

ELLISBERG WILL LEAD FIGURE AT SOPHOMORE HOP

Clark, Willis, Rankin, Harris, Parrot, and Primrose Elected Assistant Leaders.

The sophomore class, in their regular meeting yesterday morning in Gerrard hall, voted to continue the custom of having the president of the class lead the figure in the sophomore hop.

The class chose as assistant dance leaders to Morty Ellisberg, president of the class, the following: Sam Clark, Ben Willis, Claude Rankin, Dick Harris, Jim Parrot, and Hugh Primrose. The executive committee of the class will also be in the figure.

The dance is scheduled for Friday, October 27, the evening before the Georgia Tech game, in the Tin Can. The executive committee voted Monday evening to co-operate with the Order of the Grail, which will give a dance the following evening, in the matter of orchestra and decorations.

As yet the dance committee, consisting of Jimmy Johnston, chairman, Jack Clare, Francis Fairley, Van Webb, and Jim Jackson, has not definitely decided on an orchestra.

Soph Executives

There will be a meeting of the sophomore executive committee tonight at 8:00 o'clock in Graham Memorial.

CLASSES IN LIFE SAVING PLANNED

Interested Students to Report at Graham Memorial This Afternoon at 3:00.

Students who are interested in taking a series of Senior Red Cross life saving examinations will be given the opportunity for the first time in several years. This announcement was made by M. S. Breckinridge, chairman of the local chapter of the American Red Cross.

All those who are interested in taking these tests are urged to meet this afternoon at 3:00 o'clock in Graham Memorial. All examiners in swimming and life saving are requested to meet with Lee Greer today at chapel period in the Y. M. C. A. lobby. These tests will be conducted in the University gym.

The age requirement is that the candidate must be 17 or over. The course is to be in charge of a group of experienced examiners.

Raymond S. Eaton, national field representative in charge of swimming and life saving was here Monday and Tuesday and was instrumental in getting the course arranged. He announced that all who passed the senior tests and who were over twenty years of age would have an opportunity to take an examiners' course later on.

Photo Appointments

The following students have appointments with Wootton-Moulton for photos today: A. R. Fiore, L. M. Parker, N. Schwartz and S. A. Wilkins.

Old West Smoker

Old West will have a smoker tonight at 9:00 o'clock in 214 Graham Memorial.

Di Senate Votes For Mid-Term Schedule

By an almost unanimous vote, the Di Senate in session Tuesday night went on record as favoring a special schedule for mid-term examinations. The bill passed read: Resolved: That the Di Senate go on record as favoring a special schedule for mid-term examinations as follows: Monday, 8:30, 3:00; Tuesday, 9:30; Wednesday, 11:00; Thursday, 12:00; Friday, 2:00. The senate felt it unfair to the average student to have to take, in some cases, as many as four exams in one day.

Ernest Hunt was declared not guilty when impeachment charges brought against him came to a vote. Francis Justice and Donald Shoemaker were expelled from the senate for failure to pay fees last year.

ENGLISH RESULTS ARE ANNOUNCED

Forty-One Last Year Freshmen Complete Three Quarters' Work in Two Quarters.

The results of the experiment tried in freshman English last year were announced yesterday by Dr. A. P. Hudson, chairman of freshman English.

"Last fall," said Dr. Hudson, "the incoming freshmen took the usual placement test in English. On the basis of the results of the placement test plus observation of class performance, students were finally placed in high, average, and low sections. The high or advanced sections, were offered the content of the freshman English course in two quarters. There were two sections of advanced English, containing 49 students."

At the end of the winter quarter the advanced English course had been completed. All 49 had passed the work successfully.

Twenty-eight of the students, with grades of B or above, were given credit for English 1, 2, and 3, and were promoted to English 21, the normal beginning of the sophomore course.

The other part of the group were held for a course in literature and composition. This course was counted as a free elective.

Results taken from the reports of the spring quarter show that six frosh got A's, 16 got B's, five got C's, and one got a D in English 21.

Presbyterian Social Will Be Friday Night

The annual Presbyterian social, which was originally scheduled for Friday night of freshman week, has been definitely set for this Friday night at 8:00 in the social rooms of the church. All Presbyterian students in the University are cordially invited to attend, and, if possible, bring along a co-ed to whom special invitations have been extended.

It has been suggested that if a co-ed has no one to act as her escort, she will be readily excused for "collaring" one of the males to bring her.

Soph Co-eds to Meet

The sophomore co-eds will hold a meeting tomorrow at 10:30 o'clock in the women's reception room in Graham Memorial. At the meeting, new officers will be elected and a program for the year will be planned.

Paroxysmal Upheaval In Bridge World Threatens Catastrophe

'MASTER BUILDER' TO BE PRESENTED

Madame Hammer's Troupe to Return Here for Two Performances in Theatre.

Borgny Hammer's Ibsen players will present "The Master Builder" Monday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock in the Playmaker theatre as a complimentary performance.

This is being done because two former members of the Playmakers are in the Ibsen company. Seats may be obtained by presenting Playmaker season tickets at the box-office immediately before the performance.

"The Master Builder" will be presented again at 8:30 o'clock in the Playmaker theatre for all others who wish to see it. The acoustics and stage are better suited for such a performance than those of Memorial hall.

There has been criticism of their performance of "Ghosts" due to the fact that Curtis Cooksy was forced to read his part. There are many translations of this play, and Cooksy unfortunately studied the wrong one when he was journeying down to fill in when the original actor became sick. The poor acoustics of Memorial hall prevented the voices of the actors from carrying sufficiently. Cooksy now knows his part in "The Master Builder" thoroughly, and the acoustics in the theatre are excellent.

KOCH WILL READ 'AH, WILDERNESS'

Third of Series of Readings by Bull's Head Will Be Presented This Afternoon.

Professor Frederick H. Koch will read "Ah, Wilderness," Eugene O'Neill's new play, in the Bull's Head bookshop in the Y. M. C. A. this afternoon at 4:00 o'clock, Miss Mary Dirnberger announced yesterday morning.

This play is enjoying its second week's run in New York City under the auspices of the New York Theatre Guild. A great cast is helping in the production of the play, including George M. Cohan. It is the first of its kind by O'Neill, and has, according to the author, "in its creation of atmosphere, sentiment, mood, the evocation of a dead past in a simple middle-class family in a small town—to me the America which was (and is)—the real America."

Professor Koch's reading will be especially appropriate in that it was he who so largely influenced the movement toward the type of folk drama displayed in "Ah, Wilderness."

The October issue of Current History lauds the influence of Professor Koch on the American drama.

Montrose J. Moses, the author of "The American Note in Drama," concludes his discussion of American drama with a tribute to Professor Koch, who, according to Moses, has every reason to exult in that his private idea of folk drama as first practiced in North Dakota and further sustained in North Carolina has been so thoroughly assimilated throughout the land.

Anti-Bridge League Sounds Clarion Call as Result of Watching Page and Woerner Play.

Down with Culbertson! The Devil with Lentz! The sack for Sims, Jacoby, and Lightner! A momentous, history-making gathering in THE TAR HEEL office yesterday afternoon drew up articles based on a faith so firm and unflinching that it promises a "Holy War" against the myriad of bridge players of Chapel Hill.

While the group refused to admit it yesterday, expert scouts report that the immediate cause for the founding of the society was watching Bob Woerner and Bob Page play four hours in Sutton's. This journalistic pair eventually went to the cleaners, but not before the anti-bridge league had passed out from sheer exhaustion. To date the chief work of the league has been attempting to get Woerner and Page to sign the articles of faith. At present, both are holding out for higher pay.

Moving spirits of the organization, charter members to boot, as well as grand and little slams, are Foy Patrick Gaskins and Eleanor Bizzell. The former has come in for serious question as to eligibility owing to his participation in the production of the Buccaneer, while the lady in question boasts the paradoxical nomenclature, "desk man" in the mast-head of THE TAR HEEL.

No pussyfooting organization is the anti-bridge league, nor are its members exclusively small-fry. One Thomas Walker, ex-Spencer hall devotee, heads the list of anti-bridgers. Other conscientious objectors include Joe Sugarman, social light of circles unknown; Nick Powell, ex-setter-upper of bridge tables at the Phi Kappa Sigma Kappa house; and Opie Shelton, who was just a freshman who should have known better.

Frantic attempts to sound out Editor Claiborn Carr were in vain. It was rumored that he was marching through Georgia and probably couldn't play contract anyway.

Other statements from students solicited for membership include Ben Proctor's pithy rejoinder: "I can't sign—I run a dorm store. But I'm with you—body and soul"; and Marcus Feinstein who replied: "I'm sorry, I just can't afford it."

The charter of the group is as follows:

"We, the undersigned, being of sound mind on this the 18th day of October in the year of our Lord, one thousand, nine hundred and thirty-three, do hereby solemnly swear, and affirm, that we will play no bridge under no circumstances during the ensuing school year.

Codicil: TAR HEEL members are not barred because of first clause.

FLASH: Woerner and Page have just signed after remembering that cataclysmic defeat.

Thirteen Sick

Thirteen students were confined to the University infirmary yesterday. They were: Robert Beck, R. L. Bernhardt, J. H. Eddleman, James Ferrando, Ruth Hall, Herman Kane, W. H. Kellingsworth, J. H. Price, Russell Powell, George Steele, W. N. Sloan, H. B. Whitmore, and C. C. White.

Phi Goes On Record Favoring Exam Days

The Philanthropic Assembly passed the bill, Resolved: That mid-term exams be made out in a definite schedule, by an overwhelming majority at the meeting Tuesday night. Representatives Rubin, Fairley, and Warren spoke in favor of the bill.

The bill, Resolved: That the rushing season of fraternities be postponed until after Christmas, was passed by a moderate majority.

Speaker L. H. Fountain was automatically elected representative to the Debate council, as he was the only Phi member eligible for the position.

Major L. P. McLendon, Durham lawyer and campaign manager of Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus, was unable to attend the meeting as was scheduled.

MURCHISON WILL LECTURE ON NRA

"Monetary and Banking Reform And Inflation" Subject of Talk at 8:00 Tonight

The third of a series of lectures on the National Recovery programs, sponsored by the University school of commerce in co-operation with the school of public administration and the law school, will be given by Dr. C. T. Murchison, director of research in the school of commerce, in Bingham hall at 8:00 o'clock tonight.

Dr. Murchison's subject will be "Monetary and Banking Reform and Inflation." Among the points he will discuss are the resumption of the gold standard, reorganization of the banking system, and international financial problems.

The lectures are being given every Thursday night. All of the speakers, with the exception of Professor G. W. Forster of State College, who is to speak next week, are members of the University faculty.

Dr. Murchison delivered the first lecture. The second was given by Professor H. D. Wolf of the school of commerce, who discussed the NRA as distinguished from other measures passed by the Roosevelt administration, described the manner of setting up codes for the various industries, and showed how the ultimate objective was the expansion of national purchasing power.

Chapel Hill Program Will Be Broadcast

The Stringfield Trio of the North Carolina Symphony society will broadcast a booster program for Chapel Hill over station WPTF, Raleigh, Saturday, from 6:30 to 7:00 o'clock.

"La Timide" and "Tambourin," by Rameau; "Nocturne" by Chi; and mountain sketches, "Morning" and "In a Log Cabin," by Stringfield, will compose the program.

The trio is composed of Lamar Stringfield, flute; Ralph Weatherford, cello; and Adeline McCall, piano.

Dr. Manning Is Ill

Dr. Isaac H. Manning, professor of physiology and former dean of the medical school, has been absent from his regular duties since Tuesday because of illness. He is expected to return by Friday.

UNIVERSITY CLUB TO MAKE PLANS FOR HOMECOMING

Meets Tonight to Discuss Arrangements for Tech Game And Homecoming Day.

The University club will meet tonight in Graham Memorial at 8:00 o'clock in order to discuss plans for homecoming week-end and the Georgia Tech game.

Plans will be made for the decoration of fraternity houses and dormitories as well as other buildings on the campus. It is absolutely necessary that every member of the University club be present at this meeting. The fraternity men who have been appointed by the presidents of the chapters to serve on the homecoming projects are also urged to attend the meeting.

A Philco console model radio will be given gratis to the fraternity which decorates its house most ingeniously. This radio is one of the best models made and is expected to be an added inducement to fraternities to do their part in the big homecoming celebration.

The University club expects that the week-end of the Georgia Tech game will be the most brilliant social week-end of the year. The Grail is planning to run a dance on the night of the game, and the sophomore class will present its annual hop the Friday night preceding the day of the game.

REVIEW PUBLISHES FOOTBALL EDITION

Supplement Deals Principally With Overwhelming Defeat Of Tar Heels by Georgia.

The weekly football supplement to The Alumni Review, featuring the Carolina-Georgia football game, was distributed yesterday from the office of J. Maryon Saunders, secretary of the alumni association.

The issue deals principally with the overwhelming defeat of the Tar Heels by the clever Georgia team. The first two pages of the publication take up the story of the game in general, and the remainder of the paper is given over to play-by-play accounts.

Coach Chuck Collins' weekly contribution to the supplement, a criticism of the game from the coach's bench, is featured on the first page. "We were outclassed in every department of the game," concluded the coach in his article. "We played in the big leagues Saturday and came out with a minor league rating."

Statistics of the game are given prominent places on the first and last pages. A short section is given over to the coming Carolina-Georgia Tech game, and the story of the Carolina freshman team's victory over Louisburg is written up on the last page of the issue.

Alpha Kappa Psi Meeting

Alpha Kappa Psi, commerce fraternity, will meet tonight at 7:15 o'clock in Graham Memorial. All members are urged to attend.

Co-eds Will Meet

Spencer hall co-eds are urged to attend a special house meeting this morning at 10:30 o'clock.
