

NOMINATIONS FOR CLASS OFFICIALS TO BE TOMORROW

Originally Scheduled for Today but Shifted Because of Short Time for Announcement; Campus-Wide Nominations as Originally Set.

ALL MEETINGS AT 7:30

Nominations for the officers of the various classes of the University will take place tomorrow night instead of today, as originally scheduled by the Student council, it was announced by Harper Barnes, president of the student body. The nominations for the campus-wide officials will take place Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock in Memorial hall as formerly announced.

Classes Meet Separately

It has been the custom usually for the class officers to be nominated at special meetings of the classes rather than at the general convocation. This avoids the difficulty of segregating the individual classes to count votes easily and accurately.

All the meetings will be at 7:30 o'clock. The rising sophomore class will meet in Gerrard hall; the rising juniors, in the Di hall in New West; and the rising seniors, in the Phi hall in New East.

The time for nominations of class officers has been moved forward one day to permit sufficient publicity to be given to the meetings.

Senate Initiates Faculty Member

Dr. MacNider Becomes Di Senator; Graham Speaks.

The Di senate witnessed a ceremony which is unique in its history in the initiation of Dr. William DeB. MacNider to membership at its meeting Tuesday night.

A great debate raged in the senate before the actual induction took place as to whether Dr. MacNider should be required to make his maiden speech in the hall before or after he had been accepted as a full fledged senator. It was finally decided to have the neophyte speak previous to his taking of the oath of office. He then spoke briefly on "The Relations of the Kidney Filter to the Disposition."

During the course of the meeting Dr. Frank Porter Graham, president of the University, delivered a few remarks to the senate. Dr. Graham began his remarks by delving into the past of a few of the men whose pictures line the walls of the senate chamber. He told of the days when liberalism on the campus was in its growing stage mentioning in particular an incident which occurred in connection with a commencement banquet held by the senate in the old days.

At that time, according to Dr. Graham, the University was not at all troubled by those who objected to having teachers in the school and visiting speakers who were socialists or who had political beliefs radically different from those of the population of the state. The great fight at that time was a campus affair on the matter as to whether a republican would be invited to deliver the main address at the

Hildegard Kneeland, Star Witness In Senate Investigation, Visits Hill

Woman Accused by Wirt of Being Concerned with "Brain Trust's Revolution" Refuses to Comment on Charges; in Chapel Hill To Confer with Odum in Connection with Research.

By Vermont C. Royster
Emphatically stating that she had nothing to say concerning the accusations of Dr. William A. Wirt against her, Miss Hildegard Kneeland, star witness in the senate committee investigations of the Brain Trust "revolution," refused to answer questions put to her by a DAILY TAR HEEL reporter yesterday afternoon.

Miss Kneeland, discovered dining at the Carolina Inn, talked freely about her work and her reason for being in Chapel Hill, but repeatedly ignored questions revolving about Dr. Wirt's charges. She said her purpose in being here was to talk to Dr. Howard Odum in connection with her research work on "consumer's expenditures" which she is doing for the department of agriculture. "I found I would not be called as a witness until Thursday," she said, "so I came down here to continue my work."

Miss Kneeland has recently figured prominently in the charges brought against the Roosevelt Brain Trust on the grounds of plotting to overthrow the government. Several subversive remarks were attributed to her by Dr. Wirt in the cross-questioning by the senate committee Tuesday, remarks which Miss Kneeland flatly denied.

In response to a statement by Wirt that Miss Kneeland and "her group" (department of agriculture) recognized the leadership of Dr. Tugwell, who was named by Wirt as the leader of the revolution, Miss Kneeland claimed she did not even know Tugwell. She has also been accused by Wirt of saying "we believe we have Mr. Roosevelt in the middle of a swift

FRESHMEN MUST PASS 5 COURSES

Upperclassmen Must Complete Seven Courses During Year for Readmittance; Expulsion Is Penalty for Non-Completion.

Freshmen must have successfully passed at least five courses by the end of this spring quarter to stay in the University, first-year men are reminded by a statement issued yesterday by Dr. A. W. Hobbs, dean of the school of liberal arts.

Upperclassmen must pass two courses a quarter or seven during the 1933-34 school year.

"Freshmen must pass at least two courses in the first two quarters, and at least five courses in the first three quarters," according to the University catalog. "After the freshman year (three quarters) a student must pass at least one course each quarter, four courses in two successive quarters, and seven courses in three successive quarters."

Penalty Is Expulsion

The penalty for not passing the required number of units is expulsion from the University.

Deficiencies may be made up by correspondence work or by summer school. In case work is made up by work in the summer or by correspondence, only credits exceeding one course credit so obtained shall count for readmission to the University.

If a freshman is making up deficiencies by correspondence or summer school, he must therefore pass six courses in the first three quarters. Upperclassmen must, when making up failed credits, finish eight units in three quarters.

If a student fails to qualify to the above requirements, he may be readmitted only by vote of a special faculty committee which meets three times a school year to consider written petitions of students who have definite reasons for entering again.

Glee Club Picture

The Glee club will meet at Hill Music hall this afternoon at 5:00 o'clock to have a picture made for the Yackety Yack. All members are asked to wear tuxedos.

THREE STUDENTS GIVEN POSITIONS THROUGH BUREAU

Work Located in McLellan's Stores for Graduates.

Three University students were given employment with McLellan's stores through co-operation with the University Bureau of Vocational Information, according to an announcement made yesterday from the office of the dean of students.

Ray W. Johnson, Robert V. Hamilton, and James D. Garland, seniors, were offered positions and will take up employment with the company after the present school term.

Going through a training course in the company's business methods, the new employees will be started to work in the stock room and will be graduated up through the purchasing department.

Other applications, sent in to the bureau by University students, have been filed with other companies and several encouraging responses have been received.

It is expected that a representative from S. H. Kress and Company will come to visit the University at an early date to interview prospective employees.

Seniors interested in merchandising and who have not registered with the Bureau of Vocational Information should do so immediately at room 205 South building.

ENGINEERS CHOOSE NEW STAFF HEADS

Walter King Elected Editor; M. E. Evans, Managing Editor.

At a staff election for the Carolina Engineer conducted yesterday morning by the students of the school of engineering Walter W. King, Jr., junior in the civil department, was elected editor. As managing editor, M. E. Evans, junior in electrical engineering, was chosen. The remainder of the staff will, as usual, be selected by the individual societies that constitute the general engineering school.

The new staff will take over its duties immediately. The last publication of the magazine for this school year will appear sometime next month.

Emory Debate

Winthrop Durfee and Don Seawell will debate Emory College of Atlanta at 4:00 o'clock this afternoon in Gerrard hall on the negative of the query: Resolved: That the higher education of women is detrimental to the best interests of society.

Donald Smith and A. K. Neely will debate for Emory. This is to be a humorous debate; a colossal battle of wit. The high school debaters are especially urged to attend.

TO RECEIVE FRIENDS OF ROBERT W. BARNETT

Don Shoemaker and Mayne Albright will receive friends of Robert W. Barnett, Rhodes scholar from the University, between the hours of 7:30 and 10:00 o'clock at the Klutz Cottage, 401 East Franklin street, tomorrow evening. Mr. Barnett is departing for England Sunday, via China.

All friends of Mr. Barnett are invited to call at any time between the appointed hours. This will be the only invitation tendered.

Staff Nominees For Editorships Of 3 Publications To Be Chosen

P. U. Board Convenes To Discuss Free High School Subscriptions and AP Service.

The Publications Union board will meet this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock in Graham Memorial for final actions on the proposition recently recommended to supply free subscriptions of campus publications to state high schools and eastern preparatory schools.

The matter of providing the DAILY TAR HEEL with Associated Press reports next year will also be acted upon. J. Maryon Saunders will appear before the board to present facts in regard to the first matter and Bob Page, new DAILY TAR HEEL managing editor, will talk on the AP question.

Staff nominations for the editorships of three campus publications will be made this afternoon at meetings in Graham Memorial.

Other Entries

Although the candidates winning nominations today will be staff nominees, others who wish to enter the race for the editorships are not prevented from doing so. Other nominations may be made at the student body convocation in Memorial hall tomorrow.

Candidates who are in the race thus far are Lonnie Dill and Carl Thompson for the editorship of the DAILY TAR HEEL; Joe Sugarman and Virgil Lee for the Magazine editorship; and Bob Drane for the Yackety Yack editorship.

Representatives from 45 high schools in all parts of the state come to Chapel Hill today to take part in the 22nd annual final contests of the North Carolina high school debating union.

The first preliminaries in the finals take place in several auditoriums on the campus at 7:00 o'clock tonight, after a general meeting of debaters and teachers at 2:00 o'clock in Memorial hall, and an intercollegiate debate between Carolina and Emory in Gerrard hall at 4:00 o'clock.

Second Preliminaries

The second preliminary begins at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning. The final between the two surviving teams takes place in Memorial hall at 8:00 o'clock tomorrow night. Dean F. F. Bradshaw will present the Aycock Memorial cup to the winner immediately after the decision.

Winner of the trophy last year was Broughton high school, with Curry high school taking the honor in 1932.

Secretary E. R. Rankin announced the complete list of competitors yesterday.

Commerce Doctor's Exams Set Monday

The department of economics will offer Monday to qualified candidates a final written examination for the doctor's degree.

Candidates may elect to be examined in any three of the following groups: (1) economic theory and history; (2) finances: public and private, money, banking, taxation, corporation finance, investments; (3) trade and transportation, marketing, foreign trade, transportation, advertising, merchandising; (4) labor and social control; (5) business organization and administration, corporate structures and functions, production and personnel management; (6) methodology, procedures of research and analysis, accounting and statistics.
