PROCTOR TO LEAD POLITICAL GROUP

New Political Organization Now Being Formed Will Have Dorm Representatives.

Under the leadership of B. C. Proctor, a new political organization is in the process of formation on the campus. This new group is to be called the Reform party, and is designed to choose a platform for the reform of "current political abuse."

Its program is also to select a group of students not for their popularity, but for their integrity and ability to put into effect the necessary reforms; to take the political control from the hands of the few who regard not student rights but the status of their organization, and to give the hitherto unrepresented majority the power to nominate whom they feel fit to serve.

Representatives

Aycock, Grimes, Lewis, Mangum, Manly, Ruffin, and Spencer dormitories are to have one representative from each floor, and Battle-Vance-Pettigrew, Old East, Old West, and Steele are to have one man from each section. Strowd, Sutton, Kluttz, Stadium, Ranson house, Best house, and Old Acacia house are to have one representative each.

These representatives are to be elected by the members of their respective groups prior to February 19, and are to meet in Gerrard hall February 20, at the first meeting which is called by Proctor, temporary chairman.

MEET THE BIG FIVE CHAMPS

Three of these men above realized a three-year dream last night as the White Phantoms garnered the collegiate basketball championship of North Carolina. Coach Bo, Captain Dave, and Virgil Weathers set about three years ago to capture the state flag. Carolina meets the Gamecocks in the Tin Can Wednesday in the last game of the season. The conference tourney begins March 2.

TAR HEEL STAFF WILL HAVE PARTY

Arrangements Committee Convenes Today to Prepare for Anniversary Thursday.

Members of the editorial and business staffs of the DAILY TAR HEEL will call off internal hostilities long enough to make preparations for a birthday banquet next week.

Thursday marks the 41st anniversary of the campus newspaper, and that evening the would-be journalists and business men will combine their efforts to make it a happy birthday.

The committee appointed to make arrangements for the party is composed of Carl Thompson, chairman, Don McKee, Nelson Lansdale, Phil Hammer, Billy Anderson, Agnew Bahnson, and Butler French.

The group will meet this morning at 12:00 o'clock in the office of the DAILY TAR HEEL to provide for a distribution of the duties of preparation.

To Replace Smoker

It has been the custom for the staff of the paper to meet every quarter for a smoker, and it was decided this year to turn the affair into a birthday celebration instead. This affair is not to be confused with the "gridiron banquet" which comes in the spring following election.

Tentative plans for the party include a short address by a member of the faculty, talks by staff members, and possibly attendance at a movie.

A tariff of 25 cents will be collected from members of the staff planning to attend the banquet. Contributions should be turned over to committee members.

ENGINEERS ELECT THREE NEW MEN

Tau Beta Pi, Honorary Fraternity, Holds Initiation.

Tau Beta Pi, honorary engineering fraternity, conducted its regular spring initiation banquet last night at the Carolina Inn. W. C. Morrison, L. S. Tracy, and R. L. Huber, all members of the junior class, were officially made members of this organization in a short impressive ceremony just before the banquet.

The principal speaker of the evening was Stanley Wright, assistant to Dean Baity in the Public Works administration, who spoke on the relation of the student engineer to industry after graduation.

ALUMNUS STAGES ORIGINAL DRAMA

Parker Produces "Itching Heel" With All-Negro Cast.

Professor F. H. Koch, director of the Carolina Playmakers, leaves today for High Point to attend a performance of "Itching Heel," a full length Negro play written by John Parker, alumnus of the University and former student of Koch.

"Itching Heel" was written in Koch's playwriting course a year ago last spring, and is being produced for the first time under the auspices of the Junior league of High Point.

Parker, the author, is directing the play, and is producing it with an entire Negro cast.

Parker is the dramatic director in the high school at High Point. His first Negro play, a one-act play called "Sleep on, Lemuel," was produced by the Carolina Playmakers here May 12, 1932.

FRESHMEN HEAR BILL ALLSBROOK

Orchestra Plays Medley of Popular Tunes and Special Arrangements in Chapel.

In their regular assembly yesterday, the freshmen had the opportunity of hearing the dulcet strains of Bill Allsbrook and his popular Carolina Club orchestra.

Convinced that the red-hot Cab Calloway type of torrid music is no longer in favor among the public, Allsbrook is endeavoring to emphasize the more melodious, rhythmic type of music in his orchestrations.

Allsbrook is fortunate in having a small group of talented, versatile musicians who are able to play together in perfect rhythm and harmony. A large majority of his numbers are specially arranged for his band by Allsbrook or one of his boys, thus lending a distinctive and original air to his programs.

Program

The program that was presented yesterday morning included a medley of college songs which was finished with "Hark the Sound," played in a new arrangement, "Sometimes I's Happy," "Everything I Have Is Yours," "The Old Spinning Wheel," "This Little Piggie Went to Market," "I Love You Truly," in which Allsbrook had a special violin section of five instruments, "Temptation," "Past, Present, and Future," "Swanee Cradle Song," and closed with a special arrangement of "Tiger Rag."

The program was enthusiastically received by the audience, composed of upperclassmen as well as freshmen.

WADE TO SPEAK TO FROSH HERE

Duke Grid Coach Will Speak to First Year Men Monday; Upperclassmen Invited.

Coach Wallace Wade, Duke football mentor, will speak to the freshman class at their convocation Monday, according to announcements made by the freshman chapel committee.

The subject of Wade's address has not as yet been announced.

The Duke coach's speech will break the series of musical programs which the freshmen have been hearing. He was secured because of the popular demand of the class to hear the man who just missed leading his team to the Rose Bowl last fall.

Wade has a brilliant record as a football coach. He sent three teams to the Rose Bowl while coaching at Alabama and has won two national championships.

Coaching several all-American players, he has developed lately two all-American tackles, Freddie Sington of Alabama, and Freddie Crawford of Duke. Last fall was Wade's third year of coaching at Duke, and he developed what has been recognized as the best gridiron team the Devils have ever put out. His squad won all their games last year, except their last one with Georgia Tech, and was on the point of being chosen by authorities to represent the east in the annual New Year's day Rose Bowl event when it met defeat.

The year before last Duke, under Wade, won the state championship.

A series of devotional services which will be sponsored daily by the University Y. M. C. A. in observance of Lent will be started at the convocation.

Upperclassmen are invited to attend, but are requested to take seats at the rear.

MacNider to Talk

Dr. William deB. MacNider, Kenan research professor of pharmacology, will speak before the Nash-Edgcombe county medical society Wednesday, February 21, on the subject, "Resistance to Injury of Fixed Tissue Cells."

Quints Slow at Start Then Speed Up for Flashy Climax.

Duke Gym., Duke University Station, Feb. 16.—Coach "Bo" Shepard's White Phantoms licked Duke here tonight 30-25 in a thrilling packed contest. His Excellency, Governor John Christopher Blucher Ehringhaus and some 4,000 fans packed the house to the rafters to witness Carolina take the state Big Five title.

The Tar Heels led at the turn 15-8, but the Blue Devils, staging a rally, ran up a 20-17 lead immediately after intermission. But the fighting Carolina quintet took the contest out of the fire, going on a scoring rampage to finally cop the tilt.

"Snooks" Aitken, dynamic Tar Heel advance man, led both teams in the scoring column with a half dozen field goals and one free toss. Captain Dave McCachren, playing a beautiful game for Carolina at guard, was runner-up with a trio of action and gratis shots. The highly touted Jim Thompson who has been a holy terror to all his opponents all season failed to be very impish. Jim McCachren covered him like a canvas tent all the way; it took 21½ minutes of action before the Duke ace garnered his first bucket.

INFORMAL DANCE OFFERED TONIGHT

Duke Collegians Playing for German Club Script Dance Tonight in Bynum Gym.

A good crowd is expected by the German club when it climaxes the entertainment already begun by the Duke-Carolina boxing matches with a script dance in Bynum gym at 9:30 o'clock tonight.

The club has received permission from the University Dance committee to sponsor this dance in order to stabilize its finances and to obtain extra money with which to improve still further the finals which it will give in the spring.

Long to Play. Johnny Long and his Duke Collegians will supply the music as they have already done several times this year for Grail, co-ed, and other dances, as well as the Engineers' ball last night. Johnny and his band are popular on the campus and can be counted on for good music.

The dance will be an informal script affair to which everyone is invited. Tickets are on sale at Pritchard-Lloyd or may be procured at the door tonight.

Oratorical Contests

Seniors who are interested in the contest for the Mangum medal at commencement and all who are interested in the contest for the Peace prize are asked to confer with Professor George McKie at 210 Murphy hall.
