PLAYERS TO GIVE DRAMAS TONIGHT

Second of Playmaker Series to Be Presented at 8:30 O'clock.

The second group of plays of the current Playmaker public productions will be presented this evening at 8:30 o'clock in the Playmakers theatre.

The performance includes "Where There Is Faith," written and directed by Kathleen Krahenbuhl; "The Proposal," by Anton Chekov and directed by John Walker; and "Rosalie," by Max Maurey and directed by Don Pope. The latter play will replace a performance of Wilbur Dorsett's "Third Verse," which was postponed because of unforeseen difficulties with the cast.

The plays being presented this week-end are directed by members of Professor Selden's class in play production. With the exception of "The Proposal" and "Rosalie," they are the original work of Professor Koch's playwriting class.

The public productions will be concluded tomorrow night, and a private performance of plays not chosen for this bill will be held Monday night.

SOCIETY TO MAP TOUR TOMORROW

Symphony Orchestra Will Meet Here to Discuss Program Of 100 Concerts.

Lamar Stringfield, director of the North Carolina Symphony society, yesterday announced that an ambitious program calling for 100 concerts before January 1 and the expenditure of a recent federal grant of $45,000, will be mapped out here tomorrow afternoon at the annual meeting of the society.

The meeting will be held in Hill Music hall at 2:00 o'clock and all members are expected to attend. The early recruiting of the orchestra to its full strength of 60 instruments and the opening of its concert program on May 25 at Chapel Hill are among the announcements expected to be made.

Money for Salaries

It is a part of the present plan to make the orchestra a box office attraction which will pay its own way. With the exception of an item of slightly more than $2,000, the entire amount of the federal grant will be used for salaries.

The orchestra will remain in Chapel Hill from the time of the opening concert on May 25 through the summer session at the University. It will then go to Asheville for a six-week stay. After this the group will return to Chapel Hill in preparation for a tour of the entire state. While there may be some performances

Tomorrow afternoon from 4:30 to 6:30 o'clock another tea dance will be staged, and the senior ball will be held tomorrow night from 9:00 to 12:00 o'clock in the Tin Can, bringing the set to a close.

Both of the tea dances will be informal affairs but the dances at night will be of a formal nature.

Kemp's Career

Hal Kemp, whose orchestra is furnishing music for the affair, is an alumnus of the University and will be returning here for the first time in about ten years.

Kemp, a Charlotte boy, organized a band during his stay in the University and played for the best dances in the south. In Chapel Hill he played daily in the old Pickwick theatre.

Starting his musical training at the age of three, the former University student specialized in the clarinet and later took up the saxophone.

After leaving the University, Kemp went to New York to the former Hotel Manger; but he soon journeyed to London where he played in numerous hotels.

At his return to the United States, Kemp was employed by the Black Hawk restaurant in Chicago and later by Lucky Strike and Pennzoil programs.

The band has eight North Carolinians in it. "Skinny" Ennes, vocalist and drummer from Salisbury, is one of the most noted of the musicians from this state.

Foreign Policy League to Write Roosevelt in Attempt to Promote Disarmament.

SOLICITS OTHER SCHOOLS

Definite action was taken Wednesday night at the meeting of the Foreign Policy league on the disarmament question, in the form of a petition to be presented to the President of the United States, the Secretary of State, and the State department.

The petition reads: We, the undersigned, do hereby memorialize the President of the United States, the Secretary of State, and the State department (1) to actively support the objectives of, and the participants in, the conference on the limitation and reduction of armaments to be reassembled at Geneva on May 29th, and (2) to insist that some disarmament agreement, however small, but providing future conferences for further reductions, be reached this time.

Writes Other Schools

The members of the league pledged their unanimous support to this measure, which was presented by the executive committee. Definite action toward soliciting the backing of other educational institutions in the south in this move was taken yesterday with the making of contacts by mail with 36 other colleges and universities.

Plans are being pushed to bring a prominent speaker on foreign affairs to the University before the end of the present term. Every effort is being made to secure the right Honorable Josephus Daniels, the United States ambassador to Mexico, to speak. Daniels is a North Carolinian and has long

UNIVERSITY CLUB TO HAVE DINNER

Retiring Members Have Banquet Tonight in Carolina Inn; to Be Formal Affair.

The retiring members of the University club will have a Founders' banquet tonight at 7:30 o'clock in the Carolina Inn, establishing, they hope, the custom of having such an affair each year during the Junior-Senior dances.

Ernest Hunt and Harold Bennet, who are in charge of the entertainment, have provided humorous skits and will call for impromptu speeches from the various members.

In addition, Dick Somers and James Gossler will play piano and cornet solos, respectively.

The banquet will be a formal affair and each member is allowed to bring a date.

Bedtime

Dancers are reminded of the University regulation which requires girls to be at their respective residences two hours after a dance. The affair tonight ends at 1:00 o'clock; tomorrow night's dance will be over at 12:00 o'clock.

State Official Delivers Main Address At Ritual

Students Will Offer Recital Wednesday

The music department announced that the first of a series of five student recitals for the spring quarter will begin next week. These recitals will compose one senior recital, two junior, and two general recitals.

Next Wednesday evening, May 16, at 8:30 o'clock, Misses Isabelle and Virginia Buckles will play a junior recital for violin and piano in Hill Music hall.

The public is invited to these recitals.

Y.M.C.A. CABINETS TO DISCUSS WAR

"Stand Students Should Take in Outlawing War" to Be Topic.

"The Stand Students Should Take in Outlawing War" will be the subject of a discussion at the meeting of the junior-senior Y. M. C. A. cabinet next Monday night at 7:15 o'clock, it was announced yesterday by J. D. Winslow, president.

Ralph Gardner, president of the recently organized Foreign Policy league, and Ezra Griffin, prominent member of the organization, will make brief talks on the subject and then lead a discussion in which all members will take part.

Both Gardner and Griffin have been instrumental on the University campus in furthering the cause for world peace. Gardner was one of the organizers of the Foreign Policy league, and has done much to put the organization in the eyes of the campus. Griffin, a rising senior, has for the past three weeks been leading discussions before the Foreign Policy group on "The Factors Which Enter into a Disarmament Conference."

BOARD CONSIDERS MAGAZINE CHANGE

Will Make Final Settlement on Form of Magazine at the Next Meeting.

Final settlement on the question of changing the Carolina Magazine from its present form into that of a regular magazine issued eight times a year was deferred by the Publications Union board yesterday until its forthcoming meeting next week.

In the meantime, it was announced, bids for printing the publication in either the old or the new form will be received by the board for consideration at the next meeting.

All bids on the other publications must also be in at the next session.

Report by Eddleman

Bill Eddleman, president of the board, made reports on the subject of changing the publication's appearance, and estimated that the proposed plan would cause an additional cost of $275 per year, most of which could probably be covered by advertising.

The board also made the final arrangements for the presentation of publication keys which will take place on Awards night.

Lieutenant-Governor A. H. Graham Sums Up Changes by Declaring "Future Is Here."

BANQUET AFTER TAPPING

Aitken, Abernethy, Patterson, Bahnsen, Drane, Dill, Andrews, Sugarman, Johnson, Gardner Picked.

The Order of the Golden Fleece, highest honorary organization on the campus, bestowed the honor of membership on ten campus leaders last night in Memorial hall at its 32nd annual tapping ceremony.

The men taken into membership were: Stuart Aitken of Charlotte; Frank Abernethy of Greensboro; Simmons Patterson of New Bern; Agnew Bahnsen, Jr. of Winston Salem; Robert Drane of Charlotte; Lonnie Dill of New Bern; Alex Andrews, III of Raleigh; Joe Sugarman of Newark, N. J.; Thor Johnson of Winston Salem; and Ralph Gardner of Shelby.

Graham Speaks

Preceding the tapping ritual Lieutenant-Governor A. H. Graham delivered the principal speech of the evening. Harper Barnes, Jason of the Order, presided and introduced Dean Francis F. Bradshaw, who in turn introduced Lieutenant-Governor Graham.

Graham, an alumnus of the University, stressed the change that has occurred within the last 14 months in our philosophy of government. Referring to the recent enactments of congress embodying policies which even their most ardent advocates did not expect to be adopted for another 25 or 50 years, he summed up the situation with the expression, "the future is here."

Be Individualistic

"Embrace the new order, give study and thought to the problems unsolved, but do not hesitate to be individualistic, remembering that all changes are opposed, but that this nation has changed, is changing, and will change and that you are the ones best trained and qualified to take your place as leaders of the various forward movements," concluded Mr. Graham.

Immediately after the ceremony in Memorial hall the ten new members were guests of the old members at a banquet in Graham Memorial.

For the second successive year the son of a member of Golden Fleece was tapped when membership was awarded to Agnew Bahnsen, Jr. The first son of a member to be tapped was Claiborn M. Carr, who was taken in last year.
