

DR. MILLER SETS EDUCATION ABOVE PUBLIC SERVICES

Journalist Says North Carolina Does Not Spend All Entrusted Funds Wisely.

Dr. Julian S. Miller, associate editor and columnist for the Charlotte Observer, yesterday delivered his twice postponed assembly talk. He was introduced by President Graham.

Dr. Miller emphasized the fact that everyone has all the means of success at his disposal, but he lacks a driver for these means. "My generation has failed and has proven itself prostitute. We are now ready to turn the reins over to the new generation. You must face the task of rebuilding and picking up fragments from the social structure and economic body." In that manner Dr. Miller bade the freshmen to prepare themselves for the great task that is before them.

Defends Education

In continuing, Dr. Miller said, "We face the task of bringing about a violent revision in government and citizenship. Democracy in this state has not functioned for the greatest good of the greatest number. North Carolina has not spent wisely all of the money the public has entrusted to it. I am not speaking of education—I defend it." So, Dr. Miller came to the problem that most interested his audience. He defended education by stating that it was unwise to spend 39 cents of every dollar for highways, and 30 cents for education. He expressed a belief that it was unfair to spend only as much for reduction as was spent on roads. Dr. Miller

SENATE TO WORK ON STATE GRANTS

Report of Conference Committee Set as Special Order for Consideration Today.

The conference committee report smoothing out difficulties between the House and Senate on the matter of appropriations for the next biennium will come up before the upper body this morning as a special order.

The report tendered by the committee carries an appropriation for the three units of the Greater University. Of this amount, $426,000 will come to the branch here.

The report was adopted last Thursday by the House, and as the figures included in the compromise are approximately the same as those recommended by the Senate, little trouble for the measure is expected.

House Considers Revenue

Meanwhile the House is busy working on the revenue bill, which contains provision for a general sales levy of three per cent. Following adoption by the House of the conference report, this rate was made necessary for a balanced budget.

The anti-sales tax forces, led by Tam Bowie of Ashe county, are confident that they will be able to muster enough support to prohibit the adoption of such a levy. Bowie predicts that the assembly is heading toward another tie-up similar to the deadlock of 1931, when the assembly adjourned only after a session of 141 days.

For Fairness And Accuracy

—AN EDITORIAL—

To the Students:

With this issue of the DAILY TAR HEEL the new administration takes over the reins of the student publication for the coming year. Some changes in the general policy of the paper are necessary if it is to be made truly reflective of student sentiment, but these changes must come slowly and only after the wisdom of new policies has been demonstrated.

The new editor feels strongly that to be a good editor, he must be: Fair, Accurate, and On the Job. If he can live up to these three requirements, the TAR HEEL will show a vast improvement from the start in regard to both editorial writing and general news reporting.

As a first step towards attaining Fairness the new administration announces a system of competition for the various executive positions on the staff. In the past these positions have been handed out carelessly for one of two purposes; either for the nourishment of some favored reporter who has been picked by the administration for better things, or for the consolation of some member of the staff who has been gently placed upon the shelf, so to speak.

Starting with this issue, and for the next three weeks, there will be no executive positions on the staff. At the annual banquet Thursday night, two nominations will be made for chairman of each of the various boards. After the holidays, and for three weeks, these men will work for their respective positions. At the end of the period of competition, the staff will meet again, and the chairmen of the boards will be elected. Every staff member will have a vote.

Fairness must also be attained in regard to editorial comment. In that connection, the administration is working now on a plan whereby students representing different group opinions on the campus may compete for permanent positions on the editorial board. A board made up of representative students would assure a fair presentation of both sides of any student issue.

When controversies arise, communications will not be excluded from "Speaking the Campus Mind" simply because they are in disagreement with the editor.

Being Accurate and On the Job, the other two qualifications of a good editor, go hand in hand. A sincere effort will be made every day to get the news correctly and see that it is handled promptly. A co-operative staff, with all members well acquainted with one another and interested in the betterment of the paper, will be organized on the basis of the above axioms. Any individual not wishing to co-operate to the fullest degree will be dismissed. What is wanted is a closely knit unit, and we intend to have it.

Group Pictures Of Staffs To Be Taken

In order to fill out its page of publication groups the Yackety Yack requests that the editors of last year's Y. M. C. A. Handbook and Ex Hi-Y Paper as well as the editor of the Carolina Engineer inform the members of their staffs that group pictures will be taken tomorrow afternoon beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

Don Shoemaker is requested to be present with his Handbook staff promptly at the above mentioned time. Eben Alexander and the Ex Hi-Y staff are requested to be on hand to have their picture taken next. And lastly George Gorham and the Carolina Engineer staff will have their picture taken.

Applications for Handbook

The "Y" office announced yesterday that all applications for the editorship of the freshman handbook are due Wednesday night. The applications must be made in writing and given to either John Acee or Bill McKee. A list of the applicant's literary experience should be included in the application.

House Makes Announcement On Holidays

Misinterpretation of President Frank Graham's holiday announcement on March 25 caused the issuance of a statement yesterday by R. B. House, executive secretary of the University, to the effect that official holidays for the University do not begin until noon Saturday and that all Saturday classes prior to that time must take place on regular schedule. Classes will be resumed after the holiday at 8:30 o'clock, Monday morning, April 24.

Tar Heel Banquet Set For Thursday

The annual DAILY TAR HEEL banquet has been scheduled for 6:30 o'clock Thursday evening. At the meeting of the staff Sunday, a committee composed of Carl Thompson, E. C. Daniel, Bob Woerner, V. C. Royster, and Joe Sugarman was appointed to make arrangements for the entertainments.

Every member of the reporter and business staffs will be assessed seventy-five cents for attendance at the banquet. Those planning to be present will pay this amount to either Carl Thompson or Tom Walker.

STUDENTS ASKED TO ACCOMMODATE SCHOOL VISITORS

Following a long-standing custom, the student body is to act as hosts to the high school boys and their coaches during the annual high school week Thursday and Friday.

The freshman friendship council, in charge of providing lodging for the various teams, has announced that beds are needed for 220 boys and thirty-five coaches. Residents of dormitories and fraternities are urged to double-up with their roommates and invite one or more of these guests to occupy their bed. Where it is absolutely necessary, the buildings department will supply an extra bed for the room.

The names and home addresses of these boys and coaches are now posted in the lobby of the Y. M. C. A. and a student may sign up at the registration desk to entertain any boy he prefers.

The freshman friendship council canvassed both dormitory and fraternity rooms last night in order to give all the students an opportunity to express their desire to entertain guests.

The visiting boys and coaches will provide their own meals.
