FRATS AND DORMS WORK TO FULFILL DECORATION PLAN

Almost All University Groups
Enter Homecoming Week-end
Contest with Enthusiasm.

CONTEST OVER TOMORROW

The University club met last night with the presidents of the various dormitories and made final plans for the big Homecoming week-end. Most of the fraternities and dormitories announced their intention of entering the decorations contest.

Plans were also made for a monster pep meeting to be staged tonight which, if plans are carried out will be the most spectacular rally ever held on the campus. Ernest Hunt has charge of the pep meeting and he has procured several speakers for the occasion.

Plans are being made to have the pep meeting over in time to allow those who so desire to attend the sophomore hop. All sophomores are urged and invited to bring their girls to the pep rally.

The fraternity and dormitory decoration contest will end Saturday morning at 10:00 o'clock. Dean Bradshaw, W. A. Olsen and R. B. House are the judges for the contest, in which the winning dormitory will receive a radio, and the winning fraternity a loving cup.

The Y. M. C. A. has donated $5.00 to the University club to aid it in carrying out plans for the week-end. E. C. Smith, manager of the local movie house donated the Ramblin' Wreck to be used in the parade and the fireworks to be used after the pep rally.

ASSEMBLY TALKS CONCERN DORMS AND BAD CHECKS

Weeks Discusses Dormitory
Council and Taylor Explains
Bad Check Rule.

Haywood Weeks, executive director of the dormitory councils, and Herbert Taylor, head of the bad check committee, spoke yesterday morning at assembly in Memorial hall at 10:30.

Weeks, who was president of the student body last year, briefly outlined the campus organization, stating that the dormitory council ranks next to the student council. He discussed the jurisdiction of the former, and explained that the student council handled all breaches of honor and serious violations of conduct, while the dorm council acts on milder violations.

The inter-dormitory council is composed of the presidents of the dorms. They are responsible for the conditions in the living quarters.

"If we have your support throughout the year," he concluded, "we feel that the dormitory program will be a success." Herbert Taylor traced the history of the bad check committee and the vast amount of good it has done in re-establishing the lost credit of the Carolina student. Giving examples of the punishment for bad checks drawn by University men in the year 1931-32, he showed the great decrease in such cases.

"If an offender fairly warned,"

Students And Citizens Prepare For Huge Homecoming Day Fete

With a large group of dormitories and fraternities and all local business houses backing plans for decoration contests tomorrow, the University and Chapel Hill are set for the biggest Homecoming Day celebration ever staged here.

In addition to the "painting red" aspect of the celebration and the pep rally tonight, the social lions will have a full program of four dances over the week-end.

There will be three divisions of the decoration contest, for which R. B. House, Dean F. F. Bradshaw, and W. A. Olsen are judges. The departments are for fraternities, dormitories, and local business firms.

Prizes will be awarded in each division—a silver loving cup to the winning fraternity, a table model radio to the first-place dormitory, and two tickets to the Carolina-Georgia game to the winning merchant. The runner-up in the business house contest will receive one ticket to the game.

The cup is on display at Gooch Bros. and Brooks cafe, and the radio is being shown at Sutton's drug store. As far as can be discovered, the tickets have not been put on display.

Three dances tonight sponsored by the sophomore class, Sigma Chi, and Sigma Delta, will open the social bill. Tomorrow night the Order of the Grail will stage its third dance of the fall quarter.

Local firms which are backing Homecoming Day plans and whose donations made the contest prizes possible are: University Consolidated Service Plants, Gooch Bros. and Brooks, Sutton's, Carolina Inn, Crescent cafeteria, Johnson-Prevost, Eubanks drug company, Pritchard-Lloyd's, Randolph-McDonald, Model market, Carolina theatre, and Wooten-Moulton's.

WOMEN DISCUSS ATHLETIC PLANS

Election of Three Council Members
Also Feature of Fall
Meeting of Association.

The election of three new council members and the presentation of the co-ed athletics program for the year featured the fall meeting of the Women's association of the University yesterday afternoon in Graham Memorial.

Jayne Smoot, president of the Women's athletic association, gave a short talk on co-ed athletics. She urged the girls to go out for more sports this year, since this organization has just gotten under way and has made possible a wider choice of sports to be participated in.

The following members of the athletic council were elected, with a representative chosen from each of the classes: Ida Winstead, Vivian Grisette, Elsie Lawrence, Jane Jolly, Harriet Taylor and Mary Webb.

The election was followed by a talk by Mrs. C. A. Beard, director of co-ed athletics. She announced that Coach J. F. Kenfield was conducting classes on Monday and Thursday afternoons in tennis for the girls, and that arrangements would be made later for basketball, track, and rifle practice. More girls are participating in these sports than ever before and for the first time, awards of letters or some other insignia, based on a point system, will be made.

Plans for a comedy to be presented sometime during the winter quarter were presented by Mary Byrd Perrow. Suggestions were also made for a May Day pageant in the spring. The date for the annual faculty reception was set for November 14.

The results of the election to fill vacancies in the student council were as follows: Sara Vann, vice-president; Mary Ellen Watts, secretary; and Elsie Lawrence, town representative. The other officers are: Jane Jolly, president; Betty Durham, treasurer; and Eleanor Bizzell, house president of Spencer hall.

RELATIONS CLUB OPENS PROGRAM

Group Will Conduct Symposium
On New German State at Meeting Tonight.

The International Relations club opens the year's program this evening at 7:30 o'clock in 209 Graham Memorial with a symposium on the new German state.

Dr. Meno Spann, who will probably be first on the program, will speak on "The Emotional and Political Background of the Present German State." An open forum discussion on this subject will follow the talk.

If time permits, Dr. E. C. Metzenthin's talk is to be on "Church Under the New German State."

The executive committee, which has charge of the organization's programs, will probably be named tonight. Irvin Boyle will act as chairman this evening.

Sigma Delta Will Give Week-end House Party

Sigma Delta, local fraternity, will conduct a house party here this week-end in connection with the Homecoming day program.

Guests for the week-end are: Jacqueline Moore of Sweet Briar, Leila George Cram of Randolph Macon, Mildred Elmore of Gastonia, May Braxton Strowd of Chapel Hill, Sue Byerly of Randolph Macon, Suzanne Winstead, of Roxboro, Virginia Rawlston of Greensboro, Dorothy Jackson of Chapel Hill, Louise Bullard of Fayetteville, Margaret Gaines of Richmond, Babe Brock of Dunn, and Ruby Byrd of Parktown.

Ehringhaus Praises Program of Quartet

J. Maryon Saunders' announcement Wednesday night at the radio program over station WPTF that Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus, Charles T. Woollen, Gaston F. Galloway, and Charles S. Mangum made up the quartet which made "Hark the Sound" famous, was answered at the conclusion of the program by a telegram from the governor, expressing his appreciation for the broadcast.

The following persons will act as chaperones, President and Mrs. Frank P. Graham, Mrs. Fred Patterson, Dr. and Mrs. Bernard, Dr. and Mrs. Mackie, Mrs. Stacy, Dean and Mrs. Francis Bradshaw.

Rockingham County Students Form Club

Nearly twenty students from Rockingham county met in Graham Memorial Wednesday evening and reorganized the Rockingham county club.

The plans and purposes of the club were discussed and the following officers were elected: Francis Anderson, Leaksville, president; Melvin Gillie, Draper, vice-president; Lewis Hampton, Leaksville, secretary-treasurer.

Anderson appointed a committee to arrange a program for the next meeting, and likewise a committee assigned to rounding-up students from the county who failed to attend the first meeting. Rockingham county has 43 students registered in the University.

Carolina Spirit To Reach Peak At Tonight's Rally

DR. MANNING LECTURES
AT MEDICAL SOCIETY

Dr. Isaac Hall Manning of the school of medicine lectured in Pinehurst yesterday at a meeting of the North Carolina Medical society, Pinehurst district. Dr. Manning is president of the State Medical society.

Dr. James K. Hall of the Westbrook sanatorium in Richmond was also one of the principal speakers. Dr. Hall, a well known authority on criminal and mental hygiene, is an alumnus of the University, having graduated from Carolina in 1901.

CONFERENCE HERE BEGINS SCHEDULE

Accountants Hold First Session
Today; Have Arranged Full
Program for Two Days.

The fourth annual conference of the North Carolina certified public accountants, sponsored here by the University school of commerce, got underway yesterday with registration in Bingham hall and a movie party in the Carolina theatre.

The officers of the association, the board of directors, and the conference committees met yesterday morning and drew up plans for the session.

An extensive program has been drawn up for today and tomorrow, featuring attendance at the Carolina-Georgia Tech football game, a benuquet, talks by members of the University faculty and entertainments for the ladies.

Meeting Today

The 14th annual meeting will be called to order by President Neal S. Zeigler this morning in Bingham hall at 9:30 o'clock. Robert B. House, executive secretary of the University, will deliver the address of welcome, and President Zeigler will respond.

Dr. J. B. Woosley, professor of finance here, will speak on "Causes of Bank Failures and Proposed Remedies." After a short discussion, Dr. H. D. Wolf, professor of economics at the University, will talk on special

Library Gets Three Newspapers of 1795

Luther James Phipps of the class of '22 has given the Library for its North Carolina collection, three newspapers of February 16 and 23, and March 2, 1795.

The newspaper, called the North Carolina Journal, has several references to the University. In it is an advertisement reminding all people who had bought land from the University that they would have to pay before May. A decision of the State legislature giving all confiscated lands to the University was also recorded and a reference made that some person in Mecklenburg county must turn over the property.

There are many references to laws restricting slaves, to the English-French war, and a letter from George Washington accepting the resignation of Secretary of War Knox. There is also a story in it that Lafayette has escaped from prison.

Parade Forms in Town Before Starting to Memorial Hall.

Fireworks, speeches, a shirt-tail parade, and a bonfire behind Memorial hall will mark the high spots of the pep meeting tonight.

The band will assemble in front of the post office at 7:30. From here the band boys will lead a parade up Franklin street around to Memorial hall, which will be the center of the evening's festivities. Coach Bill Cerney and Supreme Court Judge W. J. Brogden of Durham will speak. President Frank P. Graham expects to be present, but will be unable to speak.

After the talks the "ramblin' wreck," which has been on display in front of Pritchard-Lloyd's drug store, will meet its doom at the bonfire, which will be ignited after the Memorial hall speaking. Fireworks will be passed out to the participants.

Distribution of Megaphones

Saturday at 1:45 o'clock all freshmen are expected to meet in the Tin Can for a pep meeting. Regulation megaphones, secured for the occasion by Cheerleader Hunt through the courtesy of Tubby Hinson, manager of the Book Exchange, will be passed out to all freshmen present.

Attention of the student body is called to the fact that the four Carolina songs will appear in the Saturday issue of the TAR HEEL, and each student is requested to cut the words of the songs out and bring them to the game.

SYMPHONY GIVES OPENING CONCERT AT DUKE TONIGHT

John Powell Will Play on First
Program of State Orchestra
In Durham Tonight.

The North Carolina state symphony orchestra, directed by Lamar Stringfield, will present its first program of the season at Page auditorium, Duke University, tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

John Powell, considered by leading music critics to be one of the outstanding American pianists, will be guest artist.

Members of the orchestra, selected from the professional and more talented amateur musicians of the state, have been assembled in Chapel Hill during the past three days for rehearsals. The orchestra has been described by Powell as "the most important symphony music organization in the United States."

Powell has received wide acclaim in Europe and this country following his debut in Vienna, where he was a pupil of Leschetizky. He began the study of piano at the age of five.

Powell's reputation as a composer now rivals his fame as pianist, and many of his greater works have been performed by European symphony orchestras.

The concert is sponsored by the Charity League of Durham. The symphony is scheduled also for concerts in Raleigh and Winston-Salem, November 9 and 11 respectively.
