

'Beat Vanderbilt' Sends Team Off To Nashville

Three Hundred Students Gather Before Swain For Send-off.

The cry, "Beat Vanderbilt," rang out over the west campus last night as some 300 of the faithful gathered in front of Swain hall to bid "bon voyage" to 30 Carolina football players as they boarded busses for their annual game with Vanderbilt Saturday.

The team was to go by bus from here to Greensboro, where it will entrain for Nashville via Atlanta, Ga. Coach Collins will send his men through a workout on the Oglethorpe university field this afternoon, and tonight the Tar Heels will continue their trip to Nashville. The team will spend tonight at Murfreesboro, Tenn., and arrive in Nashville Saturday morning.

Chief Cheerleader Ernest Hunt led last night's festivities with the aid of several assistant cheerleaders, and the send-off accorded the team was a vociferous one.

Three coaches and six managers were taken on the trip. The players were: Julian Frankel, George Brandt, Gene Barwick, Pop Yeager, and Leo Manley, ends; Jim Tatum, Babe Daniel, Bill Collins, Tom Evins, Elmer Barrett, and Emmett Strickland, tackles; Ed Kahn, George Barclay, Jim Stephens, Emmett Joyce, and Bill Blythe.

VARIETY WILL BE KEYNOTE OF FIRST MAGAZINE ISSUE

Robert Barnett, Temporary Editor, Will Offer First Issue of Magazine Sunday.

The Carolina Magazine will be distributed to the campus on Sunday morning, the first issue of which was under the temporary editorship of Robert Barnett. The following issues will be under the direction of Don Shoemaker.

The first issue of the Magazine contains an impressionistic narrative by Nelson Lansdale, "Carnival," which concerns the experiences of one "Anthony" at the World's Fair. Foster Fitzsimons contributes a study in revenge set in the romantic climate of the Florida coast.

Don Shoemaker offers an amusing sketch in diary form of a disappointed prize novel contest contestant. Robert Barnett has reviewed Dr. Zimmermann's recent and important book, "World Resources and Industries." Edith Harbour contributes a brief historical and descriptive sketch of the city of Greensboro.

Joe Sugarman analyzes the function of the summer camp, viewed realistically, and touches upon some of its most difficult problems. Of particular interest to poetry lovers will be a translation of one of Villon's best poems by Ben Napier. In addition to these contributions here enumerated, there will be other stories and poems and editorial and special features.

Editor Barnett states that this issue, though resembling in tone the Magazine of last year, is not related to the plan for the year.

WORDS TO NEW SONGS

Tar Heels On Hand

Tar Heels on hand
To steal the thunder from the sky
Then take our stand
As every man does right
We'll give the Tar Heels hand
And cheer them on to die
Yea—all of us are proud to be
And you can betcha
The Tar Heels on hand

Tar Heels join hands
And sing a song for Blue and White
Then fill the stands
With praise, and cheer, and yell—and yell like hell!
Come on you Tar Heels join hands
With loyal voices shout fight on
Here's to the land of the old North State
Where weak grow strong and the strong grow great
When Tar Heels join hands.

Split It For The Team

Split it for the team—We'll raise our voices to the sky and Split it for the team—Carolina's rooters never die—we'll
Fight fight fight fight fight fight
And split old Carolina for the team
Split it for the team, the scrubs, the varsity, and coaches
Split it for the team, and victory for us approaches
Fight fight fight fight fight fight
And split old Carolina for the team
We're Tar Heels born and we're Tar Heels bred
You can bet your boots that we're far from dead
So, Hark the sound of Tar Heel voices
As they fight fight fight fight fight.

MURCHISON'S TALK BEGINS NRA SERIES

Economics Professor Speaks on "Nature of the Emergency" To Large Audience.

"The stock market broke in 1929 and then the world went crazy," declared Prof. C. T. Murchison in an address last night in Bingham hall on the nature of the emergency which preceded the national recovery program.

"The burden was too great for national life," said Dr. Murchison in describing the national debt in bonds and mortgages which was increased to a par with the national capital by the depreciation of land and commodity prices. He showed how, between 1927 and 1929, new stock and bond issues doubled our previous investments and also showed the causes of the stock market crash and subsequent depressions which was caused by decreased buying power and income.

Cites Causes

Dr. Murchison went on to cite the causes of the different countries going off the gold standard and the results of this action. After the address there was an open forum at which many questions were asked.

The next lecture on this series will be on the National Recovery Act, by Prof. H. D. Wolf, next Thursday.

Crowded Hall Resounds With Applause And Loud Cheering.

A capacity crowd of approximately 2,000 students assembled in Memorial hall at 10:30 yesterday morning and adopted the two battle songs which Kay Kyser has written for the University, "Tar Heels on Hand" and "Split It for Team."

Archie Davis and his orchestra played music after a short explanation by Clairborn Carr. Both numbers were so enthusiastically received by the entire assemblage that the orchestra played each of them again, receiving a renewed and greater applause the second time. With this indication of their whole-hearted approval, Clairborn Carr suggested that the songs be adopted unanimously. This suggestion was passed.

Cheering Section Organized

After the playing of the songs, it was announced that the University club was having words and music of the numbers printed and that a newly organized cheering section was to receive copies. Upon application at the desk at the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of next week, copies of the pieces may be obtained and the recipients are to sign their names and sit in the cheering section during the Georgia game, a week from Saturday.
