

White Phantoms Get Off To Fast Start In Opener Downing Clemson 38-26

Coach "Bo" Shepard's Carolina "White Phantoms" inaugurated their 1934 basketball season with a brilliant 38-26 victory over the Clemson "Tigers" last night in the Tin Can. Around 2500 fans packed the gigantic athletic plant to see the opener.

From the outset the game was close with the Tar Heel quint showing a slight superiority over the invading Southern Conference foe. Once in the first half Clemson led 7-6 and a brace of times during the second period when the going looked hard the "Tigers" led the Carolina club. But the Tar Heels snapped out of their lethargy, rallying late in the last half to gain a substantial margin.

Pennington Stars
Clyde Pennington, lanky Clemson sophomore forward, copped the scoring honors with five field goals. This "Tiger" forward repeatedly brought the crowd to their feet with his uncanny one hand shots. Trailing Pennington closely were Jim McCachren, Tar Heel soph guard, and Virgil Weathers, Carolina's all-southern senior forward, both with nine points. McCachren gained four field goals and one foul toss while Weathers set some sort of record from the gratis line with seven free throws and one field goal.

The first score in the 1934 Carolina cage campaign went to Jim McCachren shortly after start of play when the Charlotte youth came through with a sparkling running shot under the basket. "Snooks" Aitken vied for honors as a classy sharpshooter. In the last half, Aitken came rushing down the court, stopping shortly outside the foul line to drop in a beautiful long shot which went through the basket without so much as touching the rim.

McCachrens Feature
To the McCachren brothers went the honors for brilliant defensive work on the Carolina five. "Jason" Glace showed marked improvement in his all round play, hitting the basket for a trio of field goals and a pair of free tosses.

The Carolina defense was spotty, rising at times to great heights and then lapsing into weak moments which all but cost the Tar Heels the game. The passing was rough, but it was the first game of the year and allowances must be made.

Summary:

Carolina	G	Ft.	TP

WRESTLING CALL

All candidates for the wrestling squads, both varsity and freshman, are requested to report for practice today. Due to the fact that the meet with State is only ten days off it is imperative that the teams get in condition. Practice will begin at 4:00 o'clock sharp.

TRIO OF SPORTS ON WINTER CARD

Intramural Schedule Will Start Soon With Basketball, Boxing And Probably Fencing.

Basketball, boxing and probably fencing will comprise the winter intramural card, according to Director Herman Schnell.

The date for the intramural boxing tourney has not been set yet but the meet is expected to be run off sometime the latter part of this month.

Winners and their respective weights last year were Eutsler, Sigma Nu 115; Frucht, Lewis, 125; Kalb, Everett, 135; Sutton, Best House 145; Pratt, Zeta Psi 155; Edwards, Lewis 165; Ellisburg, T. E. P. 175; and Kanner, T. E. P. unlimited.

Basketball will begin January 15. The entry list will likely be composed of 24 fraternity and 14 dormitory aggregations. Old East copped the dormitory crown while S. A. E. was victorious in the fraternity division. Old East defeated S. A. E. 28-12 to win the campus championship.

It is not certain whether fencing will be included in the sports program. This form of athletics proved popular with intramural enthusiasts last year and may be included again this year if proper interest is shown.

FIGHTERS GIVEN STIFF WORK-OUTS BY COACH ROWE

Opening Match Is With V. P. I. Here Saturday, January 13; Squad Small Yesterday.

With just a little over a week left before the opening match with V. P. I. here Saturday, January 13, Coach Crayton Rowe started his boxing prospects through some stiff workouts yesterday afternoon in the Tin Can.

Only a small squad reported yesterday but the rest of the boxers are expected to get in action today. Coach Rowe put most of the mitmen in the ring during the long session. Nearly all of the boys show signs of the need of plenty of conditioning before the first meet.

The lighter weights seem to be well taken care of with lettermen ready to go in the first four lower divisions. Cliff Glover, last year's regular, is the leading candidate for the 115-pound class but is having lots of competition in Pete Ivey and Ernest Eutsler. Jimmy Williams, after a year layoff, has been coming back strong and is the likely man to do the fighting at the featherweight post. Williams made his letter in the bantamweight division in 1932.

Quarles Is Set
Norment Quarles, the only Southern Conference champion, is all set to go in the 135-pound class. Quarles is the outstanding man on the squad, having won the featherweight title with ease last winter. Nat Lumpkin, a veteran of two years, is the leading prospect for the welterweight position.

Sam Giddens, the fifth letterman returning, will take care of one of the upper four weights, depending on his weight. Morty Ellisburg, freshman sensation last year, is a fine prospect for one of the heavier weights. Marvin Ray and James Carruth are the outstanding men at present for the top two divisions.

COACH AND THREE VETERANS

Coach Bo Shepard and three of the veteran players who opened the Carolina basketball season last night in the Tin Can with a victory. Captain Dave McCachren and Virgil Weathers, guard and forward respectively, who are beginning their third year as regulars, are pictured at the top. "Snooks" Aitken, a sensation at guard last year as a sophomore but shifted to forward this season, and Coach Shepard are pictured at the bottom. Captain Dave did a great job, leading the Tar Heels in their first battle, while the two forwards teamed together in fine style, Weathers scoring nine points and Aitken seven.

Y.M.C.A. Is Sponsor Of State Programs

Members of the local Y. M. C. A. made use of their holidays in preparing and presenting deputation programs in several cities over the state. In each case the program was put on by hometown boys. Charlotte boys presented three programs. Those in Wilmington, Fayetteville, Winston-Salem and Asheville staged programs in their respective cities.

"Jesus and the Spirit of Christmas" was the subject of the leading discussion on each program. Dickens' "Christmas Carol" was narrated and Bible selections suited for the Christmas season were read. There was special Christmas music also.

The program intended to be presented in Rocky Mount was postponed until the winter quarter when, the Rocky Mount "Y" thought, it will be more successful. During the winter quarter there will be programs in three other cities also.

FOUR STUDENTS ATTEND NATIONAL CONFERENCES

Harper Barnes of Lillington, J. S. Gentry of Elkin, E. L. Hauser of Winston-Salem, and Mayne Albright of Raleigh attended during the holidays the national conferences of students in politics in Raleigh and of the National Student Federation of America in Washington.

The conference in Raleigh met December 29, 30, and 31, and the National Student Federation met at the same time.

Maryland Wins Opener

Although it won its first fight, University of Maryland's boxing team did not appear so formidable in defeating the University of Richmond 4½ to 3½. However, four men who are certain to bolster the team considerably will become eligible at the close of the first semester on January 24. But a match with the strong Western Maryland squad is booked at College Park on January 20 and the Old Liners will be decided underdogs to the Terrors with whom they battled 4-all last season.

Rumors Of Next Carolina Coach Are Without Foundation Of Fact

WORK RENEWED BY TRACKSTERS

Track Squad to Go Through Intense Practices Preparing For Tough Schedule.

Intense winter track practice, which began several weeks before the holidays, will be renewed this week with more vigor than ever before.

The early practices this season are centered on developing new material to back up the few stars remaining from last year's conference champions. The nucleus of the squad is composed of thirteen lettermen, and the new men who show up in the winter work-outs will be the ones who complete the team.

The remaining prospects are divided rather equally among all the events, although the high jump appears to be the weakest. The pole vaulters have been working hard to round into shape.

Last season's champion squad lost nine stars through graduation and failure to return to school. Seven graduated: Hubbard, Stafford, Cordle, Mullis, Chandler, Smith, and Hamlet. Higby, letter holder, and Napier, promising sophomore, failed to return to school.

This season's squad has as the outstanding men who are expected to bring home the bacon the following: Childers, Gunter, Fox, and Williamson in the sprints, 440, and 880; McRae, H. and L. Sullivan, and Waldrop in the distance running; Abernathy and Hawthorne in the hurdles; Jackson and McDonald, pole vaulters; Bob Reid in the high jump; LeGore and Armfield in the javelin toss; and Schmukler, discus.

Prospects look fairly well so far for the coming season providing these experienced men keep up their good work and the newcomers develop well. On the 1934 schedule are William and Mary, Navy, Virginia, Duke, and the state and conference meets. There is a possibility of a dual meet with Dartmouth.

Frosh Practice Tonight

Carolina's freshman basketball squad will start work tonight in the Tin Can for its hard schedule. The team is under the direction of Coach Sandy Dameron and practice will begin at 7:15 o'clock.

No Names Are Given by Authorities; Council Meets Monday.

Newspaper rumors that the field of prospective candidates for head football coach at Carolina has been narrowed to any one man are without foundation in fact, Athletic Director R. A. Fetzer said last night.

Coach Fetzer, who attended the athletic meetings in Chicago during the holidays, returned to the office only yesterday.

The University athletic director stated that he and Dr. Foy Roberson interviewed a "number of candidates of promise" while in Chicago but denied that any selection had been made or could be made until the next meeting of the Athletic council.

This meeting is scheduled for next Monday night, when Mr. Fetzer and Dr. Roberson, the latter of whom is one of three alumni members, will report their findings along with any opinions they may have reached.

Mr. Fetzer intimated that the field of candidates had not been narrowed beyond what was done at the last meeting of the council. At that time the council was understood to have pared the list of more than 50 applicants to approximately ten men.

The group is said to contain several men with considerable experience and excellent records as college coaches. All names were withheld, however, lest some of the men be prejudiced who are satisfactorily located at present.

The retiring Coach Fetzer even inquired if his name couldn't be withheld from this story. He consented to its being used only when it was explained that names made news and that there would be no story but for his trip and interviewing.

Mr. Fetzer's statements will only increase the speculation of students and alumni, whose interest in the selection has mounted higher and higher since the council declined to renew the contract of Chuck Collins, who taught the Notre Dame system here from 1926 through the 1933 season.

Rumor has linked the name of scores of coaches with the job, but athletic officials have steadfastly maintained their policy of making no official statements and of neither confirming nor denying any rumored appointments.
