

NRA Head Says Co-op Cleaners Violating Code Of Fair Competition

Dry Cleaning Shops Must Operate Under NRA Regulations, Declares E. C. Smith.

The new student co-operative cleaners association received one reverse and one victory in the controversy over the status of the organization as regards to the NRA and President Roosevelt's re-employment agreement.

The question yesterday centered around a statement in the DAILY TAR HEEL to the effect that E. C. Smith, local NRA head, had stated that the association was not operating in violation of the NRA dry cleaners' code.

There was no development with reference to the re-employment agreement, which the directors of the co-op have not signed.

Are Violating Code

Smith stated, however, that the group was carrying on business contrary to the dry cleaning code of fair competition, which is a part of the NRA code for the business.

Although the directors have not come in under the re-employment agreement, the co-op must operate under the terms of the dry cleaners' code as set up by the NRA. Operation under these terms is no longer optional, but since January 1 has been compulsory, as a national code had been formulated and adopted.

The re-employment agreement and the NRA codes are separate

TRY-OUTS TO BE HELD TOMORROW

Preliminary Casting for Playmakers' "Princess Ida" to Be Conducted Tomorrow.

Preliminary try-outs for "Princess Ida," the Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera to be presented February 1, 2, 3 as the first Playmaker production of 1934, will be held Monday night. Try-outs for acting ability will be conducted in the Playmaker theatre at 7:30 o'clock, and a musical rehearsal will be held in Hill Music hall at 9:00 o'clock.

A tentative cast will be chosen by the Playmaker staff after the try-outs. Harry Davis will direct the entire production, assisted in the musical work by Grady Miller, and in the dances and chorus routines by Phoebe Barr.

New Type Try-outs

The staff wishes to make clear that while it will be impossible to hold the usual form of try-outs owing to the musical nature of the production, there is ample opportunity for everyone and as usual the try-outs are open to everyone. It will not be necessary for the members of the chorus to read music provided that they have fair voices, and are able to learn music by ear. Girls are especially needed in the chorus.

Thor Johnson and his Salon ensemble will provide music for the production.

Owing to the size of the production, "Princess Ida" will be presented in Memorial hall. Experiments are under way with sounding boards and hangings, and by the time of the production the acoustics of the building will be perfected.

KOCH ADDRESSES DRAMA DIRECTORS ON STAGE TRENDS

Head Playmaker Says Actors And Playwrights Are Returning to Broadway.

DRAMATIC CHIEFS MEET

Tracing developments of the past year in the field of drama, Professor Frederick H. Koch, in an address here yesterday before the directors of the North Carolina Dramatic association, called attention to the return of a number of Hollywood stars to the New York stage.

Professor Koch based his talk on his findings during a trip to New York over the Christmas holidays.

"A remarkable change has come over the stage since last year," stated Koch. "The season on Broadway last year was probably the worst in the annals of the theatre in many years. This year, however, the three Theatre guild productions, for example, Moliere's "School for Husbands," Eugene O'Neill's "Ah, Wilderness!" and Maxwell Anderson's "Mary of Scotland" are playing nightly to standing room only.

"As a matter of fact the actors and playwrights are coming back from Hollywood to New York. They do not seem to be willing long to forego playing 'in person' before an actual audience in a theatre."

Some of the screen stars now in New York are Miriam Hopkins in "Jezebel," Katharine Hepburn in "The Lake," and Mary Pickford.

Despite the screen's advantage

INFIRMARY GETS ANOTHER DOCTOR

Heavy Work Causes Appointment of Dr. Hedgepeth.

Due to the heavy work of the fall quarter, the infirmary committee headed by Dr. Frank Graham has seen fit to employ Dr. E. M. Hedgepeth as assistant to Dr. Berryhill.

The infirmary has set as one of its purposes a yearly physical examination for the members of the student body but has been found impossible to carry it out due to the many urgent calls of the students. A report showed that in the fall quarter there were 6,313 student visits to the infirmary and an additional 299 who were confined there.

Dr. Hedgepeth, who assumed his duties Friday, is a graduate of this University and the University of Pennsylvania. He served his internship at Danville, Penn., and for the last six months has been connected with a Statesville hospital.

Pianist Makes Return Appearance on Graham Memorial Entertainment Program.

Helen McGraw, eminent American concert pianist, will present a recital in Graham Memorial at 5:00 o'clock this afternoon. The recital is a feature of the Graham Memorial entertainment program.

Miss McGraw was tremendously popular here at a former appearance last spring, when she offered a concert during the annual Dogwood Festival. During the past year she has toured this country, after winning distinctive praise from European critics in 1932.

The young pianist began her career by winning an artist's diploma at the Peabody Conservatory of music in Baltimore in 1930, after studying under Alexander Sklarevski, famous Russian pianist. In the same year she was winner of a national contest sponsored by the Walter M. Naumburg music foundation.

American Debut
Her New York debut was made under the auspices of the foundation and immediately earned for her the praise of New York press critics.

In 1932 Miss McGraw entered the Ecole Normale de Musique in Paris and was one of the American pianists to qualify for study under the French master, Alfred Cortot.

After receiving an artist's diploma under Cortot, she made a sensation with her Paris debut in April, 1932, and appeared in a series of concerts on the continent and in England.

Personality Of Graham Brought Comics Artist To Chapel Hill

Les Forgrave, Well Known Comic Strip Artist and Creator of "Big Sister," Became Resident of Community Through Meeting with President of University.

By R. W. Madry
You may list President Frank Graham of the University as an A-1 salesman when it comes to selling Chapel Hill to outsiders as well as the homefolk.

Les Forgrave, one of the country's well known comic strip artists, was headed for New Orleans last fall when he chanced to stop in Morganton to renew acquaintance with Mike Spainhour. Les and Mike had developed a fondness for one another while the two were living in Chicago.

Les was accompanied by Mrs. Forgrave and their daughter, Jane Clayton, and the three were headed for New Orleans where Forgrave was planning to continue his art work and place Jane in school.

Meets Dr. Graham

"While you're in this section you must visit the University and meet Frank Graham by all means, and after you've been introduced to Chapel Hill you probably won't be willing to leave," Mike Spainhour, who was in college with the University president, advised the Forgraves as they chatted in Morganton.

So the four of them came here, met Frank Graham, took a good look at the University village, and forthwith decided their new home would be Chapel Hill, not New Orleans.

RUSHING SEASON OPENS TOMORROW

Period to Extend for One Week; Bids Will Be Distributed Tuesday, January 16.

Fraternity rushing for the winter quarter will start tomorrow and will last one week, according to reports made by the University Interfraternity council.

Tuesday, January 16, bids to join fraternities will be given to candidates from the office of the dean of students.

A period of silence for freshmen who did not register during the fall quarter has been in effect since school started last Wednesday. There will, however, be no second period of silence after the week of rushing.

Invitations to visit fraternity houses will not be delivered to students this quarter, but lodges will have to make personal arrangements with persons to whom they wish to extend invitations to visit their societies.

Visiting in fraternity houses will be restricted to the hours between 2:00 and 9:00 o'clock in the afternoon, except on Fridays and Saturdays when the time will be extended to midnight.

During the rushing period no prospective member for a fraternity may room with a member of that society. There will be no rushing at meal times, and rushing will be limited to the town of Chapel Hill.

Spencer Hall Full

Mrs. Lee announces that Spencer hall is filled for this quarter and several girls have had to be turned away. She added that an unusually fine group of girls have been here this year.

HEIFETZ TO GIVE CONCERT AT DUKE

Violinist Has Spent Equal of Six Years in Practice.

Jascha Heifetz, who will be heard in concert at Duke University January 18, estimates that he has played a violin for 50,000 hours during his life. That is the equivalent of playing almost six years, 24 hours a day, without a break and no time for sleep or meals.

At the age of 32, Heifetz has 29 years of playing behind him. He himself does not remember a time when he could not play a violin. Heifetz's fingers were trained when he was three years old. His father bought him an instrument of quarter size and started him on his first lesson.

From then on throughout his childhood he averaged four hours a day practicing. He made his first public appearance at the age of five, and it has been his boast that since the age of seven he has been a self-supporting citizen.

Snaveley, Thistlewaite, Morrison and Joy Are Best Bets

Having had a month in which to look over the field of possible candidates for the position of head football coach at the University, the athletic council meets tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock in the South building set on weeding out the long list of ten candidates.

Members of the council were given twelve names of coaches who had either applied for the position of head coach or who the council thought could possibly be obtained. The members were asked to list their preferences in order. This gave the committee of Coach Bob Fetzer and Dr. Foy Roberson who were appointed to interview the possibilities something to work on.

Coach Bob and Dr. Roberson attended the coaches' meeting in Chicago during the Christmas holidays and saw a number of the men there. Coach Bob reported on his return that he was as popular at the meeting as a debutante at her own dance.

Prominent Prospects

Several prominent names have been divulged lately by over-anxious newspapers in the state and elsewhere as being in line for the job. Ray Morrison, Hiker Joy, Ben Snaveley, Josh Cody, Glean Thistlewaite and others. All these names have been put in the hat so to speak and the athletic council is moving both slowly and carefully in
