Thirty-One Officers Installed In New Student Administration

Induction of Campus Leaders for 1933-34 Conducted Yesterday in Memorial Hall.

BARNES MAKES ADDRESS

New President Asks for Student Cooperation in Administrative Affairs Next Year.

New campus officers took over the reins of office yesterday morning at an induction in Memorial hall. Thirty-one officials for 1933-34 were formally installed.

Harper Barnes of Lillington, new president of the student body, introduced the incoming administrative leaders in turn after a speech of acceptance of office which followed outgoing president Haywood Weeks' farewell address. E. C. Daniel, outgoing vice-president of the student body and new editor of the Carolina Magazine, presided.

Asks for Support

Barnes asked for the support of the entire student body in his inaugural address, stating that the present state of affairs demands the closest co-operation between campus officers and students. He stated that the heavy voting in the recent election proved that the student body was vitally interested in its government and that a whole-hearted co-operation would be the most obvious manifestation in its future success.

The new president congratulated the outgoing administration under Weeks for the high standard of efficiency with which the campus affairs were handled. Speaking for himself and the entire new governing group he pledged a regime of honest effort to uphold those

THOMPSON NAMED HANDBOOK EDITOR

Minor Will Be Business Manager for 1933-34 Y. M. C. A. Freshman Handbook.

Carl G. Thompson, Jr., was selected yesterday as the incoming editor of the 1933-34 Y. M. C. A. Handbook, and W. T. Minor was chosen for the new business manager. The new men will begin work on the next issue immediately.

The selection of the other members of the staff has not been completed yet, however the new editor has announced plans for a meeting of the staff in the near future.

Thompson has worked on the DAILY TAR HEEL staff as a reporter, chairman of the foreign news board, desk man, and city editor. He has also been connected with the Carolina Magazine and Student Journal.

The new editor has announced that the next Handbook will be made slightly smaller so that it will fit into the coat pocket of the freshman and that full instructions as to the activities open to the freshmen and new students will be given in detail.

The Handbook is published by the University Y. M. C. A. and is sent to the new students at the beginning of the school year. It contains information useful to new men on the campus.

FINAL PROGRAM ANNOUNCED FOR DOGWOOD EVENT

Full Program Is Scheduled for Annual Festival Here Saturday.

The complete schedule of events during the Dogwood Festival this week-end, which is conducted here annually to give expression to the folk-activities native in the state, has been released by Russell M. Grumman, director of the University extension division. Two festival programs of folk-songs and dances in the Forest theatre at 10:30 and 4:00 o'clock Saturday will be featured.

The morning program in the Forest theatre will include native melodies by fiddlers, banjo and guitar players, and ballad singers. Numbers by combined instrument bands and poetry readings will also be presented.

Old English country dances by students from the Hugh Morson high school at Raleigh are to continue the program at 4:00 o'clock. The dances are directed by Mrs. Dorothy Nash Hutch-

STUDENTS WILL ATTEND MEETING

Annual North Carolina Y. M. Y. W. C. A. Conference to Take Place at Duke.

Several University students will attend the annual North Carolina Y. M. Y. W. C. A. student conference which will take place at Duke University for three days beginning tomorrow. The conference, which was conducted here last year, is an annual affair and is attended by delegates from the various colleges in North Carolina.

The theme this year will be "The Spiritual in Our Lives and Its Application to the Work of the Association." The main speaker of the meeting will be David R. Porter. He will address the group on three occasions, discussing "The Spiritual Adjustment and Growth in the Individual," "Spiritual Adjustment and Growth of the Group," and "The Wider Spiritual Implications of our Association Objectives." There will be several discussion groups led by students and members of the Duke faculty.

Those who will attend from the University are John Acee, Bill McKee, Russell Mickle, Jesse Greer, J. D. Winslow, Simmons Patterson, and B. S. Smith.

Other members of the local Y. M. C. A. who wish to attend the conference are urged to get in touch with either Bill McKee or John Acee immediately.

Engineer Staff Meets

Announcement has been made that there will be an important meeting of the entire staff of the Carolina Engineer in the mechanical engineer room of Phillips hall at 7:00 o'clock tonight. All members are urged to attend.

FREE TUITION AT UNIVERSITY WILL BE DISCONTINUED

Over 297 Students at University Will Be Affected by Recently Passed Measure.

The passage of a bill in the state legislature to abolish free tuition in all state supported institutions leaves the University only approximately 125 endowed scholarships for next year, according to R. B. House, executive secretary.

The number of students receiving free tuition in a half dozen state-supported educational institutions has been given by Senator Hayden Clement, one of the supporters of the bill as 4,156 of which 297 are students at Carolina. Those receiving free tuition are candidates for ministry, sons of ministers residing in the state, residents of the state under bodily infirmity, teachers in North Carolina schools, and education students.

It is estimated that the abolition of free tuition will bring in $200,000 a year additional revenue to state colleges. The objection that the measure would deprive poor but worthy students of a chance at higher education was met by a provision giving governing authorities the power to accept student obligations for tuition at their discretion. Sponsors of the abolition bill declared that the present system of free tuition has been frequently abused.

The scholarships and fellowships remaining are largely supplied annually by the incomes from endowments made to the University.

Noted Carolinians Have Spoken For Tappings Of Golden Fleece

CAPTAIN HARTLEY HAS INTERESTING SEA BACKGROUND

Assembly Speaker Tomorrow Also Was Received Well Here Last Fall.

Commodore Herbert Hartley, who will speak at chapel period tomorrow, is former captain of the Leviathan, with thirty-five years' experience of seaman-ship during which time he has made more than 850 voyages across the Atlantic Ocean. He was captain of the Leviathan, formerly the German ship Vaterland, which was at one time the largest ocean liner afloat.

When addressing the assembly here last October, Commodore Hartley told of several of his trips and gave an account of a typical voyage.

The commander, has entertained many world notables, including Will Rogers, Queen Maria of Roumania, "Bud" Fisher, and Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, with stories of his interesting experiences.

THIRD-YEAR LAW CLASS SELECTS ITS OFFICERS

In the election of class officers held Tuesday by members of the third-year law class, Benjamin G. Gentry of Reidsville was elected president and Carl Downing, vice-president. William A. Starbuck and Joseph K. Ray were elected secretary and treasurer respectively.

Henry Anderson and Joseph Ray were nominated respectively for vice-president and secretary but both withdrew, leaving these offices uncontested.

Daily Tar Heel Abandons Policy of Listing Fleece Possibilities.

In addition to the spectacular, mysterious tapping of campus leaders, the annual Golden Fleece ceremonies have provided the student body with an excellent series of speakers. The gentleman who makes the chief address of the evening has generally been tapped as an honorary member of the order, which is the highest honor bestowed upon a Carolina student. Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus will make the principal speech at the program tonight in Memorial hall.

Long before the legislature in Raleigh was entertained with the Bowie-Cherry bill, Judge John J. Parker was pleading for the cause of higher education. In his speech at the 1931 tapping of the Golden Fleece society, he said, "Education is necessary for the physical welfare of the state, and the state should support education for the doctrine of self-defense." Calling for leadership in North Carolina, Judge Parker two years ago emphasized the great importance of education.

When Parker spoke in 1931, seven men were tapped by the Golden Fleece. Parker himself was already a member of the honorary organization.

Tar Heel Used to Nominate
In the past the DAILY TAR HEEL used to make its own nominations for the Golden Fleece, naming those persons whom the paper thought worthy of being honored. However, this

EHRINGHAUS WILL BE SPEAKER FOR ANNUAL TAPPING

Men Selected Tonight Will Be Entertained at Banquet in Graham Memorial.

The Order of the Golden Fleece, membership in which is considered the highest honor that may be attained by a University student, will conduct its annual tapping tonight in Memorial hall at 8:30 o'clock.

The Hon. J. C. B. Ehringhaus, governor of North Carolina, has accepted an invitation to appear as principal speaker for the occasion.

The governor will be introduced by Dr. Horace H. Williams, and Bill McKee, Jason of the Order, will preside.

Committee to Tap

The traditional ceremony, in which the tapping committee of two hooded and robed members of the organization seek out chosen men from the audience, will be carried out tonight. A group of about ten or a dozen worthy students is customarily selected each year.

Immediately after the tapping in Memorial hall, the neophytes will be entertained at a banquet in Graham Memorial, at which Governor Ehringhaus and President Frank P. Graham will be present.

Last year the following eleven students were tapped: Bill McKee, Archie Davis, Haywood Weeks, Stuart Chandler, Wilmer Hines, Charles Rose, Lenoir Wright, D. C. McClure, Tom Watkins, Holmes Davis, and Tom Alexander.

Henry L. Stevens, ex-commander of the American Legion, who spoke at last year's ceremonies, was made an honorary member of the group.

PUBLICATION FOR STUDENTS MAILED

Tar Heel Topics Will Be Mailed To Prospective University Students.

The Alumni office is mailing out this week the April issue of Tar Heel Topics, a publication designed to give information about the University to prospective students, to high school and preparatory school seniors.

The April issue of the publication is much larger than the usual size, and has the appearance of a five-column newspaper. There are articles on admission requirements, expenses, aid for needy students, student government, and other pertinent subjects of interest to prospective students. The center spread of the new publication is a pictorial second, containing views of campus buildings, athletic squads, and student leaders.

University students are urged by J. Maryon Saunders, Alumni secretary, who is editor of Tar Heel Topics, to suggest names of prospective students who might be interested in attending the University next year. These having such information may file it with the Alumni office on the second floor of South building. Copies of the publication will be mailed to all prospective students to whose names are given the Alumni office.
