

TAR HEEL STAFF EXECUTIVES WILL BE PICKED TODAY

Four Positions on Staff of Campus Daily to Be Filled at Elections at 2:00.

Members of all divisions of the staff of the DAILY TAR HEEL will gather at the office of the paper in 205-6 Graham Memorial this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock to elect men to executive positions on the staff.

For the past month, several staff members have been in competition for various positions, and today's election will bring the contests to a close.

Positions Open

Positions for which men have been competing include: chairmanship of the editorial board, assistant sports editorship, one city editorship, and the position of dramatic critic.

Nominations for the chairmanship of the editorial board are as follows: Vergil Lee, Vermont Royster, and Lonnie Dill. Bill Anderson and Jimmie Morris have been competing for the post of assistant sports editor.

Four men—Milton Kalb, Bob Barnett, Judah Shohan, and Walter Rosenthal—are trying out for the position of dramatic critic. Reviews of the Playmaker production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream," have been written by those four contestants.

There are two city editorships open on the desk. The following four men have been competing for this position: Phil Hammer, Bob Page, Jack Lowe, and Irving Suss.

One other executive position on the board has already been filled. Joe Sugarman, who has served over a year as chairman of the feature board, was unanimously named to the same position at the staff banquet.

ORCHESTRA WILL PLAY AT RALEIGH

North Carolina Symphonic Group To Appear Under Auspices Of Junior League.

Under the auspices of the Junior League, the North Carolina Symphonic orchestra will appear in concert tomorrow evening at 8:30 o'clock in Raleigh Memorial auditorium.

The group, directed by Lamar Stringfield, is composed of 50 professional musicians and is making its first appearance in Raleigh. Previously it has presented concerts at the University and in Durham.

The North Carolina Symphonic society, of which Colonel Joseph Hyde Pratt is president and Stringfield musical director, will be greatly influenced by public response to tomorrow's recital in determining its plans for next year.

Members of the society, which is the first of its kind in the United States, believe that there is sufficient interest in music in North Carolina to insure the continuation of its existence.

Compositions to be played in the Raleigh concert include: "Marriage of Figaro," overture by Mozart; "Symphony No. 1 in C Major," by Beethoven; "The Legend of John Henry," Stringfield's most recent symphonic work; "On the Steppes of Central Asia," by Borodin; and Tschalkowsky's "March Slave."

Public Administration School Closes Successful First Year

Walker Award Exam Finished Yesterday

Four students in the University school of commerce yesterday took the two-part competitive examination for the Carbis A. Walker accounting award.

The examination, consisting of questions in accounting and business law, was conducted in the accounting laboratory of Bingham hall with the following men competing: Jack Thompson, A. T. Oliverio, J. A. Stallings, and M. F. Stone.

The award, established last year by Carbis A. Walker of Winston-Salem, one of the leading accountants of the state, consists of $35 and a medal.

Announcement of this year's winner in the competition will be made in a later issue.

LOCAL PRINTERS GIVEN CONTRACT

Carl G. Thompson, Editor, Makes New Addition to Carolina Handbook.

The Orange Printshop has been given the contract for the printing of the 1933-34 Freshman "Handbook." It was announced yesterday by W. T. Minor, business manager of the publication. For the past several years, this printshop has been printing the Y. M. C. A. "Handbook" and the precedent set will probably be continued.

Carl G. Thompson, editor of the book, also announced that work on the different sections of the editorial material in the book was reaching completion and that the assistant editors were cooperating in his endeavor to get the editorial matter completed before the middle of June. Although the assistant editors will be able to leave here when exams are over, Thompson declared his intention of remaining here until the first proofs of the editorial copy were run off.

Charles Bond, who is in charge of the Y. M. C. A. section, has completed his work and has the copy ready to turn in. Phil Hammer, assistant editor, has completed the church section and many of the organizations. Bill Anderson, sports editor, said that as soon as the final results of the spring activities were in, he would be able to finish up the sports section. Vermont C. Royster, associate editor, has been working with Thompson on introductory material and make-up of the book.

A new feature will be added this year, Thompson announced, that of a sketch map of the campus, in which the buildings will be outlined so as to enable one make out their external appearance from the map.

Youngest of University Divisions of Instruction Established Here Last Fall

Although the youngest of University divisions of instruction, the school of public administration closes the first year of its existence with a record of achievement gratifying and satisfactory to its sponsors and the administration at large.

Quoting Dean W. C. Jackson, who has guided the department through its initial experiences: "On the whole the work of the school of public administration during the past year has been highly profitable and the results quite pleasing."

Surveying State Problem

Despite its youth, the school has felt its responsibility strongly enough to undertake an important research problem. The project now in progress is the study of the financial-administration of certain North Carolina cities during the depression. The school has been cooperating with the governor's office of relief in this work. Dr. Roy M. Brown of the school is technical advisor to the relief administration, while George Lawrence is a district director under the Reconstruction Finance committee.

With Dean W. C. Jackson at the head of the department, the school of public administration was first established at the University last fall. It is an extension and an enlargement of the school of public welfare, which was established at the University in 1920.

Offers Many Courses

To those interested in public administration, the school offers training in the field of city management, county management.

Five Players In Salon Ensemble Go To Europe Free This Summer

Johnson, Field, Hazelman, Knox, and Murphy Will Sail July 8 on S.S. Tuscania as Ship's Orchestra; Are Members of Group Organized Under Johnson's Direction in 1931.

To sail to Europe, and to be paid for it in the bargain, is the lucky fate of Director Thor Johnson and four members of the Carolina Salon Ensemble. They will constitute the ship's orchestra this summer on the S. S. Tuscania of the Cunard line.

Those accompanying Johnson, all Carolina students in his orchestra, are Dan Field, Herbert Hazelman, Harry Lee Knox, and John Murphy. They will leave New York harbor July 8 and will return at the end of a month, after spending some time in Scotland. While on the ship they will play both dance and concert music.

Not Full Orchestra

The five players on the Tuscania represent only a small part of the entire Salon Ensemble, only those who could play more than one instrument being chosen for the trip. The complete orchestra consists of 18 pieces. Since it was organized under Johnson's direction in the fall of 1931, the group has played a total of 63 concerts, performing throughout the state as well as on the campus.

Early this spring the Ensemble applied for a job with the Cunard line, and were successful. In return for their

SYMPHONIC BAND TO GIVE PROGRAM THIS AFTERNOON

Group Under the Direction of Smith McCorkle to Appear in Hill Music Hall at 4:00.

The University symphonic band will appear under the direction of Professor T. Smith McCorkle in Hill Music hall this afternoon at 4:00 o'clock. This is the final concert to be given this year by the group.

Since its organization as a symphonic unit in the winter quarter, the band has presented several concert programs on the campus and out of town. In each program its director has stressed the importance of the superior type of symphonic music to the modern concert band. The Asheville Citizen recently described the University band as a "pioneer in a new movement for better band music."

Barnett to Give Solo

William G. Barnett, sophomore in the school of music, will offer a group of baritone solos accompanied at the piano by Professor H. S. Dyer. Barnett has received recognition throughout the state as a baritone soloist from his appearance in the presentation of Gaul's "The Holy City" in Fayetteville May 5. He was recently selected for the solo part in Mendelssohn's "The Elijah" to be presented here during commencement week.

The remainder of this afternoon's program will include "The Pilgrim's March" from the "Italian Symphony" by Mendelssohn, "Entry of the Gods into Walhalla" from "Götterdämmerung" by Wagner, an arrangement of a suite by J. S. Bach, Ravel's "Bolero," and Sousa's "Cubaland Suite."

The above groups are asked to send their representatives to the meeting of the club tomorrow night in Graham Memorial.

TWO INSTRUCTORS GET FELLOWSHIPS

Arnold Kimsey King and J. Minor Gwynn to Study in North Next Year.

Announcement of the award of fellowships for study next year to two members of the University training school was made here yesterday through the University school of education.

The receivers of the two fellowships are Arnold Kimsey King, whose award was granted by the General Education board, and J. Minor Gwynn, whose fellowship was given by Yale University.

The fellowship given King carries a stipend of $1,800, and he will study at the University of Chicago, taking work in history and education leading to a Ph. D.

Gwynn's fellowship carries $500 and tuition for one year, the total value being $900. He will do graduate work in the department of education at Yale on a program leading to the doctor's degree.

King received his A. B. in education at the University in 1925, and spent one year here taking graduate work in education. After one year's graduate study in education and history at the University of Chicago, he received his master's degree there. At present he is head of the department of history in the training school.

Gwynn received his A. B. at the University in 1918, and after teaching school at Reidsville for several years and serving as superintendent there, he came back to the University as instructor in Latin.

He did graduate work in Latin here for one year and was given his master's degree in 1927, with a major in Latin and a minor in education. He spent one year at the University of Chicago in graduate study and at present is head of the department of Latin in the training school and superintendent of the Chapel Hill high school.

NEW BOOKS RELEASED BY UNIVERSITY PRESS

Two books have just been released by the University press: "Joseph Wharton's Essay on Pope" by W. D. MacClintock of the University of Chicago, and "Gibbons Antagonism to Christianity" by Shelby T. McCloy, instructor in English at Duke.

All Members of Recently Organized Campus Representative Body Urged to Attend.

FOR UNIVERSITY LOYALTY

Plans Will Be Discussed for Entertainment of Visiting Athletes Next Fall.

The second meeting of the newly formed University club, organized last week by representatives of campus organizations, has been called for tomorrow night at 7:00 o'clock in room 214 Graham Memorial.

Business to be brought before the members at tomorrow's meeting will be a discussion of plans for next fall's activities in entertaining visiting athletes.

Members Urged to Attend

The six non-fraternity members of the group and the fraternity representatives elected from each Greek organization are urged to be present at the gathering.

The non-fraternity representatives chosen are: J. D. Winslow, Snooks Aitken, Odell Childers, Norment Quarles, Ed Waldrop, and Walter Levitan. Some of these men failed to receive notice of their election in time to be present at the first meeting.

The advisory committee, composed of Harper Barnes, president of the student body; Johnny Phipps, president of the Monogram club; Coach Bob Fetzer; R. D. McMillan, president of the Grail; and Mayne Albright, director of Graham Memorial, is also asked to attend the meeting.

As expressed in yesterday's issue of the paper, the basic purpose of the organization is to foster a greater spirit of loyalty to the University and to provide an energetic group to act as official hosts.
