

OVER 2100 HAVE REGISTERED THUS FAR THIS SPRING

Latest Reports from Registrar's Office Shows Drop of 260 from Number Registering a Year Ago for the Spring Quarter.

LOOK FOR MORE THIS WEEK

Two thousand one hundred and fifty students registered at the University for the spring quarter, according to an official tabulation made yesterday by the registrar's office.

This is a drop of 260 from the number registered during the 1933 spring period, 2410 being enrolled at that time.

During the 1933-34 school year the registration has fallen off approximately 120 each quarter. Two thousand four hundred and thirteen individuals were enrolled in the fall period and 2293 in the winter session.

This shows a drop of 120 scholars in the winter from the number in school in the fall, and a drop of 143 people this quarter from the total in the University during the last period.

Comparing the number of individuals enrolled in the University in the fall of 1932 with the 1933 fall session, there is a drop of 201 scholars. In the winter period in 1933 there were

NEW YORK ALUMNI HEAR HENDERSON

Meeting of New York Alumni Club Receives Talks by Several University Men; Chancellor H. W. Chase Speaks.

Last Friday at the Town Hall hotel in New York, the Alumni club of the University in that city held its annual dinner. Approximately 300 alumni, students, and friends of the University attended.

Dr. Archibald Henderson, representing the University, delivered the principal address of the evening. Dr. Henderson spoke for the better part of an hour, dividing his talk into three parts. In the first part he entertained the guests with humorous reminiscences of some of the better known Carolina professors, and students. The second part of his speech was a report on the University of today and the progress of consolidation in the making of the Greater University of North Carolina, quoting from President Graham's recent report to the trustees. Dr. Henderson also read a letter of greeting from President Graham to the members of the New York Alumni club.

The last part of the address was devoted to a prophecy of the future development of education under the leadership of President Roosevelt.

Chase Attends

Chancellor Harry Woodburn Chase of New York University, former president of this University, was the first speaker of the evening and confined his remarks to an eloquent tribute to the late former president of the University, Francis Preston Venable.

Maryon Saunders, secretary of the General Alumni association, briefly told the alumni of

Seven Suspended From University By Council On Cheating Charges

The final examinations of last quarter revealed cheating on the part of some of the students, according to the reports of the Student council.

The following action was taken by the council on cases which were reported to it:

One student indefinitely suspended from the University for cheating on a French 3 examination and lying to the Student council.

One student suspended for three quarters for cheating on an accounting quiz and lying to the council.

One student suspended for one quarter for trying to cheat on an English examination.

Two freshmen suspended for one quarter for cheating on outside work in mathematics supposed to have been conducted under the honor system.

One freshman was suspended for one quarter for cheating on a mathematics examination.

Two cases were continued for further investigation.

Half of these cases were reported by students and the others were detected by faculty members from similarity in quizbooks.

All these cases except one were tried before the holidays by a special committee composed of Harper Barnes, Lee Greer, John O'Neal, and Ed Martin. This committee had final power to pass sentence, but the student sentenced had the right to appeal to the whole council. Of the seven students tried and sentenced by the special committee, four appealed to the Student council as a whole. In each case the decision of the committee was upheld.

Business Office Will Pay Out FERA Grant

Beginning today at 2:00 o'clock and continuing through tomorrow, the business office will pay all students who have worked on Federal Student's Aid assignments before and including March 3.

Work that has been done on this program between March 3 and March 31 will be paid for early in April.

Each student will sign a receipt for the money received, and will be expected in accordance with the affidavit which he signed in order to obtain such aid to apply the money so received on his University accounts.

STUDENTS ASKED TO ENROLL WITH VOCATION BUREAU

Bureau of Vocational Information to Aid Job Seekers.

Students interested in getting help in securing jobs after graduation from the University are urged to register with the bureau of vocational information in 204 South building.

A number of executives from large firms in the country have recently come to Chapel Hill to interview seniors registered with the bureau with the view of giving them positions.

Billings Visits Here

E. M. Billings, personnel manager of the Eastman Kodak company in Rochester, New York, paid a visit to the University yesterday and interviewed seniors in accounting, salesmanship, physics, chemistry, and engineering.

Several high ranking students in each of the departments were interviewed, and Billings expressed himself as being pleased with the several applicants.

Attempts are being made by the bureau of vocational placement to contact personnel representatives from other large corporations in the United States during the spring.

DR. RONDTHALER MAKES ADDRESS

Salem College President Tells Students to Ally Themselves with Spirit of Campus; Is University Alumnus.

"Ally yourself with the spirit of the campus—the spiritual," stated Howard Edward Rondthaler, president of Salem College, in an address Monday in Gerrard hall sponsored here by the University Y. M. C. A.

"Because you are not required to learn of the spiritual, it is all the more worth while," Rondthaler said.

"Life lays its greatest responsibilities on individuals before they are 20 years old in compelling them to make decisions."

The Salem College head suggested that it would be a fine thing if man could live his life backwards, starting at 60 and gradually getting younger until he escaped into the unconsciousness of childhood. This, according to the speaker, would prevent decisions when the person was least prepared for them.

Congratulates Students

Congratulating the students of the University in the opportunity they had, Rondthaler stated, "There is something about the University of North Carolina which walks with one through life in years and years to come."

Christ, according to the noted educator "is as up to date as tomorrow morning." He said that one does not have to look over their shoulder to see Jesus.

Rondthaler, an alumnus of the University, obtained his bachelor's degree here in 1893 and was president of the University Y. M. C. A. He was one of the most outstanding members of the Di society of his time, and during his work in the Y. M. C. A. was the first man to suggest a University book store.

The Salem head is president of the North Carolina conference for social service and the state historical society.

DEMOCRATS WILL MEET FOR RALLY

Jackson Day to Be Celebrated at Dinner, Reception, and Dance at Raleigh Saturday; Sponsored by Young Democrats.

The Young Democrats of North Carolina will celebrate Jackson Day with the members of the official Democratic party in Raleigh Saturday at a reception, dinner and dance.

The Jackson Day dinners have in past years been sponsored by the executive committee of the State Democratic party for the regular members and have been significant events in the current politics of the state. This year, in recognition of the Young Democratic clubs and their work in interesting young people in the political life of the state, the official party organization has turned over the sponsoring of the state-wide party rally to the Young Democrats. Although it will be staged and sponsored by the Young Democrats, it will be the official meeting of the Democratic party.

The rally will be staged in the Raleigh auditorium and will present a program which was prepared for the interest of the Young Democrats. After a reception from 6:00 to 7:00

DOCUMENTS MEET TO BE HELD HERE

Three Universities Are Sponsoring Conference on Public Documents Which Is to Arouse Interest in Collecting Material.

A conference on public documents sponsored by the University, the University of Virginia, and Duke University will be held here and at Duke University Friday and Saturday.

Friday morning at 11:00 o'clock at the University library R. B. House, executive secretary of the University and former secretary of the North Carolina historical committee, will address the conference. At the same session S. H. Hobbs, University professor of rural-social economics, will discuss the use of documentary material in his field.

At 2:30 o'clock Dr. A. F. Kuhlman, associate director of the University of Chicago libraries and chairman of the American Library association public documents committee, Dr. J. G. de R. Hamilton, director of the Southern Historical collection at the University and Dr. H. W. Odum, director of the institute for research in social science at the University will speak.

The Friday meetings will be finished by an informal dinner and round table discussion at the Carolina Inn.

The speakers at the morning session at Duke University Saturday will be Dr. J. Fred Ripley, professor of history at Duke, Dr. A. R. Newsome, secretary of the North Carolina historical committee, Dr. W. K. Boyd, director of the Duke University library, and possibly Dr. Clarence Poe, the editor and author. There will be a luncheon at the Duke University union, and an optional meeting in the afternoon.

FEEES TO BE PAID BY END OF WEEK

Officials Prefer That Money Be Sent Through Mail and Received Bill Will Be Returned; Underclassmen Pay by April 5.

Enrollment fees for juniors and seniors who registered before the holidays are due to be paid before Saturday at the University business office in South building, it was announced yesterday.

Underclassmen who did not pay their bills during the registration procedure Monday must do so before April 5.

University officials urge students to mail to the business office the amount due with their bill. The bills will be receipted and returned.

For those who do not mail in their fees the following payment schedule has been adopted: today, those whose names begin from E to J are to make their payments; tomorrow, K to O and those in the medical school; Friday, P to S; and Saturday, T to Z.

Failure of juniors and seniors who registered before the holidays to make payments or proper arrangements to pay before Saturday will result in a $5.00 fee for delay.

Students who have not as yet registered may do so in the office of the registrar. The registration period will be open until next Monday. A late registration fee of $5.00 is charged.

HUMPHREYS TAKES PAULSEN'S PLACE AS LAUNDRY HEAD

Former Foreman of Laundry Is Named as New Superintendent During Holidays; Will Assume Management with New Quarter.

WOOLLEN MAKES CHANGE

After serving for twelve years as superintendent of the University laundry, G. H. Paulsen was replaced by John W. Humphreys, foreman of the laundry during the holidays.

The change was announced last night by Charles T. Woollen, comptroller of the University. According to Woollen the change was made during the holidays and Humphreys will assume the management of the laundry with the beginning of the new quarter.

Having been superintendent of the laundry for twelve years, Paulsen also had interests in town property, including the proprietorship of the former Smoke Shop. He was interested in the sports of the University and was given the nickname of "Dean" Paulsen.

New Man Is Old Hand

Humphreys, the new superintendent, has been working at the laundry for years and lately has been acting as assistant to Paulsen, being in charge of the

HANDBOOK EDITOR WILL BE CHOSEN

New Editor Will Be Chosen by Members of Y. M. C. A. Board of Directors; He Will Select His Own Staff.

Applications for the editorship and business management of the Carolina Freshman handbook for the coming year must be filed in the office of the University Y. M. C. A. before April 10, it was announced yesterday by John Acee, president of the local organization.

The editor will be selected not later than May 1 by faculty members of the University "Y" board of directors.

Candidates for the editorship must be active members of the Y. M. C. A., but there is no regulation as to his class in the University. Each applicant will be personally interviewed by the board. The handbook head will choose his own staff.

To Select Business Head

The business head will be selected by the new "Y" president, the new treasurer, the self-help secretary, and the new handbook editor.

Candidates may obtain application blanks from either John Acee or Harry F. Comer, general secretary.

The Carolina handbook is prepared for the incoming freshmen each fall in an attempt to acquaint them with facts about the University, its traditions, regulations, and activity on the campus.

Editor of the last handbook was Carl G. Thompson. W. T. Minor was business manager, and the rest of the staff was made up of Vermont C. Royster, William Anderson, Phil Hammer, and Charles Bond.

Regulation governing the production of the Freshman handbook may be obtained with the application blanks in the Y. M. C. A. office.
