GEOLOGISTS FIND GOOD SPECIMENS ON FIELD JAUNT

Dr. Prouty Investigates White Lake Basin for Comparison With S. C. Craters.

Some well preserved shark's teeth and mollusc shells of the Miocene age were found by members of the geology department on a field trip taken in the Clinton - Elizabethtown area Saturday.

Dr. W. F. Prouty made investigations of the White Lake basin to determine whether or not it has the same origin as the so-called meteor craters of South Carolina of which he has already made some study.

This trip into the eastern part of the state by the geology students was in connection with the work of advanced historical geology. Its purpose was to visit strata of Cretaceous and Tertiary age and gather fossils.

Those who made the trip were Dr. J. G. Douglas, Dr. W. F. Prouty, Lindsey Hunt, J. B. Ward, S. M. Parker, J. C. Goldson, J. C. Dunlap, Jr., C. G. Peebles, W. T. Wilday, Ray Johnson, and Eddie Marshall.

Baseball Fans May See Team Of 1922 Play Present Outfit

Plans Are Being Made to Have Former South Atlantic Champions Meet Baseballers of '33 in Game Here June 5 As Part of the Commencement.

Efforts are being made to round up the members of the famous University baseball team of 1922 to play a game with the present Carolina varsity Monday, June 5, which is Alumni day of commencement. Manley Llewellyn, Concord attorney, was captain of the '22 outfit, and is attempting to get his teammates together once more to show the present-day collegians how the great American game should be played.

The 1922 team made what is perhaps the best record of any University baseball nine. The team boasted a trio of exceptionally good pitchers in Llewellyn, L. G. "Lefty" Wilson, and Herman J. Bryson.

Roy "Casey" Morris was catcher for the '22 team, ably assisted by Alan M. McGee. The infield was composed of E. R. "Mule" Shirley at first base, Joe McLean at second, A. M. "Monk" McDonald at shortstop, and Fred Morris at third. W. I. "Red" Johnston, Ed Sweetman, "Rabbit" Bonner, and "Moose" Tenney performed in the outfield.

South Atlantic Champions Captain Llewellyn guided his team through a season of 19 victories to the South Atlantic championship. Virginia was whitewashed in the customary three-game series; Trinity, State College, Washington and Lee, and Wake Forest were defeated twice. On a successful

American Prize Contest Over 800 manuscripts and drawings were submitted to the "Americana" magazine in the contest conducted by that publication among undergraduates for satiric literary and artistic work. The winner of the $1000 prize will be announced, and the prize-winning article printed, in the July issue of "Americana."

Weathers was tossing Michael out. Weathers made a beautiful stop of Wagner's drive, fumed and fumbled, but tossed him out in time. One run, one hit.

Carolina: Weathers greeted Coombs with a clean single. Zaiser's bunt was short and Wagner pegged Weathers out at second. Brandt's infield hit led to Zaiser's out when he tried to reach third. Vick beat out a slow roller to first and Brandt reached third on some pretty base running. Leonard forced Vick. Three hits, no runs.

Ninth Inning Duke: Thompson was thrown out, Phipps to Brandt. Wentz lined to Peacock who came in fast. Weaver scratched Duke's second hit down the first base line. Hendrickson worked Griffith for a free ticket. Coombs forced Weaver at third. No runs, one hit.

northern trip the '22 team defeated Maryland, Swarthmore, City College of New York, and New York University. Washington and Lee was the only team to defeat the Tar Heels, winning 9-8 by the aid of a ninth inning rally that produced all nine runs.

The members of the '22 team have scattered widely, but "Big Law," who now presides over Concord's municipal court, feels that the lure of playing together again will bring the team together in a grand reunion. "Casey" Morris is teaching and coaching at the Shelby high school, and "Lefty" Wilson is coaching at the Danville, Va., high school. Herman Bryson is state geologist, with headquarters in Chapel Hill.

JOHN PHIPPS AND BRANDT ELECTED CAPTAINS OF NINE

(Continued from page three) Brandt broke into the line-up as regular right fielder. When the veteran Dixon was dropped from the team Brandt moved to first base which he filled in great style the rest of the season.

Phipps is from Fries, Virginia. He also does not limit his athletic ability to baseball, making letters for the past two years as a halfback on the varsity football team. Phipps did not make the Tar Heel nine last year but acted as an understudy to Smokey Ferebee at short. After a long battle with Dutch Leonard, Phipps took over the regular shortstop position this year, and played beautiful ball all season in the field, besides getting some timely hits at bat.
