

GREEN DECLARES CINEMA CAPABLE OF ORIGINAL ART

Dramatist Believes That Movie Has Great Potentialities But Cannot Supplant Stage.

PRODUCERS WANT MONEY

"The cinema," said Paul Green in his lecture Sunday evening, "is a medium of expression universal in its power to depict anything. Due to its pantomime it is understandable to all races."

"But the movie," he continued, "is not yet an art form. The movies would like to do fine things, but it doesn't pay, and money making is still the prime aim of the producers."

Green added that Hollywood was filled with unhappy artists who have to prostitute their art in order to create vehicles for actresses who can act only with their bodies.

Few Seek Art

"There are a few organizations who are trying to found a true cinematic art. The author must be granted full range in his writings. Symbolism and the use of the camera in all its limitless possibilities must be realized. And above all the cinema must fit in with the civilization of the machine age."

"The art of the cinema is not the art of the theatre. They are both distinct art forms; hence, the movies will never replace the living stage. Each medium must realize its own possibilities and present its offerings in accordance."

Green talked at some length on the censors, and their work. He illustrated his talk by reading parts of his plays that had been changed by the censors. (Continued on page two)

CLOSE COMMENDS INDIGNANT YOUTH

Lecturer Declares Intelligent Protesters Necessary to Improve World Conditions.

Upton Close, noted author, lecturer, and authority on the Orient, addressed the regular session of the freshman class yesterday morning on "The Part Youth Plays in World Affairs."

"There are two kinds of people in the world," he said, "those who might be termed cows, and those who could be called protesters. Cows are those living for the present, paying no attention to their future, and having no interest whatsoever in dictating their fate."

"A large proportion of the people of the world might be classified in this group. The protesters are those who protest about the insane, inane, absurd and brutal qualities of life, and want to know how to make it better."

Reason for College

The speaker stated that in his mind, there was only one reason for coming to college. "This reason," he said, "is to make us better and more intelligent protesters, and to help youth form a more intelligent idea of what they want in the future."

"This nation," he continued, "is coming to one of the greatest crises of its history. There is going to be a terrific wave of protest. Today we are seeing only the prelude to the first act of what is going to happen in Washington a few years in the future. If this protest is not intelligent, the country will be reduced to chaos."

Close went on to say that every country needs a certain amount of native indignation, and that he had seen a spirit of youthful responsibility and indignation growing in great magnitude in various other parts of the world.

"In Japan," he stated, "this spirit is growing terrifically and not very wisely. In that country, there are thousands of students in prison, and it is no fun to be in prison in Japan."

Close then told of the instances of the growth of the Japan Has Been Applying American Learning at Terrific Rate Of Speed, Says Expert.

WELL PREPARED FOR WAR

Japanese Militia in Better Shape For Sudden Declaration of War Than United States.

"The picture in the Pacific today is that of a growing organism, Japan, reaching out in every direction to increase itself, and finding opposition in the United States," stated Upton Close last night in a lecture sponsored by the University Y. M. C. A.

"History has never seen a nation rise so fast, and still, so well balanced as Japan. Japan, while we have been asleep, has been applying what they have learned from us at a terrific speed."

Japan Nationalistic

Close pictured Japan as a nationalistic nation, with one of the best militaristic organizations in the world, threatening to become the first nation in the universe.

"The United States" continued Close, "has prevented Japan from carrying out her plans in the Pacific. With the Japanese naval group coming to the fore, there is a feeling in the islands that the United States cannot be put up with any longer."

Have Prepared Plans

Close said that the Japanese statesmen had so prepared their plans that in case of a war with this country, they were sure of victory for the first two years of the conflict.

"The United States has not been awake to the situation. We have seen that there is going to be an explosion, and we are praying that it does not hit us."

COUNTY-MANAGER ADDRESSES CLUB

D. W. Newsom Speaks on Improvements Achieved Under Manager Government Plan.

Improvements achieved in Durham county were discussed at the regular meeting of the North Carolina club by D. W. Newsom of Durham county last night.

Newsom is the only county manager in North Carolina and one of six in the United States.

The meeting was opened with a summary of the history of the county manager plan of government by Professor Paul W. Wager of the Department of Rural Social Economics, who pointed out the increasing popularity of the plan.

"Durham county, at one time on the verge of bankruptcy, has reached a position of financial stability under the county manager plan," Newsom declared. He discussed in detail some of the methods used to bring about this improved condition.

The chief problem of the past year, he said, came about through the dwindling fees and increased demands for service, both results of the depression.

Functions of county government, he said, had been increased at popular demand, thereby creating a need for greater income, yet a counter-popular demand is for decreased taxes. Newsom declared he saw no way to completely answer both demands, but that careful budgeting had helped some.

DR. MICHAEL HOKE GRADUATED HERE

Proceeds from President's Birthday Party Go to Institution Where Hoke Is Surgeon.

Dr. Michael Hoke, directing surgeon of the Warm Springs Foundation in Georgia for the treatment of infantile paralysis where the proceeds of the local birthday party in the Carolina Inn tonight will go, is an alumnus of the University.

This fact, in the opinion of the committee in charge of the affair, ought to carry particular significance to the Chapel Hill people.

In Class of '93

Dr. Hoke, a native of Lincoln county, was graduated with a B.S. degree from the University in 1893. He was captain of the football team of 1892, traditionally known as one of the greatest elevens in the history of the institution. Hoke studied medicine at the University of Virginia and Johns Hopkins, afterwards gaining national fame as an orthopedic surgeon in Atlanta.

Hoke was appointed director of surgeons by the then Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, December, 1931. The nation's president was then, and is now, chairman of the directors of the institution.

The purpose of holding the party tonight on the president's birthday is to aid the important work of the Warm Springs Foundation.
