

Voting Yesterday Closest In Recent Years

Campus Parties Virtually Split On Class Positions

University Organization Seats Eight of Fifteen Officers In Class Elections.

FAILS IN PRESIDENCIES

Vergil Weathers To Head Seniors Next Year; Brandt Is Chosen Vice-President.

In balloting characterized by split tickets and by margins based on the popularity of the various candidates, the All-Campus and University parties virtually divided class offices in the annual spring elections yesterday. The University group had a bare margin of one in the class office section, gaining eight to its opponent's seven.

The University organization gained four out of the five in the sophomore division, three in the junior, and only one in the senior. It failed, however, to take any of the presidencies.

Vergil Weathers, varsity basketball player, gained the presidency of the rising senior class yesterday as the All-Campus party took four out of the five elective positions. Weathers defeated Nat Townsend by a vote of 227 to 166.

Other All-Campus men winning office were George Brandt as vice-president over Tom Webb, 226 to 154; Red Rankin, secretary over Julian Frankel, 203 to 174; and John O'Neil, student councilman for the class over Earle Beale, 192 to 197. Dan Jones, University party, defeated Corney Bretsch, 213 to 153.

ACTIVITIES GROUP TO TAKE ACTION ON COUNCILMAN

Committee Meets Tonight to Discuss Representation of Engineering School.

Student council representation for the engineering school will be taken up at the meeting of student activities committee in Memorial hall at 7:00 o'clock tonight. Haywood Weeks, president of the student body, urged that every member attend. The quarterly dinner will be served.

A student councilman for the engineering school has been under discussion for the past year and was again brought to the forefront during the present political campaign.

The question has to be considered from several different angles according to student councilmen. The pharmacy school's representation will have to be considered as that division now operates on a four-year basis and requires class fees. The student council's program for representation will be offered and discussed tonight. The activities committee, composed of leaders in campus activities operating in an advisory capacity, will make recommendations for action on the matter.

Other important items of business affecting several phases of University life are slated for consideration tonight.

JANIE JOLLY IS CHOSEN AS HEAD OF CO-ED GROUP

Balloting for next year's officers in the elections yesterday, the Woman's Association of the University decided that Janie Jolly would be president of the organization. She defeated Laura Ross by a vote of 103 to 46.

Other officers elected were Jo Orendorff, 78, over Louise Capps, 67, in the race for vice-presidency; Elizabeth Johnson, 89, over Dot Bradley, 58, for secretary; and Betty Durham, 76, over Mollie Lou Daniels, 66, for treasurer.

Eleanor Bizzell was elected house president of Spencer hall, having a 43 vote margin over Margaret Olmstead. The vote was 93 to 50. Jayne Smoot was chosen president of the Woman's Athletic Association, defeating Vivian Grisette 76 to 64.

BOOK RELEASED BY LOCAL PRESS RECEIVES PRAISE

"Time, Matter, and Values" by R. A. Millikan Was Published By University Press.

Sunday's issue of The New York Times Book Review makes favorable comment on Dr. R. A. Millikan's book, Time, Matter and Values, published by the University of North Carolina Press. Time, Matter and Values is a publication of the John Calvin McNair lectures delivered by Dr. Millikan in the University last year.

Thus writes Waldemar Kaempffert concerning the work for the Times Review, "In less than a hundred pages he has managed to present all that a well-informed man should have at his finger-tips about modern physics. Relativity, the quantum theory, the electron theory of matter, wave mechanics—Dr. Millikan runs through the gamut like a skillful virtuoso."

Bequest Pays for Lectures

The McNair lectures are given as the result of a bequest made by the Reverend John Calvin McNair with the stipulation that the trustees of the University of North Carolina "shall employ some able scientific gentleman whose duty it is to show the mutual bearing of science and theology upon each other and to prove the existence and attributes, as far as may be, of God from nature."

"Dr. Millikan," continues Kaempffert, "assuredly fulfills the qualifications that a 'scientific gentleman' must have to deliver the course of lectures of the kind that Reverend John Calvin McNair had in mind. One may not agree with his particular way of reconciling science and religion, but one must respect it as that of a man of deep and strong convictions."

NATIONAL CLUB OF PROFESSORS MEETS

Local Chapter of A. A. U. P. Discusses Problems of University Instructors.

The local chapter of the American Association of University Professors convened at the Episcopal parish house Tuesday night.

In view of reduced salaries, a plan for cheaper living quarters, especially among the younger members of the faculty, was studied. A steering committee was appointed to draw up a program for future activities of the chapter, and the question of continuing the organization was considered. The entire chapter strongly favored a hospitalization and health insurance plan, which would allow medical attention to the faculty at low cost.

The association is a national body composed of 110 chapters. There are 12,000 members. The object of the association is to facilitate a more effective cooperation among teachers and investigators in universities and colleges, for the promotion of higher education and research, and to increase usefulness and advance the standards and ideals of the profession.

CORNELIA SKINNER TO APPEAR HERE TUESDAY EVENING

Famous Actress Will Offer Interpretations of Six Fateful Wives of Henry VIII.

The Wives of Henry VIII, creative performance of Cornelia Otis Skinner, will be presented in Memorial hall at 8:30 o'clock Tuesday night as the seventh in the series of student entertainment. Miss Skinner, famous American actress, will give interpretations of the six fateful wives of the notorious Tudor ruler.

The dramatic portrayal of Miss Skinner will be the only entertainment presented this quarter by the Student Entertainment Committee.

Series of Sketches

The original performance includes a series of character sketches featuring in turn Catherine of Aragon, Anne Boleyn, Jane Seymour, Anne of Cleve, Katheryn Howard, and Katheryn Parr. It has been widely acclaimed as an outstanding piece of interpretative work. The first presentation in London brought forth universal applause, and one London critic who attended remarked that "To come under her magic spell is worth living and waiting for."

Not only is Miss Skinner a talented actress and playwright, but she also has contributed poetry and articles to some of the outstanding magazines of the country. She made her stage debut in a small role in Blood and Sand, and since then has appeared in such successful shows as Tweedles, In the Next Room, and The Wild Westcotts. She wrote Captain Fury, in which Otis Skinner, her father and the dean of the American theatre, had the leading part. Miss Skinner's interpreta-

Paper By Dr. Russell Appears In Magazine

Several items of interest concerning University professors were contained in the April issue of the American Historical Review.

In the account of the Toronto meeting of the association of last December is a short abstract of Dr. J. C. Russell's paper upon the "Procedure of Medieval Assemblies," which he read before the medieval section. Dr. Russell has recently received a grant from the American Council of Learned Societies for research in Medieval English History this summer.

Among the personal items is the note that Professor R. D. W. Connor will be a visiting professor at the University of Colorado this summer. He is a member of the Committee on Radio of the American Historical Association. Professor J. G. deRoulhac Hamilton is chairman of the Historical Manuscripts Commission of the Association. Professor L. C. MacKinney's review of Sike's Peter Abailard appears among the book reviews.

There will be a program of Palm Sunday Music Sunday evening at 8:00 o'clock in the Methodist church. Thor Johnson is in charge. The choir will be assisted by the Carolina Salon Ensemble.

At 11:00 o'clock in the morning Dr. Godbold will speak on "The Measures of Life."

Claiborn Carr Has Forty-One Vote Lead In Race For Tar Heel Editorship.

McCACHREN'S LEAD WIDE

E. C. Daniel Lacks Majority By Eight Votes As Tenth Ballot Is Announced.

As the student council early this morning waded through the heaviest vote ever cast in annual spring elections at the University, slow announcements of results indicated that the campus political contests yesterday were as a whole, the closest in the history of the University.

It seemed evident that there would be two run-off elections Friday morning for the position of president of the student body and editor of the Carolina Magazine.

On the tenth ballot at 2:30 o'clock this morning, Harper Barnes was leading for the presidency of the student body with 503 votes to Arlindo Cate's 428 and B. C. Proctor's 145. Barnes' gain in this division was steady and a run-off between him and Cate is expected.

In a three-fold contest for the Carolina Magazine editorship, E. C. Daniel lacked 8 votes of a majority, having 532 to 475 for Miss Mary Frances Parker and 65 for Cecil Carmichael.

Carr Leads

In a nip and tuck battle lasting through the night, Claiborn Carr had a 41 vote margin over Don Shoemaker at the tenth ballot. In this, the race for the editorship of the DAILY TAR
