BRILLIANT SERIES OF MID-WINTERS CONTINUES TODAY

Johnny Hamp and Orchestra Play for Annual German Affair Yesterday and Today.

TEA DANCE SET FOR 4:30

With Johnny Hamp and his Kentuckians supplying smooth syncopated melodies, the annual mid-winter dances of the German club swung into action yesterday with two brilliant affairs on the day's social card. A tea dance was held in Bynum gymnasium yesterday afternoon and a formal dance last night.

Today's social program includes another tea dance from 4:30 to 6:00 o'clock in the gym, followed by the last of the series, a formal affair, tonight beginning at 9:00 o'clock.

One of Best Sets

A beautifully-decorated set in orange and maroon and the widely known rhythm of Hamp's band has made the series one of the best mid-winter dance sets in recent years. Agnew Bahnsen and Frank Wilson are the junior and senior figure leaders, respectively.

Hamp and his popular orchestra were suggested to fill the engagement previously contracted for by Emerson Gill by the Music Corporation of America because of their well-suited arrangements for collegiate dances. Gill's appearance was made impossible due to a previous contract with Davidson College which prevented his orchestra appearing within 180 miles of that school for at least a week previous to that affair.

When Johnny Hamp made his appearance here on the campus in 1930 for the first set of the junior-senior dances, he was received with rare applause.

Faculty To Hear Three Proposals Concerning New Quiz Procedure

Suggestions Formulated at Joint Meeting of Student Council, And Faculty Committee.

WILL COME UP AT MEETING

Three proposals concerning changes in the conduct of quizzes and examinations which will be submitted to the faculty at its next meeting were announced yesterday by Harper Barnes, president of the student body.

The suggestions follow:

1. That the instructor be readily available at all times to be of assistance during the quiz or examination.
  2. In order to avoid suspicion, when students have studied together in preparation for a quiz or examination, the instructor should request that they be seated in different parts of the room.
  3. That at the time of the quiz or examination all material relating to the subject matter of the course should be placed in the custody of the instructor.
- The proposals were formulated by the Student Council and the executive committee of the faculty at a joint meeting of the two groups.

Although the committee no longer exists, the proposals will be submitted to the faculty as joint suggestions of the Student Council and the committee, as they were drawn up and approved before the group went out of existence.

Historic Societies Get Hot

Di and Phi Declare Open Warfare as Each Is Robbed of Property, And Groups Set Out to Avenge Villainous Proceedings.

Open warfare has burst forth on the campus in its most ferocious form. Espionage systems such as have never before been witnessed have been set up and are combing enemy territory for possible information concerning plans of campaign. Sinister figures are seen darting silently behind trees and shrubs in the dead of night.

No bloodshed has as yet been reported. The struggle has been proceeding in a most amazing and unusual manner, having consisted in a series of bold thefts. Fighters on both sides side anxiously by waiting to see what the next development will be. Most of the visible activity consists of volleys of accusations fired back and forth across the front line.

Di vs. Phi

The opposing factions in the horrible struggle are the Dialectic senate and the Philanthropic assembly. These two bodies have dropped their customary dignity in the excitement of the contest. It all began last Tuesday when two startling discoveries were made. In the senate chamber consternation reigned after the discovery of the theft of the gold head from the cane of their presiding officer and an almost invaluable record book. At the same time in the assembly hall

Misses Admissible

The following fraternities have signed the application blank for the privilege of entertaining co-eds without formal chaperonage, from the hours of 1:00 p. m. to 10:30 p. m.: Sigma Chi, A. T. O., S. P. E. Phi Delta Theta, Lambda Chi Alpha and Sigma Nu.

TEN-MILE TRAIL STARTED AT LAKE

Totten Superintends Staking of Project by CCC.

A force of 25 men comprising a platoon of the Civilian Conservation Corps has begun work on a ten-mile trail around University Lake. At the present, a little over one mile of the construction work has been completed.

H. R. Totten, University botanist, acting in behalf of the faculty grounds committee, has been the superintendent of the staking work for the project and has directed the work so that large trees and heavy foliage will not be required to be destroyed.

According to Totten, the civilian workers find great delight in their project. The construction of the six-foot trail has afforded a variety of tasks that has been welcome after the monotonous projects to which they have recently been subjected.

Dr. Garber Talks

Dr. Paul Garber of the Duke school of religion will speak at the Wesley student meeting in the Methodist church tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock. Miss Isabel Buckles will present a violin solo. The meeting will be led by John Entwistle.

a riotous scene was taking place as a result of the disappearance of their record book, constitution and rules of order.

Immediately the indignant senators of the Di shouted, "Those dirty so-and-sos from the Phi are responsible for this." The Phi representatives were exclaiming at the same time in just as ruffled a tone, "Oh, to get my fingers around the neck of one of those d—senators." When it was revealed that similar occurrences had taken place in both camps, each accused the other of having hidden his own property in order to hide his guilt.

Phi vs. Di

The espionage systems set up have already met some small measure of success. The Di has recovered its record book. It was found in the rotunda of the library with blasphemous inscriptions scattered through it such as, "Down with the Di; up with the Phi; never say Di (die)." These sleuths have vowed to keep up their work until all is returned.

The Phi has met with no success in retrieving its property to date, but each member has taken a solemn oath to keep up the search until the goal is reached. We look on, trembling lest lives be uselessly lost in this gigantic struggle.

LIBRARY OBTAINS SMITHSONIAN SET

Specially Printed Edition of Illustrated Books on Science Received Here.

The University library has recently acquired a set of books from the Smithsonian Institute on various scientific subjects. The set, which consists of 12 volumes, is handsomely bound in red imitation leather. The set that has been acquired by the library is a special set, the "Patron's Set" which was printed for the patrons.

These books were put out by the institute for two purposes; first, to diffuse knowledge among the people, by putting out a set of volumes on scientific subjects in a popular style; and second, to make money for the institute. The books sell at a high price, around $125.

Careful Printing

Every care was taken in the printing of the set. The paper is of the best that could be obtained, the set is hand printed, with 1804 illustrations, 1,118 of which were put in by hand. Twenty-two carat gold is used in the binding.

Two extraordinary illustrations in the set are a luminous plate in the tenth volume and a plate of the spectrum in the second volume that required the rebuilding of an entire printing press in order to print it. The plate is the most perfect reproduction of the spectrum ever made, and according to a pamphlet circulated with the volume, is puzzling master printers as to how it was done with one printing.

Luminous Plate

The luminous plate in volume ten is on the subject of luminous crustaceans. Several years of experimentation was required in

COMIC OPERETTA CLOSSES TONIGHT

"Princess Ida" Is First Musical Comedy Endeavor Attempted By Carolina Playmakers.

The final performance of Gilbert and Sullivan's operetta, "Princess Ida," will be presented tonight in Memorial hall at 8:30 o'clock. This Playmaker production is the first musical comedy ever to be offered by the Playmakers.

The operetta, satirizing the higher education of women, concerns Princess Ida and her group of girls, who have sworn to live without men and to abolish all that is masculine. In the end Ida's resolution is broken, and she consents to wed her betrothed, the Prince Hilarion.

Complicated Plot

Many complications arise when three men in female attire are discovered in this strictly feminine university. The operetta abounds with hilarious situations and tuneful, comic, and stirring songs.

The Playmaker production boasts colorful sets and costumes. The cast was chosen for acting as well as for singing ability.

Dances were designed and directed by Phoebe Barr, director of dancing on the Playmaker staff. The direction was done by Harry Davis and Grady Miller.

F. D. R. Party Proceeds

Felix A. Grisette, chairman of the arrangements committee, announced recently that 350 tickets were sold for the Roosevelt Birthday party held last Tuesday night at the Carolina Inn. The total proceeds were $175.

The money will be used for the expansion of the facilities at Warm Springs, Ga., for the treatment of infantile paralysis.

Buc Boys Busy

All members of the Buccaneer staff are requested to go by the office of that publication some time this afternoon in order to collaborate in the work on the forthcoming Publications Follies.

Box Spring And Mattress Causes Co-ed To Indulge In "High-Sterics"

New Equipment for Spencer Hall Bed Creates Difficult Problem For Sybille Berwanger; Too Much Spring and Mattress Sends Her High into Air and Mates into Convulsions.

Holding on to the edge of the mattress, Sybille Berwanger adjusted herself in order to look down without getting sea-sick. She managed to rest her chin on the very edge without mishap, and upon leaning over, she clutched every available wrinkle in the squasy mattress and shrieked, "I shall have 'high-sterics' immediately."

Second-floor inhabitants of the co-ed shack pushed their way to the room from which emerged the shriek and stared at a very hectic jumble of furniture (leaning in treacherous directions), suit cases spilling out moth-balled garments, cosmetics rolling about, sofa pillows, heavy brown strips of paper, and . . . in the midst of the apartment . . . twin beds placed together in order to hold a very, very deep double-bed spring and mattress; higher up, in the midst of the very, very deep springs and mattress sprawled Miss Berwanger (of string-bean fame), muffling her "high-sterics" in the pink cover of the mattress and peeping out at the startled populace who began at once to pound her with questions.

A Gift!

As she looked about at the ghastly jumble of her own and her roommate's possessions, she made a weary face, and began to answer the questions: "Weeeel," (she stopped to muffle a few more giggles and to inquire of one particularly curious female who was standing almost underneath the bed, "How is the weather down there?") . . . Deanie's mother decided to send Deanie her best spring and mattress, and since they're here we gotta use 'em."

"But they don't fit the beds. What will you do? It looks awful, really," said a newcomer who had been informed by one who had gone about delivering the news of Berwanger's hum-

D. McCach'n	G. H. Thompson
J. McCach'n	G.	Weaver

A capacity crowd is expected tonight in the Tin Can when the strong Carolina and Duke basketball teams clash in one of the most important battles scheduled in the Southern Conference and Big Five this year. The freshman teams of the two institutions will meet in a preliminary game at 7:15 o'clock while the big contest will follow at 8:30 o'clock.

Both teams have been priming for the past few weeks for this first meeting and as yet the favorite is a toss-up. Leadership in the Big Five and Southern Conference depend on the outcome. Duke tops the Big Five with three wins and no losses, while Carolina has the best record in the Conference of nine victories and one defeat.

Have Good Records

So far this year each team has played 14 games and both have been on the short end of the score only twice. Both have lost in the conference once, Duke to Maryland, and Carolina to State. And Carolina downed Maryland, while Duke won over State.

Many of the players on both teams have faced each other before, and much will depend on these boys. Jim Thompson, forward-center, and Herb Thompson and Weaver. Duke guards, are all seniors, while the three
