FARLOW ANXIOUS TO GIVE SERVICE

Circulation Manager States Need
Of Student Cooperation in Delivering Daily Paper.

"We can't be responsible for theft," said Circulation Manager Ralfo Farlow yesterday in discussing the drive which is being conducted to improve the distribution of the DAILY TAR HEEL and of the other publications.

"We are anxious to get their copies to the students, especially those living in town, but unless they are willing to look after their own interests we can't do much.

Survey Taken

"A complete survey of the routes has just been made and several cases have been found where the correct number of papers were being left but the student never received his due to the fact that the other non-student residents of the house were taking them as they went to work before the student himself arises."

Farlow also stated that it was found that often, especially in the case of the Buccaneer, the copies were being taken by other students.

Therefore, students who are not receiving their publications are urged to cooperate with the circulation department and see that their copies are not being stolen.

Planning entertainment for visiting athletic team and a program to interest prospective students in the University, the University club held its first meeting of the quarter last night.

Definite plans were formed to make the State wrestling team and the V. P. I. boxing team feel at home during their stay here.

The State mat squad will be provided with reserved seats at the boxing match with V. P. I. A special delegation of University club members will welcome the V. P. I. team tomorrow afternoon and will provide them with a free movie. Graham Memorial game room will be open for the squad, and it will probably be given entrance to the Grail dance.

To Interest Students

To interest prospective students all over the state in the University, the club plans to send a leaflet to the North Carolina high schools in which the heads of the various campus activities will submit short letters telling of the experience which that activity offers.

During the spring holidays, according to Agnew Bahnson, president of the group, the members of the society will work with the local alumni associations to help attract new individuals to the University.

Plans were formed for an assembly program which will be given January 19. Outstanding athletes will speak on "Sportsmanship" at this convocation. Later chapel programs to be sponsored by the group will include a speech on "How to Study."

He gave his audience an intimate glimpse of the Freudian personality and technique.

Plans are being made by the organization to give a banquet at some future date.

Remarkable Collection Of Human Embryos Shown By W. C. George

Anatomy Professor in University Medical School Has Collected
Many Rare and Valuable Specimens Since 1920; Work
Has Been Praised by Leading Authorities.

As an aid in presenting to his students, a picture of the consecutive events in human pre-natal development, Dr. W. C. George, of the department of anatomy, has recently enlarged and rearranged his synoptic exhibit of human embryology. This exhibit is now on display in the new laboratory of histology and embryology in the medical building.

A part of this collection of embryos attracted most interest when shown before the North Carolina Academy of Science and before the Tri-State Medical society. Many physicians of broad experience have declared it to be the best collection of its kind that they have ever seen. In it the University has some truly remarkable material for the study of human embryology.

Development Shown

The collection consists of several dozen embryos and fetuses arranged in sequence so as to show the stages of development of the human body from the end of the first month of pregnancy to the end of the seventh month, when babies are sometimes born capable of living. There are specimens representing approximately one week intervals for the earlier months of pregnancy and somewhat less frequent intervals for the later

CWA WORKS ON ATHLETIC FIELD

Field, Located Below Raleigh
Highway, Will Be Largest
On Carolina Campus.

Construction by the CWA forces is underway on a new double-field which is located below the Raleigh highway, next to the Tin Can. The work has been going on for the past three weeks under the direction of J. A. Page.

The new field when completed will be bigger than any other belonging to the University. It is to be 935 feet along the Raleigh highway and 750 feet back southward. Fifteen acres will be covered. One part of the field, next to the highway, will be eighteen feet higher than the other part. The upper field will be used for intramural games and will be big enough for six different football contests.

Bleachers to Be Built

On the bank between the two fields, concrete bleachers are to be built, with seventeen rows, 500 feet long and big enough to seat 7,000 people. Below the bleachers a varsity practice field will be located. Around the field a quarter-mile track is to be built connected to a straightaway 220 yards long. The track is to have concrete curbs in which metal markers will be set to show the runners the distance from the starting point.

By use of an underground drainage it will be impossible for water to stand on either field.

So far the space has been completely cleared and part of the grading has been done. When the field is ready for use it is expected that the track teams will do all their work on it and Emerson field used only for baseball and football.

Contract for Dances at Davidson
Prevents Gill from Playing
During Previous Week.

STAGE STAR IS VOCALIST

Hamp Accorded Warm Reception Here at First Junior-Senior Dance Set.

Johnny Hamp and his Kentuckians, featuring the well-known tall, blond contralto, June McCloy, will play for the German club mid-winter dances instead of Emerson Gill as was previously announced, it was learned yesterday from Charles Woollen, secretary of the German club.

Due to the fact that Emerson Gill was already signed for dances at Davidson February 9 and 10 with a contract that prevented the orchestra from appearing within 180 miles for at least a week previous to the Davidson engagement, the German club was obliged to accept cancellation of its contract.

Suggested by MCA

Hamp and his popular orchestra were suggested to fill Gill's engagement by the Music Corporation of America, which manages both orchestras, because of their popularity among college dance crowds. The band has played for many college dances and will furnish the music for the Washington and Lee fancy dress ball.

June McCloy, who was a sensation on the New York stage being co-starred with Buddy Rogers, Lupe Velez and others, has also made appearances on the movie screen. She will be remembered as the tall blonde with the husky voice who sang so alluringly in Doug Fairbanks' (Continued on last page)

DANCERS TO GIVE RECITAL TONIGHT

Playmakers Sponsor Richard
Chase and His Local Pupils
In Group of Dances.

The Carolina Playmakers will present Richard Chase, folk-dancer, and his local pupils in a recital of English and American folk dances tonight at 8:30 o'clock in the Playmaker theatre. His class includes several University students as well as a few school children of Carrboro.

These unique dances were first revived in this state in Durham recently by the city recreation department, and since then Chase has formed classes and clubs in this vicinity for the further revival of interest in the work.

Chase came to Chapel Hill from his home in Alabama, where he is known as a playwright and poet. For the past few years he has been teaching in England where he became interested in the folk dances of the English country people. He is of the opinion that the revival of these dances will become general in United States because of their close association to our nation.

The first demonstration of Chase's work on the campus was given as a part of the Playmakers' annual Twelfth Night revel held last Saturday night. In fostering this presentation, the Playmakers show their interest and participation in the work of interesting the community in this type of dancing.
