

MASS MEETINGS CLOSE PRE-VOTE POLITICAL WORK

University Party Holds Parade Through Campus and Streets of Town; Political Pow-wow Follows in Memorial Hall; Backers Make Talks.

PROCTORITES ALSO MEET

Some four hundred students of the University took part in the final preparations last night for the annual voting battle which will be held today. Last night's orgy consisted of parades, speeches, and speeches.

Contrary to earlier reports there was no Pathe News' cameraman on the spot to take movies of the night's activities.

The University party led the fireworks by sponsoring the torchlight parade which filed through Chapel Hill and drew up in front of Memorial hall where the speeches were made.

After the University party pow-wow had adjourned a part of the crowd entered Gerrard hall and heard Ben Proctor speak. None of the other candidates for the contested positions made any public appearance last night.

As far as could be learned last night no damage was done any property through carelessness with the torches nor were there any injuries received due to riots. Several eggs, however, found their way to raincoats, lumber-jackets, spring suits, and pants.

Engineer Staff

There will be a meeting of the editorial staff of the Carolina Engineer tonight at 7:00 o'clock in 104 Phillips hall.

DR. S. T. WILLIAMS TO TALK TONIGHT IN GERRARD HALL

Yale Professor to Discuss "Old Traditions, and New Writers."

"Old Traditions and New Writers" will be discussed by Professor Stanley T. Williams of Yale University, who will speak this evening at 8:30 o'clock in Gerrard hall. This afternoon at 3:00 o'clock Professor Williams will address a seminar group in 201 Murphey on the same subject.

A writer and editor of prominence, Professor Williams has varied his studies from investigations of the work of 18th century writers and Victorian poets to studies of American essayists. He has edited a dozen volumes in the American Authors series.

He is the leading authority on Washington Irving, and at present is at work on a definitive biography of the noted creator of Ichabod Crane.

Professor Williams is chairman of the American Literature group of the American Language association and is associate editor of several journals.

Radio Meeting Tonight

"Radio Circuit Analysis" will be discussed at the regular Wednesday evening radio meeting, which will take place tonight at 7:30 o'clock in 214 Phillips hall. The purpose of this discussion is to show just where the electrons flow in a radio circuit, why they flow there, and what happens when they get there.

State's First Woman Mayor Tells Of Successful Clean-Up Campaign

Mrs. F. M. Jenkins, Elected Mayor of Maysville in 1925, Personally Led Attacks on Gambling and Bootlegging and Was Twice Re-elected to Office; Now Lives in Chapel Hill.

Enter Mrs. F. M. Jenkins. Exit hurriedly drunkenness, gambling, and immorality. In 1925 Maysville, N. C., with its one thousand inhabitants, saw fit to elect a woman mayor, who promised to rid the town of lawlessness and disorder. First woman to be selected mayor of a North Carolina town, she kept her promise.

Mrs. Jenkins was well qualified for the position of mayor in Jones county's largest town. She was a member of the Woman's Missionary Society, leader of a group of sixteen churches in Jones county's largest town. She was a member of the Atlantic Association, and chairman of the Woman's Division of the Democratic Committee for Jones county.

In 1913, she organized a woman's club, and remained its president until 1931, when she left Maysville. She served as chairman of the woman's division for the third, fourth, and fifth Liberty Loan campaigns, and was awarded a German helmet in reward for her services.

As a young woman, Mrs. Jenkins taught school, and was the first principal of the Maysville high school. Even during her administration she found time to direct the annual high school play production.

As mayor, Mrs. Jenkins received the magnificent sum of fifty cents a month, the same salary that the lesser officials received. This amount was offered as an incentive to get the officials to meet on time.

On entering office, Mrs. Jenkins started her work immediately.

MEMORIAL GETS ERWIN PAINTINGS

Watercolor Drawings by Gene Erwin Were Exhibited in Student Union During Dogwood Festival Last Week.

Announcement was made yesterday of the gift by Gene Erwin of six watercolor paintings to Graham Memorial, student union. The paintings, recently completed under PWA direction, depict familiar campus scenes, and were given through the courtesy of Louis Voorhees, director of Public Works of Art in North Carolina.

The set of Mr. Erwin's works includes paintings of Old East, Old West, the Playmakers theatre, the Old Well, and Old South building. The last named was completed just prior to the beginning of remodeling work.

Shown at Festival

The collection was on exhibit at Hill Music hall during the Dogwood Festival last week-end and will now become the permanent possession of Graham Memorial.

The paintings, framed in natural wood, attracted a great deal of attention at the festival for their fine color effects. A brief history of each building and a statement of its architectural features is pasted on the back of each frame.

The pictures will be on display for a few days in the main lounge of the union. Later they will be permanently hung in the banquet hall on the second floor.

Campus Elections Take Place Today; Polls To Open At 9:00 This Morning

Faculty Will Hear Curriculum Change Recommendation Today

The advisory committee to the faculty has drawn up a unanimous recommendation concerning curriculum changes to be presented to faculty meeting this afternoon. The plan in its entirety, along with the opinions expressed by a group of students meeting with Dean Bradshaw last night, is printed below.

The central idea in this program is one of unity between the high school preparation and the first two years of college. This unity consists in the attempt to carry forward three general divisions of learning: the humanities; the social sciences; and the natural sciences, including mathematics.

I. ENTRANCE REQUIREMENTS.

Subject	Required Units	Units Accepted
English	4	4
Foreign Language	2	6
Mathematics	2	4
*History and Social Science	2	4
Natural Science	1	3

*At least one unit must be History.

Enough other units must be presented from the usual list to make fifteen in all, but perhaps the usual list should be revised.

Placement examinations will be used as now in English, Foreign Language and Mathematics. It is also contemplated that examinations for advanced standing will be offered in English, Foreign Language and Mathematics to those students who enter with units in excess of the minimum requirements in the various subjects and whose total number of units is in excess of the required fifteen. This means that students who have not presented units in excess of the required number may be relieved of requirements in subject matter but will receive no credit towards graduation by examination.

II. FRESHMAN YEAR.

*English	3 hours a week throughout the year
Foreign Language	3 hours a week throughout the year
Math. or Classical Language	3 hours a week throughout the year
Biological Science	3 hours a week throughout the year
Social Science	3 hours a week throughout the year

*The English might be second year English if the student had passed the examination for advanced standing.

It is supposed that the Foreign Language taken will be the one presented for entrance. In case a student wished to change to another language or in case the placement test placed him in a lower classification than first year college work, he will be required to take a five hour a week course during the first year. The Foreign Language requirement will be two years in one language, or the satisfactory passing of a test to be offered at the beginning and at the end of each year.

III. SOPHOMORE YEAR

English	3 hours throughout the year
Foreign Language (Same as above)	3 hours throughout the year
Social Science (History, Economics, Government, Sociology)	3 hours throughout the year
Natural Science or Mathematics	3 hours throughout the year
Elective	3 hours throughout the year

The student group composed of Harper Barnes, Mayne Albright, Walter Groover, Janie Jolly, Haywood Weeks, Ed Lanier, and Claiborn Carr discussed the plan some four hours and passed the following motions for the consideration of the faculty today.

The group moved and passed approval of the general plan subject to the following modifications:

1. Regardless of admission units, the passage of examinations in a required course shall exempt any student from taking that course but will not diminish the total number of courses required for graduation. This motion passed unanimously.

2. In regard to freshman requirements it was moved that Logic be added as an alternative along with Mathematics or a Classical Language. Passed 6 to 1.

3. It was moved and passed unanimously that Mathematics be removed from the choice in the sophomore year, requiring only a Natural Science.

4. It was also moved and passed unanimously that a survey of Fine Arts and Religion and Philosophy be included in second year requirements with the understanding that work in electives along these lines would be available for the last two years.

5. All but two of the group voted for the admission of students without fifteen units provided they pass rigid examinations.

SANGER TO SPEAK TO SOCIAL GROUP

Birth Control Authority Will Address Raleigh Conference.

The North Carolina Conference for Social Service will meet in Raleigh April 29, 30, and May 1. Margaret Sanger, an authority on birth control will be one of the principal speakers at the conference.

An appeal has been issued to all students on the campus who are interested in social work in North Carolina to attend this conference. Several features of interest to students are included on the program. North Carolinians should be interested since North Carolina has the highest average number of children to the family of any state of the Union. The average number of children per family in this state is 5.7.

Both men and women students interested in attending the conference should sign up at the Y. M. C. A. office not later than the 27th of this month.

NOMINATION BILL DEFEATED BY PHI

Phi Wants Publications Staffs to Have Official Nominees.

The Phi Assembly at its meeting last night did not discuss the four bills on the calendar. The bill, Resolved: That staff nominations on the publications be abolished, was defeated. Representatives Garis and Winslow led the discussion.

"The Phi does not now occupy the place it formerly did in campus life," said Representative Jones. For the return to the high condition of yore, Jones advocated three things: faculty guest speakers, class announcements, and better topics and preparation. "The high school debate between Thomasville and Gastonia was far better coordinated than any of the University debates that I have heard this year," said Jones.

Attention of the assembly members was called to the fact that the Phi pins have arrived and that the notes are now due.

ONLY TEN POSTS TO BE VOTED ON

Four Campus-Wide and Seven Class Offices Contested; Officers of Woman's Association to Be Elected.

With indications for a comparatively light vote but for rather heavy poll-campaigning, students will turn out at the polls in Graham Memorial today to ballot on nominees for four campus-wide and six class offices. The polls will open at 9:00 o'clock this morning, and will close at 5:00 o'clock in the afternoon.

The small number of contests is due to the fact that 23 of the nominees for the 33 positions went into office without opposition at nomination meetings held last week.

General Offices

Nominees for the following campus-wide positions are: president of the student body, Virgil Weathers and B. C. Proctor; editor of the DAILY TAR HEEL, Lonnie Dill and Carl Thompson; editor of the Carolina Magazine, Joe Sugarman and Virgil J. Lee, Jr.; and secretary of the Y. M. C. A., Phil Hammer and Butler French.

Probably the closest fights in the elections will come in the contests for the publications editorships. Campaigning in these divisions has been more vigorous than that in any of the other races.

Class Elections

Class offices and the nominees are as follows: senior class president, Jack Pool and Leo Manley; treasurer, K. W. Young and Paul Kaveny.

Junior class: vice-president, Newton De Bardeleben and Philip Lawrence.

CO-ED OFFICERS

Balloting for officers of the Woman's association will take place at the same hours at the Union. There are 18 nominees for the eight positions.

Nominees and the offices follow: president of the association, Betty Durham and Nannie Crowder; vice-president, Jayne Smoot and Jean Smith Cantrell; secretary, Tracy Scobee, Harriet Taylor, and Nancy Gordon; treasurer, Julia Wood Skinner and Geneva Surratt.

Athletic Association

President of the Woman's Athletic association, Elsie Lawrence and Margaret McCauley; secretary, Lydia Daniels and Vivian Grissette; treasurer, Joyce Killingsworth and Barbara Henderson.

There are three candidates—Margaret Sicheloff, Isabel Nelson, and Lois Byrd—for the house presidency of Spencer hall.

The voting will be conducted under the supervision of the Student council, and will be done by secret ballot.

Commerce Freshmen to Meet

Dean D. D. Carroll will meet all freshmen in the school of commerce today at chapel period in Bingham hall auditorium.
