

BARNETT RECEIVES RHODES SCHOLARSHIP

STUDENTS PICKED FOR TRIAL CAST OF COMIC OPERA

Tentative Parts Are Announced For Production of Gilbert and Sullivan Play.

A tentative cast for the Playmaker production of the Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera, "Princess Ida," was announced yesterday by Professor Koch. It is as follows: Hildebrand, Gurney Briggs or Anderson; Hilarion, Jesse Parker; Florian, Alfred Barrett or Clark; Cyril, Sam Lane or Charles Templeton.

King Gama, Foster Fitz-Simons; Arac, Raymond Brietz; Guron, Walter Oakley; Scynthus, Gurney Briggs or Anderson; Princess Ida, Mrs. Cortese; Psyche, Dorothy Bradley; Melissa, Margaret McCauley; Blanche, Phoebe Barr or Frederica Frederick.

Davis to Direct

Harry Davis, who will direct "Princess Ida" for the third time, has also performed in three Gilbert and Sullivans, making him well fitted to be the general director of this opera. Grady Miller of the University music department will direct the choral work, and Phoebe Barr will direct the dances of the chorus. Thor Johnson's ensemble and Thomas Teer will provide instrumental accompaniment for the production. Elaborate scenery will be constructed in the Playmaker shop.

There will be a chorus of 32, half of them men and half of them women. Additional girls are needed for the chorus work.

DI AND PHI HEAR INAUGURAL TALKS

Assembly Votes Condemnation Of University's Conservative Policy of Athletics.

Winfield Blackwell's inaugural address filled the greater part of the Dialectic senate's first winter quarter session last night.

In his speech Blackwell delved briefly into the history of the senate, but in the main he focused his attention on the opportunities offered by membership in the senate today. He urged the senators to live up to the purposes for which the organization was founded, citing the fact that by doing so some of the group would evolve into the statesmen which our country needs. "We need statesmen, not politicians," were his words.

Urged Debates

He passed on to the policies that he has outlined for his administration. In the future the senate is to consider bills of national and world wide importance as well as those which concern vital questions of campus life. He urged heated debate on all measures, for it is his opinion that the benefits to be derived from membership in the senate are lost if discussion is half-hearted.

PHI CONDEMNS POLICY

By a vote of 18-14, the Philanthropic assembly voted against the athletic policy of the University on the bill: Resolved: That the Phi assembly

Y.M.C.A. SPONSORS STUDENT JAUNTS

Deputation Trips to Eight State Towns Take Form of All-Campus Projects.

Representatives from the University campus will visit eight state towns and cities this winter and spring in the most extensive deputation program ever sponsored by the University Y. M. C. A., it was announced yesterday by Jack Pool, chairman of the Y deputation committee. Pool explained that for the first time all teams will be composed of members selected from the campus as a whole rather than from the membership of the Y. M. C. A. cabinets, as has been the custom in the past.

Eight Programs

Newbern, Rocky Mount, Raleigh, Winston-Salem, Dunn, Fayetteville, Aberdeen and Southern Pines are on the winter and spring program for the University representatives. Teams composed of speakers and musical performers will conduct various types of programs and exercises in each town under the local sponsorship of Y. M. C. A.'s civic organizations and local educational departments.

Leaders of the deputations are endeavoring to secure students prominent in campus activities to compose the teams. Attractive week-ends in the various towns are among the features open to participants in the activity.

SCHOOLS TO HAVE TIME EXTENSION

Dramatic Registration Allowed Until January 17.

Schools desiring to enter the state-wide dramatic tournament, which will be held in the Playmakers theatre April 5, 6, and 7, must register for production contests before Wednesday, January 17, it was announced today by Mrs. Irene Fussler, secretary of the Carolina dramatic association.

With application for registration should be sent the name of the play and its author and be accompanied by the registration fee. If the play is an original one, the manuscripts should be forwarded to Mrs. Fussler.

Although January 6 was the original closing date for registrations, the action of the state dramatic directors who met here Saturday extended the time on the plea that enforced vacations in many schools had made it impossible for them to comply with the requirements of the dramatic association.

Noted Psychiatrist To Speak Tonight

Alpha Psi Delta, honorary psychological fraternity, will hold its regular monthly meeting in New West tonight at 7:30 o'clock.

Dr. H. W. Frink, psychiatrist formerly with the Cornell University medical school, will speak on "Informal Remarks on Psychoanalysis." Dr. Frink is spending the winter in Chapel Hill.

D. K. Spelt, instructor in the psychology department here, will present a paper on "A Study of Insight in White Rats."

FETZER SPEAKS ON PROBLEM OF ATHLETICS TODAY

Coach to Discuss Coaching Situation Before Sophomores.

Speaking on "Athletics and the Coaching Situation at the University," Coach Bob Fetzer will address the sophomore assembly this morning at 10:30 o'clock in Gerrard hall.

The topic of the present coaching situation was selected by the second-year executive committee yesterday because of the undergraduate interest in the problem.

Recently the sophomore executive group took over the work of planning programs for the second-year convocations and let a special assembly committee carry out the business arrangements to secure speakers.

The administrative assembly committee is composed of Billy Yandell, Francis Fairley, and James Jackson. Jackson was appointed to the position yesterday by Morty Ellisberg, president of the second-year class.

For the remainder of the year, sophomore convocations will be held every Wednesday in Gerrard hall at 10:30 o'clock. Second-year men will be allowed only two unexcused absences during the winter quarter.

DOG BITES MAN

Mayne Albright has asked that it be announced that the bulldog that was tied to the back of Graham Memorial building has died of the rabies. It is reported that during the last few days of its life, it bit several persons on the campus, and as a precautionary measure, Albright advises that any one who had been bitten by the dog see the doctor immediately.

Carolina Student Is Star-Witness In Daring $300,000 Bank Robbery

Walker Percy of Greenville, Miss., Gives Chief Testimony in Prosecuting Louis the Lip, Former Henchman of Al Capone, for Brazen Attempt to Rob Home-Town Bank.

The testimony of Walker Percy, Carolina freshman, who was the unsuspecting spectator of a $300,000 bank robbery, sent Louis the Lip, Chicago beer baron, to Atlanta penitentiary. Possessing most of the elements of a perfect melodrama, the robbery and consequent course of events were concluded with a happy ending.

The $300,000 was delivered to the Trader's Depository Bank at Greenville, Mississippi, from the Federal Reserve Bank at New Orleans, on a call from the president of the smaller bank. Fearing a run on his bank, the Mississippi president sent to New Orleans for funds to protect and establish more confidence among the depositors. The money was sent to Greenville and placed in a cage near the cashier's window. Two plainclothesmen were left to guard it, and although left in full view of everybody who entered, the cash was considered in a safe position.

Not Suspicious

Percy entered the bank at six o'clock to find himself alone with the cashier. His purpose was to cash a small check, and since he was in no hurry, he remained at the window speaking with the clerk. The two plain-

PHILOLOGY STUDY CONTAINS WORK BY FACULTY MEN

Quarterly Edited by Coffman Makes January Appearance.

The January issue of Studies in Philology, a quarterly edited by George Coffman, head of English department, and published by the University press, has just appeared and contains several articles by members of the faculty.

Among the contributors from the faculty are: H. K. Russell, Dougald MacMillan, George Coffman, and W. F. Thrall. Outside contributors are: Alfred Jarbidge, George Whiting, Jess Stein, Charles Roberts, J. Milton French and Roscoe Parker.

H. K. Russell's article is entitled "Tudor and Stuart Dramatizations of the Doctrines of Natural and Moral Philosophy." Dougald MacMillan has contributed an article on "David Garrick as Critic."

Coffman reviewed "Literature and the Pulpit in Medieval England" by G. R. Owst. W. T. Thrall's contribution is a review of J. R. Reinhard's "The Survival of Geis in Medieval Romance."

The quarterly also contains a page in memoriam of the late Walter Dallam Toy who was a member of the editorial board.

FIFTEEN FALL & FLOP

The following students were confined to the University infirmary yesterday: Ruth Covington, Alice Eidson, Michel Erlanger, Iram Frankel, George Graham, Peggy Ann Harris, J. G. Johnson, J. R. Lawing, J. A. Norris, Jr., Max Novich, W. T. Old, Jr., Bill Prevost, F. W. Smith, S. W. Sechrist, and J. H. Williams.

Prominent University Student Selected From Third District

BUSINESS MANAGER ASKS STUDENTS TO HEED ADS

Joe Webb, new business manager of the DAILY TAR HEEL, yesterday urged students conscientiously to abide by the well-worn plea of "patronize our advertisers."

Today's issue of the paper carries one of the smallest advertising totals of the year, though by no means is the discrepancy caused by a lack of diligence by the business staff. January, February, and March are the dreaded "lean months" of local advertising and the advertising men have found it exceedingly difficult to obtain insertions.

Webb stated that several advertising projects are being planned that are expected to increase the effectiveness of advertising in the newspaper. He asked for the full co-operation of the student body in any such projects which he might instigate for the mutual benefit of the advertisers and readers.

ALUMNI ELECTION TO CLOSE TODAY

Voting for Officers for Coming Year to Be Concluded.

Voting for officers of the general alumni association for the coming year will close today, it was announced from the alumni office.

Offices which will be filled are the positions of president, first vice-president, second vice-president, and representative to the University athletic council. Ballots are being mailed in to the office of J. Maryon Saunders by members of the general alumni association.

John Tillet and Howard Holderness were selected as directors of the general alumni association at the annual session held here in December. At the time men were nominated for the other offices.

Agnew H. Bahnson of Winston-Salem and Dr. Hubert Haywood of Raleigh are candidates for president. Francis E. Winslow of Rocky Mount and Robert B. Williams of Asheville are running for first vice-president, and Henry M. London of Raleigh and Francis O. Clarkson of Charlotte are running for second vice-president. Earle P. Holt of Oak Ridge and Dr. David T. Tayloe, Jr., of Washington, D. C., are candidates for the office of representative to the University athletic council.

LaFarge to Lecture Tomorrow Evening

Grant LaFarge will deliver a lecture tomorrow night at 8:30 o'clock in Hill music hall on "Modern Tendencies in American Architecture."

The speaker is the son of a noted architect and has attained for himself considerable fame.

LaFarge is sent here by the American Institute of Architects from a fund for providing lecturers to be sent through the nation.

The lecture is sponsored by the Committee on Fine Arts, of which Dr. George Howe is chairman. It will be illustrated with moving pictures and is open to the public.

First Man from University to Be Chosen Since D. E. Hudgins Was Named in 1928.

WAS EDITOR OF MAGAZINE

Robert Warren Barnett, a graduate student at the University, was named as one of the fortunate men from the third district to receive a Rhodes scholarship which provides for two years of study at Oxford University. The other three men from this section, which includes the states of North and South Carolina, Georgia, Tennessee, Virginia, and Florida, were G. A. Gordon, Jr., Savannah, Georgia, from Yale; E. T. Booth, Weedstock, Georgia, from the University of Georgia; and H. C. Pollack, Charlottesville, Va., from the University of Virginia.

Barnett completed his undergraduate work here last year and so far this year has been taking graduate work and teaching classes in economics on a fellowship which he earned. Although his home is in Shanghai, China, he has been staying in Chapel Hill during his University work. He is the first student from the University to gain a Rhodes scholarship since D. E. Hudgins was named in 1928.

Magazine Editor

A participant in many activities on the campus, Barnett has earned many honors for himself while he has been here. Having worked on the DAILY TAR HEEL and Carolina Magazine, Barnett was honored in his senior year by being elected by the

LIBERAL RELIGION THEME OF TALKS

Speaker from Tufts College to Conduct Lecture Series at Inn Next Week.

Dean Emeritus Lee S. McColester of Tufts College will be presented in a series of lectures on liberal religion beginning next Sunday night, January 14, at 8:00 o'clock in the Carolina Inn. The series will continue through Friday evening. The public will be invited to attend the entire number of presentations.

Last winter a similar series of public addresses was delivered by Dr. Clarence R. Skinner, also of Tufts, and attracted considerable student interest. The Chapel Hill series is a part of the general state-wide campaign of education in liberal religion conducted during the week by the Mission Brotherhood and the Unitarian Layman's League. Meetings will be held in six other places in the state.

Forums in Order

Professor McColester's lectures will show how the religious liberal comes to his conclusions and what value they have for him in dealing with the problems of life. A forum will follow each lecture.

During his thirty years as dean of the Crane school, Professor McColester became known as a leader of students throughout the country and was in constant demand for lectures and seminars at educational institutions.
