesday, April 12.

The dramatic portrayal of Miss Skinner, who is the daughter of Otis Skinner, dean of the American theatre, will be the only presentation of the Student Entertainment Committee during the spring quarter.

Miss Skinner's original performance is a series of character sketches in which she interprets in turn Catherine of Aragon, Anne Boleyn, Jane Seymour, Anne of Cleve, Katheryn Howard, and Matherine Parr, the six wives of the famous Tudor king. The first presentation when first given last spring in London was accorded a tremendous ovation. One London critic who attended the opening night remarked: "To come under her magic spell is worth living and waiting for."

Is Veteran Trouper
Miss Skinner is a veteran trouper in addition to being a well-known writer, her pen having produced poems, plays, and magazine articles. She made her stage debut in a small role in Blood and Sand in the (Continued on last page)

STURTEVANT WILL ADDRESS GARDEN CLUB TOMORROW

Landscape Architect and Authority on Horticulture Making Trip Through South.

Robert Swan Sturtevant, nationally known landscape architect and authority on horticulture, will lecture to the Chapel Hill Garden Club at 3:30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in Davie hall. All residents in the community who are interested in the subject are invited.

A luncheon is to be given for Sturtevant tomorrow by Mrs. H. R. Totten. Sturtevant will also visit W. L. Hunt, University graduate student and horticulturist, here and later at Hunt's home in Greensboro.

Studying Vegetation of South
Sturtevant is at present making a trip through the south studying the types of vegetation peculiar to various localities and the difference in plants' blooming caused by climatic changes. A graduate of the Harvard school of landscape architecture, he gained his interest in horticulture from his father, Dr. E. Lewis Sturtevant, who was the first director of the New York state experiment station and author of many articles about his agricultural researches.

A sister of the lecturer, Miss Grace Sturtevant, specializes in hybridizing iris and is the originator of some of the most beautiful modern varieties. Sturtevant is more interested (Continued on last page)

INITIAL DOGWOOD EVENTS TO EXTOL NORTH CAROLINA

Plans for Appearance of Cherokee Indians in Native Ball Game Abandoned.

Folk lore, pottery native to the State, and a general glorification of the natural beauties of North Carolina will feature the program of the Dogwood Festival to take place here Saturday, April 29, according to R. M. Grumman, chairman of the festival committee.

Original plans, calling for a more glittering program and the presence of Cherokee Indians who were to perform in a game of Indian ball, were decided to be too costly, and only the simpler and less expensive plans have been retained.

The festival committee, which hopes to inaugurate a movement for the preservation of the natural beauties of the state and particularly of dogwood trees, has arranged for weavers from the western part of the state, potters from Jugtown, wrought-iron workers, and others to contribute exhibits.

Folk Music Program
Lamar Stringfield, composer and conductor, will direct the folk music program, and Miss Josephine Sharkey will be in charge of the dances, which will be quaint and representative of the traditional folk dances of the state.

The handicraft exhibits will be in Graham Memorial, and the dancing and musical programs will be in the Forest theatre, Chapel Hill's outdoor playhouse where trees and flowers furnish background and ceiling, atmosphere and walls.

Extension Division Will Conduct Institute For College Graduates

Debate Try-outs
Japanese Policy in Far East Will Be Topic of Discussion.

Try-outs for the debate with Georgia Tech, April 13, will take place at the meeting of the debate group, Monday night at 9:00 o'clock in Graham Memorial. Carolina will take the affirmative side of the question, "Resolved: That the Japanese policy towards China be condemned."

The debate with Georgia Tech, April 13 will be followed by a debate with Boston University, April 14, on the question of war debts. Both of these debates will be given in afternoon when the high school debaters come to the University.

Nelson O. Kennedy To Give Organ Recital

Professor Nelson O. Kennedy will render the first of his quarterly series of vesper organ recitals at 4:00 o'clock this afternoon in the Hill Music hall.

Professor Kennedy's program will include a sonata by Mendelssohn of three movements Grave-Adagio, Allegro maestoso e vivace, and Fuga; Fountain Reverie by Fletcher; Allegro Cantabile from the fifth symphony of Widor; Prelude and Fugue by Bach; Nocturne by Grieg; and Afterglow by Groton.

DR. CALDWELL WILL TALK AT BULL'S HEAD MEETING

Dr. W. E. Caldwell, of the University history department, will speak at the weekly Bull's Head meeting Tuesday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock. He will review The Greek Way by Edith Hamilton and will touch briefly on other classical works. Dr. Caldwell was scheduled to speak last week but was unable to attend the meeting.

HIGH SCHOOLS TO MEET IN DEBATE

All Triangles Will Engage in Forensic Battles on Sales Tax March 31.

Two hundred and fifteen high schools will participate Friday, March 31, in the twenty-first annual triangular debating contest of the High School Debating Union of North Carolina, it was announced yesterday by Secretary E. R. Rankin.

The query which will be discussed is, "Resolved: That North Carolina should adopt the sales tax as a feature of its state system of revenue."

The schools winning both of their triangular debates will send their teams to Chapel Hill to compete April 13 and 14 in the final contest for the Aycock Memorial cup, the trophy which has been donated to the High School Debating Union by the intercollegiate debaters of the University.

Keen Interest Displayed
Keen interest has been displayed for the past several months by high schools in all sections of the state in the approaching debates, and an unusually interesting state-wide contest is anticipated.

The triangles which have been formed were announced (Continued on page two)

Will Provide Intellectual Development for Those With Enforced Leisure.

NO EXTRA COST TO STATE

As one method of meeting the challenge of the depression as it affects the alumni of colleges and universities, the University extension division announced yesterday that it would conduct during the remainder of the present academic quarter an Institute for College Graduates.

The purpose of the Institute is to provide opportunity for worthwhile intellectual and cultural development for both men and women college graduates, who because of enforced leisure or for other reasons may desire to return to college to improve their educational qualifications. To meet this demand, such an institute has been suggested to the University by executives of some of the great corporations usually employing large numbers of college graduates.

Registration During Spring
Students may register in the institute at any time during the spring quarter which ends about June 1, but are advised to report by Monday, March 29, if they wish to receive the maximum benefit from the instructional program.

Institute students will attend institute classes, but will re- (Continued on page three)

GRADUATE CO-EDS TO DEBATE PLANS FOR ORGANIZATION

Mrs. Mary R. Beard to Speak at Dinner Tomorrow Night in Graham Memorial.

Women graduate students of the University will meet tomorrow night at a dinner in Graham Memorial at 6:30 o'clock to discuss plans for an organization of graduate women.

Mrs. Mary R. Beard, a leader in women's movements, will be the principal speaker of the occasion, presenting a talk on "A Changing Intellectual Climate for Women." Mrs. Beard is a well-known writer and is now on a visit to Chapel Hill.

At the meeting tomorrow a committee appointed to investigate the plausibility of organization will report. The group will then consider the report and discuss plans for forming a society for graduate women.

One of the plans now under consideration is the organization of an association similar to the male graduate club now at the University. Should this be done and should the project secure the necessary support, the group will attempt to have a separate dormitory for graduate women.

All graduate women have been asked to make arrangements to attend the dinner tomorrow. Those who have not already done so have been asked to call Miss Marjorie Mendenhall at 5556 before 9:00 o'clock tomorrow morning.

Dr. Poteat Here Today

Dr. W. L. Poteat, president-emeritus of Wake Forest College and well known speaker in religious circles throughout the state, will deliver the sermon at the Baptist church this morning.
