

FACULTY TO GET NEWSPAPERS FOR STUDENT OPINION

Free Copies of Daily Tar Heel Will Be Given Faculty Beginning with Saturday Issue.

WILL SPONSOR COMMENT

Members of the University faculty will receive free copies of the DAILY TAR HEEL for a period of approximately two months beginning with Saturday's issue, it was announced yesterday.

The Publications Union board voted last week to act favorably on a recommendation by Dean Francis F. Bradshaw to the effect that all members of the faculty get copies of the newspaper during the discussion and proceeding action on the proposed curriculum changes at the University. Saturday's issue will include student comment on the matter.

Faculty in Touch

Although recent campaign by the circulation department of the DAILY TAR HEEL resulted in little success at getting faculty subscriptions, it was agreed by the board with Dean Bradshaw that it was absolutely necessary that all faculty members keep in touch with the proceedings during the time in which the changes are under fire and recognize student opinion on the matter.

A series of articles prepared by students of other campuses on which curriculum changes have been effected has been inaugurated by the editorial board, the first of them describing the plan at Colgate University. Others will follow.

The newspapers will be distributed either through the administrative departments or mailed directly to the faculty at residence. The service will be discontinued when it is felt the papers have served their purpose in the curriculum discussion.

BOWMAN TO PLAY FOR FROSH CLASS

Musical Program at Friday Assembly to Be Followed by Ensemble Monday.

Bo Bowman and his orchestra will feature a musical program at freshman assembly Friday, it was announced yesterday from the office of the dean of students.

Next Monday Thor Johnson and his Carolina Salon ensemble will furnish music for the convocation.

Devotionals

Devotional services at the meetings will be led by members of the freshman friendship council who have been given the responsibility of conducting the worship part of the program by the assembly committee.

The latest programs staged at the first year convocations are a result of the work of an assembly committee composed of freshmen, appointed by Nate Lipscomb, president of the class. The committee, headed by John W. Kendrick, is composed of Aileen M. Smith, Billy Parker, and J. W. Gilliam.

The demand for musical programs at the chapel exercises has been made known by first year men through the columns of the DAILY TAR HEEL.

STYLES IN ACTING

"Styles in Acting" as portrayed by Dorothy Sands who will appear here tomorrow night. Upper left: a powdered star of the 18th century; right: Nellie Denver in "The Silver King," a star with a hustle; lower left: Miss Sands.

High Schoolers to Stage Three-Act Comedy

"The Hidden Guest," a three-act mystery-comedy by Marian Short and Pauline Phelps, will be presented February 23 by the Chapel Hill high school.

The cast of characters includes: John Judkins Milton Hogan; Bert Judkins, his son; Horace Hodges; Chester Briggs; Maxton Boone; Tad Wilson; Billy Seawell; McCarty; Andrew Cannady; Otto Hubner, Luther Cannady.

Ruby Mayfield, Louise Hudson; Minnie Mayfield, her aunt; Julia Peebles; Mrs. Barrington; Sue Southerland; Nellie Trotwood; Odena Talbert; Melanthuria, Mary McKee.

DI FAVORS WOMEN FOR DORMITORIES

Vote That It Is Desirable for "Females" to Occupy Graham Dormitory as in Past.

Favoring the bill regarding the desirability of women to continue to occupy local dormitories, and voting to condemn and carry suit against the individuals who removed the picture of Colonel William R. Davie from the society's hall, the Di senate went through an eccentric session last night.

Before passing the bill: Resolved: That it is desirable that females should be allowed to continue to occupy Graham dormitory, the members of the senate brought out the fact that the men did not give any degree of privacy to either sex. Contending against the opinion brought forth that the men were not allowed the freedom of action they would otherwise be granted, opinions were advanced that male students ought to conduct themselves as gentlemen whether women were around or not. The financial side of the question was also discussed.

Heated arguments took place in the hall as to whether the society would be justified in carrying suit against the persons who removed Davie's portrait. The group decided to carry suit by a vote of 12 to ten, and a committee was appointed to investigate the matter.

Dr. Vail Delivers Special Lecture on Glass

Dr. James G. Vail in a special seminar here Monday gave an illustrated lecture to students and faculty members of the chemistry department. Dr. Vail also spoke to the North Carolina section of the American Chemical society at State College Monday evening.

Dr. Vail spoke on the subject of glass, approaching the subject from its industrial side. He used lantern slides to illustrate his lecture and demonstrated the preparation and properties of various types of glass.

The meeting in Raleigh which he addressed was attended by chemists from various sections of the state.

Dr. Vail was favorably impressed with the campus of the University and with its laboratory facilities. While here he was entertained at a smoker at the home of Dr. Edmister. Members of the faculty of the chemistry, engineering, and geology departments were present.

University Student Has Valuable Collection Of Rare, Unusual Coins

John Alexander Maintains That He Has Learned Considerable History and Economics from Experience in Amassing Coins from Many Different Ages and Nations.

"I have learned more history through coin collecting than in any other way," said John Alexander, University senior, who is the proud owner of some two thousand five-hundred coins. "One can learn a great deal about economics too by studying the value of coins from the debased silver of ancient Rome to modern deflation of money."

Alexander has a very complete collection of coins from all parts of the British Empire. One of his most prized possessions is a silver English half-crown that had been taken from a Spanish ship on its homeward trip from Lima. The story of the coin is verified by the word 'Lima' which is stamped on the coin, commemorating the capture of the galleon.

On Maunday Thursday, the English king gives alms to the poor. For this event he has special silver coins made: a sil-

MISS SANDS WILL MIMIC MAE WEST

Movie Star as "Lady Macbeth" To Be One of Many Popular Numbers Tomorrow.

Mae West in Shakespeare? And if the idea alone does not bring laughter, the person to whom it is advanced had best be advised to "have that fixed."

However, it is more than an idea, as those who attend the student entertainment in Memorial hall tomorrow night will have ample opportunity to ascertain. For it is as Mae West doing "Lady Macbeth" that Miss Dorothy Sands will appear. She has already appeared in many places as Mae West. But although the geography of her performances be various, the effect has been each time the same: uproarious.

Very Successful

The uproariousness of this one of Miss Sands' "numbers" was noted immediately she had made her debut in New York by every New York critic. It was noted, too, by every reader of The Literary Digest, for so great was Miss Sands' success, so immediate, that that journal which detects only the loudest detonations, promptly followed up her premier with photographs, quotations, descriptions.

"If Mae West had arisen in Shakespeare's day," it suggested, "her 'Lady Macbeth' might not have made the theatre roar as it did the other night. Not that Miss West did the sleep-walking scene; but her method was hilariously simulated by one of the cleverest mimics of our days."

But the somewhat indelicate performances of Miss West are not the only ones which are exposed to the keen wit of Miss Sands. Her program is peopled by the great of the theatre, but not as museum figures, but, as the Digest suggests, perhaps with more genius than actually they possess.

Tea at Four-Thirty

The usual weekly co-ed tea will be held this afternoon from 4:30 to 6:00 o'clock in Spencer hall.

Daily Tar Heel Wins Verdict In Brilliant Legal Struggle

CARROLL TO SPEAK Seminar Tonight Will End Series On Recovery Program.

Dean D. D. Carroll of the school of commerce will conclude the series of economic seminars on the National Recovery program tonight. The subject of the discussion will be "Social and Economic Implications of the New Deal."

The seminar will be held at 7:30 o'clock in room 113 of Bingham hall. All graduate students in commerce and economics are expected to be present.

HARLAND SPEAKS TO PHI ASSEMBLY

Entertainment Committee Explained by Chairman Following Phi Investigation.

J. P. Harland, chairman of the Student Entertainment committee and professor of archaeology, addressed the Philanthropic assembly last night on the purpose and methods of the Student Entertainment committee.

Professor Harland outlined the history of the committee, stating how it was organized in 1928 to obtain worthwhile entertainment for Chapel Hill through the combined efforts of the students, faculty, and the state. "Money and availability are two essentials in selecting programs," he declared, "as many artists do not tour the south and likewise the financial resources are limited."

Students Control

In regard to the placement of the committee in the hands of the students, Professor Harland explained that the student representatives controlled the present committee. There are four student representatives from the senior and junior classes and three members of the faculty.

At the conclusion of the discussion, announcements were made concerning the joint dance with the Di senate to be held Friday, March 2. Appropriations for the dance were voted on successfully.

Pictures for the Yackety Yack were taken at the end of the meeting. Also, changes in the present initiation ceremonies were formally placed in the constitution.

A complete report of the Student Entertainment committee will be published shortly by the committee appointed by Speaker Temple to investigate the committee.

II III

The following students were confined to the University infirmary yesterday: J. A. Alexander, M. O. Blount, E. D. Broadhurst, Jim Daniels, Earl Freeman, E. A. Suffin, Bunn Hearne, R. L. Holt, Abe Kretzmer, Randolph Rowland, and George Rowe.

Di Senate Picture

Members of the Dialectic senate will meet this morning at Manning hall at 10:23 o'clock to pose for the group picture for the 1934 Yackety Yack. It is important that all members be present and prompt in attendance.

Plaintiff Awarded One Dollar Damages in Libel Suit Instituted by Clark.

NO PUNITIVE DAMAGES

The libel suit against the DAILY TAR HEEL, which was instituted by Franklin S. Clark was brought to a close last evening with a verdict for the plaintiff for only one dollar.

Though the plaintiff asked for $25,000 actual damages and $15,000 punitive damages, the verdict returned was for only $1.00 actual damages and no punitive damages.

Appeal Contemplated

The outcome of this trial was highly gratifying to the DAILY TAR HEEL as to the damages awarded, but an appeal is contemplated due to alleged errors in judicial ruling and instruction.

By agreement of counsel due to the lateness of the hour, jury speeches were limited to five minutes for each of counsel so that their brilliance was not given an opportunity to shine.

Absence of star witnesses for the DAILY TAR HEEL was felt to have injured their cause, but an able defense was presented.

Judge Phillips, special judge, officiated in last evening's session due to the illness of Judge McIntosh. The jurors were as follows: Miss Beneke, foreman; Messrs. Gorham, Levine, McNair, Olmstead, and Hairston. Counsel were: Alan A. Marshall and W. E. Anglin for plaintiff; Henry L. Anderson and Vass Shepherd for the DAILY TAR HEEL. William Markham acted as sheriff, while Peter Hairston was clerk of court, and L. C. Skinner was bailiff.

STUDENT DRAMAS TO BE PRESENTED

Nine Experimental Plays by Koch's Students Offered This Afternoon and Tonight.

Experimental productions of nine plays written by students in Professor F. H. Koch's English 56 class will be presented before an invited group this afternoon at 4:00 o'clock and tonight at 8:00 o'clock.

Plays presented in the afternoon will be Harry Coble's "Over the Doorsill," Virgil Lee's "Another Journey," Kathleen Krahenbuhl's "Shadows," and Vermont Royster's "Prelude."

At 8:00 o'clock the program will be made up of "John Brown," written by John Alexander; "Oh Hell," by Margaret McCauley; "Moon in the Hawthorne Tree," by Foster Fitz-Simons; "The Stars are Fire," by Nat Farnworth; and "Ship Mates" by Don Pope.

Cast for Plays

The cast for "Over the Doorsill," which concerns small town folk, is: Saul Victor, Carl Thompson; Mrs. Victor, Elise Cortese; Miriam Lattimer, Patsy McMullan; Tom Denton, Walter Terry; Johnny Moore, Harry Coble.

Virgil Lee's tragedy, "Another Journey," in which he plays the part of John Mackenzie, includes in the cast Mary Armbruster as Sara Day, Ralph Burgin as Paul Mackenzie, and Virginia Dean as Isabelle Mackenzie.

Ruth Dickson, Kathleen Krahenbuhl, and Nat Farnworth. (Continued on page two)