

SIMPLE SERVICES HELD YESTERDAY FOR DR. J. M. BELL

Died of Heart Attack in Florida Saturday; Was Head of School of Applied Science at University; Indoor Rituals Held in Local Presbyterian Church.

MANY MOURNERS PRESENT

Simple and impressive funeral services were held here yesterday afternoon for the late Dr. James Munsie Bell, dean of the school of applied science and head of the department of chemistry in the University, who died of a heart attack Saturday in Florida.

The indoor services were held in the presence of a large assemblage in the Presbyterian church, which the late dean had served as deacon and treasurer for many years. The Reverend Mr. Watt Cooper of the Presbyterian church and the Reverend Mr. Alfred S. Lawrence of the Episcopal church officiated, a combination of the burial ritual of the two churches being used.

Most of the Scripture reading was from the Common Book of Prayer. One of the prayers composed by the late Dr. W. D. Moss was used.

Bell Tolls

During the church service the old bell in South building was tolled softly, and during the services at the grave "Abide With Me" and "Lead Kindly Light" were played on the chimes in the Morehead-Patterson bell tower.

Active pallbearers were student representatives of different divisions in the chemistry and applied departments. They were D. J. Brawley of Statesville; (Continued on page three)

LIBRARY OBTAINS STATE DOCUMENTS

R. B. Downs Secures More Than Four Thousand Volumes of Public Documents from Library of Congress as Exchanges.

R. B. Downs, librarian of the University, returned this weekend from a trip to Washington, where he procured between four and five thousand volumes of documents for the University library from the Library of Congress on an exchange basis.

The primary purpose of the trip was to obtain public documents. The University library is attempting to build up a comprehensive collection of state documents and some foreign publications. The Library of Congress had a large number of duplicates of these and offered them to this library as exchanges.

Substantial Addition

As a result of this arrangement the University library is obtaining between four and five thousand volumes which include many important publications of the southern states and selected publications from the other American states, and a large number from the British Empire and other foreign countries.

This collection will materially increase the resources of the library here in the field of public documents. This transaction continues the exchange relations which have been worked out between the University library, the Library of Congress, the New York Public library, and the (Continued on page three)

PRESS RELEASES LAW PERIODICAL

Carolina Law Review Containing Articles by Professors and Research Students and Case Comments Published Recently.

The second issue of the Carolina Law Review, carrying three leading articles by University professors and research students collaborating and several case comments by the publication's student editors, has just been released from the press for distribution.

The review, which is the legal journal for the University law school, is divided in this issue, as is usual, into two sections, the first containing discussions by professors or by leading practitioners of disputed points of law or the effect of new legislation on existing law and economic conditions, and the second devoted to case comments by the student editors.

Article on NRA

In the first section, an article written jointly by Robert H. Schnell, research fellow in the school of law, and Robert H. Wettach, professor of constitutional law, discusses the use of the corporation in aiding the government's recovery program and deals with such well-known symbols as the NRA, TVA, and AAA.

Following E. M. Perkins, one of the graduates from the law school last year, makes suggestions, under "The Sales Tax and Transactions in Interstate Commerce," in regard to sales tax evasion, as exemplified in interstate commerce by the activities of the mail order houses.

Discussion of Damages

The last article, "The Measure of Damages for Defamation," was written by C. T. McCormick, former dean of the (Continued on page two)

John Carr Funeral

Funeral services for John Carr, 18-year-old brother of Claiborn Carr, editor of the Daily Tar Heel, were conducted yesterday morning at his home in Woodmere, Long Island, where interment took place.

John died early Friday night of injuries received while he was playing in the gymnasium of the Middlesex preparatory school in Massachusetts. Claiborn and Boylan, another brother who is a student here, attended the funeral.

DRAMA RESTIVAL PLANS ADVANCED

Carolina Dramatic Association Will Sponsor Annual Event; Date Set for April 5, 6, and 7 in Chapel Hill.

Plans for the 11th annual state dramatic festival and tournament, to take place in Chapel Hill April 5, 6, and 7, are nearing completion, according to an announcement made yesterday by Irene H. Fussler, secretary of the Carolina Dramatic association.

A large part of the endeavor of the association this year has been to promote the writing of original plays. This effort of the association has doubtless resulted in great educational and recreational value to schools and communities throughout the state.

Prize for Best Play

Paul Green, Carolina playwright and philosopher, approving the attempt to encourage native North Carolina drama, is offering a collection of his plays as a prize to this year's author of the best original play presented at the festival.

Twenty-two original plays have been submitted to the judges here, according to the secretary. Ten of these have been chosen for production at the festival.

University judges who read the original plays are Professors A. C. Howell, A. P. Hudson, U. T. Holmes, Phillips Russell, George R. McKie, R. B. Sharpe; and Mrs. F. W. Hanft, Mrs. Paul Green, Loretto Carroll Bailey, and Mrs. U. T. Holmes.

These men are asked to report to Saunders as soon as possible. All of them will be expected to attend the meeting to be held Thursday night at 7:00 o'clock in Graham Memorial.

Student Body President States No Students Suspended On Testimony Of "Honor Council"

In a report yesterday before freshman assembly on the cases of the three students who were expelled from the University last week upon their confession to theft, Harper Barnes, student body president, termed as false the rumor that students have been suspended from school this year on the testimony of Lewis Barnes, one of the expelled trio.

The student body head also refuted rumors concerning the activities of Lewis Barnes last fall as founder and head of a self-constituted "honor council."

The "council," the purpose of which was allegedly to report to the Student council infrac-

417 LOSE CHANCE FOR EMPLOYMENT

Applications Cancelled Because Students Have Failed to Come to Local Office of Re-employment Bureau to Re-Register.

Four hundred and seventeen applications for work that have been filed with the local office of National Re-employment service have been cancelled, because the applicants have failed to come back to the office and re-register.

It is possible that some of these applications for work have been filled, and the office would like to know of these cases.

In Orange county, 2,058 have been registered for work excluding the some 350 or 400 students that have registered for employment. Through the CWA, PWA, and TVA, some 700 people have been placed in jobs. However, private placements have been few, and the National Re-employment office is now looking to business people, industries and home-owners to call on them for any people that are needed to fill any sort of jobs.

This service is free to the citizens of Orange county, and the office will use every effort to furnish adequate people for these jobs.

There are many forms of labor that are on file with the National Re-employment office. Skilled labor, professional workers, teachers, dietitians, stenographers are all waiting for positions.

SYMPHONIC BAND PLAYS TOMORROW

William Barnett to Present Solo Selections on Program.

The University symphonic band, under the direction of Earl A. Slocum, will make its initial appearance for this year tomorrow evening at 8:30 o'clock in Hill Music hall.

William Barnett, a senior in the voice department, will be the soloist.

The music played by this organization represents the outstanding figures in musical composition, from the classics to the modern.

The program for Wednesday night follows: La Reine de Saba, by Gounod; Overture, "Cinderella," by Rossini; Don Quixote Suite, by Safranek; Selection, Victor Herbert's favorites; Ballad, by Purcell; Silvia, by Oley Speaks, William Barnett, soloist.

PHI WILL ELECT SPRING OFFICERS

Will Also Discuss Three Bills at Meeting Tonight.

The Phi assembly will conduct election of officers for the spring quarter tonight at 7:00 o'clock in New East. The following officers are to be elected: speaker pro-tem, sergeant-at-arms, reading clerk, assistant-treasurer, and members of ways and means committee.

The bills to be discussed are: Resolved: That a date bureau be established at the University for pinning co-eds and bashful gentlemen; Resolved: That the University allow boys and girls to visit each other in the infirmary; and Resolved: That Congress should pass the unemployment insurance bill.

The report of the Di-Phi dance will be given by the chairman of the dance committee. Announcements will be made concerning the Phi pins that have been ordered.

FRESHMAN GROUP HEARS BRADSHAW

Dean of Students Tells Friendship Council How It Can Aid University Club in Drive for New Students.

Dean F. F. Bradshaw addressed the Freshman Friendship council last night in Gerard hall on the ways in which the council, which is co-operating with the University club in its drive to interest prospective students in the University, can, individually, act as missionaries for the Carolina spirit.

"There are two ways, Dean Bradshaw said, 'by which each student can see that the proper preparatory school graduates are brought to the University. In addition to keeping in touch with the alumni office and furnishing it with the names and necessary information about the high school seniors of his acquaintance, each student can see that he himself is a good example of a Carolina product when he is at home during the holidays.'

To illustrate the arguments which should be advanced in an attempt to interest a prospective student, Dean Bradshaw gave his own experience, saying that it was the University's size, representative student body, variety of activities, and lack of restraint which persuaded him to enter.

"The alumnus, also is good salestalk for the University, for he is known to be an easy man to get along with, sociable, and interested in his community," the speaker said.

However, the University is not to engage in a mad scramble for students, nor is it to be advised for the high school graduate who has not yet reached the stage of maturity when he has his own moral and religious convictions.

COMPOSITION CONDITION EXAMS SET THURSDAY

The winter quarter examination for the removal of composition conditions from grades in any course will be given at 4:00 o'clock Thursday afternoon in 111 Saunders hall.

Students planning to take the examination are asked to notify the secretary of the English department in room 204 Saunders before 5:00 o'clock tomorrow.

ACTIVITIES BODY TO MAKE STUDY OF GOVERNMENT

Group Will Discuss New Proposals for Changes in Present Student Government at Regular Quarterly Dinner Meeting Tomorrow.

BANQUET IS SET FOR 6:30

A proposal for a reiteration of and changes in the present student government organization will be discussed by the Student Activities committee tomorrow evening.

The group will gather at its regular quarterly dinner meeting at 6:30 o'clock tomorrow in the banquet room of Graham Memorial.

The proposal, which is endorsed by the Student council, calls for a "restatement and revision" of student government organization, and the meeting will be turned over to a consideration of the plan.

Items in Proposal

Included in the proposal are: a definition of the status of the Student Activities committee; a revision of student members of activities' boards; and a centralization of authority by enlarging the present Student council and definitely vesting it with veto power over all other student activity boards, with such a veto to be over-riden only by vote of the student body.

It is also suggested that the Student council take jurisdiction over honor offenses of women as well as of men students.

The meeting is sponsored by the student union as a part of its program in co-ordinating student activities.

BOOK BY GROVES HONORED IN LIST

Volume on "Marriage" Is One of Three Books Published in 1933 Given Honorable Mention by Parents Magazine.

Dr. E. R. Groves' book "Marriage," although not designed for parents, is one of the three books published in 1933 given honorable mention by "Parents Magazine" as a distinctive contribution to the field of child development and parental interest, it was learned yesterday.

The recognition by "Parents Magazine" of books of value to parents has been made annually during the last eight years. This same distinction has been given previously to three other books of which Groves has been author or co-author. These are: "Parents and Children" by E. R. Groves and Gladys Hoagland Groves, "Introduction to Mental Hygiene" by E. R. Groves and Phyllis Blanchard, and "Sex in Marriage" by E. R. and G. H. Groves.

Practical Book

In Groves' book "Marriage" is the first complete discussion of the aspects of marriage in which young people as individuals are most interested. It is a practical guide to successful marriage and a usable text book in a pioneering field of education—the study of marriage as a human experience.

Groves sympathetically and frankly presents and interprets all the stumbling blocks to adjustment in the most universal of domestic experiences. Fifty- (Continued on page three)
