NORTH CAROLINA CLUB WILL HEAR GOVERNOR SPEAK

Ehringhaus to Address Gathering of Group Tomorrow Evening in Bingham Hall.

FOURTH ADDRESS HERE

Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus will address the North Carolina club at its regular meeting tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock in the auditorium of Bingham hall.

The subject of the Governor's address will be "What Next in Government in North Carolina?" the topic which the club used as a general subject for discussion at meetings during the fall quarter.

Governor Ehringhaus will approach the subject from the experience he has had so far in the administration of the office of chief executive of the state. It is expected that he will take up the problems that he has faced as Governor and use these to illustrate points in his speech, and that he will make suggestions along the line of administrative re-organization of state government.

Fourth Address Here

Tomorrow's address will mark the fourth public appearance of the Governor at the University since his inauguration. Last January he addressed delegates at a session of the North Carolina Press Institute, and made the principal speech at the Golden Fleece tapping last spring, when he was made an honorary member of the organization. In the fall quarter, Governor Ehringhaus delivered a talk at the law school smoker.

The North Carolina club will meet again two weeks from tomorrow, at which time the subject for discussion will probably be on county government.

17 MEMBERS OF TAR HEEL STAFF MAKE HONOR ROLL

Three Students on Editorial Staff Make All A's.

Three members of the DAILY TAR HEEL staff made A's on all of their subjects during the fall quarter and 17 members of the editorial staff made the honor roll.

A. T. Dill, on the editorial board; Joe J. Sugarman, chairman of the feature board; and Jim M. Daniels, reporter, made all A's.

The following made the honor roll: Phil Hammer, Irving Suss, Nick Powell, Eleanor Bizzell, Ralph Gialanella, Smith Barrier, Milton Scherer, W. C. Durfee, Norman Adelman, Reed Sarratt, George MacFarland, Don Wetherbee, Edwin Kahn, and John Eddleman.

Five honor roll men came from the reporters, three from the sports department, three from the desk men group, two from the city editors, two from the exchange department, one from the feature board, and one from the editorial board.

A. S. Ch. E. MEETS TUESDAY

All members of the local chapter of the American Society of Chemical Engineers will meet Tuesday at 10:30 o'clock in front of Phillips hall at which time the photograph for the 1934 Yackety Yack will be taken. All members must be prompt.

Federal Official Says Students Eligible To Work On CWA Jobs

According to a communication from George F. Zook, of the United States department of the interior in Washington, there is nothing in the CWA law or the Federal regulations to prevent the employment of students who are otherwise eligible on either campus projects or other projects under the CWA.

However, Zook added that local CWA officials have wide discretion in their approval of projects on the basis of social desirability. No nation-wide policy in regard to college projects has been adopted.

When projects are approved by the local CWA office it sends the list of jobs to be filled to the local employment office which selects from those registered for work the men to be referred to the available jobs. Due to the peculiar nature of many of the jobs on campus projects, arrangements were made with the Federal Employment service whereby students would be referred to such campus jobs.

Although in many states students are working on campus projects, North Carolina officials, basing their opinion on the Public Works law, Section 206, believe that students are not eligible in this state, and they have not been obtaining jobs here for that reason.

SALE BEGINS FOR CONCERT TICKETS

Tickets for Rachmaninoff Concert Go on Sale in Music Hall Tomorrow.

Formal ticket sale for the Rachmaninoff piano concert to be played in Memorial hall Wednesday evening, February 21 at 8:30 o'clock will open tomorrow.

The prices of these tickets are $2.06, $1.55, and $1.03, including state tax. The $1.03 tickets are a special offer to students only and, there is only a limited number of these tickets, which were made possible by special arrangement.

There has been no formal announcement of this concert, only one or two short stories in a few of the state papers, and a story in the DAILY TAR HEEL, yet now before the formal ticket sale and six weeks in advance of the concert, two hundred tickets have already been sold. This certainly indicates that Rachmaninoff will play to a capacity audience here as has been the case with all of his concerts both in this country and abroad.

Tickets may be obtained at the office of the department of music in Hill Music hall.

Governor Appoints Hanft Commissioner

Professor Frank William Hanft of the faculty of the University law school was appointed Friday by Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus to serve with Dr. William L. Poteat as associate utility commissioner.

A native of Minnesota, Professor Hanft came to the University in 1931, and since that time has taught the subject of public utilities in the law school here. He is recognized as an authority in the field, and since early last summer has been working on a study of "Commission Control of Electric Utility Rates in North Carolina."

Kennedy to Resume Organ Series Today

Professor Nelson O. Kennedy will give the first winter concert of the vesper organ series this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in Hill Music hall.

The program for today's concert is as follows: Tocata and Fugue in D minor, by Bach; Carrillon, by Sowerby; and Symphony, No. 5, by Widor, Allegro vivace, Allegro cantabile, Andantino quasi allegretto, and Tocata.

CAST FOR OPERA WILL BE FILLED

Rehearsals and Final Try-outs For "Princess Ida" To Be Conducted Tomorrow.

Rehearsals for the Playmaker production of "Princess Ida," to be presented February 1, 2, and 3, will be held tomorrow night.

An acting rehearsal will be conducted at 7:30 o'clock in the Playmaker theatre, and a musical rehearsal will be held at 9:00 o'clock in Hill Music hall. The final cast will be chosen tonight.

The directors hope to have a chorus of 32 people, half men and half women. Both men and women are urged to try out for this group, since there are still vacancies in the chorus. Grady Miller, director of music for the production, states that the members of the chorus will not be required to attend rehearsals every night, nor will the practices be excessively long after the scores are learned.

Dance Try-outs

Phoebe Barr, director of dancing, urges that those interested in dancing try out for the chorus since there will be several dances by that group.

Thor Johnson has already begun rehearsals with his Carolina ensemble which will furnish the instrumental accompaniment with Thomas Teer as pianist.

Rushing Season for Winter Quarter Ends

Rushing season for the winter quarter will close tomorrow, and on Tuesday bids to join fraternity houses will be given to candidates for membership in lodges from the office of the dean of students.

Rushing season has been in effect for first-year students who did not register during the fall quarter since last Monday. Invitations to visit fraternity houses were arranged between the fraternities and prospective members. There will be no second period of silence between the time rushing closes and the bids are given out.

A. I. E. E. MEETS TOMORROW

All members of the local branch of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers will meet in front of Phillips hall at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning at which time the photograph for the 1934 Yackety Yack will be taken. It is particularly important that the members be prompt.

RELIGIOUS TALK BEGINS SEMINAR LECTURES TODAY

McColleston to Discuss Origins Of Faith at 8:00 O'clock In Carolina Inn.

PART OF N. C. CAMPAIGN

This year's series of seminar lectures in liberal religion begins tonight at 8:00 o'clock in the Carolina Inn with Professor Lee S. McColleston's talk on the "Beginnings of Faith in the Individual and the Race," and "The Mingling of the World's Rivers of Faith."

Tonight's lecture is the first of six public lectures on the general topic of "The Way of Faith of the Religious Liberal" in which Professor McColleston traces man's spiritual quest through the Jewish period down to the present day when liberal religion takes into account modern science and social conditions.

Professor McColleston, author of "A Revised American Creed for College Students," has been a teacher at Tufts College for many years and is a speaker who comes highly recommended. Two years ago he gave a series of lectures at Greensboro and preached in Grace M. P. church there on the invitation of the Reverend Ronald J. Tamblin. Mr. Tamblin, minister last

ALUMNI REVIEW OUT YESTERDAY

Magazine Includes New Faculty Section; Barnett's Selection Mentioned Prominently.

The January issue of the Alumni Review, chiefly displaying articles of the recent alumni election and the annual session of the group, was distributed yesterday from the office of the secretary in South building.

The first article tells of the election of new officers of the general alumni association: Dr. Hubert Haywood, president; Francis E. Winslow, first vice-president; Henry M. London, second vice-president; and Earle P. Holt, representative to the University Athletic council.

Space is given over to the annual business session of the general alumni association which met here in December, and the complete speech of Judge J. J. Parker, former president of the organization, to the 1933 assembly is printed.

A new column, "Faculty Who's Who," gives short write-ups of the records and duties of Dean Allen Wilson Hobbs, Dean D. D. Carroll, and Howard W. Odum at the University.

Dr. Rupert B. Vance's winning of the Mayflower cup is given prominence in the regular column telling of the recent activities of the University faculty.

A section of the number is given over to the winter athletic schedule and the new football coaching situation. In "Seen and Heard Around the Well," a column telling of the accomplishments of the students, Robert Barnett's winning of a Rhodes scholarship is given prominence over other stories including ones on the Christmas Y. M. C. A. programs, the literary societies' elections, and the new law firm of Anderson, Marshall, and Dameron.

Fall Quarter Honor Roll Surpasses Past Two Years

Religious Leader

Professor Lee S. McColleston of the Crane Theological school at Tufts College, who comes to Chapel Hill this week for a series of seminars in liberal religion beginning tonight.

RELATIONS GROUP GATHERS TONIGHT

Co-eds Invited to Attend First Meeting of Year of New Discussion Club.

"So far as it is known, there has never been any by-law passed by the club which forbids co-eds to attend." In a statement issued yesterday by B. C. Proctor, president of the International Relations club, a special invitation was extended to co-eds to attend tonight's meeting of the recently reorganized forum.

Large Group Expected

The International Relations club was reorganized late last quarter, and meets for the first time under the new regime tonight at 8:00 o'clock in Graham Memorial to discuss present-day problems in international affairs. Over a score of students, both graduates and undergraduates, attended the meeting last quarter which effected the reorganization of the club, and a large group is expected tonight.

The club has embarked upon the policy of selecting different members to preside over various meetings and at tonight's meeting C. K. Carmichael will act as chairman.

Proctor Makes Statement

Proctor's statement, extending a blanket invitation to all those interested in international relations, and especially to the co-eds, follows in full:

"The International Relations club should attract all students interested in economic and political affairs. There are a large number of students who are interested in this field but feel some reluctance in attending meetings of this club. We cordially invite all internationally-minded persons, whether they be members of the University or not, to attend. So far as it is known there has never been any by-law passed by the club which forbids co-eds to attend. It is thought that there are some co-eds who perhaps have just enough curiosity to find out what goes on in the club. Rumors to the contrary notwithstanding, republicans are allowed to attend and mingle with the rest of the people," adds Proctor.

26 Students Make All A's; 2 Less Than In Past Year.

Three hundred and thirty-one students made the honor roll during the fall quarter averaging the grade of B or above, it was announced yesterday from the office of the University registrar.

This number is 43 higher than the fall quarter in 1932 and is seven higher than the fall period in 1931.

The number of students who made A's on all of their subjects totals 26. This is only two lower than the number at the opening quarter in 1932.

The junior class boasts of the greatest number of scholars on the honor roll, having 98. The senior class comes next with 82. Beating the sophomores, the first-year group comes third with 76, and the second-year group have the least with 75.

By schools, the liberal arts group has the greatest number of students on the honor roll. They have 191 as compared with the commerce school which comes second with 66. Next, the engineers have 34, and the applied science scholars have 25. Fifteen come from the school of pharmacy.

By schools the number of honor students during the fall of 1932 was as follows: liberal arts, 144; education, 53; commerce, 43; engineering, 27; and applied science, 21. By classes the record ran: seniors, 76; juniors, 71; sophomores, 70; and freshmen, 71.

NOVELIST WRITES DAILY TAR HEEL FEATURE SERIES

Upton Close, Writer-Adventurer, Will Also Lecture Here.

Upton Close, whose real name is Josef Washington Hall, poet, novelist, adventurer, translator and lecturer on the Orient, has written exclusively for the DAILY TAR HEEL, a series of three articles giving a bristling summary of his findings in his last survey of the Orient, the first of which will appear in the DAILY TAR HEEL at an early date.

Close is being brought to Chapel Hill under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. on the night of January 29. He will lecture in the Hill Music hall at 8:30 p. m. on "What the Pacific Crisis Is Going to Do to the New Deal."

His latest magazine articles have appeared in The Literary Digest, New York Times Magazine and the latest issue of Cosmopolitan.
